

IPO Fundamentals Ledger

DRHP/RHP FINANCIAL EXTRACT
COMPILED 14 SEPTEMBER 2026

Every mainboard and SME IPO open for subscription, awaiting listing, or opening within the next ten days, read against its own Red Herring Prospectus — three years of revenue and profit, ROE, ROCE, RoNW, debt/equity, PAT and EBITDA margins, price-to-book, EPS and promoter holding pre- and post-issue, what the fresh money actually funds, and how the order book is filling in. Figures below are drawn directly from each company's disclosed financial statements and KPI tables in its prospectus, cross-referenced against issue-tracking sites; where a prospectus hadn't disclosed a figure yet (price band pending, order book not open), it's marked rather than estimated.

The four-question filter this ledger scores against

01 • FINANCIAL HEALTH	02 • VALUATION	03 • FUND USAGE	04 • SUBSCRIPTION
Revenue and PAT growing consistently across the three disclosed years, without debt or cash flow that looks unstable.	P/E and P/B weighed against listed peers in the same line of business — a full price leaves less room for post-listing upside.	Fresh proceeds going to expansion or working capital reads as constructive; proceeds going mainly to debt repayment or a pure share sale (OFS) is a caution flag.	QIB and NII demand in the closing hours of bidding, where available — heavy institutional cover signals conviction from large investors.

Scorecard — 34 issues, sorted by open date

Each tag is this ledger's read of the prospectus against the four filters above — not a recommendation. "Pending" means the prospectus/market hasn't disclosed enough yet (price band, order book) to call it either way.

PAT growth slowed to +15% (from +57%) and ROE fell 47%→34% even as revenue kept growing. Debt/equity a leveraged 1.08–1.15x typical of redevelopment real estate; ₹91.5cr of ₹237cr proceeds (39%) repays borrowings. The book turned dramatically on the final day — QIB, still just 0.91x a day before close, surged to a confirmed final 268.54x (ex-anchor), alongside NII 217.73x and retail 45.31x, taking the overall close to 126.34x. Still awaiting listing, now just two days out (15 Sep).

PAI accelerated to +89% (from +3%) with ROCE at 45%. Every rupee of the ₹34cr issue funds reach-stacker equipment — clean, no debt repayment. The book stayed the weakest in this cohort throughout bidding and closed 9 Sep at roughly 1.26x overall (retail 2.23x, NII 0.28x) — cleared, but with the least conviction of any issue that actually crossed the line. GMP has since cooled further, one tracker now showing it near-flat around ₹1. Awaiting listing, now just two days out (15 Sep).

PAT nearly tripled in FY26 (+99% YoY, +266% over two years) — an exceptionally low 0.10x debt/equity, but P/E swings from 38.6x on FY26 profit to 76.9x on FY25's, and a published review calls the pricing "greedily priced," flagging a ₹332cr contingent liability. The book closed at a confirmed final 90.59x overall (QIB 215.37x, NII 87.74x, retail 20.51x) — one of the strongest institutional closes in the cohort. Subscription: Cleared, muted GMP

PAT +91% on revenue +22% — genuinely strong. But every rupee of the ₹60cr fresh issue repays borrowings, none funds expansion. Implied P/E of ~45–47x sits above cheaper specialty-chem peers like Excel Industries (17x) and Atul (28x). The book recovered from its earlier sub-1x reads to close at a final 3.47x overall (QIB 7.59x, NII 1.89x, retail 1.79x) — a real improvement, but its grey-market premium remains muted/near-flat after essentially evaporating in the days before close, a cooling signal despite the strong anchor book and unchanged fundamentals. Subscription: Weak, GMP near-flat Revenue crept up 6% but PAT fell 10% in FY26 and ROE dropped from 55% to 29% — the one name in this batch whose bottom line went backwards even as its top line grew. Fund usage itself is clean (equipment capex, no debt repayment), but a 31x multiple on declining earnings needs the FY26 dip to be temporary. The book closed weak at 1.42× overall (QIB 1.26×, NII 1.22×, retail 2.19×) and its GMP has stayed near-flat around ₹8 (+2.4%) after collapsing from a ₹38 high earlier in bidding, implying a listing barely above the upper band. Full-year figures: revenue ₹39.31cr→₹48.99cr→₹56.87cr, PAT ₹2.02cr→₹2.83cr→₹4.03cr (+42%), with thin 7.1% PAT / 11.3% EBITDA margins typical of a job-work denim wholesaler. The ROE/RoNW anomaly flagged last time (89.99% vs 31.93%) is still unresolved on Chittorgarh's own page, but a cross-check against IPOWatch's independent figures (which show ROE = RoNW = 31.93%) points to 89.99% being a Chittorgarh data error — this ledger continues to treat ROE as 31.93%. Demand has not recovered — Day 2 close was barely 0.04x overall (NII 0.00x, retail 0.07x, no QIB allocation on this issue) and GMP is a modest ₹7 (+5%) — still the weakest demand signal in this batch by a wide margin, closes 15 Sep.

