Notice to prospective investors in the European Economic Area

This Red Herring Prospectus has been prepared on the basis that all offers of Equity shares in Member States of the European Economic Area ("EEA") (each a "Member State") will be made pursuant to an exemption under the Prospectus Regulation (as defined below), as applicable to each Member State, from the requirement to produce a prospectus for offers of Equity Shares. The expression "Prospectus Regulation" means Regulation (EU) 2017/1129.

Accordingly, any person making or intending to make an offer to the public within the EEA of Equity Shares which are the subject of the placement contemplated in this Red Herring Prospectus should only do so in circumstances in which no obligation arises for our Company or any of the Book Running Lead Managers to produce a prospectus for such offer pursuant to Article 3 of the Prospectus Regulation or supplement a prospectus pursuant to Article 23 of the Prospectus Regulation. None of our Company and the Book Running Lead Managers have authorised, nor do they authorise, the making of any offer of Equity Shares through any financial intermediary, other than the offers made by the Book Running Lead Managers which constitute the final placement of Equity Shares contemplated in this Red Herring Prospectus.

For the purposes of this provision, the expression an "offer to the public" in relation to the Equity Shares in any Member State means the communication in any form and by any means of sufficient information on the terms of the Issue and any Equity Shares to be offered so as to enable an investor to decide to purchase or subscribe for any Equity Shares.

Information to EEA Distributors (as defined below)

Solely for the purposes of the product governance requirements contained within: (a) EU Directive 2014/65/EU on markets in financial instruments, as amended ("MiFID II"); (b) Articles 9 and 10 of Commission Delegated Directive (EU) 2017/593 supplementing MiFID II; and (c) local implementing measures (together, the "MiFID II Product Governance Requirements"), and disclaiming all and any liability, whether arising in tort, contract or otherwise, which any "manufacturer" (for the purposes of the MiFID II Product Governance Requirements) may otherwise have with respect thereto, the Equity Shares have been subject to a product approval process, which has determined that such Equity Shares are: (i) compatible with an end target market of retail investors and investors who meet the criteria of professional clients and eligible counterparties, each as defined in MiFID II; and (ii) eligible for distribution through all distribution channels as are permitted by MiFID II (the "Target Market Assessment"). Notwithstanding the Target Market Assessment, "distributors" (for the purposes of the MiFID II Product Governance Requirements) (“EEA Distributors”) should note that: the price of the Equity Shares may decline and investors could lose all or part of their investment; the Equity Shares offer no guaranteed income and no capital protection; and an investment in the Equity Shares is compatible only with investors who do not need a guaranteed income or capital protection, who (either alone or in conjunction with an appropriate financial or other adviser) are capable of evaluating the merits and risks of such an investment and who have sufficient resources to be able to bear any losses that may result therefrom. The Target Market Assessment is without prejudice to the requirements of any contractual, legal or regulatory selling restrictions in relation to the Issue. Furthermore, it is noted that, notwithstanding the Target Market Assessment, the Book Running Lead Managers will only procure investors who meet the criteria of professional clients and eligible counterparties.

For the avoidance of doubt, the Target Market Assessment does not constitute: (a) an assessment of suitability or appropriateness for the purposes of MiFID II; or (b) a recommendation to any investor or group of investors to invest in, or purchase, or take any other action whatsoever with respect to the Equity Shares. Each EEA Distributor is responsible for undertaking its own target market assessment in respect of the Equity Shares and determining appropriate distribution channels.

Notice to prospective investors in the United Kingdom

This Red Herring Prospectus has been prepared on the basis that all offers to the public of Equity Shares will be made pursuant to an exemption under the Public Offers and Admissions to Trading Regulations 2024 (the “POATR”) from the prohibition on offers to the public of Equity Shares within the United Kingdom. Accordingly, any person making or intending to make an offer to the public within the United Kingdom of Equity Shares which are the subject of the placement contemplated in this Red Herring Prospectus should not do so unless: (a) the offer is of a kind specified in Part 1 of Schedule 1 of the POATR, or (b) the offer is of a kind that consists entirely of a combination of two or more of the kinds of offer specified in that Part of that Schedule. None of our Company, the Selling Shareholders or the BRLMs have authorised, nor do they authorise, the making of any offer of Equity Shares through any financial intermediary, other than the offers made by the members of the Syndicate which constitute the final placement of Equity Shares contemplated in this Red Herring Prospectus.

For the purposes of this provision, the expression an “offer to the public” in relation to the Equity Shares in the United Kingdom means the communication to any person which presents sufficient information on: (a) the Equity Shares to be offered; and (b) the terms on which they are to be offered, to enable an investor to decide to buy or subscribe for the Equity Shares.

Information to UK Distributors (as defined below)

Solely for the purposes of the product governance requirements contained within the FCA Handbook Product Intervention and Product Governance Sourcebook (“PROD”) (the “UK MiFIR Product Governance Rules”), and disclaiming all and any liability, whether arising in tort, contract or otherwise, which any “manufacturer” (for the purposes of the UK Product Governance Rules) may otherwise have with respect thereto, the Equity Shares have been subject to a product approval process, which has determined that such Equity Shares are: (i) compatible with an end target market of: (a) investors who meet the criteria of professional clients as defined in point (8) of Article 2(1) of Regulation (EU) No 600/2014 as it forms part of domestic law by virtue of the EUWA; (b) eligible counterparties, as defined in the FCA Handbook Conduct of Business Sourcebook (“COBS”); and (c) retail clients who do not meet the definition of professional client under (a) or eligible counterparty per (b); and (ii) eligible for distribution through all distribution channels (the “Target Market Assessment”). Notwithstanding the Target Market Assessment, distributors (for the purposes of the UK MiFIR Product Governance Rules) (“UK Distributors”) should note that: the price of the Equity Shares may decline and investors could lose all or part of their investment; the Equity Shares offer no guaranteed income and no capital protection; and an investment in the Equity Shares is compatible only with investors who do not need a guaranteed income or capital protection, who (either alone or in conjunction with an appropriate financial or other adviser) are capable of evaluating the merits and risks of such an investment and who have sufficient resources to be able to bear any losses that may result therefrom. The Target Market Assessment is without prejudice to the requirements of any contractual, legal or regulatory selling restrictions in relation to the Issue.

Furthermore, it is noted that, notwithstanding the Target Market Assessment, the Book Running Lead Managers will only procure investors who meet the criteria of professional clients and eligible counterparties.

For the avoidance of doubt, the Target Market Assessment does not constitute: (a) an assessment of suitability or appropriateness for the purposes of COBS 9A and COBS 10A respectively; or (b) a recommendation to any investor or group of investors to invest in, or purchase or take any other action whatsoever with respect to the Equity Shares. Each UK Distributor is responsible for undertaking its own target market assessment in respect of the Equity Shares and determining appropriate distribution channels.

INTERNAL RISK FACTORS

- 1. Any significant decrease in the volume and value of transactions executed on our stock exchange could significantly reduce demand for our products, constrain our growth, and adversely affect our business, financial condition, results of operations, cash flows, and prospects.

We earn revenue based on trades executed on our stock exchange, listing fees from Listed Entities, and fees from ancillary services such as Data Feed & Terminal services, data centre related services, and licensing services. The transaction charges we earn are driven principally by the volume of trades executed across our various products, including the cash market, futures, options, mutual funds platform, commodity derivatives, exchange-traded currency derivatives, wholesale debt market and interest rate futures, among others. The volume and value of transactions executed on our stock exchange, the number and quality of new listings, and the breadth of participation by trading members and investors are all directly influenced by prevailing macroeconomic and market conditions. The following table provides a breakdown of our revenue from operations for the period/Fiscal indicated:

Adverse macroeconomic developments in India and globally, including slowing GDP growth, rising inflation, increasing interest rates, currency depreciation, or a downgrade in India's sovereign credit rating, could dampen investor confidence and reduce participation in the Indian securities markets. Global headwinds such as recessionary conditions in major economies, supply chain disruptions, or commodity price fluctuations could reduce foreign portfolio investment flows into India. Escalating geopolitical tensions, including ongoing conflicts such as the Russia-Ukraine war and the conflict in the Middle East, or the imposition of international sanctions, trade embargoes, or retaliatory tariffs, could further disrupt global capital flows, with consequential effects on the Indian securities markets. See “— Financial instability in other countries may cause increased volatility in Indian financial markets” on page 69. Our business also depends on continued active participation of both domestic and foreign investors. Any prolonged migration of investor preferences towards alternative asset classes such as real estate, fixed deposits, or cryptocurrencies could reduce demand for our platform and services. Further, several external factors beyond our control could adversely affect our business, including limited access to funding, fluctuations in interest and exchange rates, reduced asset price volatility, unforeseen market closures, infrastructural disruptions, or cyberattacks. Any future downturn in the macroeconomic environment in India or outside India, or any adverse shift in investor sentiment, policy, or regulation, could have a material and adverse impact on our business, results of operations, cash flows, financial condition, and prospects.

Our operations and growth prospects are intrinsically tied to government policy decisions and regulatory direction across capital market reforms, disinvestment programmes, foreign direct investment, and financial inclusion initiatives. While supportive government and regulatory action have historically expanded market access and driven trading activity on our platform, policy interventions can also be restrictive. For instance, in December 2021, the Securities and Exchange Board of India (“SEBI”) imposed a suspension on trading in certain key agricultural commodity derivatives to address concerns related to price volatility and inflation. Further, pursuant to various circulars issued October 2024 (circular titled “Measures to Strengthen Equity Index Derivatives Framework for Increased Investor Protection and Market Stability” dated October 1, 2024) and May 2025 (circular titled “Measures for Enhancing Trading Convenience and Strengthening Risk Monitoring in Equity Derivatives” dated May 29, 2025) on strengthening the equity index derivatives framework, SEBI introduced several measures, including mandatory upfront collection of option premiums, increased minimum contract sizes, restrictions on permissible weekly expiries, and enhanced risk monitoring requirements, which have resulted in a moderation of trading volumes across both the cash and derivatives markets, including a decline in the ADTV of our equity futures and equity options and our trading revenues in Fiscal 2026 as shown in the tables above. Adverse regulatory developments have also had an impact on our specific businesses, including our currency derivatives and Bank Nifty derivatives offerings. For instance, increases in taxes, including capital gains taxes, may impact investor interest in capital markets. With effect from April 1, 2026, the Government of India (“GoI”) increased securities transaction tax rates on sale of futures in securities from 0.02% to 0.05% of the contract value and on the sale of options in securities from 0.10% to 0.15% of premium value. Additionally, any introduction of new tax slabs or increases in personal income tax slabs or capital gains tax rates could adversely affect investor sentiment and reduce trading volumes on our platform. Further, pursuant to SEBI’s Circular dated January 16, 2026, closing auction session (“CAS”) has been introduced in the equity cash segment of stock exchanges and the pre-open auction session framework has been revised. Initially, CAS will apply only to stocks in the cash segment for which derivative contracts are available and the closing price for other securities continues to be determined based on volume weighted average price of trades executed during the last 30 minutes of the continuous trading session. The framework for CAS has become effective from August 3, 2026 and the framework for pre-open auction session revised the duration of certain sessions within the pre-open auction window which will become effective from September 7, 2026. Similarly, the Reserve Bank of India (Commercial Banks – Credit Facilities) Amendment Directions, 2026 (Revised), effective from July 1, 2026, are designed to curb excessive leverage and systemic risk by tightening the bank lending framework for capital market intermediaries. However, these measures may raise funding costs for proprietary traders and liquidity providers, potentially reducing NSE’s trading volumes. Any sustained decline in trading volumes could materially and adversely affect our revenue, profitability, and financial condition. There can be no assurance that further fiscal or regulatory measures of a similar nature will not be introduced in the future. We cannot predict future government policies or regulatory actions, or the terms on which they may be implemented, and any adverse change in government policy or regulation could have a material adverse effect on our business, results of operations, financial condition, and prospects. See “- In the three months period ended June 30, 2026 and June 30, 2025, and in Fiscals 2026, 2025 and 2024, we derived 79.44%, 78.20%, 78.65%, 79.55% and 82.07% of our revenue from operations from transaction charges of which our options business contributed 60.17%, 58.84%, 60.22%, 59.47% and 64.62% of our revenue from operations, and our futures business contributed 8.06%, 9.47%, 8.92%, 10.08% and 8.45% of our revenue from operations, respectively. Any failure to maintain or increase our trading volumes, could result in loss of market share, reduced revenue from operations from our transaction charges, and other adverse effects on our business, results of operations, financial condition, and prospects” on page 28 for risks related to our trading business.

Our reliance on revenue from transaction charges means that any significant decline in trading activity, whether due to market volatility, shifts in investor sentiment, technological disruption, or regulatory intervention, could directly and disproportionately impact our financial performance. In Fiscal 2026, our revenue from transaction charges decreased by 4.24% primarily due to a decrease in ADTV across cash market, equity futures and equity options products, reflecting macro-regulatory measures introduced during Fiscal 2026 to strengthen the equity index derivatives framework. Our revenue from transaction charges of futures declined by 14.31% in Fiscal 2026 from Fiscal 2025, reflecting a decrease in ADTV in our futures products. A significant share of our revenue from transaction charges is derived from options and futures trading businesses, which has consistently represented the largest portion of our revenue from transaction charges. This concentration exposes us to risks specific to the derivatives market, including those arising from changes in regulation, market sentiment, and participant behaviour. For example, in 2024, SEBI introduced a new framework for derivatives (circular titled “Measures to Strengthen Equity Index Derivatives Framework for Increased Investor Protection and Market Stability” dated October 1, 2024), which, among other things, mandated upfront collection of options premium from option buyers, increased the contract size of index derivatives and reduced the extent of index derivatives products offered by exchanges which would expire on a weekly basis each after November 20, 2024. On May 29, 2025, SEBI issued a circular titled “Measures for Enhancing Trading Convenience and Strengthening Risk Monitoring in Equity Derivatives” which, among other things, introduced new formulation of open interest and calibrated the definition of market wide position limit. These measures have consequently affected volumes of our options and futures business and resulted in a decline in our revenue from these offerings in Fiscal 2026. Also see “Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations – Significant Factors affecting Our Financial Condition and Results of Operations” on page 398.

Additionally, SEBI has raised concerns over the rapid growth of ultra-short-term derivatives trading, particularly expiry-day index options, noting that these products can fuel excessive speculation and result in losses for retail participants. To address these risks, SEBI has implemented measures such as stricter position limits and margin requirements and may continue to introduce additional interventions to curb excessive speculation, strengthen market quality, and improve investor protection. Further, our business is indirectly exposed to regulatory actions and developments affecting brokers and trading members that access our platform. SEBI's heightened scrutiny of intermediary conduct reflects an increasingly robust compliance and enforcement environment, and any regulatory action or operational restriction imposed on trading members could limit investors' ability or willingness to participate actively in the market.

Several other factors could reduce our trading volumes and our market share. These include a decline in the number or trading activity of our trading members; adverse economic conditions or deterioration in the financial health of companies or members using our platform; our inability to offer competitive, effective, and liquid trading platforms or to provide competitive membership or transaction-specific pricing; the introduction of more attractive platforms or products by competitors; increased competition from alternative asset classes not traded on our platform or from international and regional markets that may be perceived as offering better liquidity; an inability to increase free float in the market due to issuers listing securities elsewhere; aggressive pricing or incentive programmes by competitors; regulatory or legislative changes, investigations, or non-compliance with regulatory requirements resulting in sanctions, fines, or penalties; defaults by clearing or trading members causing market disruption; changes to contract specifications viewed unfavourably by trading members; damage to our brand and reputation due to negative publicity, operational failures, or customer dissatisfaction; and failures or inadequacies in our risk management systems and controls.

- We derived 47.00%, 45.60%, 46.78%, 44.48% and 45.26% of our revenue from operations from our top ten trading members in the three months period ended June 30, 2026 and June 30, 2025, and in Fiscals 2026, 2025 and 2024, respectively. Any disruption in the services of these trading members or our inability to onboard new trading members could have an adverse impact on our operations.

A substantial share of our revenue from operations is generated from trading activity and services provided to a relatively concentrated group of key trading members. Consequently, our financial performance is sensitive to the trading activity, business strategies, and continued engagement of these trading members. The loss, reduced activity, or financial distress of one or more of these key trading members due to market conditions, industry consolidation, regulatory developments, or other internal or external factors could reduce trading volumes on our platform and adversely affect our revenues. Additionally, any migration of such trading members to competing exchanges or alternative trading venues, or structural shifts in the market, could further amplify this risk. The table below provides an overview of revenue from our top ten trading members for the period/Fiscal indicated:

This in turn could adversely impact our business and financial condition.

4. We operate in a highly regulated industry, primarily overseen by SEBI. We are also subject to periodic inspections by SEBI and IFSCA and pursuant to such inspections, have received observations, show cause notices, and administrative warnings, deficiency and advisory letters in relation to certain regulatory matters, and after issuance of show cause notices, enforcement actions including adjudication proceedings under Section 15-I and/or directions or penalties under Section 11B of the SEBI Act may be initiated by SEBI. There can be no assurance that further such communications will not be issued in the future.

We operate in a highly regulated industry and are subject to oversight by SEBI, the Reserve Bank of India (“RBI”), and other Indian statutory authorities. As a recognised stock exchange, we are subject to continuous supervision, inspections, and audits by SEBI under the Securities Contracts (Regulation) (Stock Exchanges and Clearing Corporations) Regulations, 2018 (“SECC Regulations”) and other applicable laws, and any non-renewal, suspension, or revocation of our authorisation could materially and adversely affect our ability to operate. SEBI possesses broad powers to oversee and enforce compliance, including but not limited to the authority to demand information or documents, conduct inspections at any time, approve or reject proposals, to order suspensions or initiate enquiries or investigations. From time to time, SEBI has also issued show cause notices, observations, and administrative warning, deficiency and advisory letters in relation to various matters, adjudication proceedings including our operations, operating controls, and regulatory compliance under Section 11B and 15-I of the SEBI Act, as applicable. Whilst the authorisation of our clearing corporation and Subsidiary, NSE Clearing Limited (“NCL”), is also subject to periodic review, the absence of such authorisation would not impact the existence of our stock exchange due to interoperability between clearing corporations, but it could have an adverse financial impact on our Company. Any adverse changes in regulations or regulatory approach that impact any of the foregoing could materially and negatively affect our operations. Regulatory feedback from such exercises is communicated through advisory or deficiency letters, warnings, or show cause notices by SEBI. All such findings are reviewed by our respective Regulatory Oversight Committees, Public Interest Directors Committee (“PID Committee”), and Governing Board, and we are required to implement timely corrective actions to address the identified regulatory concerns. Our Subsidiaries, NSE IFSC Limited (“NSEIX”), NSE IFSC Clearing Corporation Limited (“NSEICC”) and NSEIX Global Access IFSC Limited (“NSEIXGA”), are regulated by the International Financial Services Centres Authority (“IFSCA”). Further, certain of our products, for instance, currency futures and options contracts in the currency derivatives segment, require an approval from the RBI.

SEBI conducts regular periodic inspections on various aspects of our operations, including our (i) internal controls, systems and processes, (ii) risk management systems, (iii) policies, (iv) management and governance framework, and (v) other operational matters. Certain of these findings have resulted in enforcement actions and settlement proceedings. Whilst we have responded or are in the process of responding to SEBI’s observations and have taken, or are taking, steps to address identified deficiencies, any failure to comply fully with SEBI's observations or the terms and conditions stipulated therein, or seeking waivers or extensions of time, could result in adverse actions by SEBI including revocation of our registration or licence, or the imposition of penalties or stringent restrictions on our operations. Pursuant to past SEBI inspections, we have also been subject to enforcement actions and, if material deficiencies are detected, such enforcement actions may include suspending or restricting our trading activities, prohibiting the launch of new products or services, imposing significant monetary penalties, or debarment of our Company, Directors, or Key Management Personnel from accessing the securities market. While the Company has not been subject to any enforcement actions pursuant to such inspections by SEBI in the three months period ended June 30, 2026 and last three Fiscals, SEBI has initiated enforcement actions against two of our Subsidiaries in the three months period ended June 30, 2026 and the last three Fiscals. For details, see “ – We have been, and continue to be, subject to enforcement actions, monetary penalties, adjudication proceedings, which may or may not get settled with SEBI in respect of alleged violations and regulatory matters with applicable SEBI regulations. The outcome of current and potential future proceedings is uncertain and could have a material adverse effect on our business, reputation, financial condition, results of operations, cash flows and prospects” on page 31.

Further, SEBI has also conducted inspections on the operations of NCL and issued certain observations, inter alia, as follows: (i) failure in monitoring net-worth requirements and financial indicators of clearing members, (ii) update various policies, (iii) no system for updating of master database on real time basis. While NCL has submitted our responses to such observations and provided necessary clarifications and/or undertaken remedial actions to ensure compliance with such observations, we cannot assure you that such responses, clarifications and remedial actions will be adequate and that the SEBI will not have follow-up observations in the future.

Similarly, IFSCA conducts periodic inspections on our Subsidiaries, NSEIX, NSEICC and NSEIXGA. During its inspections in the past, the IFSCA had issued certain observations on the operations of: (A) NSEICC, including, (i) non-classification of certain employee as KMPs, and (ii) late payment of annual fees of ₹0.08 million; and (iii) segregation of regulatory department from other departments; and (B) NSE IFSC Limited, including, inter alia, (i) delay in completion of system audit and cyber security and cyber resilience audit, (ii) consecutive appointment of auditors, and (iii) compliance requirement in relation to broker dealers. While we have not been subject to any enforcement actions by IFSCA in the three months period ended June 30, 2026 and the last three Fiscals in respect of our Subsidiaries and we have submitted our responses to such observations and provided necessary clarifications and/or undertaken remedial actions to ensure compliance with such observations, we cannot assure you that such responses, clarifications and remedial actions will be adequate and that the IFSCA will not have follow-up observations in the future and that such inspections will not result in any adverse outcome, including any enforcement actions against such subsidiaries in future.

Further, SEBI also issues administrative warning letters, deficiency letters, and advisory letters to our Company, pursuant to routine SEBI inspections highlighting certain non-compliances by our Company under the SECC Regulations and other applicable SEBI regulations and circulars, including but not limited to technical lapses by our Company which resulted in delay in dissemination of corporate announcements, failure to monitor compliance with the SEBI Listing Regulations and to take appropriate action as per the SEBI circular issued in January 2020 (circular titled Non-compliance with certain provisions of the SEBI (Listing Obligations and Disclosure Requirements) Regulations, 2015 and the Standard Operating Procedure for suspension and revocation of trading of specified securities dated January 22, 2020), failure to conduct Vulnerability Assessment and Penetration Testing (“VAPT”) audits in a comprehensive manner, including failure to close issues and vulnerabilities identified in the VAPT in a timely and appropriate manner, failure to link all systems and applications with security monitoring tools and implement role-based access control measures, permitting viewing access to sensitive data outside our Company's network and premises, and certain governance and internal control deficiencies in relation to technology project oversight, KMP-related approvals and designations, and employee segregation and reporting structures. Any inability to resolve SEBI's observations satisfactorily, or the imposition of penalties or operational restrictions, could materially and adversely impact our business, results of operations, financial condition and prospects.

Any failure to comply with SEBI directives may materially and adversely affect our pending applications or requests with SEBI, hinder our ability to obtain necessary regulatory permits and approvals for business expansion, and disrupt all or part of our operations. Whilst we strive to maintain full compliance with all applicable regulations and promptly address any matters raised by SEBI, there can be no assurance that we will be able to comply, including in a timely manner, with all applicable regulatory requirements and that the future inspections or enquiries will not disclose additional deficiencies. Certain of the deficiencies identified in SEBI inspections relate to areas such as data governance, surveillance and internal approvals, which are fundamental to our role as a market infrastructure institution. Recurrence of similar observations across inspection cycles could result in enhanced regulatory scrutiny, restrictions on operations, or additional enforcement actions. Any inability to resolve observations of various regulatory bodies satisfactorily, or the imposition of penalties or operational restrictions, could materially and adversely impact our business, results of operations, financial condition and prospects.

5. *We have been, and continue to be, subject to enforcement actions, monetary penalties, adjudication proceedings, which may or may not get settled with SEBI in respect of alleged violations and regulatory matters with applicable SEBI regulations. The outcome of current and potential future proceedings is uncertain and could have a material adverse effect on our business, reputation, financial condition, results of operations, cash flows and prospects.

Our Company, being a Market Infrastructure Institution (“MI”), is exposed to operational, legal, and regulatory risks, including those arising from inspections and investigations conducted by SEBI. We have previously been, and continue to be, subject to enforcement actions by SEBI, including the issuance of show cause notices, letters, and other formal communications in connection with alleged violations of or non-compliance with applicable SEBI laws and regulations which may lead to actions such as monetary penalties and the issuance of appropriate directions. A summary of enforcement actions initiated and concluded during the three months period ended June 30, 2026 and Fiscals 2026, 2025, and 2024, by SEBI against us is provided below:

| 1.      | May 17, 2023          | Pursuant to the directions issued by the Securities Appellate Tribunal (“SAT”) in its order dated January 23, 2023, our Company and certain of our employees and officials (“ Noticees ”) received a show cause notice dated May 17, 2023, alleging connivance and collusion of OPG Securities Private Limited and its directors with employees or officials of our Company and violations of Section 12(a), (b), (c) of SEBI Act read with Regulation 3(a), 3(b), 3(c), 3(d) and 4(1) of the SEBI (Prohibition of Fraudulent and Unfair Trade Practices relating to Securities Market) Regulations, 2003, certain provisions of the Securities Contracts (Regulation) (Stock Exchanges and Clearing Corporations) Regulations, 2012 and certain clauses of other circulars issued by SEBI. SEBI, through its order dated September 13, 2024, held that the absence of sufficient evidence failed to justify establishment of any connivance or collusion between OPG Securities Private Limited or its directors with the Noticees, and therefore disposed of the show cause notice without any directions against the Noticees.                                                                                             |
| 2.      | October 31, 2023      | SEBI issued a letter to NSE Data and Analytics Limited, which was registered as a KYC Registration Agency*, in connection with its inspection for the period from April 1, 2022 to July 31, 2023 (“ Letter ”). A show cause notice dated April 3, 2024 was thereafter issued in terms of Rule 4(1) of the SEBI (Procedure for Holding Inquiry and Imposing Penalties) Rules, 1995, in relation to the alleged violation of, inter alia, various provisions of the SEBI (Intermediaries) Regulations 2008, the SEBI KYC (Know Your Client) Registration Agency Regulations, 2011, and various SEBI circulars alleging the following violations, inter alia, (i) irregularities with respect to backup of records; (ii) delay in sending letters of acknowledgement to investors; (iii) irregularities with respect to system audit reports and cyber security audit framework; (iv) failure to validate KYC records; and (v) irregularities with respect to segregation of operations and infrastructure. SEBI through its order dated September 30, 2024 imposed a penalty of ₹1.20 million on NSE Data and Analytics Limited under Section 15HB of the SEBI Act, 1992 which was duly paid by NSE Data and Analytics Limited. |

* On July 4, 2025, NSE Investments Limited approved the sale of the KYC Registration Agency (“KRA”) business owned by NSE Data & Analytics Limited to Computer Age Management Services Limited and the KRA business was transferred to Computer Age Management Services Limited on January 5, 2026.

Additionally, for details of the enforcement actions undertaken for the three months period ended June 30, 2026, and in Fiscals 2026, 2025, and 2024, and details of resolved enforcement actions previously undertaken by SEBI against our Company, see “Outstanding Litigation and Material Developments - Details of resolved enforcement actions previously undertaken by SEBI against our Company” on page 457 and for details of the outstanding actions as on the date of this Red Herring Prospectus undertaken by SEBI against our Company, see “Outstanding Litigation and Material Developments - Litigation involving our Company – Litigation against our Company - Actions taken by regulatory or statutory authorities” on page 446.

There can be no assurance that similar matters or other enforcement actions will not arise in the future. The outcome of these proceedings is inherently uncertain and any adverse decision in such proceedings may render us liable to monetary or non-monetary penalties, adverse orders, or other regulatory actions and may adversely affect our reputation, business, financial condition, results of operations, cash flows, and prospects. Further, as an MII, we are exposed to highest base settlement values in terms of the Securities and Exchange Board of India (Settlement Proceedings) Regulations, 2018 in cases of regulatory settlements, thereby increasing our financial exposure in the event of any alleged contravention which is settled. Set forth below is a list of settlement orders passed by SEBI against us, together with the amounts paid towards such settlements under the Securities and Exchange Board of India (Settlement Proceedings) Regulations, 2018, for the three months period ended June 30, 2026, and in Fiscals 2026, 2025, and 2024:

| 3.      | October 4, 2024                 | In the matter of the Trading Access Point (“TAP”) Architecture and Network Connectivity of our Company, SEBI issued a show cause notice dated February 28, 2023 against our Company and others (“Noticees”), in relation to, inter alia , the failure to take remedial measures to prevent or discourage any possible bypass of TAP, the alleged delay in the appointment of the Chief Information Security Officer and non-implementation of the encryption feature in TAP by our Company, and violation of provisions of the SEBI PFUTP Regulations, the SECC Regulations, and other SEBI circulars. Pursuant to a settlement application, filed by the Noticees, SEBI passed the settlement order.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                           | 6,430.53                   |
| 4.      | June 20, 2023 and June 28, 2023 | In the matter of the trading halt and failure of systems of our Company and NSE Clearing Limited upon occurrence of glitch on February 24, 2021, our Company’s trading system was halted in all its segments due to certain issues in the links with telecom service providers, which in turn impacted the Storage Area Network (“SAN”) system of our Company, resulting in the primary SAN becoming inaccessible to the host servers. This also resulted in the risk management system of NSE Clearing Limited and other systems, such as clearing and settlement, index, and surveillance systems, becoming unavailable. Subsequently, SEBI issued a show cause notice dated August 11, 2021 to our Company, NSE Clearing Limited, and certain officers of our Company and NSE Clearing Limited (“Noticees”), alleging non-compliance with SECC Regulations and certain SEBI circulars. Pursuant to settlement applications filed by the Noticees SEBI passed the settlement orders. | 726.48 <sup>(1)</sup>      |

(1) Cumulatively, our Company and NCL paid ₹726.48 million, with ₹497.68 million paid by our Company and ₹228.80 million paid by NCL.

SEBI has also established structured frameworks for imposing significant penalties on MIIs for operational or compliance lapses. For instance, the SEBI circular dated June 6, 2024, titled “Framework of Financial Disincentives for Surveillance Related Lapses at Market Infrastructure Institutions”, prescribes monetary penalties ranging from ₹2.50 million to ₹10.00 million. Similarly, the SECC Master Circular, prescribes monetary penalties ranging from ₹0.20 million to 20% of the average standalone net profit of the preceding two financial years or ₹20.00 million, whichever is higher. These penalties are subject to public disclosure and are required to be credited to investor protection or guarantee funds, directly impacting our profitability. Collectively, these frameworks not only result in larger potential settlements but also mean that penalties for MIIs may be higher and can occur automatically. Any such penalties or settlement amounts may reduce our profits and cash reserves, affect our ability to pay dividends, and result in reputational damage. Further, any future changes by SEBI to settlement or penalty mechanisms could increase our risk, thereby materially and adversely affecting our business, results of operations, financial condition, and prospects.

Further, we have been subject to significant regulatory actions, investigations, and legal proceedings by SEBI, in the past, which inter alia, primarily includes proceedings relating to alleged preferential access, deficiencies in dissemination architecture (“Colocation”), and permitting non-internet service providers to lay fibre on our premises (“Dark Fibre”). In relation to Colocation and Dark Fibre, SEBI issued show cause notices to us on May 22, 2017, and July 3, 2018, together with a supplementary show cause notice on July 31, 2018. Following our detailed responses, the Whole Time Member (“WTM”) of SEBI and the Adjudication Officer (“AO”) passed orders imposing monetary and non-monetary penalties on our Company. These orders were challenged by us before the Securities Appellate Tribunal (“SAT”), which partially allowed the order passed by WTM and reversed the order passed by the AO (“SAT Orders”). Subsequently, SEBI filed an appeal before the Supreme Court of India against the SAT Orders. However, on June 20, 2025, we filed settlement applications in respect of the Colocation and Dark Fibre matter with SEBI and have filed revised settlement terms on March 13, 2026. SEBI by way of its email dated July 30, 2026, has given an in-principle approval to accept the settlement terms, subject to Regulations 28 and 31 of the Securities and Exchange Board of India (Settlement Proceedings) Regulations, 2018 and has advised to make a payment of ₹7,147.37 million in addition to the deposit of ₹7,764.70 million made by our Company with SEBI which will be adjusted towards the settlement amount of ₹14,912.07 million. Thereafter, on July 31, 2026, our Company has made a payment of ₹7,147.37 million. Subsequently, our Company and SEBI filed interlocutory applications dated August 17, 2026 and August 18, 2026, respectively, to sought disposal of the appeals filed before the Supreme Court of India. On September 3, 2026, the Supreme Court of India has disposed off the appeals filed by SEBI in the Dark Fibre matter and the hearing of the interlocutory applications for disposal off the appeals filed by SEBI in the Colocation matters are pending for hearing. For further details, see “Outstanding Litigation and Material Developments – Litigation involving our Company – Litigation against our Company – Actions taken by regulatory or statutory authorities” on page 446. Although monetary amounts as per the settlement terms in relation to these matters have been paid and the non-monetary directions have been complied with, these proceedings have attracted regulatory and public attention and have had, and may continue to have, reputational implications for us. The outcome of the appeals and applications pending before the Supreme Court of India, remains uncertain, and any adverse decision, or the initiation of similar or additional regulatory actions, investigations, or proceedings, could materially and adversely affect our reputation, business, results of operations, financial condition, and prospects. Regulatory scrutiny of our operations and governance is done by SEBI on an ongoing basis.

We are also, from time to time, parties to legal proceedings relating to regulatory actions against listed entities or trading members, challenges to SEBI directives or our byelaws, or claims regarding our regulatory or operational actions. Given our status as an MII, our impleadment in such proceedings, even where we are not the primary respondent, may attract heightened regulatory scrutiny, and any adverse directions passed by a judicial forum could materially impact our market standing. Our Company and our Subsidiaries may in the future be subject to additional enforcement actions, investigations, show cause notices, or legal proceedings initiated by SEBI or any statutory authorities, because of new violations or previously undetected non-compliance with applicable laws and regulations, or due to stricter regulatory interpretation or heightened enforcement. Any such action could result in significant legal liability, substantial financial penalties, and may lead to material adverse effects on our business, reputation, results of operations, financial condition, and prospects.

6. *Disruptions, failures, or inadequacies in our IT infrastructure, systems, or software, including those provided by third-party vendors, could adversely affect our business, reputation and results of operations, and may subject us to regulatory action or the imposition of financial disincentives by SEBI.

Our business depends on the continuous, reliable, and secure performance of our information technology infrastructure, computers, communications networks, and trading and settlement software. With trading being fully electronic, technological robustness of market infrastructure is critical. Any disruption, whether from software malfunctions, connectivity failures, or order-matching errors, has the potential to affect market integrity and investor confidence at scale. According to the Redseer Report, landmark episodes in global markets illustrate this vulnerability: the May 2010 ‘Flash Crash’ in US equity and derivatives markets, the Knight Capital Group incident in August 2012 wherein the inadvertent reactivation of a deprecated order routing algorithm resulted in significant financial losses, fat-finger order entry errors that triggered sudden price dislocations in European and Asian markets, and settlement failures and order-routing latency events reported periodically across exchange groups globally. These events underscore that even mature systems remain prone to operational stress. Any failure, inadequacy, or disruption of our IT infrastructure, whether due to hardware or software defects or malfunctions, cyberattacks, phishing, distributed denial-of-service attacks, operational or human error, insufficient capacity, natural disasters, power outages, disruptions in telecommunications services, unauthorised access, fraud, military or political conflicts, terrorist attacks, computer viruses, ransomware, malware, or issues with third-party service providers, could significantly disrupt our business operations and erode market confidence. For example, our critical systems have, in the past, experienced disruptions that have led to the shutdown of our operations for a few hours. On February 24, 2021, issues in the links with telecom service providers impacted our Storage Area Network (“SAN”) system deployed in production and near disaster recovery site, resulting in the primary SAN becoming inaccessible to host servers. While the trading system was not impacted, outage of risk, clearing and settlement systems at NCL, index and surveillance systems at our Company led to a complete halt in all trading segments for nearly five hours and 24 minutes. For further details, see “- We have been, and continue to be, subject to enforcement actions, monetary penalties, adjudication proceedings, which may or may not get settled with SEBI in respect of alleged violations and regulatory matters with applicable SEBI regulations. The outcome of current and potential future proceedings is uncertain and could have a material adverse effect on our business, reputation, financial condition, results of operations, cash flows and prospects” on page 31. We have since implemented remedial measures, including architectural change of system design, shifting from SAN-based to host-based replication in key systems, strengthening disaster recovery and redundancy, adding additional service providers for replication links, and limiting link utilisation to safeguard failover capacity.

We have also experienced technology-related issues affecting our systems in the three months period ended June 30, 2026, and in Fiscals 2026, 2025 and 2024, including bugs in the corporate announcement submissions, issues with market data broadcast for specific securities, and periods during which the NSE India website was inaccessible over the internet. There have also been certain technical lapses in the futures and options asset class, including market data dissemination failures on secondary channels and instances where open interest values in equity derivatives were computed and published incorrectly. Operational lapses include delays in the transition from special pre-open sessions to the normal market for specific securities, delays in trade feeds to clearing corporations, as well as instances where incorrect price ranges occurred due to erroneous base prices of certain securities. Recurring failures of this nature could potentially have a significant impact in the future.

To address these risks, SEBI in 2021 (through the SEBI circular titled “Standard Operating Procedure for handling of technical glitches by Market Infrastructure Institutions (MIIs) and payment of “Financial Disincentives” thereof” dated July 5, 2021), mandated a standard operating procedure for handling technical glitches, prescribing substantial financial disincentives. We have in the past received warnings from SEBI for non-compliance with this circular. For instance, SEBI issued a letter dated February 26, 2024 to our Company wherein we had received an administrative warning from SEBI with respect to a non-alignment of our internal standard operating procedure with the standard operating procedure mandated by SEBI by way of its circular dated July 5, 2021. Although we have since taken corrective measures, there can be no assurance that similar violations will not recur, which may result in regulatory actions and penalties, adversely affecting our business operations and financial condition. While these incidents did not individually result in prolonged market-wide disruption, there is no assurance that such instances may not occur in the future or penalties may not be imposed on us and could result in material disruptions in the future.

The table below provides a summary of all technical glitches identified in our systems during the period from April 1, 2026 to the date of this Red Herring Prospectus, and during Fiscals 2026, 2025, and 2024. Except for (a) the technical glitch dated April 25, 2024, where a financial disincentive of ₹60.40 million was levied upon our Company and paid by our Company during May 2026, along with an administrative warning issued to our Company and our Managing Director and Chief Executive Officer pursuant to a letter issued by SEBI dated May 29, 2026 in relation to the technical glitch in the scrip of a listed company on April 25, 2024, wherein SEBI observed, inter alia, that (i) an incorrectly calculated pre-open price set a wrong reference price and price band for the scrip for the full trading day, (ii) our Company did not timely submit the preliminary or final root cause analysis to SEBI, and (iii) on account of shifting of the scrip to a different trading system, our Company incorrectly calculated the impact cost for such scrip and did not take corrective actions in that regard; and (b) the technical glitches dated March 7, 2022 and December 18, 2023, in respect of which an aggregate financial disincentive of ₹10.00 million was levied and paid by our Company, no other financial disincentives have been levied upon our Company and NCL and no administrative warnings have been issued to our Company and NCL in respect of technical glitches, during period from April 1, 2026 to the date of this Red Herring Prospectus, and during the Fiscals 2026, 2025, and 2024.

Systemic incidents of this nature may also undermine market integrity, reduce trading volumes, and shift investor preference towards alternative asset classes, which could adversely affect our business. Despite our ongoing investments and regulatory compliance efforts, there is no assurance that our backup and disaster recovery measures and business continuity planning will effectively eliminate or mitigate the risks arising from the above contingencies. Any inadequacy or lapse in our systems or those of our service providers could result in extended trading halts, failed settlements, regulatory sanctions, financial penalties, litigation, or reputational harm. Frequent, prolonged, or persistent technology failures could adversely affect the quality of our products, cause trading members and investors to lose confidence in the reliability of our IT infrastructure, and materially and adversely affect our business, results of operations, financial condition, and prospects.

We earn revenues from listing services, which includes revenue from listing fees, processing fees and book building fees. Revenue from listing fees includes one-time initial listing fees payable at the time of listing and recurring annual listing fees determined based on paid-up capital and Market Capitalisation of Listed Entities. It also includes revenue from book building and processing fees which is determined based on the issue size/capital proposed to be raised by an issuer through a proposed securities offering. Accordingly, our revenue from listing services is driven by Total Fund Mobilisation during the period/year, market capitalisation of listed entities, and the number of IPOs on our platforms. Our inability to attract new issuers, or a decline in the number of listings, issuances, or capital-raising activity on our platform, could adversely affect our operations, revenues, and market share. The table below provides revenue from our listing services for the period/Fiscal indicated:

*Listed Entities on Exchange represents the total number of Listed Entities on Mainboard, SME, SME ITP, as well as AMCs which have their funds listed on NSE as at the last day of the relevant period/year.

A decline in listings or issuances on our platform may result from various factors beyond our control, including adverse macroeconomic conditions, regulatory changes, increased competition from other domestic or international exchanges, or issuer preference for alternative fundraising avenues such as private equity, venture capital, or offshore markets. While the Number of IPOs on our stock exchange declined from 242 in Fiscal 2025 to 219 in Fiscal 2026, our revenue from listing services increased by 12.30% to ₹3,524.36 million in Fiscal 2026 from ₹3,138.21 million in Fiscal 2025 and by 0.92% to ₹783.59 million in the three months period ended June 30, 2026 from ₹776.42 million in the three months period ended June 30, 2025, primarily due to higher book-building fees earned due to an increase in capital raised on our platform and an increase in the listing fees charged. A decline in the number of listings on our stock exchange may, over time, reduce the growth of the securities available for trading on our platform and constrain secondary market activity, which could in turn adversely affect our revenue from trading activities. 8. We are subject to cybersecurity risks, including a distributed denial of service attack we experienced in 2025, and any successful cyberattack could disrupt our operations and adversely affect our business, financial condition, results of operations, and prospects.

The digital nature of our business and our reliance on IT systems make us vulnerable to cyberattacks, security breaches, phishing, ransomware, supply chain attacks, data breaches, social engineering, distributed denial of service and other sources of disruption. Our IT environment is fundamental to trading, clearing, settlement, data processing and the secure handling of confidential information, and its integrity, availability and security are critical to both our operations and the stability of the broader financial markets. We have been designated as Critical Information Infrastructure (“CII”) by the National Critical Information Infrastructure Protection Centre (“NCIIPC”), and as a designated CII, we are exposed to a range of threat actors, including those motivated by financial, political or other strategic interests. The inter-connectedness of capital markets, together with our exposure to external vendors and market participants, further amplifies our risk, and our ability to monitor the data security practices of third parties is limited, as we do not control their operations beyond our contractual agreements.

The techniques used to obtain unauthorised access to our systems, or to disable, degrade or sabotage them, are constantly evolving, may be difficult to detect quickly and are often not recognised until after they have been launched. We may be unable to anticipate these techniques, react in a timely manner or implement adequate preventative or remedial measures. Threat actors may use AI-powered techniques to improve reconnaissance and exploitation and to scale more persuasive social engineering (including deepfake-enabled impersonation), making attacks harder to detect. Cyber threats may also be heightened by geopolitical tensions and the activities of nation-state or state-sponsored actors. In May 2025 our website was targeted with significantly high-volume Distributed Denial-of-Service (“DDoS”) attacks to an extent of approximately 395 million hits in 11 minutes. While it did not have a material impact on our operations, the attack slowed down the multilingual page of our website. In addition, we may face emerging cybersecurity risks due to rapidly evolving technologies and changes in our operating environment, including increased use of application programming interfaces (“APIs”) and interoperable platforms, automation and artificial intelligence, the use of inadequately governed artificial intelligence (“AI”) tools (which may result in inadvertent leakage of confidential, sensitive or regulated information, new attack paths through third-party AI services, or vulnerabilities introduced through AI-assisted coding and automation), and the potential need to migrate to post-quantum cryptography, which could require significant upgrades to systems, processes and vendor solutions. Any security breach or unauthorised access to our platform could cause confidential or sensitive information to be stolen, severely disrupt operations, lead to prolonged service outages and financial loss, and compromise data integrity. Any such incident (including at key market participants or service providers) could have cascading effects on our operations and market confidence. A major cybersecurity incident, whether actual, attempted or even perceived, could also subject us to regulatory scrutiny, investigations, litigation, penalties, erosion of trust in us and reputational harm.

To address these risks, we have implemented a cybersecurity and risk management framework aligned with global standards such as the National Institute of Standards and Technology (“NIST”), the International Organization for Standardization (“ISO”) and SEBI’s Cyber Security and Cyber Resilience Framework (“CSCRF”), and we maintain 24x7 monitoring through our cyber defence centre. We conduct periodic cyber audits and risk assessments, including Vulnerability Assessment and Penetration Testing (“VAPT”), application security assessments, ethical hacking exercises and monitoring of our external attack surface, and take mitigation actions to reduce associated risks. We are also required to implement a comprehensive cyber security and resilience framework spanning people, processes and technology, and pursuant to relevant SEBI circulars, any gaps or vulnerabilities detected during regulatory VAPT audits are required to be remediated within three months of submission of VAPT report to SEBI. There have been instances where VAPT observations have not been closed within the specified timelines. For instance, we received a warning letter dated May 9, 2025, from SEBI, whereby our Company was issued a warning in relation to failure to conduct VAPT audit in a comprehensive manner, including, failure to ensure closure of VAPT observations within the prescribed timelines. We are required to adhere to SEBI requirements related to cyber resilience which we continually work towards implementing. Any delays or non-compliance to CSCRF, could potentially result in regulatory action, penalties or restrictions on our operations that may adversely affect our business operations and financial condition. Other than the highlighted DDoS attack in May 2025, there have been no uncontained or unmitigated cybersecurity incidents or data breaches in the three months period ended June 30, 2026, and in Fiscals 2026, 2025 and 2024, however our controls may not always be effective to prevent, detect or remediate all threats on a timely basis, and the persistent and evolving nature of cyber threats means that any future incident, regardless of scale, could cause severe operational disruption, data compromise and erosion of market and stakeholder trust, potentially triggering market instability, litigation and regulatory actions, thereby adversely impacting our business and financial condition.

9. Our risk management systems may not always be adequate, which could result in financial losses, regulatory action, and reputational harm.

We are required to maintain various risk management systems. For example, NCL and NSEICC are required to maintain a fund called the Core Settlement Guarantee Fund (“Core SGF”) for each product category, to guarantee the settlement of trades executed. In addition, effective measures must be implemented to monitor and manage risk through processes such as stress testing and back testing to ensure the adequacy of margins and liquidity.

Our risk management systems, including that of NCL and NSEICC, may, in certain circumstances, be inadequate to address the full range of market, operational, liquidity, settlement, and cyber risks to which we are exposed, or may not remain fully compliant with applicable SEBI and IFSCA regulations and evolving regulatory expectations. NCL acts as central counterparty of trades executed on various stock exchange platforms including our platforms and NSEICC acts as central counterparty for trades executed on NSEIX, providing counterparty guarantees for both domestic and international transactions, respectively. While NCL and NSEICC operate comprehensive and necessary risk containment measures, including capital adequacy requirements, real-time client-level position monitoring using Value at Risk and Standard Portfolio Analysis of Risk (“SPAN”) margin models, collateral safeguards, Core SGF in line with SEBI requirements and IFSCA requirements, respectively, position limits, and automatic disablement of members breaching prescribed limits, 24x7 cyber defence centre, advanced threat intelligence, anomaly detection, and incident response capabilities, there have been instances of failures. Details of a material instance are set out below:

| Date                            | Summary of instance                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |
| February 24, 2021               | The risk management system of NCL failed due to a technical issue in the storage network, rendering critical systems, including risk management, clearing, settlement, index, and surveillance systems, non-operational and contributing to a complete halt in all trading segments for five hours and 24 minutes. |
| July 2, 2021                    | SEBI through its letter imposed a financial disincentive of ₹2.50 million on us for the failure of critical activities by our Company and NCL, as the recovery from such failures exceeded the stipulated recovery time objective prescribed under our business continuity planning and disaster recovery policy.  |
| August 11, 2021                 | SEBI issued a show cause notice to our Company and NCL in relation to the aforesaid incident                                                                                                                                                                                                                       |
| June 20, 2023 and June 28, 2023 | Proceedings were settled pursuant to settlement orders passed by SEBI, pursuant to which our Company paid ₹497.68 million and NCL paid ₹228.80 million.                                                                                                                                                            |

Although we have taken remedial measures, there can be no assurance that similar incidents will not recur in the future. For further details, see “ - We have been, and continue to be, subject to enforcement actions, monetary penalties, adjudication proceedings, which may or may not get settled with SEBI in respect of alleged violations and regulatory matters with applicable SEBI regulations. The outcome of current and potential future proceedings is uncertain and could have a material adverse effect on our business, reputation, financial condition, results of operations, cash flows and prospects” on page 31.

Further, certain trades executed on our stock exchange are settled by or through external clearing corporations. If these clearing corporations fail to perform settlements adequately or in compliance with regulatory requirements, such trades may fail or face disruption, which could adversely affect our reputation and participant confidence. Such frameworks may have inherent limitations and cannot fully eliminate exposure to severe stress scenarios. If our systems fail to prevent or adequately respond to adverse events, we could experience financial losses, settlement disruptions, regulatory action, and reputational harm, any of which could adversely affect our business, financial condition, and prospects.

10. Our clearing corporation operations expose us to financial, operational, counterparty and systemic risks arising from our relationships with, and dependencies on, clearing members, depositories and other market infrastructure participants. Any failure could have an adverse impact on our business and financial condition.

Trades executed on our stock exchange are cleared and settled through NCL (our Subsidiary) or the BSE Clearing Limited (“BSECL”) (formerly known as Indian Clearing Corporation Limited). ^ Two side volume is considered while computing average daily trading volume. NCL volume is average daily cleared volume in ₹ million for the respective period. Options turnover is on premium. Volume is on both sides buy and sell sides cleared by NCL.

NCL acts as a central counterparty to trades executed on all stock exchanges, we interpose ourselves between buyers and sellers, thereby assuming the counterparty credit risk of each transaction. Any failure by a clearing member to meet settlement obligations, whether due to insolvency, liquidity constraints, or operational disruption, could expose us to significant financial losses, particularly in periods of heightened market volatility when the value of collateral held may decline rapidly or prove insufficient to cover outstanding obligations. Together, NCL and BSECL guarantee the settlement of trades executed on our platforms and maintain a Core SGF to support their guarantor obligations. Despite risk management systems in place, defaults by clearing members can occur, potentially leading to losses if NCL’s margin and security deposits are insufficient. In extreme stress scenarios, including the simultaneous default of multiple large clearing members, the margin and collateral held by NCL may prove materially insufficient to cover the resulting settlement obligations. Under such circumstances, NCL may be required to draw upon the Core SGF, and if the Core SGF is itself insufficient, our Company and NCL may be required to make additional capital contributions to restore the fund to the levels mandated by SEBI. There can be no assurance that the aggregate resources available to NCL, including margins, security deposits, and the Core SGF, would be adequate to absorb losses arising from the concurrent default of multiple clearing members during periods of severe market dislocation, and any such shortfall could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition, results of operations, and cash flows.

NCL also faces liquidity risk if clearing members or banks delay or fail in fulfilling payment or settlement obligations. Collateral risk arises if NCL cannot access deposited collateral due to legal issues or if market conditions reduce its liquidation value. Funding the Core SGF has involved significant contributions in the past and may continue to be required in the future, as NCL utilises this fund to cover member defaults, with both NCL and our Company required to contribute to it from time to time in accordance with regulatory requirements. Our risk controls and financial safeguards may not always detect problems early or prevent losses. Additionally, delays or failures by depositories like Central Depository Services (India) Limited (“CDSL”) and National Securities Depository Limited (“NSDL”) could disrupt settlements and adversely affect our business. Between April 1, 2023, and June 30, 2026, there were 35 instances of delays in securities settlement involving depositories on our platform. These delays were primarily attributable to extension of securities pay-in timings by depositories, system issues such as hardware failure, delays in beginning of the day, inter-depository clearance, and challenges relating to the implementation of direct payout. In certain instances, these delays resulted in securities pay-out being released after the prescribed time. None of these instances of delay in securities payout resulted in material impact on our operations. However, there can be no assurance that future delays or failures by depositories will not have a material adverse effect on our operations, financial condition and results of operations. Further, pursuant to SEBI circular dated October 1, 2024, clearing corporations with a clearing volume share of 40% or more are required to maintain a minimum Core Settlement Guarantee Fund corpus of ₹105,000 million for equity derivatives products. Any such new or enhanced requirements may require us to make substantial additional investments or incur increased compliance costs.

Our clearing operations are subject to regulation by SEBI and other applicable regulatory authorities. Any changes in the regulatory framework governing clearing corporations in India, including changes to capital adequacy requirements, margin requirements, default fund contributions, or risk management standards, could increase our compliance costs. Since June 2019, SEBI has mandated interoperability among clearing corporations, which has altered the operating environment. Previously, NCL exclusively cleared trades on our platforms, centralising liquidity. Now, clearing can be done through any authorised clearing corporation irrespective of the trading venue. While this change has not had a material impact on our operations, the long-term impact is uncertain.

Competition may lead participants to clear trades through other clearing houses offering lower fees, better technology, or improved services, potentially reducing NCL’s transaction volumes, liquidity, market share, and fee income. This separation of trading and clearing increases fee competition, compresses margins, and weakens our ability to differentiate via integrated services. Operational linkages among clearing corporations also raise the risk of rapid shifts in transaction flows due to pricing, risk perceptions, or service disruptions, which could impair stability and complicate planning. Although interoperability improves market flexibility and resilience, it introduces evolving competitive, operational, and financial risks that may adversely impact our business, results of operations, financial results, and prospects.

Further, according to the Redseer Report, faster settlement cycles compress operational timelines across trading, clearing, and depositories. India's transition to T+1 and optional T+0 settlements reduce counterparty risk but raise throughput and interoperability demands, according to the Redseer Report. Any capacity mismatch can create bottlenecks and settlement risk, reinforcing the need for ongoing infrastructure upgrades, which could increase our operational costs.

11. The success and growth of our business depend on our ability to innovate and develop new products. Any failure to do so could have an adverse impact on our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Our ability to grow and sustain our competitive position depends significantly on our capacity to develop, introduce and successfully commercialise new products, services and platforms that meet the evolving needs of market participants. The process of developing new products involves substantial investment, time, and resources, and there can be no assurance that such efforts will result in commercially successful offerings. New products may fail to gain market acceptance, may not generate sufficient revenues to offset development costs, or may face unexpected technical, regulatory, or competitive challenges. In addition, we operate in a highly competitive environment where other exchanges, alternative trading venues and market infrastructure providers are continually innovating and expanding their product offerings. If our competitors are more successful in anticipating market trends or developing attractive new products, we may lose market share, and our competitive position may be adversely affected. Furthermore, if there is a shift in consumer preferences away from investing and trading in securities to other products and services, including alternative asset classes, digital assets, or other financial instruments offered by non-traditional platforms, it could significantly reduce demand for our services. The introduction of new products may also require regulatory approvals, which may be delayed, denied, or subject to conditions that limit the commercial viability of such products. As we seek to build a strategic offshore presence to strengthen our engagement with global institutional investors, we may face challenges in establishing and operating in new jurisdictions, including unfamiliar regulatory environments, increased compliance costs, geopolitical risks, and difficulties in attracting and retaining local talent. Additionally, our efforts to expand international offerings tailored to global investor needs, may not achieve the anticipated commercial outcomes. Any failure to innovate effectively, anticipate market demand, respond to shifts in consumer preferences, or successfully launch new products could materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

12. Our businesses require us to acquire, store, and transmit sensitive information, which exposes us to risks of internal and external security breaches, and non-compliance with applicable privacy and data protection laws could result in claims, liabilities, and harm to our results of operations, financial condition, and prospects. If market data disseminated by us contains undetected errors, this could also have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition, or results of operations.

The secure acquisition, processing, transmission, and storage of highly sensitive and confidential information is fundamental to all aspects of our operations, including our listing, trading, clearing and settlement, index, and data analytics businesses. Our systems routinely collect, process, and retain critical personal data of investors transacting through our member brokers, including PAN details, trading records, demat accounts, and bank information. Any security breach compromising this data could expose investors to significant risks including identity theft, financial fraud, regulatory scrutiny, litigation, and reputational harm to our Company and our Subsidiaries. Data security breaches may also arise from fraudulent or negligent conduct by employees, vendors, trading members, or their constituents, or from operational errors, and certain third parties with whom we share sensitive information may not implement appropriate safeguards, resulting in unauthorised disclosure or loss of data. Although we invest substantially in data protection, access controls, encryption, and oversight, there is always a risk that parties including insiders or sophisticated external actors may circumvent our security protocols, potentially resulting in theft of data, system manipulation, market disruption, regulatory intervention, competitive disadvantages, loss of customer trust, negative publicity, litigation, or financial loss. Responding to or remedying such incidents may require significant investment in resources and may result in losses that are not covered by our insurance. In the past, our Company was warned by SEBI for permitting vendor laptops to access sensitive data outside our premises. Although we have since complied with SEBI's directions, there can be no assurance that similar instances will not recur. There has been no material breach or loss of personal data of any trading members or investors during the three months period ended June 30, 2026, and in Fiscals 2026, 2025, and 2024.

We are also subject to a broad range of laws, regulations, and contractual requirements governing the processing, storage, and handling of personal information. The regulatory framework for privacy and data protection is rapidly evolving in India and globally, and compliance with new and existing privacy laws, such as the Information Technology Act, 2000, the Digital Personal Data Protection Act, 2023 (the “DPDP Act”) and the Digital Personal Data Protection Rules, 2025 (the “DPDP Rules”), may significantly increase our compliance and technology costs, and could restrict or complicate the way we offer products. The GoI has set out an implementation timeline for the DPDP Act and the DPDP Rules over an 18-month period starting from November 2025. The DPDP Act requires companies that collect and deal with high volumes of personal data to fulfil certain additional obligations such as appointment of a data protection officer for grievance redressal and an independent data auditor to evaluate compliance with the DPDP Act. It has introduced enhanced data subject rights, stricter obligations for significant data fiduciaries, expanded regulatory oversight, and new requirements impacting how we collect, store, and process personal information, both in India and abroad. As the interpretation and enforcement of the DPDP Act remains unsettled, its future impact on our operations is highly uncertain and could be significant. Under the DPDP Act, penalty of breach in observing the obligation of data fiduciary to take reasonable security safeguards to prevent personal data breach may extend to ₹2,500 million. We may incur increased costs and other burdens relating to compliance with such new requirements, which may also require significant management time and other resources, and any failure to comply may adversely affect our business, results of operations and prospects.

Any failure by us or by third parties acting on our behalf to comply with applicable privacy and data protection laws or to implement sufficient data security measures could result in regulatory investigations, severe penalties, litigation, reputational damage, business disruptions, or loss of customer trust. While we have not experienced any material losses from information security breaches to date and have not received any complaints or notifications of violations of applicable privacy and data protection laws, there can be no assurance that our controls will always prove effective or that such compliance will continue. In addition, market data disseminated by us, including price quotations, trading volumes, index values, and other market information, is relied upon by market participants for making investment and trading decisions. If such market data contains undetected errors, inaccuracies, or delays, whether due to system malfunctions, software defects, human error, or other causes, it could result in erroneous trading decisions by market participants, potential claims against us, regulatory scrutiny, reputational harm, and loss of confidence in our data services. Any compromise of sensitive information, errors in market data dissemination, or any material failure to comply with privacy and data protection laws, could materially and adversely affect our business, results of operations, financial condition, and prospects.

13. Our technology infrastructure is critical to our operations. Any failure to maintain, upgrade, or enhance our technology systems, or to successfully adopt emerging technologies, could adversely affect our business, financial condition, results of operations, and prospects.

Our technology infrastructure is fundamental to the operation of our platforms and the delivery of our services, including trading, clearing and settlement, market data dissemination and risk management. Technology, regulatory responsiveness, and product innovation are integral to our operations and business strategy, and the environment in which we operate is subject to constant and rapid change, including evolving regulations, the introduction of new derivative or other asset classes and associated data products, the rise of electronic and high-speed trading, shifts in execution methods, and increasingly sophisticated automated risk management systems. Our ability to remain competitive and relevant depends, in significant part, on our capacity to anticipate, evaluate, adopt and integrate such technologies effectively and in a timely manner. We may not always be able to successfully develop, license, or integrate critical new technologies, or launch new platforms, products, and services in a cost-effective and timely manner. We continuously upgrade and maintain our platform and infrastructure, which requires significant investment in time and resources. Such investments may not prove successful, effective, or capable of generating a tangible return on investment. The following table provides a breakdown of the expenses we have incurred towards our technology infrastructure for the period/Fiscal indicated:

Even where we do identify and seek to adopt emerging technologies, there can be no assurance that we will be able to do so successfully or that such technologies will perform as anticipated in the context of our operations. New technologies may require substantial re-engineering of our existing systems and processes, and integration efforts may prove more complex, time-consuming, or costly than expected. Furthermore, emerging technologies are, by their nature, subject to uncertainty regarding their reliability, security, scalability and regulatory treatment. The adoption of technologies that subsequently prove to be unsuitable, unreliable, or non-compliant with applicable regulatory requirements could adversely affect our operations, reputation, and financial condition. In addition, we are required to continuously invest in upgrading our surveillance, cybersecurity, resilience, and risk management systems to meet evolving regulatory standards and market expectations. These investments involve significant capital and operating expenditure, and if such costs are not offset by commensurate revenue growth, our profitability could be negatively affected. While we plan our capital expenditure based on projected requirements, unforeseen circumstances such as regulatory changes, technological upgrades, system failures, expansion of capacity, or other factors beyond our control may necessitate higher than anticipated capital expenditure. If such unanticipated capital expenditure requirements arise, we may be required to allocate significant financial resources towards these investments, thereby reducing the funds available for other business operations or growth initiatives. There can be no assurance that the returns on such unplanned investments will be commensurate with the costs incurred.