The backwards-looking EPS (post-issue ₹4.49 above pre-issue ₹2.36) is now explained rather than an error: Chittorgarh's own methodology note confirms pre-issue EPS uses full FY26 earnings while post-issue EPS annualizes the much stronger Q1 FY27 quarter (₹13cr × 4) — the same convention used for Jindal Supreme India. It's genuine disclosed methodology, but comparing full-year to annualized-single-quarter earnings is an apples-to-oranges basis a reader could easily

The ₹71cr fresh-issue debt-repayment component (71% of proceeds) is confirmed, with the remaining ~₹28.9cr to general corporate purposes left unquantified. At ₹93, pre-issue P/E is 16.64x, post-issue 14.33x. The EPS reversal flagged last time (post-issue ₹6.49 above pre-issue ₹5.59) is confirmed as intentional disclosed methodology, not a data error — Chittorgarh's page explains post-issue EPS is annualized off Q1 FY27's stronger run-rate (₹8.28cr × 4) rather than FY26's actual profit, which is why it comes out higher despite dilution; still worth treating with some caution as an unusual basis. Its 3.57x P/BV also appears to use pre-issue book value rather than a true post-issue figure.

An auto-components maker (two-wheeler and EV drivetrain parts) for the ₹1,000cr issue (₹600cr fresh + ₹400cr OFS, entirely promoter-group sellers). This one comes with real data-quality caveats: the base-case financials Chittorgarh surfaces run only through Dec-2024/Mar-2024 — a DRHP-vintage cut that a Sept-2026 RHP would normally have refreshed — and on that data PAT actually fell in each of the last two full years (₹99.02cr FY22 → ₹40.51cr FY23 → ₹17.04cr FY24), a declining trend rather than growth. This round's re-check surfaced what may be fresher FY25/FY26 figures on the same pages (revenue ₹1,111.23cr→₹1,216.74cr, PAT ₹32.80cr→₹41.17cr, i.e. growing) but the research pass flagged its own extraction as unreliable on this company (three different EPS reads — ₹0.91, ₹1.08, ₹1.15 — across repeated fetches of the same tables), so this ledger is not yet ready to swap the growth narrative in without an independent confirmation. Two sections of Chittorgarh's own page still disagree on EPS/RoNW (₹0.45–0.48 EPS / 4.42% RoNW in one table vs ₹1.15 EPS / 8.53% RoNW in its peer-comparison table) — the gap is large enough that this ledger declines to publish a single P/E rather than pick one arbitrarily. Of the ₹600cr fresh issue, ₹190cr repays debt and ₹200cr funds a new UP facility, but roughly ₹210cr is not itemized in any object disclosed so far. Promoter holding 91.41%→61.63% post-issue (post-issue figure newly disclosed and consistent across two sources this round, though see the EPS caveat above on this company's overall data reliability). Peers CIE Automotive (17.68x), Endurance Technologies (40.84x), Sona BLW (76.5x), Uno Minda (59.84x) and Varroc Engineering (56.15x) at least frame the auto-ancillary space as trading at a wide range of multiples. - Fund use: 100% OFS — ₹0 to NSE

The price band and dates flagged as speculative last time are now officially locked: ₹1,700–1,785, bidding 17–21 September, with listing tentatively 24 September (BSE). The issue is confirmed 100% offer-for-sale — 12.64cr shares (~₹22,562cr at the upper band), every rupee to selling shareholders, none to NSE itself, with no single "promoter" (NSE has no identifiable promoter; pre-and post-issue public holding both 100%). On disclosed financials, FY26 revenue fell ~2.4% and PAT fell ~15.5% YoY (₹12,187.69cr→₹10,302.06cr) — a rare down year for the exchange. EPS ₹41.62, NAV ₹129.75 (unchanged pre-to-post, no dilution) — at ₹1,785 that's a confirmed 42.89x P/E and 13.76x P/BV (40.85x/13.10x at the ₹1,700 lower band), both above a Reuters-cited analyst estimate of "~35x." Its margin-basis conflict remains unresolved: Chittorgarh's own EBITDA rupee figure (₹14,519.09cr) divided by its own revenue works out to ~77.6%, matching neither the ~51%/67% KPI-table figures nor this ledger's own ~55%/59% recomputation carried last time — a genuine unreconciled discrepancy worth an RHP-level check rather than picking one. GMP around ₹218 over the upper band (~12% implied gain), down from a ₹255 read on informal chatter before the band was fixed. Bidding opens 17 Sep.