As a recognised stock exchange in India and a critical market infrastructure institution, we are subject to extensive regulatory requirements governing our technology systems and operations, including requirements prescribed by SEBI and other applicable regulatory authorities. These requirements relate to, among other things, system capacity and resilience, business continuity planning, disaster recovery, cybersecurity frameworks, data protection, and periodic technology audits. The regulatory framework may not evolve at the same pace as the technologies themselves, creating uncertainty as to whether and how emerging technologies may be deployed in a manner consistent with our regulatory obligations. Conversely, regulators may impose new or enhanced requirements in response to technological developments, necessitating further investment, changes to our technology architecture, or modifications to our operational processes, which may require us to make further investments. These investments may involve significant capital and operating expenditure, which we may not be able to realise. See “- We are subject to cybersecurity risks, including a distributed denial of service attack we experienced in 2025, and any successful cyberattack could disrupt our operations and adversely affect our business, financial condition, results of operations, and prospects.” on page 36.

Our competitors, including other exchanges and alternative trading venues, may be more agile or better resourced in adopting and deploying emerging technologies, which could erode our competitive position, reduce our market share, or diminish the attractiveness of our platform to market participants. In addition, emerging technologies may lower barriers to entry in the exchange and market infrastructure space, enabling new competitors to offer competing services with greater speed, lower cost, or enhanced functionality. While not material, in the past, we have incurred costs on technology projects that were subsequently discontinued or abandoned, indicating that such investments may not always yield the intended outcomes or anticipated benefits. Developing and launching technology solutions involves significant technical risks and upfront investments that may not generate the expected returns. There can be no assurance that our ongoing or future technology investments will achieve their objectives or result in the expected returns. These investments may involve significant capital and operating expenditure, which we may not be able to realise. See “- The use of Artificial Intelligence (“AI”) and machine learning technologies, and the use of AI-driven strategies by market participants, could adversely affect our business, reputation, financial condition, and results of operations.” on page 49.

14. We rely on third parties for certain products, including aspects of our critical system infrastructure and software. We are subject to operational risks, including failures in execution, system disruptions, or fraud, including risks arising from the operations of such third parties and other intermediaries, which could materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition, results of operations, and prospects.

We depend on third-party service providers for a range of services critical to our operations, including communications and networking equipment, computer hardware and software, support and maintenance functions, and critical connectivity between our platforms and member brokers. We also rely on tools licensed from third parties for data leakage prevention and data encryption. Any interruption, underperformance, or change in the availability or quality of these services could have a significant adverse impact on our business. Rapid advances in technology and evolving industry standards mean that our licensed technologies risk becoming obsolete or unsupported before their licence periods end, potentially requiring us to incur substantial additional costs for technology upgrades or replacements. Note: Names of vendors have not been disclosed to comply with confidentiality requirements; The vendors listed above are domestic vendors and are not our related parties.

We have, in the past, experienced issues with certain third-party vendors. For instance, we engaged a third-party service provider in 2020 to deliver comprehensive IT infrastructure managed services under a five-year contract. However, in May 2023, the service provider invoked the termination clause and issued a notice for early termination. Following legal proceedings and consent terms, we effected a transition to a new vendor.

Our critical operations, including trading, clearing, and settlement of securities and financial instruments, rely heavily on complex electronic systems, real-time data processing, and close coordination with trading members, clearing corporations, depositories, banks, and other market participants. As a result, we are exposed to a broad spectrum of operational risks, including trade execution failures, system outages, order routing errors, and fraudulent activities. Such risks can stem from human errors, technical malfunctions, unauthorised access, cyberattacks, or process deficiencies, whether within our own infrastructure or at the level of third parties. Even where our internal systems function as designed, failures or disruptions in the systems or operations of any third party, such as settlement failures or data reconciliation lapses, can undermine the integrity and efficiency of our transaction and settlement processes. Although there have been certain instances of operational failures or system-related issues during the three months period ended June 30, 2026, and in Fiscals 2026, 2025, and 2024, these did not result in any material business disruptions and there can be no assurance that such events will not occur in the future. For instance, on December 15, 2025, a software bug in an original equipment manufacturer device caused users to be logged out of the commodity, currency, and securities lending and borrowing mechanism segments. For further details, see “- Disruptions, failures, or inadequacies in our IT infrastructure, systems, or software, including those provided by third-party vendors, could adversely affect our business, reputation and results of operations, and may subject us to regulatory action or the imposition of financial disincentives by SEBI.” on page 34. Disruptions, capacity constraints, technology failures, or performance lapses by third parties could disrupt our operations, impair trading activity, or result in regulatory sanctions, reputational harm, litigation, loss of market share, and loss of revenues. Our disaster recovery and business continuity plans may not be sufficient for all scenarios, and our insurance coverage may not always compensate us fully for losses incurred. Any of these consequences could adversely affect our business, results of operations, financial condition, and prospects.

15. There are outstanding legal proceedings involving our Company, Subsidiaries, Directors, Key Management Personnel or Senior Management and Group Companies. Failure to defend these proceedings successfully, or any further liability or appeal arising out of these matters, may adversely affect our business, results of operations, financial condition, and cash flows.

There are outstanding legal proceedings involving our Company, Subsidiaries, Directors, Key Management Personnel or Senior Management and Group Companies, pending at various stages before courts, tribunals, quasi-judicial bodies, and appellate authorities. If determined adversely, these matters could negatively impact our reputation, business, results of operations, financial condition, and cash flows. For further details of material legal proceedings, see “Outstanding Litigation and Material Developments” beginning on page 439. A summary of outstanding litigations as on date of this Red Herring Prospectus is provided below:

^^ This does not include the consolidated disclosure of certain civil writ petitions disclosed in “Outstanding Litigation and Material Developments – Litigation involving our Subsidiaries – Litigation against our Subsidiary – Material civil litigation” on page 453, as these are not material civil litigation.

In addition to the above, there is one civil litigation involving one of our Group Companies, NSDL, the outcome of which could have a material impact on our Company. For further details, see “Outstanding Litigation and Material Developments – Litigation involving our Group Companies” on page 456. The amounts claimed in these proceedings, to the extent ascertainable, have been disclosed and may include claims made jointly and severally. Should new developments arise, such as changes in applicable law, or rulings against us by judicial or quasi-judicial authorities, we may be required to make provisions in our financial statements, increasing our expenses and current liabilities. We cannot assure you that these proceedings will be decided in our favour, that no further liability will arise, or that further appeals or challenges will not be pursued. The defence and management of such proceedings could divert significant management time and financial resources.

After filing of the Draft Red Herring Prospectus, our Company and the Book Running Lead Managers, as applicable, have received 25 complaints filed by various third parties regarding inter alia (i) appointment of international intermediaries by our Company for the purposes of the Offer; (ii) refund of security deposit due to disabling of an entity as a trading member; (iii) allegations of arbitrary decisions taken by our Company in relation to classification of certain equity scrips; (iv) allegations of violations of the provisions of Companies Act, 1956 or Companies Act, 2013, as applicable, in relation to the allotment of securities by our Company; (v) seeking investigation into alleged opaque investment structures of certain Shareholders; (vi) clarifications in relation to the disclosures and exercise undertaken for preparation of the Offer-related documents; and (vii) transfer of securities of investors by certain trading member (collectively, “Complaints”). While our Company has responded to the Complaints save and except for certain Complaints for which we are currently in the process of responding, our Company has denied all claims in relation to such Complaints, wherever applicable, and there has been no material financial impact of the Complaints on our Company, there can be no assurance that our Company will not receive such complaints in the future, which may adversely affect our reputation, business, financial condition and results of operations.

Past competitive practices have also led to regulatory scrutiny, including through a complaint filed by MCX Stock Exchange Limited, (now the Metropolitan Stock Exchange of India Limited) (“MSEI”) with the Competition Commission of India (the “CCI”) against our Company alleging a dominant position in the stock exchange service market and abused its dominant position under Section 4 of the Competition Act, 2002 (the “Competition Act”). The CCI, vide its order dated June 23, 2011, imposed a penalty of ₹555.00 million on our Company. Our Company challenged the CCI Order before the Competition Appellate Tribunal (“COMPAT”), which upheld the penalty imposed against our Company. Aggrieved by the same, our Company has filed a civil appeal before the Supreme Court of India seeking to set aside the COMPAT Order, which is currently pending (“SC Appeal”). Further, MSEI has filed a compensation claim of ₹8,569.90 million before the National Company Law Appellate Tribunal, which has been stayed by the Supreme Court due to the pendency of the SC Appeal. For further details, see “Outstanding Litigation and Material Developments” beginning on page 439. Adverse outcomes may result in fines, penalties, or injunctions affecting our operations or financial position. Even if successful, we may incur substantial legal and associated costs which may not be recoverable, and which may have an adverse impact on our reputation, business, results of operations, financial condition, and prospects. For details of our contingent liabilities, see “Summary of Contingent Liabilities” beginning on page 86.

16. Our risk management framework and insurance policies may not be effective or adequate.

Our risk management framework comprises policies and procedures that aim to identify, prevent, or mitigate risks such as investment risk, market risk, credit risk, operational risk, and liquidity risk. Any deficiencies or failures in our risk management processes could result in regulatory breaches or non-compliance, which in turn may lead to reduced trading volumes, loss of trading members, or decreased usage of our products. In addition, our operations are subject to a range of inherent hazards, including equipment malfunctions, system or infrastructure failures, employee misconduct (including fraud), and external events such as acts of terrorism. These events, whether individually or collectively, could disrupt our business operations, impair our ability to maintain continuity of services, and adversely affect our financial performance. The table below sets forth our insurance coverage as a percentage of our net value of insurable assets as at the dates indicated:

Note: Net Value of Insurable Assets comprises property plant and equipment, capital work in progress and other intangible assets.

Our Company has not been denied any insurance coverage for which it had applied in the three months period ended June 30, 2026 and in Fiscals 2026, 2025 and 2024. Nonetheless, there is no assurance that claims under these policies will be honoured fully, promptly, or at all. Moreover, certain losses or liabilities such as third-party claims or litigation damages may be excluded or exceed our coverage limits. Any material loss not covered by insurance or beyond our coverage limits would be borne by us directly, potentially adversely affecting our cash flows, results of operations, financial condition, and prospects. For further details on our insurance policies and asset coverage, see “Our Business – Insurance” on page 239.

17. Our business depends on statutory and regulatory approvals, licences, registrations and permissions which are subject to periodic renewal and regulatory conditions, and which we may not always be able to obtain or renew in a timely manner.

We are required to obtain, maintain, and periodically renew a range of statutory and regulatory approvals, licences, registrations and permissions to operate our platform, introduce new products, and conduct our business. The key business and operations related approvals we depend on include our SEBI recognition as a stock exchange, SEBI approval permitting the listing of equity shares on a recognised stock exchange, and approvals required for the launch of new products. For further details, see “Government and Other Approvals” beginning on page 461. Additionally, our ability to launch new products or make material modifications to existing products is governed by a structured authorisation process. This process entails review and approval by the relevant committees and our Governing Board, and subsequent regulatory clearance from SEBI. We cannot assure you that we will always be able to obtain or maintain these approvals and permissions in a timely manner, or at all. Delays or inability to secure necessary approvals may restrict our operational flexibility, limit our ability to respond quickly to market opportunities, and to deliver innovative products or services. This multi-tiered process, while designed to ensure market integrity, may result in a slower pace of product rollout and potentially affect our competitive position and growth prospects. For example, in 2019, SEBI, by way of its order dated April 30, 2019, in connection with findings arising out of the colocation matter, prohibited us from accessing the securities market for a period of six months. For further details relating to the colocation matter, see “- We have been, and continue to be, subject to enforcement actions, monetary penalties, adjudication proceedings, which may or may not get settled with SEBI in respect of alleged violations and regulatory matters with applicable SEBI regulations. The outcome of current and potential future proceedings is uncertain and could have a material adverse effect on our business, reputation, financial condition, results of operations, cash flows and prospects” on page 31. Further, SEBI issued a show cause notice dated July 31, 2020, against our Company, alleging that our Company engaged, directly and/or through its Subsidiary, NSE Investments Limited (formerly known as NSE Strategic Investment Corporation Limited) in activities that are unrelated or non-incidental to a stock exchange and has not taken SEBI’s approval required under Regulation 38(2) and 41(3) of the SECC Regulations. For further details on this matter, see “Outstanding Litigation and Material Developments - Litigation involving our Company – Litigation against our Company - Actions taken by regulatory or statutory authorities” on page 446. Such restrictions may impact our ability to innovate, introduce new products, or expand our service offerings, and in certain instances may restrict our ability to raise capital or pursue growth opportunities. There can be no assurance that similar orders or regulatory constraints will not be imposed on us in the future, any of which could adversely affect our business operations, expansion plans, ability to respond to market competition, or access to capital required for growth.

Further, certain applications for approvals relating to specific products have been returned in the past, and similar applications may not be approved or may take longer to process, in the future. In addition, except for the applications pending approval from SEBI, for instance, application for approval to launch thermal coal (PLATTS) futures in NSE commodity derivatives segment and application for approval to launch interest rate derivatives on corporate bond index and, in some cases, RBI, for instance, application for approval to launch quanto cross currency derivatives, we currently do not have any pending material statutory approvals in relation to our Company or our Material Subsidiary. For further details, see “Government and Other Approvals - Pending Material Approvals in relation to our Company and our Material Subsidiary” on page 463.

Our inability to obtain timely approvals or the rejection of such applications may delay or limit our ability from introducing new products, restrict our ability to access additional revenue streams, and limit our capacity to respond to market demand. Failure by us, or by our third-party vendors or intermediaries, to obtain, maintain, renew, or comply with the terms and conditions of required approvals, licences, registrations, and permissions may interrupt our business, limit our ability to scale or launch new products, and this may have a material adverse effect on our business, results of operations, financial condition, and prospects.

18. Our Data Feed & Terminal services and licensing services may contain errors and vulnerabilities that may result in financial, operational, and reputational harm.

We provide a range of Data Feed & Terminal services and licensing services, including market data feeds, reference data, indices, benchmarks, and analytical tools. Our customers and market participants rely upon to make trading, investment, valuation, risk management, and regulatory compliance decisions. The table below provides revenue from our Data Feed & Terminal services and our licensing services for the period/Fiscal indicated:

Any errors, inaccuracies, omissions, or delays in our data and analytics offerings, whether arising from flawed source data, deficiencies in our data collection, processing, validation, or dissemination systems, or from software bugs or other technical malfunctions, could result in our customers and other market participants making decisions based on incorrect or incomplete information.

The consequences of such errors or inaccuracies could be significant. Market participants who rely on our data products for price discovery, order execution, portfolio valuation, margin calculations, or regulatory reporting may suffer financial losses or fail to meet their own regulatory obligations if the data they receive is flawed. This could, in turn, give rise to claims against us for damages, contractual disputes, or regulatory investigations. Even where errors are identified and corrected promptly, the occurrence of such incidents may undermine confidence in the reliability of our data products and result in customer attrition, reduced demand for our offerings, or an inability to attract new customers. NSE Data & Analytics Limited (“NSE DAL”), which manages our data dissemination business, has not received any financial claims in respect of any errors, inaccuracies, omissions, or delays in its data and analytics offerings. While there have been no financial claims made against NSE DAL, there exists a risk of customer attrition if the product quality does not meet clients’ expected standards. Furthermore, third parties may misuse, manipulate, or exploit our data products, analytical tools, or software interfaces in unauthorised or unforeseen ways that could compromise market integrity, facilitate market abuse, or result in violations of applicable laws and regulations. While we implement access controls, licensing restrictions, and monitoring mechanisms to mitigate these risks, we cannot guarantee that such measures will be effective in preventing all forms of misuse or exploitation. Any such incidents could expose us to regulatory scrutiny, enforcement action, or reputational damage, even where we are not directly at fault. Additionally, as we seek to enhance our data monetisation opportunities by expanding the breadth, granularity, and timeliness of our data offerings, there is a risk that such initiatives may not achieve the anticipated commercial outcomes, or may face challenges in scaling due to technical, operational, or market factors. Furthermore, any expansion of our data ecosystem must be undertaken in compliance with applicable regulatory frameworks, and any failure to do so, or changes to such frameworks, could constrain our ability to monetise data assets or expose us to regulatory action.

19. Our Statutory Auditors have included certain emphasis of matter paragraphs in their examination report on our Restated Consolidated Financial Information.

Our Statutory Auditors’ examination report dated September 4, 2026, on our Restated Consolidated Financial Information for the three months period ended June 30, 2026 and June 30, 2025 and in Fiscals 2026, 2025 and 2024 include certain items under the emphasis of matter paragraphs for the three months period ended June 30, 2025 and in Fiscals 2026, 2025 and 2024, which do not require any adjustment in such restated financial information. In particular, the auditors have drawn attention to orders passed by SEBI in relation to preferential access to tick-by-tick data at our Company’s colocation facility, Dark Fibre point-to-point connectivity and Governance and Conflict of Interest matters, together with adjudication orders in relation thereto. Our Company had recognised a provision of ₹13,912.07 million during Fiscal 2026, in addition to ₹1,000.00 million provided during Fiscal 2023. SEBI vide email dated July 30, 2026 has in principle agreed to accept the terms of the settlement and has made a demand of ₹7,147.37 million, in addition to the deposit of ₹7,764.70 million made by NSE with SEBI, which will be adjusted towards the settlement amount of ₹14,912.07 million. Pursuant to approval of the Board, NSE has made the payment of ₹7,147.37 million to SEBI on July 31, 2026. For further details, see “- We have been, and continue to be, subject to enforcement actions, monetary penalties, adjudication proceedings, which may or may not get settled with SEBI in respect of alleged violations and regulatory matters with applicable SEBI regulations. The outcome of current and potential future proceedings is uncertain and could have a material adverse effect on our business, reputation, financial condition, results of operations, cash flows and prospects” on page 31. We cannot assure you that our statutory auditor's reports for any future financial period will not contain similar or other emphasis of matters, adverse remarks, observations or other matters, or that such matters will not otherwise affect our results of operations and cash flows in the future.

20. Failure to protect our intellectual property rights could materially adversely affect our business.

Our Company owns, or has a licence to use, several trademarks, service marks, trade names and other intellectual property that we use in our business, such as “ NSE”, “ Nifty50”. These trademarks and intellectual property are integral to our business and reputation and provide us with a significant competitive advantage. We seek to protect these rights through a combination of registrations, contractual protections, confidentiality provisions and robust internal processes and policies. However, certain trademarks have been recently applied and are pending registration, which may have a risk of misappropriation or infringement by third parties.

A particular risk may also arise from the fact that certain intellectual properties relating to our systems and technology are developed in-house and are not subject to any registered patents in respect of the methods or processes that underlie such systems and technology. As a result, we do not have statutory protection in the event a competitor or other third-party attempts to use or replicate elements of such systems and technology, which could adversely affect our competitive position. We currently seek to protect our systems and technology as trade secrets, proprietary know-how, copyrighted materials through a combination of contractual protections, confidentiality provisions, and robust internal controls and processes. Our Company actively monitors and seeks to protect its intellectual property rights, including trademarks, proprietary technology and brand names. For instance, our Company filed a commercial suit before the High Court of Judicature at Bombay (“Bombay High Court”) in the nature of John Doe action for infringement of trademark and passing off against unknown persons and certain intermediaries (“Defendants”) in relation to the operation of fake social media accounts and dissemination of misleading content using our trademarks. Subsequently, the Bombay High Court by way of its order dated April 10, 2026, granted ad-interim reliefs in favour of our Company, including restraining the Defendants from infringing or passing off our trademark “NSE” by operating the infringing accounts and channels, and passing off our trademark or any deceptively similar mark, and from misleading or misrepresenting to any person into believing there is an association with our Company and directed the domain name registrars not to permit / approve names incorporating our trademarks or deceptively similar variations thereof. However, there can be no assurance that such measures will be sufficient to prevent all instances of unauthorised use or misuse or infringement of our intellectual property.

There may be instances where our Company or our Subsidiaries are unable to act in a timely and effective manner to renew, maintain or enforce our intellectual property rights, both in India and overseas. Failure to adequately protect our intellectual property could harm our Company’s reputation, compromise our competitive position, and enable third parties or fraudulent entities to misuse our brand for unlawful activities such as phishing, fake trading schemes or other financial fraud, which in turn may result in investor complaints, regulatory scrutiny and erosion of our brand value. While our employment contracts contain non-disclosure obligations that survive beyond the term of employment, we cannot fully assure that our know-how, trade secrets or other sensitive information will remain protected once such agreements are terminated. Additionally, we also rely on certain third-party intellectual property licences from vendors, and if these are found to be defective or infringing, we shall have the right to terminate. Replacing such licences may be costly and time-consuming. Any of the foregoing could adversely affect our business.

Further, our Company has a trademark licensing policy pursuant to which our Company has entered into trademark licence agreements with our Subsidiaries, namely NSE IFSC Clearing Corporation Limited, NSE Investments Limited, NSEIX, NSEIX GA, NSE Indices Limited, NCL, NSE Data & Analytics Limited, Cogencis Information Services Limited, NSE Sustainability Ratings and Analytics Limited and NSE Administration and Supervision Limited, NSE Foundation, pursuant to which these Subsidiaries, have acquired non-transferable, non-assignable, non-exclusive and a revocable right to use four trademarks including the word mark “NSE” and the logos, “”, “”, and “ NSE” (“Trademarks”) for their respective business purposes. Any misuse or unauthorised use of our trademark by our Subsidiaries could adversely affect our business, reputation and results of operations. For further details, including details in relation to number of objections raised in respect of intellectual property, see “Our Business - Intellectual Property” on page 235.

21. Some of our Subsidiaries have incurred losses during the three months period ended June 30, 2026 and June 30, 2025 and in Fiscals 2026, 2025 and 2024 and may continue to incur losses in the future.

Some of our Subsidiaries have incurred losses for the three months period ended June 30, 2026 and June 30, 2025 and in Fiscals 2026, 2025 and 2024, as provided below:

Notes:

- (1) NSE Administration and Supervision Limited was incorporated on January 9, 2024, as per the Companies Act, 2013, the first financial year of NSE Administration and Supervision Limited is Fiscal 2025. The financials for the period January 9, 2024, to March 31, 2024, are included in the financials for the period ended March 31, 2025. Hence, Fiscal 2025 data includes financial information for the fifteen months period ending March 31, 2025.
- (2) The financial information for NSE Sustainability Ratings and Analytics Limited is not available since the entity was incorporated on March 30, 2024, hence there are no corresponding figures for Fiscal 2024 and its first financial year, in accordance with the Companies Act, 2013, is Fiscal 2025.
- (3) The financial information for NSEIX Global Access IFSC Limited is not available since the entity was incorporated on September 2, 2025.

There is no assurance that such entities will become profitable or be able to raise sufficient capital to continue their operations or meet their obligations. If these entities are unable to achieve profitability and fail to secure adequate funding, their operations may be adversely affected, and they may require financial support, whether in the form of debt or equity, from our Company. For instance, as on date of this Red Herring Prospectus, we have invested ₹7,500.00 million (US$94.56 million) into NSEIX, NSEIX has invested ₹2,500 million (US$29.23 million) into NSE IFSC Clearing Corporation Limited, and NSEIX has invested ₹150.00 million (US$1.63 million) into NSEIX Global Access IFSC Limited. Such support could negatively impact our Company's financial performance and results of operations. Further, our Subsidiary, NSE Infotech Services Limited, has been voluntarily liquidated in accordance with the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Board of India (Voluntary Liquidation) Regulations, 2017 as there was no operations in this company and is currently undergoing dissolution pursuant to a dissolution petition dated November 6, 2024 filed with National Company Law Tribunal on November 8, 2024, which is pending before the National Company Law Tribunal. Should other Subsidiaries continue to incur losses, they too may be compelled to undergo liquidation and dissolution, which could result in our Company bearing additional losses. Collectively, these circumstances may materially and adversely affect our reputation, financial condition, results of operations, and prospects. For details see "History and Certain Corporate Matters - Our Subsidiaries" on page 254.

22. The SEBI no objection certificate for the listing of our Equity Shares requires us to complete the listing process before January 30, 2027. If we fail to comply with this deadline, we may be required to apply for an extension or a fresh approval, which may not be granted in a timely manner, or at all.

SEBI, through its letter dated January 30, 2026, granted us a no objection for the listing of our Equity Shares on a recognised stock exchange, subject to certain conditions, including compliance with the provisions of the SECC Regulations and all relevant circulars governing the listing of MIIs, compliance with the SEBI ICDR Regulations, and completion of the entire listing process within one year from the date of issuance of the no objection certificate, i.e., before January 30, 2027. Our failure to comply with any of these conditions may require us to apply for an extension or a fresh approval from SEBI, which may not be granted to us in a timely manner.

23. Damage to our reputation could materially adversely affect our business.

The strength of the NSE brand underpins the confidence of our issuers, trading members, financial intermediaries, and investors and is integral to the continued growth and success of our business. Any event or circumstance that diminishes the perception or value of our brand could have a material adverse effect on our ability to attract and retain market participants, maintain trading volumes, and secure new listings. Our investor services department routinely handles complaints relating to, among other things, the execution of trades without investor consent, non-receipt of funds or securities, excess brokerage fees charged by trading members, failure to provide required documents, non-refund of margins or security deposits, non-payment of dividends, missing credit balances in account statements, and poor customer service quality. While there have been no material instances of complaints that have adversely affected our brand or reputation in the three months period ended June 30, 2026, and in Fiscals 2026, 2025, and 2024, if we fail to address any future complaints promptly and effectively, customer trust and satisfaction may deteriorate, undermining the standing of our brand in the market.

Our brand is also susceptible to harm arising from system failures or disruptions, operational errors, data breaches or privacy violations, regulatory actions, and misconduct or errors by trading members and customers that are beyond our direct control. See "We rely on third parties for certain products, including aspects of our critical system infrastructure and software. We are subject to operational risks, including failures in execution, system disruptions, or fraud, including risks arising from the operations of such third parties and other intermediaries, which could materially and adversely affect our business, financial condition, results of operations, and prospects." on page 42. Given the pivotal role that our brand occupies in Indian capital markets, any errors in transaction processing, trading interruptions, inadvertent disclosure of confidential customer information, legal or regulatory proceedings, unfavourable media coverage, or market speculation could severely diminish the value of the NSE brand. In addition, wrongdoing by other market participants, such as issuers, intermediaries, or competing trading platforms not adhering to accepted standards, may erode broader market confidence and indirectly tarnish our brand. Fraudulent actors may also seek to exploit the NSE brand to carry out phishing, fake trading schemes, or other financial frauds, resulting in regulatory scrutiny, investor complaints, and brand damage irrespective of our own conduct. For instance, certain fake social media accounts were being operated using our trademarks and misleading content was being disseminated by unknown persons and certain intermediaries. Our Company filed a commercial suit before the High Court of Judicature at Bombay in the nature of John Doe action, for infringement of trademark and passing off against such unknown persons and certain intermediaries. For further details, see "Failure to protect our intellectual property rights could materially adversely affect our business." on page 47. While we implement robust controls to prevent fraud and misconduct by our trading members, directors, and employees, no system is foolproof, and any such incidents, if they occur, could lead to sanctions and profoundly undermine the value of our brand. Any sustained or material damage to our brand could reduce trading volumes, deter new listings, and materially impair our business performance, results of operations, financial condition, and prospects.

24. The use of Artificial Intelligence (“AI”) and machine learning technologies, and the use of AI-driven strategies by market participants, could adversely affect our business, reputation, financial condition, and results of operations.

We currently use, and may, in the future, increasingly integrate AI and machine learning technologies into our operations, including surveillance, risk management, market data analytics, customer service, and decision-support systems. See “Our Business – Our Strategies – Further our commitment to technology infrastructure and continuous modernisation” on page 220.

While such technologies have the potential to enhance operational efficiency, they also introduce significant risks, as AI and ML systems are inherently complex and may produce inaccurate, biased, or sub-optimal outputs due to limitations in underlying data, flawed algorithms, or unforeseen interactions between system components, and any reliance on erroneous or misleading AI-generated outputs could result in operational failures, regulatory non-compliance, or financial losses. In particular, failures in AI-based surveillance or risk management systems could undermine our ability to fulfil our obligations as a recognised stock exchange and could lead to miscalculation of margin requirements or settlement exposures, potentially increasing systemic risk in the Indian capital markets.

In addition, market participants increasingly deploy AI-driven and algorithmic trading strategies on our platform, the proliferation of which may amplify market volatility, contribute to sudden and severe price dislocations, and give rise to new forms of market manipulation that are difficult to detect, and the rapid pace of AI innovation may outstrip the capacity of existing regulatory frameworks and our own surveillance capabilities to address novel risks. AI systems may also be vulnerable to adversarial manipulation, including AI-enabled cyberattacks, AI-powered social engineering (including deepfake-enabled impersonation), and risks from inadequately governed AI tools such as inadvertent leakage of confidential information and new attack paths through third-party AI services, with such threats potentially heightened by geopolitical tensions and the activities of nation-state actors, and any such incident could have cascading effects on our operations and market confidence given the critical role we play in the Indian financial system.

Our reliance on third-party AI tools and platforms, a significant proportion of which are developed and hosted outside India, may also expose us to broader operational, intellectual property, and vendor dependency risks. Furthermore, the regulatory landscape governing AI is rapidly evolving, and SEBI, the RBI, and other authorities may introduce requirements regarding the governance, transparency, explainability, and auditability of AI systems in the financial sector with which we may not be able to comply in a timely or cost-effective manner. For instance, SEBI by way of a circular issued an advisory in relation to review of AI related risks, key mitigation measures including, immediate patching of systems, regular vulnerability assessments and security audits (circular titled Advisory on Emerging Advanced Artificial Intelligence (AI) Tools for Vulnerability Detection (like Mythos) dated May 5, 2026). Any failure to effectively anticipate, manage, and mitigate the risks associated with AI and ML technologies, whether arising from our own use of such technologies, the use of AI-driven strategies by market participants, the evolving regulatory environment, or the actions of malicious actors, could materially and adversely affect our business, reputation, results of operations, financial condition, and prospects.