An NSE Emerge industrial-engineering firm (Bengaluru/Jaipur) designing, fabricating and commissioning brewery, distillery and food-and-beverage processing systems — PAT nearly 2.4x'd in FY26 to ₹11.56cr on total income up 36% to ₹103.05cr, with a strong 46.6% RoNW and 60.95% ROE, though debt/equity of 1.09 is a real leverage load for the size. Post-issue P/E of 13.63x (at the ₹118 upper band) reads reasonably against that growth. Of the ₹42.52cr issue, ₹11cr funds a new Jaipur facility, ₹6.48cr repays a term loan and ₹9.5cr goes to working capital — a genuinely balanced mix rather than a single-purpose raise. Promoter holding 96.04%→70.00% post-issue. GMP not yet started ahead of the 17 Sep open.

A Bhilwara, Rajasthan textile manufacturer with revenue up 64% and PAT up 83% in FY26 (₹517.60cr revenue, ₹34.02cr PAT), and a strong 39% ROE — though debt/equity of 2.48x is elevated. Entirely fresh issue, no OFS. The price band landed at ₹94-99: post-issue EPS of ₹5.99 implies a 16.53x post-issue P/E and, against a ₹24.78 post-issue NAV, a 4.00x P/BV. The fresh-issue size now appears larger than previously logged — press coverage of the band puts it near ₹141.6cr at the upper end versus the ₹130.61cr this ledger carried before, though the itemized ₹80cr-debt/₹50.61cr-capex split (61% debt-repayment-heavy) hasn't been re-confirmed against the larger total, so treat that split as directional pending the finalized RHP figure. Disclosed peers Vishal Fabrics (12.23x), Sangam India (37.29x) and Nitin Spinners (18.22x) bracket the new pricing comfortably.

Post-issue P/E of 14.01x sits between disclosed peers PPAP Automotive (5.82x) and Machino Plastics (104.31x, a thin-earnings outlier) — a genuinely wide bracket. 100% fresh issue, no OFS: ₹44cr funds a new manufacturing facility at GIDC Sanand plus general corporate purposes (the exact capex/GCP rupee split isn't consistently disclosed across sources, so only the ~₹40cr net-proceeds total is treated as reliable here). A backward-integrated steel manufacturer (six facilities — five in Karnataka, one in Andhra Pradesh) making long and flat steel products (HR/CR coils, pipes, galvanized tubes, TMT bars) plus met coke and ferrosilicon by-products, positioned near iron-ore sources and ports. Earnings are genuinely volatile: PAT fell from ₹38.91cr (FY24) to just ₹7.71cr (FY25, a weak year despite similar revenue) before rebounding sharply to ₹127.41cr in FY26 (~16.5x YoY) — a steel-price/input-cost-cycle swing worth reading as cyclical, not a growth trend. ROE moved 1.69%→14.70%, ROCE 7.03%→12.86%, debt/equity a still-leveraged 1.17 (down from 1.34). Pre-issue EPS ₹18.61; P/E and P/BV can't be computed since the price band is genuinely undisclosed as of this compile — marked pending rather than estimated. The ₹405cr issue (₹355cr fresh + ₹50cr OFS) is disclosed with itemized objects (₹344.37cr Vanya Steels subsidiary capex, ₹40cr captive/solar power, ₹100cr debt repayment) that together exceed the ₹355cr fresh-issue size — likely partly funded by internal accruals, worth confirming against the final RHP objects table. Unless noted otherwise, periods run FY24→FY25→FY26 (years ended 31 March). Manika Plastech's DRHP extract carries periods ending Mar-2023, Mar-2024 and Dec-2024 rather than a clean FY24–FY26 set. Vinod Texworld, Infrac Renewable, Raksan Transformers, Maharaja & Speedex, Om Galaxy, Injecto Polymers, Shakti Polytarp, Quanto Agroworld, Vama Wovenfab, Kheria Autocomp and SpectraA Technology Solutions are all scaling off a small base — treat their triple- and high-double-digit growth rates as a sign of size, not necessarily durability. Injecto Polymers' FY2026 absolute revenue/PAT are not disclosed in any source checked, so its table above stops at FY2025. Sonaselection India and SS Retail's single-year ratio blocks (ROE/ROCE etc., in the table below) reflect FY2026 only — prior-year ratios are not separately disclosed on their Chittorgarh pages. Hero Motors is a genuine data-quality flag: its financials on Chittorgarh run only through FY22–FY24/Dec-2024 (DRHP-vintage, not yet refreshed for a Sept-2026 RHP), showing PAT actually declining two years running rather than growing — treat this as the reported disclosure, not confirmation the FY25/FY26 picture looks the same. NSE's margin figures above are this ledger's own recomputation from its raw revenue/PAT lines and diverge both from Chittorgarh's stated KPI-table margins (50.98% PAT / 66.85% EBITDA) and from a third calculation (EBITDA ÷ revenue off Chittorgarh's own disclosed EBITDA rupee figure) that comes out near 77.6% — a genuine three-way basis conflict this ledger has not been able to reconcile against the raw DRHP P&L; NSE's price band and dates are now officially confirmed (₹1,700–1,785, bidding 17–21 Sep), only the margin basis remains unresolved. A-One Steels India, new this round, shows a sharply volatile earnings history (PAT ₹38.91cr→₹7.71cr→₹127.41cr) that reads as a steel-cycle swing rather than steady growth — its stated "+1,553%" latest-year growth is real but measured off an unusually depressed FY25 base and shouldn't be read as durable momentum.