25. We do not own the land on which our Registered Office and Corporate Office is situated. Our inability to renew leases or adverse changes in the lease terms could disrupt our business operations.

Our Registered Office and Corporate Office are located on land owned by the Mumbai Metropolitan Region Development Authority (“MMRDA”) and leased to us for a term of 80 years commencing December 11, 1998 as per the agreement to lease dated March 7, 1995 along with supplementary agreement dated June 10, 1999 and the lease deed dated June 18, 2002 along with supplementary deed executed on December 18, 2002 for a total upfront amount of ₹928.61 million paid towards leasehold land (“Premium Amount”) along with ground rent amount to be payable on annual basis as under:

| Year of lease                                                                       | Rate of ground rent payable |
| From the commencement of the term of lease up to the end of 3 years                 | Nil                         |
| From the 4 th year up to the 20 th year of the term of lease  | 1% of the Premium Amount    |
| From the 21 st year up to the 50 th year of the term of lease | 2% of the Premium Amount    |
| From 51 st year of term of lease up to the end of the term of lease      | 3% of the Premium Amount.   |

Further, under the MMRDA Act and the rules and regulations thereunder, MMRDA does not grant absolute (freehold) ownership of land; instead, possession is offered only on a leasehold basis, generally for terms not exceeding 80 years, subject to renewal upon mutual agreement. For further details, see “Our Business – Properties” on page 237. We do not have ownership rights over the land and operate subject to the terms and conditions of the lease agreement. We cannot assure that we will continue to have the right to occupy or use the land in the future or that any lease extension or renewal will be granted on acceptable terms. Failure to maintain the lease or comply with its conditions could disrupt the operation of our Registered Office and Corporate office, which may materially impair our business, results of operations, financial condition, and prospects.

26. Some of our investments in debt instruments are unsecured, and we have not made any provision for a decline in the value of our investments.

Some of our unsecured investments include investments in interest bearing AAA-rated PSU corporate bonds. These investments are unsecured, meaning they are not backed by any collateral or asset security. Consequently, in the event the issuers of such instruments fail to pay the promised returns or repay the principal, we may have limited or no recourse to recover our investments, which exposes us to a risk of loss. Set forth below are the details of the amount of our investments in unsecured debt instruments as of June 30, 2026:

| (₹ in million unless otherwise specified)          |                     |
|-----------------------------------------------------------|---------------------|
| Particulars                                               | As of June 30, 2026 |
| Investments in unsecured debt instruments                 | 10,934.45           |
| Unsecured debt instrument as a % of the total investments | 3.13%               |

Note:

(1) Total investments include (i) investments in associates accounted for using the equity method; (ii) non-current investments (other than in associates); and (iii) current investments.

We have not made provisions for any decline in the carrying value of these investments. In the event of any such decline or default in these unsecured investments, our financial condition and cash flows may be adversely affected, and this may have a material adverse effect on our business, results of operations, financial condition and prospects.

27. Our ability to attract, retain and replace members of our senior management team, skilled employees and other key personnel is subject to significant competitive, regulatory and market pressures, and any failure to do so could materially impair our operational capacity, strategic execution and long-term business performance.

Our continued success depends on the expertise and commitment of our management team, the top management and other key personnel across our Subsidiaries as well as a broad range of highly qualified professionals across the organisation. We depend on the expertise and continuity of our key management personnel (“KMP”), whose loss or unavailability could materially disrupt our operations and decision-making. Their leadership and specialised knowledge are essential for our strategic planning and our day-to-day operations. The unique nature of the exchange industry, increasing demand for talent in areas such as data science, cybersecurity, artificial intelligence, and regulatory compliance, and sector-wide scarcity of suitable talent, all contribute to intense competition for qualified professionals.

Our overall attrition rate and the attrition rate for our KMPs for the three months period ended June 30, 2026 and June 30, 2025 and in Fiscals 2026, 2025, and 2024 are as set out below:

| Category                                          | Three months period ended June 30, |        | Fiscal |        |        |

| Employee headcount (NSE group)                    | 2,914                              | 2,676  | 2,881  | 2,593  | 2,032  |
| Employee headcount (Company)                      | 2,008                              | 1,828  | 1,974  | 1,757  | 1,330  |
| Overall attrition rate <sup>(1)</sup> (NSE group) | 14.22%                             | 18.37% | 15.75% | 15.70% | 15.76% |
| Overall attrition rate (Company) <sup>(2)</sup>   | 13.46%                             | 16.07% | 14.58% | 13.48% | 14.64% |
| Number of KMPs (Company)                          | 17                                 | 30     | 30     | 29     | 27     |

Note:

- (1) Overall attrition rate is calculated as the percentage of the total number of employees exits during the period/year divided by the average of the closing and opening headcount for the same period/year.
- (2) Overall attrition rate is calculated as the percentage of the total number of employee exits in our Company during the period/year divided by the average of the closing and opening headcount of our Company for the same period/year.
- (3) All members of Senior Management of our Company are also the KMPs of our Company. Attrition rate for KMP is calculated as percentage of the total number of KMP exits in our Company during the period/year divided by the average of the closing and opening KMP headcount of our Company for the same period/year.

Under SECC Regulations, we cannot offer or provide employee stock options and equity-linked instruments as part of compensation for the KMPs. We must hire only “fit and proper” individuals, and employees face restrictions on investing in other companies’ securities. KMP roles are subject to extensive compliance requirements, lack of long-term wealth creation mechanisms and KMP compensation must include 25%-50% variable pay (50% deferred for three years), malus and clawback provisions, and regulatory approvals. These constraints, combined with limited long-term incentives, concerns regarding personal liability, and a shortage of specialised talent, create challenges in attracting and retaining senior leadership. Additionally, under Regulation 24 of the SECC Regulations, all director appointments require prior SEBI approval, making succession planning uncertain. The loss of key personnel could disrupt operations and adversely affect our business, financial condition, and prospects.

28. We operate in a highly competitive industry, and our failure to compete successfully could materially and adversely affect our business, results of operations, financial condition, and prospects.

Our industry is highly competitive across multiple segments, including new listings, trading of equities, exchange-traded funds, currency derivatives, commodity derivatives, interest rate futures, bonds, mutual funds, licensing services, and data services. We face competition from other Indian stock exchanges, global exchanges, alternative trading platforms, and non-traditional venues such as multilateral trading facilities and over-the-counter service providers. The liberalisation and globalisation of capital markets have intensified cross-border competition for listings and trading volumes, and industry consolidation and demutualisation have further reshaped the competitive landscape, with certain foreign exchanges possessing substantially greater financial resources than ours. Competitors have historically adopted aggressive pricing strategies, including sharply reduced transaction charges and listing fees, while certain pending litigation restricts our ability to lower transaction fees. Beyond pricing, we compete on trade execution quality and speed, market liquidity, platform functionality, product range, technological innovation, and brand reputation.

In equity options, our market share by premium turnover was 68.48% in the three months period ended June 30, 2026 and 74.71% in Fiscal 2026 (compared to 87.43% in Fiscal 2025 and 96.86% in Fiscal 2024). As part of regulatory measures to address excessive speculation in equity derivatives, SEBI's May 2025 framework restricted each exchange to a single weekly expiry day for index derivatives-either Tuesday or Thursday. Following SEBI approval, our contracts adopted Tuesday expiries and BSE's contracts adopted Thursday expiries for contracts expiring on or after September 1, 2025. This may influence the distribution of trading volumes between exchanges. Further, SEBI's October 2024 derivatives framework restricted each exchange to offering weekly expiry contracts on only one benchmark index, effective November 20, 2024. These structural shifts, combined with increased securities transaction tax ("STT") rates on equity derivatives effective April 2026 including an increase in STT on sale of equity futures from 0.02% to 0.05% of contract value, an increase in STT on options selling from 0.10% to 0.15% of premium value, and an increase in STT on option exercise from 0.125% to 0.15% of intrinsic price may moderate speculative turnover and could disproportionately affect exchanges with significant exposure to derivatives activity. (Source for this paragraph is the Redseer Report)

In the commodity derivatives space, we face competition from other nationally recognised commodity exchanges. As we expand into new asset classes such as electricity futures and coal trading, we may compete with incumbents who may have deeper domain expertise or established relationships with physical market participants. In the index licensing and data subscription business, our Subsidiaries, NSE Indices Limited and NSE Data & Analytics Limited, respectively, face competition from global index providers that maintain indices tracking the Indian capital markets. Global exchanges have diversified their revenue streams through acquisitions and organic expansion into data, analytics, technology solutions, and post-trade services, giving them broader and more resilient business models. Our revenue remains comparatively concentrated in transaction charges, and our ability to successfully diversify into adjacent revenue streams such as index licensing, advanced data monetisation, and connectivity services will be critical to sustaining long-term competitiveness.

Further, the development of Gujarat International Finance Tec-City ("GIFT City") as an international financial services centre has introduced an additional dimension of competition, with multiple exchanges operating in the IFSC and offering foreign currency-denominated instruments, including equity and index derivatives, debt securities, and structured products targeted at non-resident investors. Any failure to maintain our competitive position in this emerging segment could limit our ability to capture cross-border capital flows.

The intensity of competition across multiple fronts, combined with regulatory constraints, legal risks, and entrenched incumbent advantages in various segments, means we may not always compete successfully. We have in the past invested in products and segments that did not achieve expected traction, partly due to the presence of established incumbent players. Failure to maintain or grow our market share, attract new listings, or sustain trading volumes, or an adverse outcome in pending competition-related proceedings, could materially and adversely affect our reputation, business, results of operations, financial condition, and prospects.

29. Interoperability among clearing corporations may result in reduced clearing volumes, loss of market share to competing clearing corporations, margin compression, and increased operational risks, which could adversely affect our business, results of operations, financial condition, and prospects.

The introduction of interoperability among clearing corporations in June 2019, pursuant to SEBI's regulatory amendments, has altered the business dynamics for stock exchanges and their affiliated clearing corporations. Previously, NCL exclusively handled the clearing and settlement of trades executed on our platforms, providing us with a competitive advantage by channelling participant activity to our platform. With interoperability, market participants can now clear and settle trades through any authorised clearing corporation, regardless of the exchange where the trade was executed. Although there has been no material impact on our trading activity or clearing revenue since the framework's adoption, the long-term effects remain uncertain and could pose significant business risks. Increased competition among clearing corporations may prompt participants to clear trades executed on our platforms through alternative clearing corporations offering lower fees, superior technology, or better service. This could reduce the volume of transactions processed by our clearing corporation and ancillary revenues.

NCL has experienced a decline in market share in settlement turnover in cash market (to 86.63% in the three months period ended June 30, 2026 and 88.42% in Fiscal 2026 from 94.24% in Fiscal 2025) and equity derivatives (to 91.20% in the three months period ended June 30, 2026 and 91.04% in Fiscal 2026 from 95.67% in Fiscal 2025), according to the Redseer Report. Further, in dealing with other clearing corporations, we may have encountered challenges that may not have arisen had clearing and settlement been conducted solely through NCL. We cannot assure that such incidents will not occur, and any such occurrences could adversely affect our business operations and profitability. The separation of trading and clearing preferences may intensify fee competition, compress margins, and weaken our ability to differentiate our integrated exchange-clearing service. Additionally, growing interdependencies and operational linkages across multiple clearing corporations increase the risk of participants dynamically switching flows in response to pricing, risk perception, or service disruptions, potentially impacting operational stability and complicating business forecasting. While interoperability enhances flexibility, efficiency, and overall capital market resilience, it also exposes us to evolving competitive, operational, and financial risks that could adversely affect our business, results of operations, financial condition, and prospects.

30. We have given a loan to NSE Administration and Supervision Limited, one of our related parties, and have issued corporate guarantees on behalf of NSE IFSC Clearing Corporation, one of our related parties. There can be no assurance that such amounts will be recovered from such related parties or the guarantees provided will not be invoked.

We have given a loan to NSE Administration and Supervision Limited, one of our related parties, and have issued guarantees on behalf of NSE IFSC Clearing Corporation, one of our related parties. As of June 30, 2026, June 30, 2025, March 31, 2026, March 31, 2025 and March 31, 2024, the outstanding loan given by us was ₹76.00 million, ₹40.05 million, ₹76.00 million, ₹17.50 million and nil, respectively, and the outstanding guarantee issued by us was ₹4,729.90 million, ₹4,277.20 million, ₹4,732.72 million, ₹4,255.00 million and ₹4,173.00 million, respectively. While we believe that the advances given to such related parties are recoverable in the ordinary course of business, there can be no assurance that such related parties will not default against such advances. Further, in the event such related parties default on their obligations under other facilities obtained by them where we have issued a guarantee on behalf of such related parties, it may have an adverse impact on our financial condition and results of operations.

31. We may be required to make significant contributions to the Investor Protection Fund Trust (“IPFT”) and Settlement Guarantee Fund (“Core SGF”), which could adversely affect our profitability and ability to declare dividends, and there can be no assurance that the corpus of these funds will be sufficient to meet investor claims or fulfil settlement obligations in the event of defaults by clearing members.

As a regulated stock exchange, we are subject to SEBI guidelines that mandate significant and recurring contributions to the IPFT and the Core SGF. The IPFT is established to compensate investors in cases where the assets of a defaulting or expelled trading member are insufficient to meet admitted investor claims and to promote investor education, awareness, and research. The fund is administered through a registered trust managed by appointed trustees and currently compensates investors up to ₹3.50 million per investor per defaulter or expelled member for such claims. Our Subsidiaries, NCL and NSE IFSC Clearing Corporation Limited, maintain a Core SGF for each segment in accordance with SEBI and IFSCA regulations, respectively. The Core SGF ensures that NCL has sufficient assets to meet its settlement obligations in the event of defaults by clearing members. If any clearing member fails to honour its settlement commitments, the Core SGF is utilised to fulfil such obligations and complete the settlement process without disrupting the normal settlement process. For the Core SGF, SEBI and IFSCA regulations require stock exchanges to contribute at least 25% of the minimum required corpus for each segment, while clearing corporations such as NCL must contribute at least 50% of the minimum required corpus and the contribution must be from their own resources. In the equity derivatives segment, the fund size must be the higher of ₹105,000 million or the amount determined by considering simulating simultaneous default of at least three clearing members and their associates causing the highest credit exposure. For NSE IFSC Clearing Corporation Limited, the Core SGF fund shall have a corpus equivalent to at least the minimum required corpus as arrived at from the monthly stress test value or US$1 million, whichever is higher. Our obligations towards the IPFT include periodic payments derived from listing fees, interest from security deposits, penalties for specified non-compliances, income generated from IPFT investments, and any other contributions required by SEBI from time to time. Further, financial penalties related to operational lapses or disruptions must also be credited directly to the IPFT or SGF, further increasing our contributions. The table below sets forth the balances and contributions for the three months period ended June 30, 2026 and June 30, 2025 and in Fiscals 2026, 2025 and 2024:

Notes:

- (1) IPFT Claim Expenditure represents compensation to investors by IPFT on account of member default for the relevant period/year.
- (2) The higher contribution in Fiscal 2024 reflects contributions made to fund the Core SGF towards the mandated corpus of ₹105,000 million for clearing corporations for equity derivatives with 40% or more clearing volume share, in accordance with SEBI’s circular dated October 1, 2024. Once the Core SGF reached this mandated level by December 31, 2024, the Governing Board approved the discontinuation of the voluntary contribution of 2% of transaction charges with effect from January 1, 2025. For further details, see “Management’s Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations – Significant Factors Affecting Our Financial Condition and Results of Operations – Regulatory Oversight and Governmental Policies” on page 400.

We cannot assure our continued compliance with applicable SEBI guidelines relating to our obligations to contribute to and manage the IPFT and Core SGF.

Further, we have been warned by SEBI in relation to certain non-compliances in relation to our IPFT deposits as follows:

| 1.     | SEBI inspection letter dated February 26, 2024 | Failure to invest the mandated 1% security deposit and delays in transferring the accrued interest on such deposits to the IPFT, as required under SEBI circular MRD/DOP/SE/Cir-38/2004 dated October 28, 2004. These lapses resulted in a temporary shortfall in the IPFT corpus, which we subsequently replenished. SEBI thereafter issued a warning by way of its inspection letter and advised us to ensure timely investment and transfer of funds in compliance with the circular.                       | We subsequently replenished the IPFT corpus        |
| 2.     | SEBI inspection letter dated February 26, 2024 | Failure to periodically review and revise the interim relief amount payable from the IPFT against a single investor claim every three years, as mandated under SEBI circular SEBI/HO/DMS/CIR/P/2017/15 dated February 23, 2017. We continued to maintain the interim relief amount at ₹2.50 million without revision for an extended period. We received a warning from SEBI by way of its inspection letter to revise the interim relief amounts periodically to remain aligned with regulatory expectations. | We have since increased the limit to ₹3.50 million |

Any failure to adhere to SEBI's requirements could attract regulatory scrutiny, penalties, or restrictions, and there can be no assurance that the corpus of the IPFT will be sufficient to meet all investor claims in the event of defaults by trading members. While we have maintained the Core SGF in accordance with SEBI regulations and guidelines, there can still exist a possibility that its corpus may be insufficient to meet any settlement obligations arising from defaults from multiple clearing members, simultaneously. Any requirement to make additional contributions to the IPFT or Core SGF pursuant to changes in SEBI regulations or regulatory directions, or substantial nature of such contributions, could materially reduce our profits and distributable reserves, limit our ability to pay dividends, and adversely affect our business, results of operations, financial condition, and prospects.

32. Our public responsibilities as a stock exchange and Market Infrastructure Institution ("MII") may, at times, conflict with the commercial interests of our Shareholders.

As a stock exchange and MII, we perform functions that combine commercial operations with regulatory and public responsibilities. While we are accountable to our Shareholders, we are also entrusted with responsibilities relating to market oversight, supervision, and compliance with applicable laws and regulations. In carrying out these roles, we may be required to take or support measures aimed at ensuring fair, transparent, and orderly market conduct, strengthening investor protection, and mitigating systemic risks. Such actions, though necessary to safeguard market integrity and investor confidence, may at times constrain business growth, reduce transaction activity, or adversely affect our profitability.

Under the SECC Regulations, every recognised stock exchange and clearing corporation is required to identify and segregate its functions into three verticals: (i) critical operations; (ii) regulatory, compliance, risk management, and investor grievances; and (iii) other functions, including business development. The regulations mandate that the first two verticals be accorded higher priority in terms of resource allocation over business development functions. Further, each stock exchange and clearing corporation is required to periodically and objectively assess the adequacy of resources allocated to these two core verticals and maintain a "Chinese Wall" policy that ensures separation between regulatory functions and other verticals, such as business development and critical operations. These provisions are intended to reinforce the primacy of regulatory and risk management functions over commercial objectives and to minimise potential conflicts of interest arising from the dual nature of operations. Accordingly, regulatory frameworks applicable to us may, at times, require us to act in the public interest, even where such actions may diverge from our commercial objectives or shareholder expectations. For instance, in relation to pricing, regulatory guidelines preclude us from offering volume-based discounts or any form of preferential pricing to our trading members. In relation to product design, we are required to develop and launch products that serve the purpose of hedging or investment, and we are accordingly precluded from launching instruments of speculation, such as prediction markets that are offered by certain other exchanges in jurisdictions where comparable regulatory responsibilities do not apply. In relation to capital allocation, we are required to allocate adequate capital and resources to our regulatory and surveillance functions, including the departments responsible for monitoring insider trading, market manipulation and other forms of market abuse, which, although technically cost centres, must be funded at levels sufficient to maintain our recognition as a stock exchange. Any future regulatory changes or governance frameworks that further prioritise regulatory and operational functions over business development may also affect our commercial objectives and the interests of our shareholders.

Further, as part of our oversight responsibilities, we are required to monitor and ensure compliance by trading members, which may involve taking disciplinary or remedial actions that could have commercial or reputational implications for us. Any perceived shortcoming in the discharge of these responsibilities could attract regulatory scrutiny or penalties. The exercise of such regulatory and supervisory functions, even when undertaken in accordance with applicable requirements, may not always align with our commercial priorities and the commercial interest of our Shareholders and could adversely affect our business, results of operations, financial condition, and prospects.

33. We will not receive any proceeds from the Offer.

The Offer is only an offer for sale by the Selling Shareholders. Accordingly, the proceeds from this Offer (net of Offer expenses) will be remitted to each of the Selling Shareholders to the extent of its respective portion of the Offered Shares and our Company will not receive any proceeds from the Offer. None of our Directors or Key Management Personnel, and members of the Senior Management, will receive, in whole or in part, any portion of the Net Proceeds from the Offer. For more information, please see “Objects of the Offer” beginning on page 127.

34. There have been certain lapses in compliance with the provisions of the SEBI (Listing Obligations and Disclosure Requirements) Regulations, 2015 (“SEBI Listing Regulations”), Securities Contracts (Regulation) (Stock Exchanges and Clearing Corporations) Regulations 2018, and the Companies Act, 2013, in the past.

There have been certain lapses in compliance by our Company with the applicable provisions of the SEBI Listing Regulations, SECC Regulations, and the Companies Act, 2013, and the rules framed thereunder. Being a recognised stock exchange, our Company is required under the SECC Regulations to comply with the provisions of SEBI Listing Regulations in relation to governance and disclosure matters. The details of such instances for the three months period ended June 30, 2026, and in Fiscals 2026, 2025, and 2024 are set out below.

| Sr. No. | Description of non-compliance                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                |

| 1.      | Disclosures relating to changes in our senior management were delayed, resulting in non-compliance with Regulation 30 of the SEBI Listing Regulations read with Schedule III thereto.                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                        |
| 2.      | Due to the expiry of the term of office of three PIDs on November 27, 2023, the Governing Board of our Company thereafter comprised only four directors, namely, Shri Ashishkumar Chauhan, Managing Director and Chief Executive Officer; Shri Tablesh Pandey, former non-independent director; Shri Sundararajaram Sudarshan, former public interest director; and Shri Ravindran Shunmugakani, former public interest director. Consequently, due to the size and composition of our Governing Board, the following regulatory provisions could not be complied with: i. The Board of our Company did not meet the minimum composition requirement of six directors as stipulated under Regulation 17(1)(c) of the SEBI Listing Regulations and failed to fill the vacancy in the office of a director within three months from the date of such vacancy, as required under Regulation 17(1E) of the SEBI Listing Regulations. This non-compliance continued from November 28, 2023, until April 23, 2024, the date on which the appointments of Shri Rajesh Gopinathan and Justice (Retd.) Smt. Abhilasha Kumari as Public Interest Directors of our Company were approved by SEBI, resulting in a lapse of 147 days. ii. Regulation 19 of the SEBI Listing Regulations requires the Nomination and Remuneration Committee (“NRC”) to comprise at least three directors. As our Company is an MII, SEBI’s circular dated January 10, 2019 (circular titled “Committees at Market Infrastructure Institutions (MIIs)”), further mandates that the NRC of an MII shall consist solely of public interest directors. In the absence of three public interest directors on our Governing Board, the NRC could not be constituted in accordance with the abovementioned SEBI circular, Regulation 19 of the SEBI Listing Regulations, and the SECC Regulations. During this period, matters ordinarily considered by the NRC were taken up directly by our Governing Board. As a result, we were non-compliant for 157 days, from November 28, 2023, to May 2, 2024, due to the delay in the appointment of PIDs, leading to non-compliance with Section 178(1) of the Companies Act, 2013 read with Rule 6 of the Companies (Meetings of Board and its Powers) Rules, 2014. The NRC was reconstituted in compliance with the applicable requirements on May 3, 2024. iii. The position of woman director on the Governing Board of our Company remained vacant for a period of 147 days, from November 28, 2023, until April 23, 2024, as Smt. Mona Bhide, former public interest director, completed her term on November 27, 2023. This resulted in non-compliance with Regulation 17(1)(a) of the SEBI Listing Regulations and Section 149(1) of the Companies Act 2013, read with Rule 3 of the Companies (Appointment and Qualification of Directors) Rules 2014. SEBI approval for the appointment of Justice (Retd.) Smt. Abhilasha Kumari as Public Interest Director was received on April 23, 2024, and compliance has been maintained since then. iv. Our Public Interest Directors were members of more than five committees, in contravention of Regulation 24(8) of the SECC Regulations, which prohibits a public interest director from simultaneously serving on more than five committees. This occurred as there were only two public interest directors on our Governing Board, resulting in non-compliance with Regulation 24(8) of SECC Regulations. |

While, we have been able to maintain compliance since the aforesaid instances, we are unable to guarantee that similar instances will not recur in the future. For instance, the Registrar of Companies, Mumbai had issued show cause notices each dated January 13, 2026 (“SCNs”) for defaults under Sections 149(1) and 178(1) of the Companies Act, 2013, arising from suo-moto adjudication application dated October 3, 2024, filed by our Company on account of (i) failure to appoint a woman director within the prescribed period; and (ii) failure to re-constitute the NRC within the prescribed period. Subsequently, the Registrar of Companies, Mumbai vide its orders each dated February 5, 2026 (“Adjudication Orders”), imposed a penalty of ₹0.08 million each on our Company and our Managing Director and Chief Executive Officer and a penalty of ₹0.50 million on our Company and of ₹0.10 million each on our Managing Director and Chief Executive Officer, erstwhile chief finance officer, and erstwhile company secretary, respectively. Aggrieved by the Adjudication Orders, our Company has preferred an appeal before the Regional Director, Western Region, seeking waiver of the penalties on the grounds that the delays were occasioned solely due to delay in obtaining regulatory approval and did not involve any default, negligence, or intentional violation. further details, see “Outstanding Litigation and Material Developments” beginning on page 439. We cannot assure you that we will not be subject to any action by the RoC including a penalty or any additional payments or that we will be able to comply, including in a timely manner, with all the provisions of the Companies Act in the future or that regulatory proceedings will not be initiated against our Company in respect of any such non-compliance.

35. *Our corporate governance framework may be impacted by delays in director and Chairperson appointments.

Delays in the appointment of our directors, including public interest directors (“PIDs”), non-independent directors, executive directors, the managing director (“MD”), and the chairperson, may adversely affect our corporate governance framework. Under the SECC Regulations, prior regulatory approval is required for the appointment and re-appointment of all directors. It is possible that reappointments will remain subject to receipt of such approvals. For instance, Further, Shri Veneet Nayar, our Non-Independent Director, has been on our Governing Board since September 20, 2021. His previous term expired on August 25, 2025, and he was liable to retire by rotation under the Companies Act, 2013. Our Governing Board and Shareholders subsequently approved his re-appointment, by resolutions dated May 5, 2026 and at the Annual General Meeting held on August 24, 2026, respectively, subject to SEBI's approval. Our Company applied to SEBI for such approval on August 27, 2026, within the applicable timelines, and the application is currently pending. We cannot assure you that such approval will be granted in a timely manner, or at all.

Further, any delay in obtaining regulatory approval could result in vacancies on our Governing Board, affect its composition, and hinder the timely constitution and functioning of statutory committees mandated under the Companies Act, SEBI regulations, and MII norms, potentially leading to non-compliance with prescribed governance requirements. In the past, such delays have resulted in non-compliances, including our Governing Board not meeting prescribed composition requirements, non-fulfilment of quorum in the Nomination and Remuneration Committee (“NRC”), and a vacancy in the position of woman director on our Governing Board. For further details of these non-compliances, see “- There have been certain lapses in compliance with the provisions of the SEBI (Listing Obligations and Disclosure Requirements) Regulations, 2015 (“SEBI Listing Regulations”), Securities Contracts (Regulation) (Stock Exchanges and Clearing Corporations) Regulations 2018, and the Companies Act, 2013, in the past.” on page 54. Further, delays in the appointment of our Chairperson have resulted in the position remaining vacant during certain periods. Following the conclusion of the term of Shri Girish Chandra Chaturvedi, who served as chairperson from December 6, 2019, to November 27, 2023, the position remained vacant from November 28, 2023, until the appointment of Shri Srinivas Injeti as Chairperson on September 9, 2025, resulting in a vacancy of 651 days. A similar occurrence took place in 2019, following the conclusion of the term of our then chairperson, Shri Ashok Chawla, who served from April 25, 2016, to January 11, 2019. His successor's appointment was delayed, causing the position of full-time chairperson to remain vacant from February 8, 2019, to December 5, 2019. These vacancies could expose us to regulatory liability under Section 23H of the Securities Contracts (Regulation) Act, 1956 (“SCRA”) and Section 15HB of the SEBI Act, both of which prescribe penalties of up to ₹10.00 million. There can be no assurance that similar delays will not recur, which could expose us to regulatory scrutiny and penalties. In addition, any amendments to corporate governance regulations may impose further compliance requirements. Any future vacancy in these positions may adversely affect our governance processes, regulatory compliance, and could materially impact our business, results of operations, financial condition, and prospects.

36. *We may be unsuccessful in implementing, or fail to realise the expected benefits from, our strategies, including technology modernisation, business diversification, new product launches, GIFT City operations, global partnerships, and data monetisation.

Our strategy focuses on nine key pillars: (i) continuing to act as a catalyst for new capital formation in India across asset classes and attracting new issuers and investors, building on our leadership position in new listings and trading turnover through our self-reinforcing flywheel of market depth, liquidity, and trust; (ii) continuing to provide transparent, orderly, and fair access to all market participants, fostering investor confidence and promoting sustainable growth in capital markets; (iii) furthering our commitment to technology infrastructure and continuous modernisation, leveraging our strong in-house development capabilities to enhance platform resilience, capacity, and security, including expanding data centre infrastructure, observability platforms, and enhanced security information and event management tools; (iv) continuing to drive market innovation and business diversification through thought leadership, including the development of new products such as sustainability-linked offerings, environmental, social, and governance (“ESG”)-focused products, and expanded index portfolios and deepening our digital market infrastructure to enable broader investor participation; (v) automating and organising large markets in India through the launch of new products, including a national coal trading exchange, electricity futures, and expanded commodity derivatives offerings; (vi) ensuring continued trust among all stakeholders and fostering a culture of responsible investing and financial inclusion, by investing in market infrastructure, risk management systems, clearing and settlement frameworks, and investor education and outreach initiatives; (vii) forging global partnerships and collaborations, and building our presence in GIFT City International Financial Services Centre as a global financial hub through NSEIX and strategic partnerships with global exchanges through GIFT City, such as Singapore Exchange Limited (“SGX”), and MOUs with Cyprus Stock Exchange, Colombo Stock Exchange and Taiwan Stock Exchange; (viii) enhancing data monetisation opportunities through our comprehensive market data ecosystem, including the development of structured, tiered data products such as real-time feeds, historical datasets, and value-added analytics to support evolving market needs; and (ix) building a strategic offshore presence to strengthen engagement with global institutional investors, support onboarding and market access, and expand our offerings in areas such as index and data services, including customised index solutions incorporating alternative datasets. See “Our Business – Our Strategies” on page 219.

Despite diversification efforts, including in our non-trading businesses such as index creation and licensing and market data feeds, trading activities remain our primary revenue source, heightening our vulnerability to market cycles and downturns. The successful execution of these strategies depends on numerous factors, many of which are beyond our control, including the overall economic environment in India and globally, our ability to innovate and meet evolving market demands, the effectiveness of our technology modernisation efforts, the timely receipt of regulatory approvals and our ability to adapt to changing regulatory frameworks, growth in demand for our indices, data, and analytics products, and our capacity to secure and leverage strategic partnerships and MOUs with global exchanges and market participants. Implementing these initiatives requires significant financial investment, management focus, and time, and there is no assurance that these investments will generate the anticipated benefits or do so within a desired timeframe. Regulatory delays, technological disruptions, competitive pressures, changing market dynamics, or unforeseen external events may impede our progress. Failure to successfully execute our growth strategy could materially and adversely impact our business operations, competitive position, financial performance, and prospects.

37. *We have in the past paid late submission fees for delays in filing of forms with RBI in respect of certain allotments made by our Company. We cannot assure you that no legal proceedings or regulatory actions will be initiated against our Company in the future in this regard.

Our Company, in the past, has paid late submission fee amounting to ₹7.16 million to RBI on account of late reporting of Forms FC-GPR for the bonus issue dated November 4, 2024. The payment of late submission fees by our Company has been acknowledged and the Forms FC-GPR have been approved by the RBI. For further details, see “Capital Structure – Notes to capital structure – Share capital history of our Company – Equity share capital history of our Company” on page 113. If we are subject to any further penalties or other regulatory actions under provisions of FEMA, our reputation could be adversely affected. While no legal proceedings or regulatory action has been initiated against our Company in relation to delays in our corporate filings, as of the date of this Red Herring Prospectus, we cannot assure you that we will not be subject to any legal proceedings, regulatory action or penalties imposed by statutory or regulatory authorities in the future, which may adversely affect our business, financial condition, results of operations and reputation. There can be no assurance that such lapses will not occur in the future, or that we will be able to rectify or mitigate such lapses in a timely manner, or at all.

38. *Our policies and procedures may not be sufficient to prevent, detect, or address bribery, fraud, other misconduct, or whistleblower complaints involving our employees, directors, or third parties.

We maintain internal policies, including our whistleblower policy and vigil mechanism, to facilitate confidential reporting of unethical conduct, suspected fraud, bribery, or violations of our code of ethics, while protecting whistleblowers from retaliation. As we receive complaints, these are investigated and reviewed in line with regulatory guidelines for necessary action. While we have not received material complaints in the three months period ended June 30, 2026, and in Fiscals 2026, 2025 and 2024, there is no assurance that our mechanisms may be sufficient to detect, prevent, or address all instances of bribery, corruption, or misconduct. We may also not be able to resolve whistleblower complaints within the 60-day period mandated by SEBI, which could subject us to regulatory scrutiny, sanctions, or reputational harm. Any such shortcomings could materially and adversely affect our business, results of operations, financial condition, and prospects.

Fraud or other misconduct by our employees and directors, such as unauthorised business transactions, leaking of confidential information, bribery, breach of applicable laws, or violations of our internal policies and procedures, as well as misconduct by third parties, may be difficult to detect or prevent. Such events could expose us to regulatory actions, financial loss, and reputational damage. In the past, certain lapses by senior management have exposed us to operational challenges, financial losses, and reputational harm, and delayed the overall maturity of our organisational processes. For instance, in the past, our Company has received instructions from SEBI to restrain a previous employee from handling any core /regulatory functions due to the previous employee allegedly violating certain regulations under SEBI PFUTP Regulations. Further, certain of our previous employees had been named in a first information report by Central Bureau of Investigation alleging that they had issued work orders to a third-party for interception of telephone lines at our Company. Although our internal systems and procedures are designed to monitor operations and ensure compliance, there can be no assurance that such measures will be fully effective in detecting or preventing fraudulent activities. Consequently, there is a risk that fraud or misconduct may have occurred undetected or could occur in the future. Any such incidents could materially and adversely affect our business, reputation, financial condition, and prospects.

39. *Our dependence on proprietary, in-house technology systems and infrastructure could give rise to significant operational risks that could materially disrupt our services and adversely affect our business, financial condition and results of operations.

Our business operations rely extensively on software and technology systems developed in-house, which underpin various critical workflows, including trading, clearing, and risk management. While building and maintaining our own technology platforms gives us flexibility, control, and the ability to tailor systems to our needs, it also exposes us to several operational, performance, and competitive risks. Unlike third-party technology providers with greater scale, specialised engineering teams, and dedicated support resources, our internal teams may have limited capacity to maintain, upgrade, or quickly resolve issues. Moreover, while many of our competitors rely on third-party software solutions, they often significantly customise these platforms to suit their specific business requirements and operational specifications. As a result, such competitors can benefit from the combined advantages of industry-proven platforms and tailored functionalities, while also leveraging vendors’ faster innovation cycles, robust quality assurance, and superior user experiences. This could place us at a disadvantage in terms of operational efficiency, speed to market, and cost optimisation, ultimately impacting our market position and potential revenues. System issues or failures in our in-house technology may also be more challenging to diagnose and fix, particularly without the benefit of external, round-the-clock support and extensive testing infrastructure. The substantial resources and attention required to maintain and enhance these systems may divert capital and management focus from our core business priorities which may materially impair our business, results of operations, financial condition, and prospects.

40. Any failure to maintain the quality of customer service across our businesses, and to address customer complaints promptly, could materially and adversely affect our business and operating results.

Our revenue from operations depends significantly on the size and satisfaction of our customer base across various stakeholder groups, including trading members, investors, market intermediaries, and regulatory bodies. The following table sets forth details of SCORES complaints received and resolved comprising: (i) complaints against trading members and listed Companies processed through SCORES and online disputes resolution; and (ii) complaints against other specified Intermediaries processed through online disputes resolution, in accordance with the SEBI Master Circular for Online Resolution of Disputes in the Indian Securities Market dated December 28, 2023, as of the dates indicated:

Note:

(1) Includes balance of pending complaints of previous period.

We provide support through multiple channels such as call centres, email, and web-based platforms to assist stakeholders at different stages of their engagement with us. If we fail to deliver consistent, high-quality customer service, or if responses to queries and grievances are delayed or inadequate, stakeholders' confidence may erode. This loss of trust could reduce market participation, damage our reputation, and lead to a shift in trading volumes to competing exchanges. Additionally, any failure to resolve participant issues in a timely and effective manner could invite increased regulatory scrutiny and further reputational harm. Moreover, the service quality and operational reliability of intermediaries such as trading members, clearing members, and third-party service providers directly impact users' experience on our platform. Past instances have shown that some trading members struggled to address investor grievances adequately, resulting in complaints and legal proceedings. There can be no assurance that similar issues, complaints, or litigation will not occur in the future or that they will not adversely affect our reputation, business, results of operations, financial condition and prospects.

41. Any increase in or realisation of our contingent liabilities could have a material adverse effect on our financial condition.

The table below provides an overview of our contingent liabilities that can be quantified as of June 30, 2026, also expressed as a percentage of our Net Worth as of June 30, 2026:

| Sr. No.                                                                            | Particulars                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   | As of June 30, 2026   |                |

42. Increased focus on environmental, social, and governance (“ESG”) practices, climate transition and sustainability-related market frameworks may lead to higher compliance costs, operational challenges and reputational risks if stakeholder expectations are not met.

There is increasing focus from regulators, investors and other stakeholders on ESG practices, climate-related disclosures and sustainability-linked awareness, which are becoming integral to capital allocation, investment decisions and market development globally. As an MII, our role extends beyond internal operations to facilitating transparent, credible and scalable platforms for ESG debt securities, green bonds, electricity derivatives and emerging green and energy transition related equity instruments. As a result, we face heightened scrutiny over our ESG disclosures, initiatives, and overall performance, and are subject to heightened expectations and transparency levels regarding the integrity of market frameworks, disclosure standards (including Business Responsibility and Sustainability Reporting (“BRSR”) and BRSR Core with assurance), product design and overall ecosystem credibility. Expectations regarding key ESG aspects, such as carbon footprint reduction, board and workforce diversity, corporate governance standards, sustainability efforts, and data privacy are continually evolving. Evolving regulatory requirements, including sustainability disclosures, climate finance taxonomies and carbon and energy market reforms, may require continuous enhancements to our platform, processes and governance. Failure to meet these evolving expectations or to provide transparent, credible disclosures could damage our reputation, reduce interest from institutional investors, and hinder our ability to attract and retain top talent. Furthermore, complying with increasing ESG-related regulatory requirements and voluntary standards may result in significant additional compliance costs and operational challenges. Inability to effectively adapt to these shifting ESG demands may undermine our brand value, erode stakeholder confidence, and may adversely affect our business, results of operations, financial condition and prospects. Further, any failure or perceived delay in adapting ESG standards could undermine the attractiveness of the exchange as a listing venue, reduce investor confidence, and expose us to competitive disadvantage relative to peer exchanges.

43. Our ownership and control in certain entities may be adversely affected by regulatory changes.

Our business is subject to risks arising from potential changes in the ownership norms prescribed by SEBI for certain entities such as depositories. Our permissible ownership in depositories has been progressively reduced over the years due to SEBI norms, first to 24.00%, and currently to below 15.00% under Regulation 21 of the SEBI (Depositories and Participants) Regulations, 2018 (“SEBI Depositories Regulations”). For instance, in accordance with Regulation 21 of the SEBI Depositories Regulations, which prescribes a 15.00% ownership threshold for stock exchanges (and other specified institutions) in depositories, our Company, being a stock exchange, was required to reduce its shareholding in NSDL to below 15.00%. To comply with this requirement, we participated as a selling shareholder in the initial public offering of NSDL through an offer for sale. Consequently, our shareholding in NSDL reduced from 24.00% to 15.00% following the listing of NSDL on August 6, 2025. Similar requirements in the future may dilute our control and decision-making in such entities, in addition to adversely affecting our revenues and profitability. For further details of divestments of our stake in certain businesses which are non-core to our business, see “History and Certain Corporate Matters - Details regarding material acquisitions or divestments of business/undertakings, mergers, amalgamations or any revaluation of assets in the last 10 years” on page 253.

Our ability to comply with evolving ownership and capital norms may also require us, from time to time, to infuse additional equity capital into subsidiaries to meet regulatory capital requirements or ensure business continuity. Such capital commitments could constrain our liquidity and limit deployment of resources to other strategic initiatives. Any future regulatory amendments or new requirements that alter ownership thresholds, impose additional governance obligations, or increase capital adequacy requirements could compel us to divest existing holdings, lose operational influence, or commit additional financial resources, each of which could adversely affect our business, results of operations, financial condition, and prospects.

44. We rely on other MIIs, such as clearing corporations, depositories and other financial intermediaries, to provide our services. Any disruption in the functioning of these entities could result in delayed execution or non-execution of transactions which could lead to our customers incurring losses. This may adversely impact our business, reputation, financial condition and results of operations.

We rely on other MIIs, such as clearing corporations, depositories and other financial intermediaries to provide our services. For instance, when an order for a trade is placed on our platforms by an investor, a clearing corporation verifies the funds and securities for such trade and the depositories move securities from the seller's demat account to the buyer's demat account, completing the transfer of ownership. In case a clearing corporation or depository is unable to provide their services in a timely manner due to any reason, technical or otherwise, or due to any disruption in their functioning, it could result in delayed execution or non-execution of transactions which could lead to our customers incurring losses. This may have an adverse impact on our business, reputation, financial condition and results of operations. Additionally, financial difficulty and other problems in other MIIs in India could have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition, results of operations, cash flows and prospects. MIIs are exposed to the risks of financial difficulties faced by other MIIs whose commercial soundness may be closely related as a result of credit, trading, clearing or other relationships. This risk may adversely affect us, clearing agencies or other entities with which we interact on a daily basis. Any such difficulties or instability of the Indian financial system in general could create an adverse market perception about Indian institutions and adversely affect our business.

45. Changes in interest rates and foreign exchange rates affect our results of operations and financial position.

Our earnings and reserves are invested in a diversified portfolio of assets, in accordance with our investment policy and applicable SEBI prudential norms. For the three months period ended June 30, 2026 and June 30, 2025 and in Fiscals 2026, 2025, and 2024, our gain on sale from investment and interest income, as a percentage of our total income is as follows:

(₹ in million unless otherwise specified)

Notes:

(1) Gain on sale of investments includes gain on sale of financial assets measured at fair value through profit or loss and at amortised cost.

(2) Interest income includes interest income from financial assets at amortised cost and FVOCI.

Our investments are inherently exposed to changes in interest rates, which may directly affect the value of our portfolio and the income we generate from these assets. Changes in interest rates depend on various factors beyond our control, including macroeconomic conditions, fiscal and monetary policies, especially actions taken by central banks such as the United States Federal Reserve, and other external influences. See “Management’s Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations” beginning on page 398.

Any changes in interest rates can impact our profitability by influencing the income we receive from investments, the market valuation of our interest-earning assets, potential gains on sales, and, prospectively, the cost of any interest-bearing liabilities. Volatility due to changes in interest rates may also adversely affect our financial position. Additionally, changes in interest rates can influence investors’ appetite for equity investments and participation in stock exchanges. Higher interest rates often make fixed-income products more attractive relative to equities, leading to reduced inflows and trading activity associated with equities and equity-linked derivatives on our platform. Conversely, falling interest rates may encourage greater investor participation in equities and capital markets. For details, see “Management’s Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations – Quantitative and Qualitative Disclosures – Management of market risk” on page 430. Therefore, adverse changes in interest rates may not only affect our returns on investment but could also dampen investor demand for our products, further impacting trading volumes and our overall business. As a recognised stock exchange, our ability to manage interest rate risk is limited by SEBI regulations, which restrict eligible investment instruments and prohibit us from undertaking hedging activities. These constraints reduce our ability to actively mitigate the negative impact of changes in interest rates on our investment portfolio. Furthermore, our investment decisions are subject to market risks, including equity price risk, credit risk, and liquidity risk, and there can be no assurance that our investment strategies will generate expected returns or preserve capital. Accordingly, any adverse changes in interest rates, market volatility, or underperformance of our investment strategies may negatively affect our investment income, profitability, results of operations, and financial condition.

In addition, we enter transactions requiring remittance in foreign currency at a future date, which exposes us to foreign exchange risk arising from fluctuations in currency exchange rates. To manage our exposure to currency fluctuations on foreign exchange settlements arising from anticipated payment remittance transactions, we use forward contracts governed by our forex risk management policy as approved by our Governing Board. We follow the mark-to-market method for accounting of these foreign exchange forward contracts and measure the open contracts at each reporting date at fair value, with any gains or losses arising from changes in fair value and cancellation or rollover of the forward contracts recognised in our consolidated statement of profit and loss. While we employ these hedging strategies to mitigate the impact of exchange rate volatility, there can be no assurance that our hedging activities will be effective in fully offsetting the adverse effects of currency fluctuations. Additionally, our hedging arrangements may not cover all of our foreign currency exposures, and significant or unexpected movements in exchange rates could result in losses or increased costs that adversely affect our financial condition and results of operations. For further details, see “Management’s Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations – Quantitative and Qualitative Disclosures – Management of foreign exchange risk” on page 430.

46. Any delay or default in payment of statutory dues, including those under dispute, may result in financial penalties from government authorities, which could adversely affect our financial condition and cash flows.

There have been instances of delays and defaults in the payment of statutory dues, including delays in the payment of professional tax by our Company in the past. All taxes related to income tax, securities transaction tax, commodity transaction tax, and goods and services tax have been paid on their respective due dates, except for professional tax, which was delayed pending registration with the respective State Government. The table below provides details of such delays or defaults for the three months period ended June 30, 2026 and in Fiscals 2026, 2025, and 2024:

| Sr. No. | Particular       | Actual date of payment | Due date of payment | Amount paid (₹ in million) |
|---------|------------------|------------------------|---------------------|----------------------------|
| 1.      | Professional tax | February 8, 2024       | January 10, 2024    | negligible          |
| 2.      | Professional tax | February 8, 2024       | December 10, 2023   | negligible          |
| 3.      | Professional tax | February 8, 2024       | November 10, 2023   | negligible          |
| 4.      | Professional tax | January 5, 2024        | December 28, 2023   | negligible          |
| 5.      | Professional tax | January 5, 2024        | October 28, 2023    | negligible          |
| 6.      | Professional tax | September 11, 2023     | September 10, 2023  | negligible          |

Note: ‘negligible’ represents less than ₹ 0.01 million.

While we endeavour to comply with applicable statutory requirements, there can be no assurance that similar delays or defaults will not occur in the future. Any failure to pay statutory dues, whether disputed or otherwise, in a timely manner may result in regulatory action or the imposition of financial penalties by the relevant authorities. Further, such instances could result in audit qualifications, matters of emphasis, or other observations in our audit reports in future financial years, which may adversely affect our business, reputation, results of operations, financial condition, and prospects.

47. We may not be able to amend our byelaws and rules in a timely manner or at all.

As a recognised stock exchange in India, we have the authority to make and amend rules and bye-laws necessary for fulfilling our statutory obligations. The proposed amendment is approved by our Governing Board and published in the state gazette and central gazette for comments. If any comments are received pursuant to such publication, the proposals are reconsidered by our Governing Board, if deemed appropriate. Then the proposed amendments are sent to SEBI for approval. Following SEBI’s initial approval, the proposed amendments are published, free of cost, in the Gazette of India. If any comments are received pursuant to such publication, the proposals are reconsidered by our Governing Board, if deemed appropriate. SEBI may approve, reject, or require modifications to any rules or amendments we propose, and it also retains the authority to amend our bye-laws either on its own initiative or upon request from our governing body as prescribed under the Securities Contracts (Regulation) Act, 1956, including the SECC Regulations. The review and approval process, including the publication and potential re-approval requirements described above, can be protracted and may result in significant delays or even the inability to implement modifications we may consider critical to market functioning or business activity. In addition, certain provisions of our constitutional documents, including our memorandum and articles of association, also require SEBI’s prior approval before they can be amended. This requirement further limits our ability to independently make changes we may consider necessary. If we are unable to obtain the necessary approvals for amendments in a timely manner, or at all, our ability to respond swiftly to changing market circumstances, regulatory requirements, or commercial developments may be hampered. This could adversely impact our agility and competitiveness and, in turn, may materially affect our business, results of operations, financial condition, and prospects.

48. *We may be required to comply with certain foreign regulations in conjunction with our business ventures outside India and may not be able to maintain or obtain recognition from foreign regulators, which could adversely affect our international operations.

Our business ventures and partnerships outside India require us to comply with a range of regulatory requirements established by foreign governments and international stock exchange regulators. Our ability to operate in foreign markets, offer cross-border products, and service overseas clients depends on securing and maintaining recognition and authorisations from the relevant foreign regulators. For instance, our Subsidiary, NSEIX, has received approvals from the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission and United States Commodity Futures Trading Commission to sell certain Index Futures and Options contracts to persons located in the U.S., subjecting us to compliance with applicable U.S. regulatory requirements. We have also entered into several strategic partnerships with global exchanges, including SGX and MoUs with Cyprus Stock Exchange, Colombo Stock Exchange and Taiwan Stock Exchange, reflecting our commitment to positioning GIFT City as a global financial hub and integrating Indian capital markets with international ecosystems. Satisfying these requirements may result in additional costs, require significant management time and resources, or necessitate adjustments to our existing business models.

Such recognition frameworks are often based on detailed cooperation arrangements between the foreign regulator and the relevant Indian regulatory authorities, and may be subject to periodic review, renewal, or withdrawal. In some jurisdictions, transitional or run-off arrangements provide time-limited recognition pending the establishment of permanent equivalence regimes or cooperation arrangements. For example, the Bank of England has approved NSE IFSC Clearing Corporation Limited as a non-UK third-country central counterparty under its Temporary Recognition Regime, which is a transitional framework that allows eligible non-UK CCPs (defined below) to continue providing services to UK clearing members until a permanent recognition decision is made. This temporary recognition expires on October 30, 2026, and there can be no assurance that permanent recognition will be granted thereafter. Any withdrawal, suspension, non-renewal, or failure to obtain such recognition, whether due to factors within or beyond our control, may restrict our ability to continue operations in the affected jurisdiction. For instance, on April 30, 2023, the European Securities and Markets Authority (“ESMA”) revoked NCL and NSEICC’s recognition as a third country central counterparty (“CCP”) under the European Market Infrastructure Regulation (“EMIR”) due to the absence of cooperation arrangements compliant with Article 25(7) of EMIR between ESMA and the relevant Indian supervisory authorities, including SEBI, RBI, and IFSCA. As a result, these entities can no longer provide clearing services to EU-based clearing members or trading venues, materially restricting our ability to operate in the EU market.

A key pillar of our international strategy is the development of our presence at India’s GIFT City. Through NSEIX, our international exchange established in GIFT City’s IFSC jurisdiction and operating as a recognised stock exchange under IFSCA, we are working to position India as a competitive hub for global investors seeking to participate in Indian and international markets. We established NSEIX as a subsidiary of our Company in November 2016 to enable Indian and foreign entities to trade in foreign currency-denominated securities and financial products, and access international financial markets, allowing trading for ~21 hours a day. As of June 30, 2026 and as of March 31, 2026, NSEIX held a market share of 99.62% and 99.81%, respectively, in terms of number of contracts traded in the equity derivatives segment among exchanges at GIFT International Financial Services Centre, according to the Redseer Report. NSEICC serves as the clearing arm of NSEIX, implementing best practices including real-time risk management and robust counterparty guarantees. NSEICC holds a credit rating of CARE AAA / Stable as per CARE Ratings as of June 30, 2026 and as of March 31, 2026. We have a strategic partnership with SGX by way of a collaboration agreement dated September 22, 2020, to establish a trading and clearing link called “NSEIX – SGX Connect” in GIFT IFSC (“Connect”) in respect of Nifty index products comprising GIFT Nifty 50, GIFT Nifty Bank, GIFT Nifty Financial Services and GIFT Nifty IT, and, based on mutual interest of the parties, NSEIX may include additional products under this arrangement. An operational agreement dated March 28, 2022, was also executed to enable members of SGX to undertake and clear trades in the identified Nifty products on NSEIX and NSE IFSC Clearing Corporation Limited through the Connect. The Connect commenced operations on July 3, 2023, and operates within a custom regulatory framework developed between the Connect parties and the applicable regulators. If the collaboration or its products fail to achieve market acceptance, we would be unable to pursue alternative partnerships (for the above-mentioned products) during the exclusivity period, which could disadvantage us competitively.

Historically, a portion of trading volumes linked to Indian equity indices has migrated to offshore venues, potentially reducing liquidity and volumes on domestic exchanges. While initiatives such as the NSEIX SGX Connect are designed to recapture some of this offshore activity, there can be no assurance that these efforts will succeed, as market participants may continue to prefer offshore venues due to regulatory arbitrage, time zone advantages, tax considerations, or established trading relationships. In Fiscal 2026, NSEIX launched GIFT Nifty 50 Zero Days to Expiration (“0DTE”) Options which made NSEIX the first stock exchange in India to offer international investors same-day expiry options on the Nifty 50 Index at GIFT IFSC, according to the Redseer Report. We also launched GIFT Nifty India FPI 150 derivatives contracts through NSEIX in December 2025, tracking the top 150 stocks from the Nifty 500 that ensure accessibility and investibility for foreign investors, broadening the range of hedging and investment instruments available to global market participants. Furthermore, the success of GIFT City as an international financial services hub depends on factors beyond our control, including the pace of regulatory development, the attractiveness of the IFSC regime to international investors, infrastructure readiness, and competition from other established financial centres. If our GIFT IFSC operations fail to attract sufficient trading volumes or if the broader GIFT City ecosystem does not develop as anticipated, we may be unable to realise the expected benefits of our investments.

We have also introduced innovative products to attract a wider pool of international participants, including unsponsored depository receipts, extended trading hours aligned with global markets, and robust risk management frameworks. Building on these initiatives, in Fiscal 2026 we launched NSEIXGA through our Subsidiary, NSEIX, enabling Indian resident investors, NRIs, Persons of Indian Origin (“PIOs”), Overseas Citizens of India (“OCIs”), Persons Resident Outside India (“PROI”), and IFSC-based entities to seamlessly invest in global markets through a single integrated digital account. While these initiatives drive international connectivity, they also expose us to complex and evolving foreign regulations, legal risks, and operational challenges linked to varying international standards. Failure to secure or maintain necessary foreign approvals, or if other foreign regulators withdraw or fail to grant recognition to us or our Subsidiaries, could result in penalties, restrictions, reputational damage, or lost business, and could materially and adversely affect our business, results of operations, financial condition, and prospects.

49. Our Subsidiaries may not pay dividends on the shares we hold in them. Consequently, our Company may not receive any return on investments in our Subsidiaries.

While some of our Subsidiaries have distributed dividends historically, they do not have formal dividend policies and may be restricted from declaring or paying dividends by applicable laws, contractual obligations, their respective charter documents, or the terms of financing arrangements. Specifically, under the SECC Regulations, the utilisation of profits and investments by NCL must comply with the norms prescribed by SEBI, which, among other circulars/directions issued by SEBI, include the SEBI circular dated August 27, 2014 on Core Settlement Guarantee Fund that specifies the contribution requirements for Clearing Corporations (“CCs”). As per the provisions of the circular, CCs need to contribute at least 50% of the minimum required corpus (MRC) to the Core Settlement Guarantee Fund. Similarly, under the IFSCA (Market Infrastructure Institutions) Regulations, 2021 as amended up to November 1, 2024, the use of profits and investments by NSEICC must comply with the norms prescribed by IFSCA. Accordingly, the ability of both NCL and NSEICC to declare or distribute dividends is subject to regulatory approvals and prescribed guidelines. We cannot assure you that our Subsidiaries will generate sufficient profits or cash flows in the future to distribute dividends, nor can we assure that they will elect to pay dividends even if profits are available. As a result, our Company may not receive any returns on its investments in these Subsidiaries, which could adversely affect our business, results of operations, financial condition, or prospects.

50. There can be challenges in identifying or successfully executing acquisitions, investments, alliances, joint ventures, or other business combinations, which may affect our ability to pursue certain strategic opportunities.

We may seek to acquire or invest in businesses, technologies, or applications that complement or expand our services or drive growth, subject to applicable law. We may also be required to participate in initiatives that support broader market development or constitute projects of national importance, and such investments may not be strategically related to our business. However, Regulation 38(2) of the SECC Regulations strictly prohibits us from carrying on any activity, whether involving the deployment of funds or otherwise, without the prior approval of SEBI, except for treasury investments made in accordance with an investment policy approved by our Governing Board. In addition, any activity that is unrelated or not incidental to our core functions as a stock exchange or clearing corporation may only be undertaken through a separate legal entity and with SEBI’s explicit approval. For further details of acquisitions undertaken by us, see “History and Certain Corporate Matters - Details regarding material acquisitions or divestments of business/undertakings, mergers, amalgamations or any revaluation of assets in the last 10 years” on page 253.

As a result, our ability to pursue business combinations or strategic diversification initiatives is subject to significant regulatory oversight and may be delayed or denied. In addition to requiring substantial management resources and costs, any such transaction could involve lengthy regulatory processes and is not assured of completion or of realising the anticipated benefits. Non-compliance with the SECC Regulations could also result in penalties, including orders to divest such holdings. Further, any inability to identify, execute, or integrate strategic opportunities in compliance with regulatory requirements, or any failure to achieve intended synergies, may limit our ability to expand our business model, constrain our strategic flexibility, and expose us to operational and financial risks.

Further, we may dispose of our shareholding in our Subsidiaries and Associates in order to make our structure more relevant and certain of our Subsidiaries and Associates may, from time to time, be engaged in evaluating or contemplating internal restructuring exercises or potential divestment or stake sale transactions, whether in whole or in part. Such considerations may arise in the ordinary course of business and there can be no assurance that any such transaction will be pursued, structured, completed, or concluded on terms that are favourable to us, or at all. The decision to proceed with, modify, or abandon any such proposal may be influenced by a variety of factors, including but not limited to prevailing market conditions, regulatory approvals, third-party consents, valuation considerations, and broader macroeconomic factors, all of which are beyond our control and may change materially.

In addition, investments, alliances, and acquisitions may expose us to unforeseen liabilities. For instance, our Subsidiary, NSE Investments Limited (“NSE Investments”), is engaged in a dispute with our Associate, Market Simplified India Limited (“MSIL”), in which it holds a stake. On February 3, 2024, NSE Investments filed a petition under Sections 241, 242 and 244 of the Companies Act, 2013, against MSIL, and certain of its officials, alleging, inter alia, oppression and mismanagement, oppressive conduct and governance failures by its directors and promoters. The allegations include failure to provide proper notice of shareholder meetings, failure to meet quorum requirements, and amendment of constitution documents without the required consent of NSE Investments, resulting in dilution of NSE Investments’ shareholding from approximately 30.00% to 21.06%. As a result of these actions, NSE Investments’ shareholding in MSIL has been significantly reduced and diluted. For further details, see “Outstanding Litigation and Material Developments – Litigation involving our Subsidiaries — Litigation by our Subsidiaries - Material Civil litigation” on page 455. This dispute has resulted in a dilution of our economic interests, loss of contractual rights, financial exposure, diversion of management resources, and reputational impact. As the outcome of this dispute remains uncertain, we cannot assure that it will not have further consequences for us. Although this dispute pertains to our associate company, similar risks could arise in relation to any of our existing or future associates or investments. Any such instances in the future could adversely affect our reputation, business, results of operations, financial condition, and prospects.

51. We have unutilized money earmarked for corporate social responsibility (“CSR”) activities.

We are required to spend a prescribed amount on CSR activities in line with our CSR Policy. For the three months period ended June 30, 2026, our CSR obligation was nil. In Fiscal 2026, our total CSR obligation was ₹2,294.99 million. However, we spent only ₹172.99 million during that year. The remaining balance of ₹2,122.00 million for the Fiscal 2026, was transferred to our Unspent CSR Account as per Section 135(6) of the Companies Act, 2013, which mandates that unspent CSR funds for ongoing projects must be transferred within 30 days after the financial year to a designated account. These funds need to be utilised within three financial years; if not, they must be transferred to a Fund specified in Schedule VII of the Companies Act, 2013 within 30 days after the end of that period. We have transferred the unspent amount to the Unspent CSR Account to support a large greenfield project, which is a multispecialty OPD hospital with bone marrow transplant facilities at a leading cancer hospital and institution of eminence, planned to be completed in three phases. If we fail to utilise these funds as intended by March 31, 2029, we will be required to transfer the unutilised amount to the prescribed Fund within the stipulated timeline.