Infrac Renewable's 115.54% ROE and Vinod Texworld's/Injecto Polymers'/Shakti Polytarp's/Sonaselection India's 2.07x–2.60x debt/equity are artifacts of a small or newly-levered equity base at an early stage of scale-up — read alongside the revenue figures above, not in isolation. Panchatv Bharat's ROE is now shown as 31.93% (matching its RoNW) rather than the 89.99% Chittorgarh's own page still displays — an independent tracker (IPOWatch) computes ROE = RoNW = 31.93% for the same company, and no methodological explanation for a different ROE base was found anywhere, so this ledger treats 89.99% as a Chittorgarh data error rather than a legitimate alternate calculation; still worth a primary-RHP check. Hero Motors' ROE/RoNW (4.42%) conflicts with a separate 8.53% shown on the same Chittorgarh page's peer-comparison table — both are reported above rather than picking one, since neither could be independently verified against the RHP. A-One Steels India's improving-but-still-leveraged 1.17x debt/equity sits alongside its volatile earnings history — a name to watch for stability, not yet a clean growth story.

Valuation — EPS, P/E, price-to-book and grey-market premium

Pre-issue figures use the pre-IPO share base; post-issue figures dilute for the new shares issued in the offer — this is why EPS steps down and P/E steps up from pre- to post-issue even though profit hasn't changed. Multiples for banded issues use the upper end of the price band. GMP (grey-market premium) is unofficial, unregulated and moves daily — figures below are the latest read available as of 13 September (several names still carry their last-confirmed pre-close read where a fresher print wasn't found), cross-checked across ipowatch.in, ipoji.com, business-standard.com and groww.in; implied gain is $GMP \div \text{upper band (or fixed price)}$. NSE's price band and dates are now officially confirmed, so its P/E, P/BV and GMP below are real rather than speculative for the first time this ledger has carried it. A-One Steels India's price band remains genuinely undisclosed — its P/E and P/BV are marked pending rather than estimated.

Two issues in this ledger show post-issue EPS running above pre-issue EPS — Manika Plastech (₹2.36→₹4.49) and Jindal Supreme India (₹5.59→₹6.49). Both are now confirmed as the same intentional, disclosed methodology (post-issue EPS annualized off a stronger recent quarter rather than the full prior fiscal year) rather than data artifacts, though this ledger still flags it as an apples-to-oranges basis worth reading carefully. Raksan Transformers' P/BV figures (10.21x FY25 → 18.98x FY26) appear to compare the IPO price against book value per share at each fiscal year-end rather than a simple latest-price-to-latest-book ratio — treat as directional. Iniecto Polymers' P/BV is shown on both an FY26 (2.40x) and FY25 (3.21x) basis because its "Mar 2026" ratio column isn't backed by disclosed FY26 absolutes. Panchatv Bharat's, Jindal Supreme's and SS Retail's P/BV figures all use a pre-issue book-value-per-share basis rather than a true post-issue figure — none of the three companies' pages separately discloses a post-issue NAV, so this ledger shows what's actually published rather than estimating one. Hero Motors is a step further than a basis question — two sections of the same Chittorgarh page report conflicting EPS (₹0.45–0.48 vs ₹1.15) with no stated reconciliation, so this ledger declines to publish a single P/E for it at all rather than guess which is right. On GMP specifically: it is an unofficial over-the-counter indicator, not a forecast, and can swing sharply — Prasol Chemicals' has essentially evaporated since 8 September despite unchanged fundamentals, and Manipal Payment's has collapsed from ₹38 to ₹8 in two days on weak demand — a reminder that GMP tracks sentiment, not the prospectus, and can move against a strong balance sheet just as easily as it can move with one.