Failure to comply with the applicable provisions of the Companies Act, may attract penalties of up to twice the unspent amount or ₹10.00 million, whichever is less. Non-compliance could also affect our ability to undertake future CSR initiatives and may materially and adversely impact our reputation, business, results of operations, financial condition, and prospects.

52. The appointment and re-appointment of our public interest directors (“PIDs”) does not require shareholders’ approval.

The appointment and re-appointment of PIDs to our Governing Board is governed by Regulation 24(2) and Part H of Schedule II of the SECC Regulations, which specifically state that a shareholder approval is not required for such appointments, unlike the requirements for independent directors under the Companies Act, 2013. PIDs represent investor interests and are vested with significant governance responsibilities and are mandated under the SECC Regulations to participate in, and often lead, key Governing Board committees including audit, risk management, and compliance. The voting on a resolution in the meeting of our Governing Board shall be valid only when the number of PIDs that have cast their vote on such resolution is equal to or more than the number of non-independent directors who have cast their vote on such resolution in terms of Regulation 23(11) of the SECC Regulations. As a result, PIDs have substantial influence over our Company’s strategy and oversight. Since shareholders have no right to appoint or approve PIDs, their involvement in critical decisions is meaningfully limited, and becoming a shareholder does not entail the usual rights or level of participation in governance expected in a listed company. Additionally, in terms of Regulation 24 of the SECC Regulations, PIDs are appointed for a term of three years, extendable by another term of three years, subject to performance review in the manner specified by SEBI. PIDs are not liable to retire by rotation, which means their continued service on our Governing Board is determined solely by the terms of their appointment and regulatory approvals rather than periodic renewal by shareholders. While this framework provides a degree of regulatory oversight, the absence of a shareholder-driven rotation mechanism may still pose risks, including reduced Governing Board refreshment and oversight.

PIDs are expected to identify important issues which may involve conflict of interest or have significant impact on the functioning or may not be in the interest of securities market over the commercial or financial interests of the shareholders. This could result in decisions that are not aligned with shareholder expectations.

If PID appointments are not conducted fairly or do not fulfil their intended purpose of safeguarding investor interests and governance, these risks may be heightened, potentially resulting in strategic misalignment, inadequate governance, reputational harm, and regulatory intervention, which could materially and adversely affect our business, results of operations, financial condition, and prospects.

53. Regulatory limitations on the ownership of securities in a stock exchange may influence the way we are able to raise capital.

The ownership of securities in stock exchanges is subject to certain restrictions. As per the SECC Regulations read with the SECC Master Circular, the listing of a stock exchange is subject to conditions including, among others: (i) public shareholders, must hold at least 51% of the paid-up equity share capital; (ii) trading members and their associates may not hold more than 49% at any time; (iii) no person resident in India, directly or indirectly, either individually or together with persons acting in concert, may acquire or hold, alone or together, more than 5% of the paid-up equity share capital at any time, unless the person is a public financial institution, insurance company, depository, banking company, or stock exchange, which may hold up to 15%; (iv) prior approval of SEBI is required for any acquisition above 5% as outlined in (iii) above; (v) no person resident outside India, directly or indirectly, either individually or together with persons acting in concert, may acquire or hold, alone or together, more than 5% at any time unless it is a foreign insurance company, foreign depository, foreign banking company, or foreign stock exchange or foreign commodity derivative exchange, a bilateral or multilateral financial institution approved by the Central Government, which may hold up to 15%; (vi) stock exchanges must implement monitoring mechanisms to ensure compliance at all times; (vii) shareholders holding more than 2% in a stock exchange are required to be ‘fit and proper’ persons as defined in the SECC Regulations; and (viii) subject to the limits as otherwise prescribed by the Central Government from time to time, the combined holding of all persons resident outside India in the paid-up equity share capital shall not exceed, at any time, 49%. Additionally, in terms of SEBI Circular dated October 14, 2024, stock exchanges must meet self-declaration obligations and appoint a “designated depository” to monitor compliance with shareholding limits, and in our case, we have appointed CDSL as our “designated depository” for this purpose. There can be no assurance that the systems and infrastructure maintained for ensuring compliance will always be adequate. Any failure to comply with these restrictions may lead to freezing of voting rights and corporate benefits pertaining to such equity shares and require divestiture of excess holdings through a special window on the relevant stock exchange. These regulatory restrictions may constrain our ability to raise capital in the future and could affect the attractiveness of an investment in our Company for certain investors. For further details, refer to “Key Regulations and Policies - The Securities Contracts (Regulation) (Stock Exchanges and Clearing Corporations) Regulations, 2018, as amended (“SECC Regulations”)” on page 241. As of June 30, 2026 and June 30, 2025, and as of March 31, 2026, the aggregate foreign shareholding in our Company is 27.72%, 28.37% and 28.08%, respectively, and the shareholding by trading members is 35.17%, 35.82% and 35.62%, respectively. These existing holdings are within prescribed limits but must be consistently monitored to ensure continuous compliance with applicable regulations. Given the stringency of these regulatory restrictions, there can be no assurance that we will always comply or be able to adjust our capital structure as needed. Any breach or delay in regulatory approvals could lead to forced divestitures, loss of rights, regulatory sanctions, or a smaller investor pool. As a result, these limitations may materially impair our ability to raise capital or maintain the value and marketability of our equity shares, thereby increasing the risk of loss for investors and materially and adversely affecting our business, results of operations, financial condition, and prospects.

*Including a special one-time dividend of ₹ 11.46 per Equity Share of face value of ₹ 1 each.

<sup>**</sup>The Governing Board at their meeting held on May 5, 2026 recommended a final dividend of ₹35 per Equity Share of ₹1 each (3500%), for the year ended March 31, 2026, which has been approved by the Shareholders at the AGM held on August 24, 2026. This includes a special one-time dividend of ₹10 per Equity Share.

#Our Company has allotted 1,980,000,000 Equity Shares of the face value ₹ 1 each pursuant to a bonus issue dated November 4, 2024, in the ratio of 4:1 (i.e., four Equity Shares for every one Equity Share held in our Company) to the Shareholders as of the record date of November 2, 2024. Accordingly, the details for the Fiscal 2024 are prior to such bonus issuance.

##For Fiscal 2024, our Company declared a dividend of ₹ 90 per Equity Share on 495,000,000 Equity Shares of face value ₹1 each, representing a dividend rate of 9,000%. The dividend per equity share and the corresponding dividend rate disclosed in the table for the Fiscal 2024 has been accordingly adjusted to give effect to the bonus issue undertaken on November 4, 2024.

The dividend policy of our Company was approved and adopted by way of a resolution dated August 25, 2025, passed by the Governing Board of our Company. For details, see “Dividend Policy” beginning on page 297.

The declaration and payment of dividends will be recommended by the Governing Board and approved by the Shareholders, at their discretion, subject to the provisions of the Articles of Association and applicable law, including the Companies Act. Additionally, our Governing Board may determine to retain all future earnings, if any, for any contingencies and/or use in the operations and expansion of the business. As a result, we may not declare dividends in the foreseeable future. Any future determination as to the declaration and payment of dividends will be at the discretion of our Governing Board and will depend on factors that our Governing Board deems relevant, including, among others, our future earnings, financial condition, cash requirements, business prospects and any other financing arrangements. Accordingly, realisation of a gain on the Shareholders’ investments will depend on the appreciation of the price of our Equity Shares, which cannot be assured.

57. We do not hold a controlling interest in our Associates and our shareholding in our Associates may be subject to transfer restrictions.

We do not hold controlling interest in our Associates either directly or indirectly, and, accordingly, we do not control the day-to-day operations of certain of our Associates. Our interests may not always align with the interest of the other stakeholders of our Associates and the other stakeholders may take or block actions with respect to business of our Associates. We cannot guarantee that the other stakeholders will act in a manner which aligns with our interest while exercising their rights in these entities.

Further, our shareholding in our Associates is subject to certain transfer restrictions, including, amongst others, right of first refusal, right of first offer, and certain pre-emptive rights, pursuant to which we may be required to obtain the consent of, or offer our shareholding to, the other shareholders of our Associates prior to freely transferring our shareholding in them. These factors could adversely affect our ability to realise the anticipated benefits from our investments in our Associates, restrict our ability to exit such investments on terms favourable to us, and have a material adverse effect on our business, financial condition, results of operations and prospects.

EXTERNAL RISK FACTORS

58. Changing laws, rules and regulations and legal uncertainties, including any adverse application of corporate and tax laws, may adversely affect our business, cash flows, prospects and results of operations.

The regulatory and policy environment in which we operate is evolving and subject to change. Such changes, including the instances mentioned below, may adversely affect our business, cash flows, results of operations and prospects, to the extent that we are unable to suitably respond to and comply with any such changes in applicable law and policy.

For instance, the Government of India has introduced various tax reforms through Finance Act, 2026 for the Financial Year 2027. Additionally, the Government of India has enacted the Income Tax Act, 2025 (“ITA 2025”), and Income Tax Rules, 2026, to repeal and replace the Income-tax Act, 1961 and Income Tax Rules, 1962 respectively with effect from April 1, 2026. While the Government of India has stated that ITA 2025 does not introduce any policy changes and has primarily been enacted as a simplified, concise, and reader-friendly legislation, we cannot predict whether such transition may create interpretive uncertainty and require changes to our systems, controls, contracts, and processes in India. Failure to implement timely changes or accurately comply with these requirements could result in higher tax liabilities, cash flow timing impacts from withholding, interest and penalties, increased administrative costs, and disputes. Additional rules, notifications, or technology requirements issued by the Central Board of Direct Taxes (CBDT) could be extensive or retrospective and may affect our Indian operations and cross-border arrangements.

Furthermore, the Government of India introduced new laws relating to social security, occupational safety, industrial relations and wages namely, the Code on Social Security, 2020 (“Social Security Code”), the Occupational Safety, Health and Working Conditions Code, 2020, the Industrial Relations Code, 2020 and the Code on Wages, 2019, which consolidate, subsume and replace numerous existing central labour legislations, (collectively, the “Labour Codes”). The Government of India has notified the effective date of implementation of the respective Labour Codes on November 21, 2025 and May 8, 2026. As an immediate consequence, the coming into force of these codes may increase the financial burden on our Company, which may adversely affect our profitability. For instance, under the Social Security Code, a new concept of deemed remuneration has been introduced, such that where an employee receives more than half (or such other percentage as may be notified by the Central Government) of their total remuneration in the form of allowances and other amounts that are not included within the definition of wages under the Social Security Code, the excess amount received shall be deemed as remuneration and accordingly be added to wages for the purposes of the Social Security Code and the compulsory contribution to be made towards the employees’ provident fund. In addition, the Government of India has introduced The Bharatiya Nyaya Sanhita, 2023, Bharatiya Nagarik Suraksha Sanhita, 2023 (“BNSS”) and Bhartiya Sakshya Adhiniyam, 2023 (“BSA”), replacing the Indian Penal Code, 1860, Code of Criminal Procedure, 1973 and the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, respectively. Further, the Securities Markets Code Bill, 2025 (“SMC Code”), was introduced in the Lok Sabha on December 18, 2025, which seeks to repeal and consolidate the SEBI Act, Securities Contracts (Regulation) Act, 1956, and the Depositories Act, 1996, into a principle-based framework for India’s securities market. Amongst other things, the SMC Code will mandate registration requirements for Market Infrastructure Institutions to carry out business in the security markets and provides for the regulation and control of contracts and code of conduct of its members and market participants. Once the SMC Code bill is passed, we may incur increased costs and other burdens relating to compliance with such new requirements, which may also require significant management time and other resources, and any failure to comply may adversely affect our business, results of operations and financial conditions.

Unfavourable changes in or interpretations of existing, or the promulgation of new laws, rules and regulations governing our business and operations could result in us being deemed to be in contravention of such laws and may require us to apply for additional approvals. We may incur increased costs and other burdens relating to compliance with new requirements, which may also require significant management time and other resources, and any failure to comply may adversely affect our business, cash flows, results of operations and prospects. Uncertainty in the application, interpretation or implementation of any amendment to, or change in, governing law, regulation or policy, including by reason of an absence, or a limited body, of administrative or judicial precedent may be time consuming as well as costly for us to resolve and may impact the viability of our current business or restrict our ability to grow our businesses in the future.

59. A significant portion of our business and operations is located in India, and we are subject to regulatory, economic, social, and political uncertainties in India, many of which are beyond our control. The securities market in India is influenced by various factors beyond our control. Any disruption in the Indian securities market may adversely affect our financial conditions and revenue from operations.

We are incorporated in India, and significant portion of our business and all of our personnel are located in India. Consequently, our business, cash flows and results of operations will be affected by a number of macroeconomic and demographic factors in India which are beyond our control. In particular, our profitability is influenced by general economic conditions. Recessionary economic cycles, a protracted economic slowdown, a worsening economy, increased unemployment, increased energy prices, rising interest rates or other industry-wide cost pressures could also affect consumer behaviour and investing trends which could lead to a decline in our total income and profitability. While our results may not necessarily track India’s economic growth figures, the Indian economy’s performance affects the environment in which we operate. These factors could have an adverse effect on our business, financial condition, cash flows and results of operations. Any slowdown or perceived slowdown in the Indian economy, or in specific sectors of the Indian economy, could adversely affect our business, results of operations, cash flows and financial condition and the price of the Equity Shares. Poor economic conditions can also adversely affect the performance of companies listed or planning to list on Indian stock exchanges, leading to reduced liquidity, lower trading prices, decreased trading volumes, fewer trading members, and fewer new listings on trading platforms. External factors, including investor reactions to international developments, can also slow down the Indian economy or alter its economic policies and regulations, affecting the market value, trading volume, or frequency of financial assets listed in India and causing fluctuations in trading activity across different asset classes.

A decrease in the relative attractiveness of our platforms as a listing and trading venue, or in the products traded on our platforms, could adversely affect us. Our revenue streams, which include transaction charges, listing fees, processing fees, book building fees, data centre and rack charges, data connectivity charges, data feed and terminal charges, index licensing and data subscription fees, and clearing and settlement charges, are sensitive to disruptions in the Indian securities market and the resulting decline in transactional volumes. India also faces risks from broader geopolitical instability and conflicts. Events such as the COVID-19 pandemic, the Russia-Ukraine conflict, the United States direct military operation in Venezuela, current hostilities between Israel, the United States and Iran, power shortages in Europe, rising global inflation rates, and the imposition of import quotas or tariffs and retaliatory measures by various countries can impact investment opportunities, market sentiment, and market volatility in India.

Other external factors that may affect us include:

- concerns over inflation and the level of institutional or retail confidence;
- the availability of short-term and long-term funding and capital;
- the availability of alternative investment opportunities;
- reduced volatility in the prices of securities;
- the level and volatility of interest rates and gross domestic product growth;
- legislative and regulatory changes, including the potential for regulatory arbitrage among regulated and unregulated markets if significant policy differences emerge, which may divert trading volumes to other exchanges;
- the perceived attractiveness, or lack of attractiveness, of Indian capital markets; and
- unforeseen market closures or other disruptions in trading.

According to the Redseer Report, a decade of high liquidity has directed household savings towards financial assets. Should inflationary pressures, interest rate volatility, or macroeconomic stress materialise, there is a risk of reversion towards physical assets such as gold and real estate, historically preferred by Indian households. Any of the foregoing, individually or collectively, could materially and adversely affect our business, results of operations, financial condition and prospects.

60. A downgrade in ratings of India, may affect the trading price of the Equity Shares.

Our Company's business and future financial performance may be adversely affected by a potential downgrade of India's sovereign debt rating from the current level of BBB+ as on September 2025 rated by Rating and Investment Information, Inc. (R&I), Japan, BBB(Stable) as on August 2025 by S&P Global, Baa3 (Stable) as on September 2025 by Moody's and BBB-(Stable) as on August 2026 by FitchRatings. Such a downgrade could occur due to factors beyond our control, including changes in tax or fiscal policy or a decline in India's foreign exchange reserves, all which are outside the control of our Company. This could have an adverse effect on our business and future financial performance and may also adversely impact investor confidence in Indian securities and financial markets generally, which could result in increased market volatility and adversely affect the trading price of the Equity Shares.

61. Financial instability in other countries may cause increased volatility in Indian financial markets.

The Indian market and the Indian economy are influenced by economic and market conditions in other countries, including conditions in the United States, Europe and certain emerging economies in Asia. Financial turmoil in Asia, Middle East, Russia and elsewhere in the world in recent years has adversely affected the Indian economy. Any worldwide financial instability may cause increased volatility in the Indian financial markets and, directly or indirectly, adversely affect the Indian economy and financial sector and us. Furthermore, economic developments globally can have a significant impact on India. In particular, the global economy has been negatively impacted by the conflict between Russia and Ukraine, and in the Middle East. Governments in the United States, United Kingdom, and European Union have imposed sanctions on certain products, industry sectors, and parties in Russia. Further, geopolitical tensions in the Middle East, including hostilities involving Israel, United States, and Iran, may contribute to global market volatility and adversely affect the Indian economy and financial markets. These conflicts could negatively impact regional and global financial markets and economic conditions, and result in global economic uncertainty and increased costs of various commodities, raw materials, energy and transportation. In addition, recent increases in inflation and interest rates globally, including in India, could adversely affect the Indian economy.

In addition, China is one of India's major trading partners and there are rising concerns of a possible slowdown in the Chinese economy as well as a strained relationship with India, which could have an adverse impact on the trade relations between the two countries. The sovereign rating downgrades for Brazil and Russia (and the imposition of sanctions on Russia) have also added to the growth risks for these markets. These factors may also result in a slowdown in India's export growth. Any significant financial disruption could have an adverse effect on our business, financial condition, cash flows and results of operation. Adverse global economic conditions, tightening of monetary policy by major central banks, strengthening of the US dollar, or increased global risk aversion could result in capital outflows from India, which could negatively impact Indian equity and debt markets. For instance, during 2025, foreign portfolio investors withdrew from Indian equities, the highest annual outflow on record, driven by elevated valuations in Indian markets relative to other emerging markets, subdued earnings visibility, tariff uncertainties affecting Indian exports, and shifts in global capital allocation favouring artificial intelligence and technology stocks in developed markets.

62. *Our business and activities may be subject to the Competition Act, 2002 and proceedings may be enforced against us.

The Competition Act was enacted for the purpose of preventing practices that have or are likely to have an appreciable adverse effect on competition (“AAEC”) in India and has mandated the CCI to address such practices. Under the Competition Act, any arrangement, understanding or action, whether formal or informal, which causes or is likely to cause an AAEC is void and attracts substantial penalties. Further, any agreement among competitors which directly or indirectly involves determination of purchase or sale prices, limits or controls production, or shares the market by way of geographical area or number of consumers in the relevant market is presumed to have an AAEC in the relevant market in India and shall be void. Further, the Competition Act prohibits abuse of dominant position by any enterprise.

The combination regulation (merger control) provisions under the Competition Act require that the acquisition of shares, voting rights, assets or control or mergers or amalgamations which exceed any of the prescribed asset and turnover based thresholds shall be mandatorily notified to and pre-approved by the CCI. Further, the CCI has extra-territorial powers and can investigate any agreements, abusive conduct or combination occurring outside of India if such agreement, conduct or combination has an AAEC in India. Any breach of the provisions of the Competition Act by our Company may attract substantial monetary penalties.

The applicability or impact of the provisions of the Competition Act on the agreements entered into by us cannot be predicted with certainty at this stage. However, if we pursue an acquisition driven growth strategy, we may be affected, directly or indirectly, by the application or interpretation of any provision of the Competition Act, any enforcement proceedings initiated by the CCI, any adverse publicity that may be generated due to scrutiny or prosecution by the CCI, or any prohibition or substantial penalties levied under the Competition Act, which would adversely affect our business, results of operations, cash flows and prospects. For instance, our Company is involved in a proceeding under the Competition Act, initiated by MCX Stock Exchange Limited (now Metropolitan Stock Exchange of India Limited) against our Company alleging that our Company was in a dominant position in the stock exchange service market and abused its dominant position. For further details, see “Outstanding Litigation and Material Developments – Litigation involving our Company – Litigation against our Company – Material civil litigation” on page 442. There can be no assurance that the outcome of such matter will be in our favour and an adverse outcome could require us to pay substantial penalties or compensation, which may materially and adversely affect our reputation and financial condition. In addition, any future law or amendments to the regulations involving Competition Act, future enforcement action or adverse publicity arising from these or similar proceedings could further adversely affect our business, financial condition, and results of operations.

63. *If inflation rises in India, increased costs may result in a decline in profits and result of operations may be adversely affected.

Inflation rates in India have been volatile in recent years, and such volatility may continue in the future. Rising inflation in India could result in increased costs relating to third-party service providers, rents, wages, and other expenses which may lead to increased cost of our business. In recent years, India has experienced consistently high inflation, which has increased the price of, among other things, our rent. Further, while the Government of India has previously initiated economic measures to combat high inflation rates, it is unclear whether these measures will remain in effect. There can be no assurance that Indian inflation levels will not worsen and rise in the future. If we are unable to increase our revenues or profitability sufficiently to offset our increased costs due to inflation, it could have an adverse effect on our business, prospects, financial condition, results of operations and cash flows.

64. *Significant differences exist between the Indian Accounting Standards (Ind AS) used to prepare our financial information and other accounting principles, such as the United States Generally Accepted Accounting Principles (U.S. GAAP) and the International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS), which may affect investors’ assessments of our Company’s financial condition.

Our Restated Consolidated Financial Information included in this Red Herring Prospectus have been compiled from our audited consolidated financial statements, prepared in accordance with the Indian Accounting Standards (“Ind AS”) as prescribed under Section 133 of the Companies Act, read with relevant rules issued thereunder, as amended, and other accounting principles generally accepted in India. Ind AS differs from accounting principles with which prospective investors may be familiar, such as Indian GAAP, IFRS and U.S. GAAP. Accordingly, the degree to which the Restated Consolidated Financial Information and financial information included in this Red Herring Prospectus, will provide meaningful information is entirely dependent on the reader’s level of familiarity with Indian accounting practices. Persons not familiar with Indian accounting practices, Ind AS, the Companies Act, and the SEBI ICDR Regulations should limit their reliance on the financial disclosures presented in this Red Herring Prospectus.

65. *Under Indian law, foreign investors are subject to investment restrictions that limit our ability to attract foreign investors, which may adversely affect the trading price of the Equity Shares.

Foreign investment in Indian securities is subject to regulation by Indian regulatory authorities. Under foreign exchange regulations which are currently in force in India, transfer of shares between non-residents and residents is freely permitted (subject to compliance with sectoral norms and certain other restrictions) provided they comply with the pricing guidelines and reporting requirements specified under applicable law. Additionally, unless specifically restricted, foreign investment is freely permitted in all sectors of the Indian economy up to any extent and without any prior approvals, but the foreign investor is required to follow certain prescribed procedures for making such investment. Further, pursuant to Press Note No. 3 (2020 Series), dated April 17, 2020, issued by the Department for Promotion of Industry and Internal Trade (“DPIIT”) (incorporated as the proviso to Rule 6(a) of the Foreign Exchange Management Act (“FEMA”) Rules), investments where the beneficial owner of equity shares is situated in or is a citizen of a country which shares a land border with India may only be made through the Government approval route, as prescribed in the Consolidated Foreign Direct Investment (“FDI”) Policy dated October 15, 2020 and the FEMA Rules. Subsequently, Press Note No. 2 (2026 Series), dated March 15, 2026, issued by the DPIIT and made effective from May 2, 2026, being the date of publication of the Foreign Exchange Management (Non-debt Instruments) (Amendment) Rules, 2026 in the official gazette, further amended the FDI Policy to, inter alia, define “beneficial owner” and provide that prior Government approval shall be required only where citizen(s) and/or entity(ies) of a country sharing a land border with India hold (directly or indirectly, individually or cumulatively) more than 10% of the shares, capital or profits of the investor entity, or exercise control over such investor entity, or exercise ultimate effective control over the investee entity. Furthermore, any transfer of ownership of existing or future foreign direct investment in an Indian entity (whether directly or indirectly) that results in beneficial ownership falling within the aforesaid restrictions will also require Government approval. These investment restrictions also apply to subscribers of offshore derivative instruments. We cannot assure investors that any required approval from the RBI or any other governmental agency can be obtained on any particular terms and conditions or at all. For further information, see “Restrictions on Foreign Ownership of Indian Securities” beginning on page 550. Our ability to raise any foreign capital under the FDI route is therefore constrained by Indian law, which may adversely affect our business, cash flows, financial condition, results of operations and prospects.

66. *We track certain metrics and non-GAAP measures with internal systems and tools. Any real or perceived inaccuracies in such metrics may adversely affect our business and reputation.

Certain non-GAAP measures and operational metrics included in this Red Herring Prospectus are prepared with internal systems and tools that are not independently verified by any third party and may differ from estimates published by third parties due to differences in sources, methodologies, or assumptions. Our methodologies for tracking these measures may change over time, which could result in unexpected changes to our publicly disclosed measures. If these internal systems contain errors, under count or over count performance, or if our operating measures are not accurate representations of our business or are not perceived as accurate by investors, our business, reputation, financial condition, cash flows and results of operations could be adversely affected.

Pursuant to the SEBI ICDR Regulations, QIBs and Non-Institutional Investors are required to pay the Bid Amount on submission of the Bid and are not permitted to withdraw or lower their Bids (in terms of quantity of Equity Shares or the Bid Amount) at any stage after submitting a Bid. Retail Individual Bidders and Eligible Employees Bidding in the Employee Reservation Portion can revise their Bids during the Bid/Offer Period and withdraw their Bids until the Bid/Offer Closing Date. While we are required to complete all necessary formalities for listing and commencement of trading of the Equity Shares on BSE where such Equity Shares are proposed to be listed, including Allotment pursuant to the Offer, within three Working Days from the Bid/Offer Closing Date or such other period as may be prescribed by SEBI, events affecting the Bidders’ decision to invest in the Equity Shares, including material adverse changes in international or national monetary policy, financial, political or economic conditions, our business, results of operations or financial condition, may arise between the date of submission of the Bid and Allotment. We may complete the Allotment of the Equity Shares even if such events occur, and such events may limit the Bidders' ability to sell the Equity Shares allotted pursuant to the Offer or cause the trading price of the Equity Shares to decline upon listing. QIBs and Non-Institutional Bidders will therefore not be able to withdraw or lower their Bids following adverse developments in international or national monetary policy, financial, political or economic conditions, our business, results of operations, cash flows or otherwise, between the dates of submission of their Bids and Allotment.

69. *Our Equity Shares have never been publicly traded on stock exchanges, and after the Offer, the Equity Shares may experience price and volume fluctuations, an active trading market may not develop, and the Offer Price may not be indicative of the market price after the Offer.

Listing and quotation do not guarantee that a market for the Equity Shares will develop or, if developed, the liquidity of such market for the Equity Shares. Further, we will only be listed on BSE as the SECC Regulations do not permit self-listing. The Offer Price of the Equity Shares is proposed to be determined by us in consultation with the BRLMs through a book-building process. The Offer Price will be based on numerous factors, including factors as described under “Basis for Offer Price” beginning on page 130, and may not be indicative of the market price of the Equity Shares at the time of commencement of trading of the Equity Shares or at any time thereafter. Further, the current market prices of some securities listed pursuant to certain previous issues managed by the BRLMs and M-BRLM are below their respective issue prices. For further details, see “Other Regulatory and Statutory Disclosures — Price information of past issues handled by the BRLMs and M-BRLM” on page 478. The market price of our Equity Shares may be subject to significant fluctuations and may decline below the Offer Price, in response to, among other factors:

- Quarterly variations in our results of operations;
- Results of operations that vary from the expectations of research analysts and investors;
- Results of operations that vary from those of our competitors;
- Changes in expectations as to our future financial performance, including financial estimates by research analysts and investors;
- Conditions in financial markets, including those outside India;
- Announcements by us or our competitors of new products, significant acquisitions, strategic alliances or joint ventures;
- Claims or proceedings by third parties or governmental entities, or significant claims or proceedings against us;
- New laws and governmental regulations, or changes in laws and governmental regulations, applicable to our industry;
- Developments relating to our peer company;
- Additions or departures of KMP and members of Senior Management; and
- General economic and stock market conditions.

Additionally, stock markets often undergo fluctuations in price and trading volumes that are not necessarily linked to the performance of any specific company. Such broad market movements and sector-specific trends could significantly impact the trading price of our Equity Shares, irrespective of our actual financial or operational performance. Consequently, the price of our Equity Shares may be volatile, and you may be unable to resell your Equity Shares at or above the Offer Price, or at all. A decrease in the market price of our Equity Shares could cause investors to lose some or all of their investment, and we cannot assure that investors will be able to sell their Equity Shares at or above the Offer Price.

70. *Investors may be subject to Indian taxes arising out of capital gains on the sale of the Equity Shares or dividend paid thereon.

Under current Indian tax laws, unless specifically exempted, capital gains arising from the sale of equity shares held as investments in an Indian company are generally taxable in India. Any capital gain realised on the sale of listed equity shares on a Stock Exchange held for more than 12 months immediately preceding the date of transfer will be subject to long-term capital gains tax in India at the specified rates depending on certain factors, such as whether the sale is undertaken on or off the Stock Exchange, the quantum of gains and any available treaty relief. Accordingly, you may be subject to payment of long-term capital gains tax in India, in addition to payment of Securities Transaction Tax (“STT”). STT will be levied on and collected by a domestic stock exchange on which the Equity Shares are sold. Further, any capital gains exceeding ₹125,000, realised on the sale of listed equity shares on a recognised stock exchange, held for more than 12 months, may be subject to long-term capital gains tax in India at the rate of 12.50% (plus applicable surcharge and cess). This beneficial provision is, inter alia, subject to payment of STT. Furthermore, any gain realised on the sale of Equity Shares held for more than 12 months which are sold using any platform other than a recognised stock exchange and on which no STT has been paid will be subject to long-term capital gains tax in India at the rate of 12.50% (plus applicable surcharge and cess).

Any gain realised on the sale of our Equity Shares held for a period of 12 months or less immediately preceding the date of transfer will be subject to short-term capital gains tax in India at the rate of 20% (plus applicable surcharge and cess), subject to STT being paid at the time of sale of such shares. Otherwise, such gains will be taxed at the applicable rates. Capital gains arising from the sale of the Equity Shares will not be chargeable to tax in India in cases where relief from such taxation in India is provided under a treaty between India and the country of which the seller is resident, read with the Multilateral Instrument, if and to the extent applicable, and the seller is entitled to avail of the benefits thereunder. Generally, Indian tax treaties do not limit India's ability to impose tax on capital gains. As a result, residents of other countries may be liable for tax in India as well as in their own jurisdiction on a gain realised upon the sale of the Equity Shares.

Any dividends paid by an Indian company are subject to tax in the hands of the shareholders at the applicable rates under Indian tax laws for payment above the specified limits. In addition, the Indian company distributing such dividends is required to withhold tax at the prescribed rate at the time of payment. These taxes will be deducted by the Indian company making the distribution. Non-resident shareholders may be eligible to claim benefits under an applicable tax treaty, subject to fulfilment of specified conditions and procedural requirements. Our Company may grant the benefit of a tax treaty (where applicable) to a non-resident shareholder for the purposes of deducting tax at source pursuant to any corporate action, including dividends, on furnishing applicable documents for availing tax treaty benefit. Investors should consult their own tax advisors about the consequences of investing or trading in the Equity Shares. Further, any amendment or change to the foregoing in relation to capital gains, taxes or charges could adversely affect the rates of taxes and charges applicable to our Equity Shares. Investors are advised to consult their own tax advisors to understand their tax liability as per the laws prevailing on the date of disposal of the Equity Shares.

71. Rights of shareholders of companies under Indian laws may differ to those under the laws of other jurisdictions.

The provisions of our Articles of Association, the structure of our Governing Board, and the Indian legal framework governing corporate affairs, including corporate procedures, the fiduciary duties and responsibilities of directors, and shareholder rights, may differ significantly from the legal standards applicable in other countries. As a result, shareholder rights in India may not be as extensive as those in certain other jurisdictions. Consequently, investors may face challenges in asserting their rights as shareholders of an Indian company compared to as shareholders of an entity in another jurisdiction.

72. A third party could be prevented from acquiring control of our Company because of anti-takeover provisions under Indian law.

There are provisions in Indian law that may delay, deter, or prevent a future takeover or change in control of our Company, even if a change in control would result in the purchase of your Equity Shares at a premium to the market price or would otherwise be beneficial to you. Such provisions may discourage or prevent certain types of transactions involving actual or threatened change in control of our Company. Under SECC Regulations, no person resident in India, directly or indirectly, either individually or together with persons acting in concert, may acquire or hold, alone or together, more than 5% of the paid-up equity share capital at any time, unless the person is a public financial institution, insurance company, depository, banking company, or stock exchange, which may hold up to 15% and a prior approval of SEBI is required for any acquisition above 5%. Further, no person resident outside India, directly or indirectly, either individually or together with persons acting in concert, may acquire or hold, alone or together, more than 5% at any time unless it is a foreign insurance company, foreign depository, foreign banking company, or foreign stock exchange or foreign commodity derivative exchange, a bilateral or multilateral financial institution approved by the Central Government, which may hold up to 15%. For further details, see, “-Regulatory limitations on the ownership of securities in a stock exchange may influence the way we are able to raise capital.” on page 65. Under the Takeover Regulations, an acquirer has been defined as any person who, directly or indirectly, acquires or agrees to acquire shares or voting rights or control over a company, whether individually or acting in concert with others. Although these provisions have been formulated to ensure that interests of investors/shareholders are protected, any acquirer will need to comply with the provisions of the Takeover Regulations in the event of a takeover, and these provisions may also discourage a third party from attempting to take control of our Company. Consequently, even if a potential takeover of our Company would result in the purchase of the Equity Shares at a premium to their market price or would otherwise be beneficial to its stakeholders, it is possible that such a takeover would not be attempted or consummated because of the Takeover Regulations.

73. Investors may have difficulty enforcing foreign judgments against us or our management.

All of our Directors, Key Management Personnel and members of Senior Management are Indian residents, and all of our assets are located within India. Consequently, investors may face challenges in serving legal notices or enforcing judgments against us or these individuals outside India. Recognition and enforcement of foreign judgments in India is governed by Section 13 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 (the “CPC”), which outlines specific conditions under which a foreign judgment is considered conclusive. In order to be enforceable, a judgment obtained in a jurisdiction which India recognises as a reciprocating territory must meet certain requirements of the CPC. Section 13 of the CPC provides that foreign judgments shall be conclusive regarding any matter directly adjudicated upon except: (i) where the judgment has not been pronounced by a court of competent jurisdiction; (ii) where the judgment has not been given on the merits of the case; (iii) where it appears on the face of the proceedings that the judgment is founded on an incorrect view of international law or a refusal to recognise the law of India in cases to which such law is applicable; (iv) where the proceedings in which the judgment was obtained were opposed to natural justice; (v) where the judgment has been obtained by fraud; or (vi) where the judgment sustains a claim founded on a breach of any law then in force in India.

India is not a party to any international treaty in relation to the recognition or enforcement of foreign judgments. Section 44A of the CPC provides that where a foreign judgment has been rendered by a superior court, within the meaning of that section, in any country or territory outside of India which the GoI has by notification declared to be a reciprocating territory, it may be enforced in India by proceedings in execution as if the judgment had been rendered by the relevant court in India. However, Section 44A of the CPC is applicable only to monetary decrees not being of the same nature as amounts payable in respect of taxes, other charges of a like nature or of a fine or other penalties. Certain jurisdictions, including the United Kingdom, United Arab Emirates, Singapore and Hong Kong, have been declared by the GoI to be reciprocating countries for the purposes of Section 44A of the CPC.

The United States and India do not currently have a treaty providing for reciprocal recognition and enforcement of judgments, other than arbitration awards, in civil and commercial matters. Therefore, a final judgment for the payment of money rendered by any federal or state court in the United States on civil liability, whether or not predicated solely upon the federal securities laws of the United States, would not be enforceable in India. However, the party in whose favour such final judgment is rendered may bring a new suit in a competent court in India based on a final judgment that has been obtained in the United States. The suit must be brought in India within three years from the date of the judgment in the same manner as any other suit filed to enforce a civil liability in India. Further, there may be considerable delays in the disposal of suits by Indian courts. It is unlikely that a court in India would award damages on the same basis as a foreign court if an action were brought in India. Furthermore, it is unlikely that an Indian court would enforce a foreign judgment if that court were of the view that the amount of damages awarded was excessive or inconsistent with public policy or Indian law. It is uncertain as to whether an Indian court would enforce foreign judgments that would contravene or violate Indian law. However, a party seeking to enforce a foreign judgment in India is required to obtain approval from the RBI under FEMA to execute such a judgment or to repatriate any amount recovered.

74. Holders of Equity Shares could be restricted in their ability to exercise pre-emptive rights under Indian law and could thereby suffer future dilution of their ownership position.

Under the Companies Act, a company incorporated in India and having share capital must offer its equity shareholders pre-emptive rights to subscribe to a proportionate number of new Equity Shares, enabling them to maintain their current ownership levels, unless these rights are waived through a special resolution passed by at least three-fourths of the voting shareholders. However, if the jurisdiction in which you reside does not allow the exercise of such pre-emptive rights without our Company first filing an offering document or registration statement with the relevant local authority, you may not be able to exercise these rights unless such a filing is made. If we elect not to file a registration statement, the new securities may be issued to a custodian, who may sell the securities for your benefit. The value such custodian receives on the sale of any such securities, and the related transaction costs, cannot be predicted. As a result, if you are unable to exercise the pre-emptive rights available under Indian law, your ownership in our Company may be diluted and your proportional interest may decrease.

75. Fluctuations in the exchange rate between the Indian Rupee and foreign currencies may have an adverse effect on the value of our Equity Shares, independent of our operating results.

Subject to requisite approvals, on listing, our Equity Shares will be quoted in Indian Rupees on BSE. Any dividends in respect of our Equity Shares will also be paid in Indian Rupees and subsequently converted into the relevant foreign currency for repatriation, if required. Any adverse movement in currency exchange rates during the time that it takes to undertake such conversion may reduce the net dividend to foreign investors. In addition, any adverse movement in currency exchange rates may cause a delay in repatriating outside India the proceeds from a sale of Equity Shares, for instance, because of a delay in regulatory approvals that may be required for the sale of Equity Shares may reduce the proceeds received by Equity Shareholders. For instance, the exchange rate between the Indian Rupees and USD has fluctuated in recent years and may continue to fluctuate substantially in the future, which may have an adverse effect on the returns on our Equity Shares, independent of our operating results.

76. Any future issuance of Equity Shares or convertible securities or other equity linked securities by us may dilute your shareholding and any sale, pledge or encumbrance of the Equity Shares by our large Shareholders may adversely affect the trading price of the Equity Shares.

Any issuance of our Equity Shares, convertible instruments or securities linked to our Equity Shares may lead to dilution of your shareholding in our Company. Moreover, any sale of Equity Shares by our significant Shareholders, or even the perception that such issuances or sales might occur, could negatively impact the market price of our Equity Shares, which may lead to other adverse effects, including difficulty in raising capital through future equity offerings or securing additional debt financing. We cannot assure that we will not issue additional Equity Shares in the future or that existing Shareholders will not sell, pledge or otherwise encumber their holdings. Any such future issuances may also reduce the value of your investment in our Equity Shares.

77. *Natural disasters, pandemics, climate change, and other catastrophic events could disrupt our operations and adversely affect economic conditions and capital markets.

We face risks from natural disasters, pandemics, climate change, cyberattacks on critical infrastructure and other catastrophic events that could disrupt our operations, affect our employees and infrastructure, and adversely impact economic conditions and capital markets. Global health crises, such as pandemics, have the potential to cause severe economic disruption, market volatility and operational challenges. While we successfully maintained business continuity during the COVID-19 pandemic through remote working arrangements and digital service delivery, any future pandemic or health emergency could result in similar or more severe disruptions, particularly if accompanied by government-imposed lockdowns, travel restrictions or supply chain disruptions. India is exposed to various natural disaster risks, including earthquakes, floods, cyclones, droughts and extreme weather events, which could cause loss of life, property damage, economic disruption and market volatility. Climate change is increasing the frequency and severity of such events. During 2025, India experienced severe flooding in multiple states, prolonged heatwaves affecting agricultural output and power supply, and cyclonic storms causing significant infrastructure damage. Such events can disrupt business operations, affect investor sentiment and create volatility in capital markets, particularly in sectors such as agriculture, insurance and infrastructure. Additionally, climate change poses long-term risks, including water scarcity affecting industrial production and urban centres, agricultural disruption threatening food security and rural incomes, coastal erosion and sea-level rise affecting major cities and ports, and substantial economic costs of climate adaptation and mitigation measures.

We also face emerging risks from cyberattacks on critical infrastructure, including attacks on power grids, telecommunications networks, financial market infrastructure or government systems, which could cause widespread economic disruption. The increasing sophistication of cyber threats, including state-sponsored attacks and ransomware targeting critical infrastructure, creates systemic risks that could affect our operations and the broader financial system. Additionally, geopolitical conflicts, terrorist attacks or civil unrest could disrupt economic activity, affect investor confidence and create market volatility. Any major catastrophic event, whether natural or man-made, could result in government-imposed restrictions on business operations, capital markets or financial transactions, which could disrupt our ability to conduct normal business activities. While we have implemented business continuity and disaster recovery plans, including backup data centres, work-from-home capabilities, alternative arrangements with service providers, and regular testing of continuity plans, there can be no assurance that these plans will be adequate for all potential scenarios or that we will be able to maintain normal operations during major catastrophic events.

78. *Investors will not be able to sell immediately on the Stock Exchange any of the Equity Shares they purchase in the Offer.

Subject to requisite approvals, the Equity Shares will be listed on BSE. Pursuant to applicable Indian laws, certain actions must be completed before the Equity Shares can be listed and trading in the Equity Shares may commence. Investors' book entry, or 'demat', accounts with depository participants in India are expected to be credited within one working day of the date on which the Basis of Allotment is approved by BSE. The Allotment of Equity Shares in the Offer and the credit of such Equity Shares to the applicant's demat account with a depository participant could take approximately two Working Days from the Bid/Offer Closing Date, and trading in the Equity Shares upon receipt of final listing and trading approvals from BSE is expected to commence within three Working Days of the Bid/Offer Closing Date. There may be a failure or delay in listing the Equity Shares on BSE. Any failure or delay in obtaining approval or otherwise commencing trading in the Equity Shares would restrict investors' ability to dispose of their Equity Shares. There can be no assurance that the Equity Shares will be credited to investors' demat accounts, or that trading in the Equity Shares will commence, within the time periods specified in this risk factor. We may also be required to pay interest at the applicable rates if Allotment is not made, refund orders are not dispatched or demat credits are not made to investors within the prescribed time periods.

79. *If we are classified as a passive foreign investment company for U.S. federal income tax purposes, U.S. investors in Equity Shares may be subject to adverse U.S. federal income tax consequences.

A non-U.S. corporation will be classified as a passive foreign investment company (a "PFIC") for any taxable year if either: (a) at least 75% of its gross income for such year is "passive income" for purposes of the PFIC rules or (b) at least 50% of the value of its assets (generally determined on the basis of a quarterly average) during such year is attributable to assets that produce or are held for the production of passive income. For this purpose, passive income generally includes, among other things, interest, dividends and other investment income, with certain exceptions. Cash is generally a passive asset for these purposes. The PFIC rules also contain a look-through rule whereby we will be treated as owning our proportionate share of the assets and earning our proportionate share of the income of any other entity in which we own, directly or indirectly, 25% or more (by value) of the equity. Based on the current and anticipated composition of our income, assets (including their expected value based on our anticipated market capitalization immediately following the close of this offering) and operations, we do not expect to be treated as a PFIC for the current taxable year. However, our PFIC status depends, in large part, on the expected value of our unbooked goodwill, which is generally derived from our market capitalization. As a result, we expect our status as a PFIC may be inherently sensitive to fluctuations in the market price of the Equity Shares, which may be volatile. Whether we are treated as a PFIC is a factual determination that is made on an annual basis after the close of each taxable year. This determination will depend on, among other things, the ownership and the composition of our income and assets, as well as the value of our assets (which may fluctuate with our market capitalization), from time to time. Among other matters, if our market capitalization is less than anticipated or if it subsequently declines, it may make our classification as a PFIC more likely for the current or future taxable years. The composition of our income and assets may also be affected by how, and how quickly, we use liquid assets and the cash raised in this offering. Moreover, the application of the PFIC rules is unclear in certain respects, including the proper characterization, for purposes of the PFIC asset test, of certain financial assets held by us. The U.S. Internal Revenue Service or a court may disagree with our determinations. Therefore, there can be no assurance that we will not be classified as a PFIC for the current taxable year or for any future taxable year. If we are treated as a PFIC for any taxable year during which a U.S. investor held Equity Shares, such U.S. investor could be subject to adverse U.S. federal income tax consequences.

Banks viz. Axis Bank, ICICI Bank, HDFC Bank, Bajaj Finance Limited & IndusInd Bank filed their respective Appeals before the SAT against the Karvy Order.SAT vide its order dated December 20, 2023 (“SAT Order”) allowed the Appeals in favour of Banks and inter alia directed SEBI, NSE and NSDL to restore the pledge made in favour of the Banks within 4 weeks from the date thereof, or alternatively compensate the Banks with the value of the underlying securities pledged in their favour along with 10% interest p.a. within a period of 4 weeks. Aggrieved by the SAT Order, NSE, SEBI, NSDL have filed their respective Appeals before the Supreme Court. Vide order dated January 25, 2024, the Supreme Court has stayed the effect and operation of the SAT Order only against SEBI and not against any other respondents. Based on the opinion of the external legal counsel, the management believes that it has strong grounds to contest this order and has concluded that no provision for any liability in this regard is required to be made. | Not quantifiable      | NA             |

APPENDIX TO THE STATEMENT OF POSSIBLE SPECIAL TAX BENEFITS AVAILABLE TO NATIONAL STOCK EXCHANGE OF INDIA LIMITED (“COMPANY”) AND NSE CLEARING LIMITED (‘NCL’) (“MATERIAL SUBSIDIARY”) AND COMPANY’S SHAREHOLDERS (“THE SHAREHOLDERS”)

I. Possible special tax benefits available to the Company, its Material Subsidiary and shareholders of the company under the applicable direct taxation laws as per Income-tax Act, 1961, as amended by Finance Act, 2026:

The statement of tax benefits outlined below is as per the Income-tax Act, 1961 (“the Act 1961”) read with Income Tax Rules, 1962, circulars, notifications, as amended from time-to-time (“Income Tax Law 1961”) as amended by Finance Act, 2026 as applicable for financial year (‘FY’) 2025-26 relevant to assessment year (‘AY’) 2026-27. These direct tax benefits are dependent on the Company, and its shareholders and its Material Subsidiary fulfilling the conditions prescribed under the Act 1961. Hence, the ability of the Company, its Material Subsidiary and its shareholders to derive the direct tax benefits is dependent upon fulfilling such conditions, which are based on business imperatives it faces in the future, it may or may not choose to fulfil.

A. Certain direct tax benefits available to the Company and its Material Subsidiary under the Income tax Act, 1961, as amended by Finance Act, 2026

As per Section 115BAA of the Act, 1961, with effect from Financial Year 2019-20 (i.e. AY 2020-21), a domestic company has an option to pay income tax in respect of its total income at a concessional tax rate of 22% (plus surcharge of 10% and 4% cess) provided the company (i) does not avail any specified exemptions/ deductions or (ii) does not avail set-off of losses or unabsorbed depreciation from any earlier assessment year, if such loss or depreciation is attributable to any of the specified exemptions/deductions etc., (iii) claims depreciation in the prescribed manner and (iv) complies with the other provisions specified in Section 115BAA of the Act, 1961.

In case a company opts for Section 115BAA of the Act, 1961, provisions of Minimum Alternate Tax (‘MAT’) under Section 115JB of the Act, 1961 would not be applicable and MAT credit of the earlier year(s) will not be available.

The option needs to be exercised qua a particular AY/FY in the prescribed manner on or before the due date of filing the tax return. The option once exercised, shall apply to subsequent AYs and cannot be subsequently withdrawn for the same or any other AY. Further, if the conditions mentioned in Section 115BAA of the Act, 1961, are not satisfied in any AY, the option exercised shall become invalid in respect of such AY and subsequent AYs, and the other provisions of the Act, 1961 shall apply as if the option under Section 115BAA had not been exercised.

The Company has opted to pay tax as per rates prescribed under Section 115BAA of the Act, 1961 from AY 2020-21 onwards. NCL has opted to pay tax as per rates prescribed under Section 115BAA of the Act, 1961 from AY 2022-23 onwards.

The eligibility to claim the deduction is subject to fulfilment of prescribed conditions specified in sub-section (2) of section 80JJAA of the Act, 1961. The term “additional employee” and “additional employee cost” is as defined in the Explanation to Section 80JJAA of the Act, 1961.

B. Special direct tax benefits available to the shareholders of the Company

- 1) Capital gains:- Section 2(42A) of the Act, 1961, provides that securities listed in a recognized stock exchange in India that are held for not more than 12 months immediately preceding the date of its transfer, shall constitute short-term capital assets.

Section 1: Overview of Indian Macro-Economy

India is the fastest-growing G20 economy, set to become the world’s third largest by Fiscal 2032P. India’s policy framework has consistently balanced growth and stability with reform, strengthening macro fundamentals and deepening investor confidence. Four structural drivers underpin this trajectory: a young workforce expanding productive capacity, a rising middle class generating investable surplus, rapid digitisation widening financial access and knowledge flows, and a dynamic entrepreneurial base. Together with higher disposable incomes and financial inclusion, these forces are channelling household incomes towards financial savings and investments, strengthening domestic capital markets and sustaining long-term growth.

1.1. India, currently the fastest-growing Group of 20 (“G20”) economy, is projected to become the world’s third largest by Fiscal 2032P

According to the International Monetary Fund (“IMF”), World Economic Outlook released in April 2026 (“WEO”), Indian economy, in terms of nominal Gross Domestic Product (“GDP”), has expanded from US$0.47 trillion in Fiscal 2001 to US$3.92 trillion in Fiscal 2026. In Fiscal 2028P, India’s nominal GDP is projected to reach US$4.58 trillion, ranking it as the fourth-largest economy globally. With projected growth of 9.61% per year between Fiscal 2026 and Fiscal 2032P, nominal GDP is expected to reach US$6.79 trillion by Fiscal 2032P, with India expected to become world’s third-largest economy. Sustained long-term economic expansion is expected to support continued growth in India’s financial markets over the coming decades. Structural drivers such as increasing household financialisation, formalisation of savings, expanding domestic investor base, regulatory strengthening and digital infrastructure development may contribute to further broadening and deepening of capital markets in line with the country’s economic progression.

1.2. India’s comprehensive reform agenda has fundamentally strengthened its macroeconomic fundamentals and investment attractiveness

Macroeconomic stability has deepened alongside growth. According to IMF WEO, headline inflation, as measured by the average Consumer Price Index (“CPI”), averaged 5.07% between Fiscal 2021 and Fiscal 2026, remaining within the Reserve

Bank of India's ("RBI") target band. According to RBI, the current account deficit held near ~0.60% of GDP for Fiscal 2026, down from ~1.10% of GDP in Fiscal 2016, supported by buoyant services exports and steady remittance inflows. Additionally, the decline in the fiscal deficit from ~9.20% of GDP in Fiscal 2021 to ~4.40% in Fiscal 2026RE (Revised Estimates) and ~4.30% of GDP in Fiscal 2027BE (Budget Estimates), according to Union Budget disclosures, reflects prudent fiscal management and sustained efforts towards consolidation. Reinforcing this confidence, one of the "Big 3" credit rating agencies upgraded India's long-term sovereign credit rating to "BBB" from "BBB-" with a "Stable" outlook in August 2025, underscoring optimism around India's fiscal discipline and growth outlook. India's sovereign credit rating has improved, supported by multiple credit rating agencies upgrading India's long-term sovereign credit rating in Calendar Year ("CY") 2025. India has been included in major global bond indices, with phased additions underway across emerging market debt benchmarks making debt instruments more attractive to foreign investors.

Notwithstanding the external headwinds arising from the West Asia crisis, including elevated oil import costs and potential disruptions to Gulf remittances, India has continued to pursue fiscal consolidation and maintain inflation within target, reflecting the underlying resilience of its macroeconomic framework. Structural regulatory reforms have reinforced this macroeconomic resilience. The introduction of Goods and Services Tax ("GST") in CY2017 unified the national market, widened the formal tax base, and delivered a step-change in revenue buoyancy, with monthly gross GST revenue rising from an average of ₹0.95 trillion (US$10.72 billion) in Fiscal 2021 to ₹1.86 trillion (US$21.01 billion) in Fiscal 2026 with a record ₹2.23 trillion (US$25.28 billion) in April 2025, according to data released by the Goods and Services Tax Network ("GSTN"). The Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code ("IBC"), introduced in CY2016 and subsequently amended to tighten timelines and extend coverage to Micro, Small and Medium Enterprises ("MSMEs"), strengthened creditor confidence and improved capital recycling across the financial system. The reduction in headline corporate tax rates to ~25.00% in CY2019, alongside a concessional ~15.00% rate for new manufacturing entities, enhanced India's cost-competitiveness and reinforced its appeal as a destination for foreign investment.

Consequently, India's inbound investment momentum is accelerating. According to National Securities Depository Limited ("NSDL") data, from Fiscal 2021-2026, Foreign-Portfolio Investors ("FPI") accounted for net investments across equity, debt, hybrid, mutual funds and Alternate Investment Funds ("AIFs") amounting to US$41.81 billion, reflecting greater market depth, governance quality, and macro-stability. According to NSDL, gross purchases across debt by FPIs in India rose from ₹4.13 trillion (US$46.75 billion) in Fiscal 2024 to ₹6.43 trillion (US$72.85 billion) in Fiscal 2026. As of 31 March 2026, the total FPI Assets Under Custody ("AUC") stood at US$735.00 billion, with the financial services sector accounting for 27.81% of the total FPI AUC, followed by the oil, gas and consumable fuels sector at 7.09%. According to RBI, gross Foreign Direct Investment ("FDI") inflows comprising investments in equity through the Automatic Route and Approval Route, and in equity capital of unincorporated bodies, re-invested earnings, and other capital, totalled US$484.58 billion from Fiscal 2021 to Fiscal 2026, underscoring sustained global confidence in India's long-term fundamentals across sectors such as digital infrastructure, manufacturing, and energy transition.

According to RBI, India's net FDI inflows (Provisional) stood at US$7.65 billion in Fiscal 2026, recovering from a near-negligible US$0.96 billion in Fiscal 2025, though remaining significantly below the peak of US$43.96 billion recorded in Fiscal 2021. Net FDI inflows have witnessed a sustained decline from Fiscal 2021 through Fiscal 2025, reflecting broader global capital flow headwinds and rising repatriations, before partially recovering in Fiscal 2026. India's liberal repatriation framework, which permits foreign investors to freely remit returns and exit capital, while reflective of a mature and open investment climate. Alongside this, India's Outward Direct Investment ("ODI") has grown significantly over the period, with Indian corporates increasingly establishing and acquiring overseas operations, underscoring the growing confidence and global ambitions of Indian enterprises. According to Department of Economic Affairs, India's actual ODI outflows rose from US$15.70 billion in Fiscal 2021 to US$26.75 billion in Fiscal 2026. Four catalysts are transforming India's economic architecture by enhancing productivity and capital formation.

I. India has a once-in-a-generation demographic opportunity

The first catalyst is India's demographic dividend. With a median age of 28.83 years and a working-age (age 15-64) share of 68.43% as of CY2025 according to the United Nations ("UN"), World Population Prospects-2024 Revision ("WPP"), India will add nearly 110.10 million people to the labour force between CY2020 and CY2030P, representing a substantial pool of potential investors. Additionally, the percentage share of population within 0-25 years of age bracket stood at 43.47% as of CY2025. This younger cohort transmits growth through three channels: rising employment and income deepen the pool of domestically sourced long-term capital; digital fluency accelerates technology adoption and productivity gains; and their demographic weight sustains aggregate demand, giving firms the certainty needed to commit investment. Together, these dynamics transform favourable demographics into a durable engine of productivity, purchasing power, and capital formation.

II. India is witnessing the largest middle-class expansion in modern history, second only to China

The second catalyst is the rapid inversion of India's income pyramid. According to IMF WEO, India's nominal GDP has grown from US$2.61 trillion to US$3.92 trillion from Fiscal 2021 to Fiscal 2026 with a real GDP growth rate of 7.60% as of Fiscal 2026 which was the highest among the G20 economies. According to Ministry of Statistics and Programme Implementation ("MoSPI"), Gross National Income ("GNI") per capita (current prices) has risen from ₹144,512.00 (US$1,636.05) in Fiscal 2021 (old series, base year 2011-12) to ₹240,147.00 (US$2,718.75) in Fiscal 2026 (new series, base year 2022-23), expanding the middle and upper-middle-income brackets (households earning ₹0.80 million (US$9,096.95) and beyond). Households earning beyond ₹0.80 million are projected to rise from 34.38% of the population in Fiscal 2026 to 42.74% by Fiscal 2031P.

Upper-income and ultra-high-income segments (above ₹2.50 million annual income) are expanding the fastest, creating a broader market for premium goods and financial services. Transmission mechanisms of the income shift are as follows:

1. Deeper consumption: According to MoSPI, private consumption grew at roughly 12.61% Compound Annual Growth Rate (“CAGR”) from Fiscal 2021, reaching about ₹219.64 trillion by Fiscal 2026, and has remained stable at nearly 61.50% of nominal GDP (base year 2011-2012). Discretionary categories such as travel and digital entertainment are growing, outpacing staples.
2. Increasing financialisation: Rising incomes have resulted in increased savings with gross savings attributed to households and Non-Profit Institutions Serving Households (“NPISHs”) reaching 21.70% of GDP (base year 2022-2023) in Fiscal 2025 according to MoSPI, underpinning long-term domestic capital formation. These savings are increasingly getting invested in financial instruments such as mutual funds through Systematic Investment Plan (“SIP”) inflows. According to Association of Mutual Funds in India (“AMFI”), Assets Under Management (“AUM”) from B30 cities (beyond top 30 cities that contribute the highest mutual fund AUM) has increased nearly 3x since 31 March 2021, rising from ₹5.36 trillion to ₹13.89 trillion as of 31 March 2026, pushing their share in total industry AUM from 17.06% as of 31 March 2021 to 18.86% as of 31 March 2026. Moreover, AUM from B30 cities stood at ₹15.88 trillion as of 30 June 2026 implying a share in total industry AUM of 19.31%.
3. Expanded credit: Middle and upper-income households are the principal drivers of retail credit growth. As for 31 March 2026, personal loans accounted for 32.49% of outstanding bank credit (food + non-food), according to RBI, and are expected to gain further traction as financial inclusion and income stability rise.

Wealth remains concentrated with the top decile of adults (about 146.39 million people) holding ~65.00% of total wealth in CY2025. However, the combination of rising incomes, digital access and financial literacy is steadily broadening asset ownership. A larger share of incremental household financial savings is being allocated towards market-linked instruments, reflecting a structural shift from physical to financial assets. The result is an economy with stronger internal demand, healthier household balance sheets and a larger pool of domestic capital ready to finance the next phase of investment-led growth.

III. Nationwide digitisation is democratising economic participation through enhanced financial access and rapid knowledge diffusion

The third catalyst leveraging this stronger financial base is nationwide digital reach. Smartphone penetration has increased from 35-38% of the population in Fiscal 2021 to 49-50% in Fiscal 2026 and is projected to reach 60-64% by Fiscal 2031P implying a total number of smartphone users standing at 920-980 million for Fiscal 2031P. Meanwhile, average mobile data prices have declined by over 96.76% in the past decade falling to US$0.08-0.10 per Gigabyte (“GB”). This combination of increased penetration of smartphones and ultra-low connectivity costs has driven average monthly data usage per wireless subscriber from 0.13 GB in Fiscal 2016 to 25.41 GB in Fiscal 2026, according to Telecom Regulatory Authority of India (“TRAI”), effectively placing internet access in the hands of hundreds of millions of consumers and small businesses.

India's digital transformation has been anchored by the JAM Trinity comprising Jan Dhan, Aadhaar and Mobile, which laid the groundwork for universal financial access. Building on this, Unified Payments Interface (“UPI”) and the Account Aggregator framework have created seamless digital pathways for commerce and finance. According to National Payments Corporation of India (“NPCI”), UPI processed roughly 241.62 billion transactions in Fiscal 2026, with the share of adults transacting digitally rising from 21-23% in Fiscal 2021 to 34-36% in Fiscal 2026, accelerating the mobilisation of household savings into productive investments. Broader connectivity has further accelerated knowledge diffusion, with social media, online education, and emerging AI tools widening financial literacy and lowering barriers to skill development even in Tier II+ cities, together enhancing labour productivity, elevating consumption quality, and deepening the domestic capital pool.

Exhibit 3: Indian consumers are getting rapidly digitised

IV. Rising entrepreneurial culture is broadening capital formation and expanding India's enterprise base

The fourth catalyst is India's entrepreneurial ecosystem. As per the Press Information Bureau ("PIB"), India had over 223,000 Department for Promotion of Industry and Internal Trade ("DPIT") recognised start-ups as of March 2026, making it the third-largest start-up ecosystem globally, with 128 unicorns at a combined valuation exceeding ~US$350.00 billion. This has created a growing pool of investable enterprises across technology, consumer platforms, and manufacturing, expanding the equity market pipeline through Initial Public Offerings ("IPOs") and late-stage funding. With more than half of start-ups now originating from Tier II and Tier III cities, the investment opportunity set is widening geographically, strengthening India's positioning as a hub for investment-led growth.

1.3. India is at a critical inflection point; people are earning more, resulting in higher savings and investments, further supporting sustained economic growth

These enablers are converging to create an "income inflection moment" in India's economic evolution. According to IMF WEO, GDP per capita has accelerated from US$1,862.20 in Fiscal 2021 to US$2,675.32 in Fiscal 2026, decisively crossing the US$2,000.00 threshold that analysis identifies as a critical tipping point for sustained acceleration in income growth typically followed by subsequent moderation, as can also be seen in case of China. Rising incomes are expected to drive significantly higher savings and investments.

Exhibit 4: China's GDP per capita growth before and after reaching the US$2,000.00 threshold

Financial inclusion in India is expanding across sectors such as banking, insurance, pensions, postal services and investment products, broadening household access to formal financial instruments and facilitating a gradual shift from savings to investments. The Financial Inclusion Index, tracked by the RBI to measure product accessibility, affordability and availability, has risen from ~53.90 in Fiscal 2021 to ~67.00 in Fiscal 2025, reflecting improvements in access, usage and quality of financial services. In parallel, access to capital market products has increased meaningfully, supported by growth in demat accounts, expansion of digital broking platforms, rising mutual fund folios and higher retail participation across equity and derivative segments. The increasing integration of capital markets within the broader financial inclusion framework indicates a structural deepening of India's financial ecosystem, with households gaining greater access not only to banking services but also to market-linked investment avenues. As household incomes and financial inclusion grow, a larger share of disposable income is likely to be channelled into investments alongside consumption. Traditionally, Indian households have preferred physical assets such as gold and real estate as their primary means of saving. This preference appears to be gradually shifting, supported by improving financial literacy, wider digital access, and a broader range of accessible financial products, with the gap between physical and financial asset holdings in household savings narrowing over time. This trend may continue to gain momentum as incomes rise and financial markets develop further.

Section 2: Capital Markets in India - Evolution and Global Comparison

India's capital markets have matured rapidly, underpinned by financial inclusion, digital infrastructure, and a strong regulatory framework. Market capitalisation of entities listed on National Stock Exchange of India Limited ("NSE") has grown ~107x in three decades, positioning India as the fourth largest equity market globally with leadership in equity derivatives volumes. A widening base of individual investors, Domestic Institutional Investors ("DIIs"), High Net-worth Individuals ("HNIs"), and FPIs has enhanced resilience, with non-promoter individual ownership in NSE-listed companies surpassing that of FPIs for the first time in Fiscal 2025. Despite this progress, underpenetration in corporate bonds, free-float, and alternative assets offers significant headroom for growth. The establishment of Gujarat International Finance Tec-City ("GIFT City") and its International Financial Services Centre ("IFSC"), which is regulated by the International Financial Services Centres Authority ("IFSCA"), the unified regulator established under the IFSCA Act, 2019, has deepened integration with global markets, while the expansion of passive products and new instruments continues to broaden the depth and diversity of India's capital markets.

For competitive benchmarking, "leading listed stock exchange groups globally" is the set defined as listed exchange operators as of March 2026, with latest disclosed annual revenues exceeding US$1.00 billion, and includes Intercontinental Exchange, Inc. ("ICE"), London Stock Exchange Group plc ("LSEG"), Nasdaq, Inc. ("Nasdaq"), Deutsche Börse AG ("Deutsche Borse"), CME Group Inc. ("CME Group"), Cboe Global Markets, Inc. ("Cboe"), Hong Kong Exchanges and Clearing Limited ("HKEX"), B3 S.A. – Brasil, Bolsa, Balcão ("B3"), Euronext N.V. ("Euronext"), Miami International Holdings, Inc. ("MIAX"), TMX Group Limited ("TMX"), Japan Exchange Group, Inc. ("JPX"), and Singapore Exchange Limited ("SGX"). These global exchange groups have been considered for the purpose of describing the competitive landscape but are not direct peers of NSE. They operate in developed and mature capital markets under different regulatory regimes and market structures. They also earn a materially larger share of their revenue from non-trading activities such as index licensing, data services and technology solutions, which makes their overall business model different from that of NSE.

Additionally, BSE Limited ("BSE") and Multi Commodity Exchange of India Limited ("MCX") have been included in the set as listed exchange operators within the Indian capital markets ecosystem alongside National Stock Exchange of India Limited ("NSE"). MCX, however, operates primarily in commodity derivatives, which differ from equity cash and equity derivatives in terms of the underlying assets traded, the categories of market participants, the price discovery mechanisms, and the associated revenue drivers. Additionally, MCX is smaller in scale and liquidity. It is therefore not a direct peer to NSE.

2.1. Deepening of financial services sector in India

India's financial sector has undergone significant formalisation over the past decade. As per The Global Findex Report 2025, World Bank approximately 960-980 million adults (aged 15+) held bank accounts as of 2024, enabled by government-led inclusion policies and Aadhaar-based digital identity. However, penetration remains shallow across market-based financial products. The number of unique stock market investors in India stood at over 139 million as of March 2026 implying an investor penetration basis adult population (aged 18+) of 13.45%.

Net household savings have grown at a 7.27% CAGR between Fiscal 2019 and Fiscal 2024 according to MoSPI, accompanied by a structural shift in asset preferences. However, there is significant headroom for growth, as India's gross savings-to-GDP ratio stands at 34.70% for Fiscal 2026, below higher-saving economies such as China (42.72%, CY2024) and Singapore (39.98%, CY2025) as per the World Bank. According to MoSPI, the share of financial assets in gross household savings (old series, base year 2011-12) rose from 39.59% in Fiscal 2012 to 46.74% in Fiscal 2024, with the corresponding share of physical assets such as real estate and gold declining from 60.41% to 53.26% over the same period. As per NSE, cumulative household equity wealth creation from April 2020 to March 2026 was estimated at ~₹44.00 trillion through direct participation and via mutual funds, reflecting a substantial role of capital market instruments in household wealth creation.

Financial assets have been a growing component of household savings, but the distribution remains concentrated. As of Fiscal 2024, according to MoSPI, total deposits account for 40.55% of gross financial savings (old series, base year 2011-12). Meanwhile, mutual funds make up only 6.97%, and shares and debentures make up 8.05% highlighting that scope for market-linked products to gain share as household savings financialise.

2.2. Evolution of Indian capital markets

Over the last three decades, Indian capital markets have developed from having a geographically fragmented and manually traded exchange ecosystem to a nationally integrated, technology-led exchange ecosystem, marked by technological developments and innovations such as electronic trading, shortened settlement cycles, and the rise of investment products and platforms. BSE, established in CY1875, was the first stock exchange in India to be granted permanent recognition under the Securities Contracts (Regulation) Act, 1956. In Fiscal 1995, NSE was the first exchange in India, among the ones still operational, to introduce a fully automated, screen-based electronic trading system through its National Exchange for Automated Trading ("NEAT") platform. According to the World Federation of Exchanges data, NSE witnessed number of new listings through IPO (including both domestic and foreign) of 219 in Fiscal 2026 placing NSE among the top two exchange groups globally in terms of number of new listings through IPO in Fiscal 2026. In three months period ended 30 June 2026, NSE was ranked among the top five exchange groups globally in terms of number of new listings through IPO. Additionally, NSE has been among the top three exchange groups globally in terms of number of new listings through IPO from Fiscal 2023 to Fiscal 2026. According to SEBI, in the mainboard segment, all IPO listings, except one, got listed on NSE in Fiscal 2026. Additionally, out of total 111 listings (Mainboard IPOs, Infrastructure Investment Trusts (“InvITs”) (public and private issues) and Real Estate Investment Trust (“REITs”) (public issues)), choosing to list on both NSE and BSE in Fiscal 2026, 78 listings chose NSE as their designated stock exchange implying a market share of 70.27% in Fiscal 2026. However, this share rose to 90.24% in Fiscal 2026 for listings with issue size greater than ₹10.00 billion. In three months period ended 30 June 2026, out of total 10 listings (Mainboard IPOs, InvITs (public and private issues) and REITs (public issues)), choosing to list on both NSE and BSE, seven listings chose NSE as their designated stock exchange implying a market share of 70.00% and this share rose to 100.00% for listings with issue size greater than ₹10.00 billion.

As per World Federation of Exchanges, NSE also retained its position as the largest equity derivatives exchange globally with over 36.99 billion (including NSE International Exchange (“NSEIX”)) contracts traded in Fiscal 2026 and 10.00 billion contracts traded in three months period ended 30 June 2026. While India leads globally in terms of options contracts traded, the corresponding premium turnover remains significantly lower compared to the US. As per NSE Market Pulse, in January-June (“H1”) CY2025, premium turnover in options in India stood at ~US$952.00 billion, versus ~US$4,327.00 billion in the US. In H1CY2026, India recorded a premium turnover in options of ~US$1,286.00 billion, compared to ~US$6,256.00 billion in the US. This highlights substantial headroom for growth as contract sizes, institutional participation, and depth of markets expand further. Additionally, indices in the Indian capital markets have delivered consistent returns. Over 30 years (28 June 1996 to 30 June 2026), Nifty 50 has posted annualised returns of 10.73% in ₹ terms (7.12% in US$ terms), and Nifty 500 has posted annualised returns of 11.91% in ₹ terms (8.27% in US$ terms) outperforming major developed and emerging market indices. Over the same period, market capitalisation of NSE-listed entities has grown by nearly 107x. As of 30 June 2026, India is the fourth largest equity market globally after US, China (including Hong Kong), and Japan. The markets now offer competitive and stable investment outcomes, attracting diverse investor classes such as FPIs, DIIs, family offices and HNIs, and individual investors.

India's capital markets have been underpinned by a strong and evolving regulatory framework anchored by the SEBI. Maintaining the integrity and stability of the securities market has remained central to SEBI's mandate, achieved through a calibrated mix of regulatory vigilance, supervisory oversight, and timely enforcement. Its proactive and adaptive approach has ensured that India is regarded as one of the most trusted and well-regulated capital markets among emerging economies, reinforcing investor confidence and sustaining steady flows of both domestic and foreign capital.

Exhibit 8: Indian capital markets have significantly evolved over the last 70 years

Source(s): Redseer research and analysis

This combination of digital infrastructure, regulations, and returns has resulted in growth in both primary and secondary markets. As per SEBI, fund mobilised across equity (public issues, Qualified Institutional Placements ("QIPs") and preferential allotments), debt (public issues and private placement) and business trusts (REITs and InvITs) rose from ₹5.83 trillion in Fiscal 2016 to ₹13.92 trillion in Fiscal 2026. In three months period ended 30 June 2026, fund mobilised stood at ₹3.04 trillion.

Despite strong growth demonstrated by the Indian capital market, it remains underpenetrated relative to key developed countries and regional peers. As of Fiscal 2026, market capitalisation to GDP ratio of India remains lower at 119.38%, as compared to 224.04%, 199.20% and 171.60% for US (CY2025), Canada (CY2025) and Japan (CY2025) respectively as per World Bank data.

2.3 Drivers for sustained growth in the Indian capital markets

India's capital markets have demonstrated resilience and structural maturity over the past five years, underpinned by macroeconomic strength, regulatory reforms, and the transformation of the domestic investor base. The expansion of capital markets is increasingly driven by long-term participation from diverse investor classes.

2.3.1. Individual investors and the financialisation of savings

From 31 March 2021 to 31 March 2026, the unique investor count on NSE (number of unique Permanent Account Number ("PAN") registered), grew from 39.89 million to 129.09 million enabled by India's robust digital infrastructure and simplified onboarding norms. As of 30 June 2026, the unique investor count on NSE stood at 132.37 million. In perspective, the investor base today surpasses the population of most countries, reflecting the unprecedented scale of capital markets participation in India. This reflects that individual investors have been increasingly allocating their savings to capital markets with the flow of net financial assets of the households towards equities and mutual funds increasing from 5.41% in Fiscal 2021 to 26.89% in Fiscal 2025, as per RBI (old series, base year 2011-12). From CY2021 to CY2026 (till June 2026), individual investors contributed to net inflows of approximately ₹4.51 trillion into Indian equities (net inflows into secondary market, NSE). Their participation, through both direct stock ownership and mutual fund channels, has established non-promoter individual ownership in NSE listed universe at ~18.70% as of 31 March 2026. In value terms, this amounts to ~₹76.50 trillion, reflecting an annualised growth of ~29.60% since 31 March 2020.

Exhibit 9: Number of unique PANs registered on NSE has been consistently rising, driven by multiple drivers

Note(s): Figures denote end-of-period values

Source(s): NSE Market Pulse

According to AMFI data, SIP contributions in India have risen from ₹960.80 billion in Fiscal 2021 to ₹3,495.89 billion in Fiscal 2026. In three months period ended 30 June 2026, SIP contributions amounted to ₹938.50 billion. According to SEBI data, demat accounts across Indian depositories have grown from 55.13 million as of 31 March 2021 to 224.51 million as of 31 March 2026, reaching 231.55 million as of 30 June 2026. Individual investors (including individual domestic investors, Non-Resident Indian (“NRIs”), sole proprietorship firms and Hindu Undivided Families (“HUFs”)) contribute 33.40% and 33.10% of the total cash market turnover on NSE as of Fiscal 2026 and three months period ended 30 June 2026 respectively. This share has remained broadly consistent over the past 10 years. Trading activity has been on an upswing across the country, with equity participation steadily expanding beyond metros into Tier II and Tier III regions. As per NSE Market Pulse, as of Fiscal 2027 (till 30 June 2026), Maharashtra led with over 20.58 million registered investors (~15.50% share), followed by Uttar Pradesh with around 15.74 million (~11.90% share) and Gujarat with around 11.20 million investors (~8.50% share). Together with West Bengal (7.87 million), Rajasthan (7.61 million), and Tamil Nadu (7.47 million), these states accounted for over half of NSE’s registered investor base (~53.10%). At the same time, the growing momentum in smaller states is evident. Investors from outside the top 10 states now contribute ~27.10% of the investor base in Fiscal 2027 (till 30 June 2026), up from ~22.90% in Fiscal 2020 (till 31 March 2020), reflecting the widening depth and reach of India’s equity markets. In Fiscal 2025, individual investor (direct + indirect) ownership of the total market cap surpassed FPIs’ ownership for the first time since Fiscal 2006.

2.3.2. Rising ownership of DIIs

DIIs have played a stabilising role in Indian equity markets. According to the India Ownership Tracker Q4 Fiscal 2026, DIIs’ share (comprising Domestic Mutual Funds (“DMFs”), banks, financial institutions, insurance companies and other institutional non-promoters) in NSE listed firms stood at ~19.60%.

Mutual funds have been a key contributor to the growth of DIIs. According to AMFI data, the mutual fund industry in India manages an AUM of ₹73.73 trillion as of 31 March 2026 and has grown at a CAGR of 18.60% since 31 March 2021. The mutual fund AUM in India stood at ₹82.22 trillion as of 30 June 2026 and has grown at a CAGR of 19.55% since 30 June 2021. Systematic investment plans contribute ₹15.11 trillion and ₹17.70 trillion of the total industry AUM as of 31 March 2026 and 30 June 2026 respectively. SIP minimum ticket sizes of ₹500.00 per month (and ₹100.00 for select micro-SIP schemes) promote financial inclusion. The number of mutual fund schemes (including open-ended schemes, close ended schemes, interval schemes and fund of funds scheme (domestic)) has grown from 1,789 as of 31 March 2021 to 1,854 as of 31 March 2026, reaching 2,090 schemes on 30 June 2026.

Exhibit 10: Mutual fund AUM has been consistently rising with SIPs growing at a 4x multiple

Note(s): Figures in the exhibit denote end-of-period values

Source(s): AMFI

Other factors that have contributed to the growth include product and channel diversification, regulatory incentive, investor education and awareness, increased distribution reach and simplified Know-Your-Customer (“KYC”) norms.

2.3.3. Role of NRIs and HNIs

Family offices and HNIs represent an expanding source of market capital and have been particularly active while investing in capital markets. HNIs, along with NRIs, account for ~21.70% and ~46.30% of the direct and regular mutual fund AUM, respectively, as of 31 March 2025, as per AMFI. Three structural shifts have accelerated their participation:

- Monetisation events through IPOs, stake sales, and Private Equity (“PE”) exits
- Access to sophisticated products such as Portfolio Management Services (“PMS”), AIFs and direct market strategies
- A generational shift towards financial asset preference over traditional physical assets

The HNI segment has consistently led pre-IPO and anchor placements. Family offices are increasingly allocating to both private and listed equities, creating a recurring loop of capital deployment and realisation.

Additionally, the markets are witnessing a new wave of HNIs. This includes senior corporate professionals and young founders who have benefitted from monetising high value Employee Stock Ownership Plans (“ESOPs”). These individuals are looking for ways to efficiently deploy their capital and move further ahead in their wealth creation journey. This, in turn, is leading to greater participation in financial markets and innovation in financial products as these new investors seek returns beyond what has been provided by traditional assets.

2.3.4. FPI participation in India

India’s position as one of the fastest-growing major economies has made it a preferred destination for FPIs. As per NSDL, the AUC for FPI investments has risen from ₹48.00 trillion as of 30 June 2021 to ₹76.22 trillion as of 30 June 2026. Even when FPIs turn net sellers, the quantum of outflows is small compared to the scale of assets they hold in India. Despite periodic outflows due to global risk aversion, FPIs have consistently returned, underscoring structural confidence in India’s long-term growth. Recent events in West Asia, however, have contributed to moderation of FPI ownership in NSE listed companies to ~15.80%, the lowest in 17 years, as per India Ownership Tracker Q4 Fiscal 2026. The growing counterweight of DIIs’ and retail investors’ ownership has meaningfully absorbed FPI selling pressure, contributing to greater market stability.

Exhibit 11: FPI AUC has been steadily rising in India driven by multiple contributors

Hedging tools for foreign investors have also widened, with futures and options on the Nifty India FPI 150 Index introduced on NSE with effect from 12 August 2026. The index comprises the 150 Nifty 500 constituents with the highest foreign investible free float market capitalisation, providing a hedge aligned to the portion of the market accessible to FPIs.

2.4. Structural under penetration and headroom for expansion in Indian capital markets

Despite expansion in the capital markets and rising participation across investor classes, India's capital markets remain characterised by a traditional reliance on bank funding, underdevelopment in the corporate bond market, historically low free float, and nascency in alternative assets.

2.4.1. Bank-loan-led corporate funding

Corporate funding in India has historically been dominated by corporate loans from both banks and Non-Banking Financial Companies ("NBFCs"). As per RBI, industry (Micro and Small, Medium and Large) and services accounted for approximately 49.82% of the gross bank credit in India as of 31 March 2026 amounting to ₹106.43 trillion. This reflects the central role banks and NBFCs have played in financing Indian corporates, even as credit deployment patterns evolve.

As India's financial markets mature, corporations are increasingly tapping into alternative funding channels beyond traditional bank lending. As per NSE Market Pulse, corporate funding facilitated by outstanding corporate bonds at ₹59.10 trillion, as of March 2026, accounted for nearly half the amount of outstanding bank credit to industries and services. The growth of the corporate bond market along with rising external commercial borrowings and increased use of commercial papers, has begun to diversify the funding mix for Indian businesses.

2.4.2. Underdeveloped corporate bond market and nascent (on-exchange) markets for Foreign Exchange ("FX") and Interest-Rate ("IR") derivatives

India's corporate bond market remains underdeveloped, with outstanding bonds at ~17.10% of GDP as of Fiscal 2026, well below China (~38.40%, CY2025), South Korea (~75.70%, CY2025), Hong Kong (~60.60%, CY2025), and US (~38.20%, CY2025), as per NSE Market Pulse. While India's equity markets are deep and globally integrated, the corporate debt segment continues to lag in scale. Issuances remain concentrated among top-rated corporates, with limited public placements and narrow investor participation.

On the regulatory side, RBI's ongoing enhancements to market infrastructure, such as permitting repo transactions in corporate bonds, expanding Held-to-Maturity ("HTM") limits for banks, and operationalising the Partial Credit Enhancement ("PCE") framework, are laying the foundation for a deeper and more liquid corporate bond market. NSE introduced India's first formal, screen-based exchange platform for debt trading with the launch of its Wholesale Debt Market segment in CY1994. NSE mobilised debt fundraising (including Commercial Papers ("CPs") and Non-Convertible Debentures ("NCDs") (both private and public)) of ₹15.55 trillion in Fiscal 2026 and ₹4.90 trillion in three months period ended 30 June 2026 respectively. According to SEBI data, in Fiscal 2026, total number of Urban Local Bodies ("ULBs") issuing municipal bonds in India stood at 14. Out of these, 12 got listed with their bonds on NSE implying a market share of 85.71%.

India's exchange-traded FX and IR derivatives markets remain at a nascent stage. While Over-The-Counter ("OTC") markets dominate volumes, on-exchange platforms are yet to evolve into active risk management hubs. Strengthening these markets is critical for improving hedging efficiency, transparency, and broad-based access.

Exhibit 12: Indian corporate bond market remains underpenetrated

2.4.3. Lack of free-float and liquidity

A large number of listed companies in India have significant promoter holdings, resulting in relatively lower free float compared to global peers. As promoters gradually dilute their stakes and the government reduces its ownership through divestments and stake sales, the investable float is expected to rise, driving higher trading volumes and deeper market liquidity.

2.4.4. Rise of Alternatives and sponsor-led market cap creation

Private market activity and listed equity expansion in India are getting increasingly linked. AIFs, PE and Venture Capital (“VC”) vehicles raise and deploy capital outside the listed universe, yet most large private positions seek eventual liquidity through public listings or secondary block sales. According to SEBI, cumulative AIF commitments rose from ₹4.51 trillion as of 31 March 2021 to ₹16.94 trillion as of 31 March 2026. Venture Capital Fund commitments also tripled to ₹0.74 trillion during the same period.

2.4.5. Access to international markets

India is expanding offshore access to its capital markets through the IFSC at GIFT City in Gujarat. Established as India’s first IFSC and regulated by the IFSCA, GIFT provides a globally aligned framework for banking, capital markets, fund management, insurance, bullion, and aircraft/ship leasing, positioning India as a competitive hub for global financial flows. India International Exchange (IFSC) Limited (“India INX”), a subsidiary of BSE, commenced operations in January 2017 as the first international exchange at GIFT IFSC, followed by NSEIX, a subsidiary of NSE, in June 2017, together offering international investors extended trading hours’ across equity, currency, and commodity derivatives and debt securities.

NSEIX Global Access IFSC Limited (“NSEIX GA”) was the first entity in GIFT City to be granted a Global Access Provider licence under the regulatory framework of the IFSCA. According to World Federation of Exchanges data, in three months period ended 30 June 2026 and Fiscal 2026, NSEIX held a market share of 99.62% and 99.81% respectively in terms of number of contracts traded in the equity derivatives segment among exchanges at GIFT IFSC. In Fiscal 2026, NSEIX launched GIFT Nifty 50 Zero Days to Expiration (“0DTE”) Options, which made NSEIX the first exchange in India to offer international investors same-day expiry options on the Nifty 50 Index at GIFT IFSC.

The successful migration of SGX Nifty to GIFT Nifty on NSEIX in July 2023 was a landmark development, onshoring India's offshore Nifty index derivatives benchmark from Singapore to India's own International Financial Services Centre at GIFT City. GIFT Nifty has since become one of the most actively traded internationally-traded index futures globally, driving turnover in equity index futures at NSEIX to expand at a CAGR of 66.64% from three months period ended 30 June 2023 to three months period ended 30 June 2026.

2.4.6. Growth of passive investing

Passive investing in India has shifted from niche to core, as investors embrace low-cost, rules-based exposure and the simplicity of tracking broad indices. Steady SIP adoption in index funds, an expanded shelf spanning equity, debt and factor/thematic indices and continued institutional participation have anchored liquidity and made passive vehicles a standard tool for accessing market beta, implementing allocation tilts, and containing costs. As per NSE Market Pulse, as of June 2026, total equity and debt passive Average AUM (“AAUM”) stood at ₹12.17 trillion, with equity share at ₹10.28 trillion and debt share at ₹1.88 trillion. Within equity passive AAUM, index funds AAUM stood at ₹2.37 trillion (domestic ₹2.29 trillion and international ₹0.08 trillion) and Exchange-Traded Fund (“ETF”) AAUM stood at ₹7.92 trillion. Within debt passive AAUM, index funds stood at ₹0.95 trillion and ETFs stood at ₹0.94 trillion. Additionally, as of 31 May 2026, total passive AUM (domestic + global) tracking Nifty indices stood at ~US$97.20 billion. The total index funds and ETFs (excluding gold and silver) AUM in India stood at ₹11.22 trillion as of 31 March 2026, according to AMFI data. Of this, ₹8.14 trillion was tracked by Nifty indices as per AMFI data, implying a share of 72.53% as of 31 March 2026. Moreover, the share of index funds and ETFs (excluding gold and silver) AUM tracking Nifty indices stood at 72.59% as of 30 June 2026 with ₹8.95 trillion of the total ₹12.33 trillion tracking Nifty indices. The total schemes in index funds and ETFs (excluding gold and silver) in India stood at 644 as of 31 March 2026, according to AMFI data. Of this, 495 schemes track Nifty indices, implying a share of 76.86% as of 31 March 2026. Further, as of 30 June 2026, 509 out of 662 index funds and ETFs (excluding gold and silver) schemes in India track Nifty indices implying a share of 76.89%.

As of Fiscal 2026, the AAUM of the Indian mutual fund industry represented 22.97% of GDP, while passive AAUM accounted for 3.34% of GDP. In comparison, ETF AUM in the United States accounted for 43.47% of GDP in CY2025. This gap suggests significant potential for further expansion of passive investing in India, supported by increasing investor awareness, broader product availability, continued digital adoption, and a growing preference for low-cost, index-linked investment strategies.

2.5. Capital formation is expected to be a key driver of the Indian capital market

In India, capital formation through the primary markets has been on a steady upward trajectory in recent years, with issuers across sectors raising equity to fund expansion, strengthen balance sheets, and enhance visibility. In three months period ended 30 June 2026 and Fiscal 2026, total funds mobilised on NSE stood at ₹6.19 trillion and ₹20.33 trillion respectively with ₹0.06 trillion and ₹1.78 trillion respectively, mobilised by fresh listings and Offer for Sale (“OFS”) across the mainboard and Small and Medium Enterprises (“SME”) segments in the primary market. According to the World Federation of Exchanges, total capital raised through IPO (fresh issues and OFS) on NSE stood at US$20.06 billion in Fiscal 2026 placing NSE among the top five exchange groups globally in terms of total capital raised through IPO (fresh issues and OFS) in Fiscal 2026.

Exhibit 13: Capital raised in the primary market through IPOs has been on the rise in the past decade

Source(s): NSE Market Pulse

A confluence of structural enablers is positioning India as one of the more favourable environments globally for capital formation, spanning ease of doing business, regulatory maturity and a deepening pipeline of investable enterprises.

As per the latest World Bank, Doing Business Report (“DBR”) ranking published in CY2019, India ranked at 63, improving by 79 ranks from CY2014. India also has a maturing regulatory framework governed by rollouts of new regulations and periodic revisions in the existing rules by SEBI. India also has a vibrant entrepreneurial ecosystem in terms of number of DPIIT recognised startups reaching more than 223,000 as of March 2026 with more than 50.00% of these startups coming from Tier II and Tier III cities.

According to MSME dashboard, Government of India, India's MSME sector comprises over ~80.00 million enterprises yet only a few hundred currently are listed, making addressable pipeline vast. India's SME listing ecosystem has emerged as an important channel for broad-based capital formation, enabling small and medium enterprises to tap public equity markets via dedicated platforms like NSE EMERGE and BSE SME. These listings have helped hundreds of smaller firms access institutional and retail capital, strengthening their growth pathways. As on 30 June 2026, a total of 1,471 companies were listed on the SME platforms across exchanges in India.

As this ecosystem matures, SME listings are increasingly contributing to widening India's investable universe and deepening market liquidity. Exchange-led Memoranda of Understanding (“MoU”) with multiple state governments, aimed at building capital market awareness and listing readiness among regional businesses, represent a coordinated effort to systematically convert this latent potential into a sustained expansion of India's listed SME universe.

2.6. Landscape and evolution of Indian capital market instruments

2.6.1. Cash equities

According to World Federation of Exchanges, in Fiscal 2026, NSE's cash equity markets saw the number of trades reaching 7.95 billion, ahead of major global players such as Nasdaq at 5.93 billion and ICE, with its subsidiary New York Stock Exchange (“NYSE”) serving as its primary cash equity trading venue at 5.38 billion. In three months period ended 30 June 2026, the number of trades in cash equities for NSE, Nasdaq and ICE stood at 2.23 billion, 1.62 billion and 1.56 billion respectively.

2.6.2. Equity derivatives

India has emerged as a global leader in equity derivatives trading with contracts traded across equity derivatives at NSE (including NSEIX) standing at 36.99 billion as of Fiscal 2026 as per World Federation of Exchanges. This trading activity is more pronounced in equity index options with contracts traded reaching 34.69 billion contracts in Fiscal 2026. In three months period ended 30 June 2026, with 10.00 billion contracts traded, NSE was the leading stock exchange group in terms of contracts traded in equity derivatives.

Key drivers include the rise in dominance of proprietary traders, who account for ~48.60% of NSE's equity options premium turnover in three months period ended 30 June 2026, through High-Frequency Trading (“HFT”) algorithms and arbitrage strategies; the favourable treatment of derivatives as business income, allowing loss offsets against other income; and the rapid rise of algorithmic trading, which accounts for ~57.00% of cash market segment and ~66.00% of equity derivatives trades on NSE in three months period ended 30 June 2026. The Securities Transaction Tax (“STT”) framework was revised in Union Budget Fiscal 2027, with rates on futures, options selling, and options exercise increased as part of broader measures to temper excessive short-term speculation. STT on sale of equity futures was increased from 0.02% to 0.05% of the contract value, STT on options selling was increased from 0.10% to 0.15% of premium value, and STT on option exercise was increased from 0.125% to 0.15% of intrinsic price. These revisions were introduced with the stated objective of curbing excessive speculative trading in the futures and options products, and the higher transaction cost structure affected participation levels, particularly in high-frequency or leveraged strategies, and moderated derivatives turnover.

2.6.3. Other derivatives

Commodity derivatives include futures and options contracts based on underlying commodities like metals, energy, and agricultural products. In Fiscal 2026, commodity derivatives turnover on NSE reflects both a recovery in futures and a continued rise in options. Average Daily Turnover (“ADT”) in commodity futures increased to ~₹999.00 million in three months period ended 30 June 2026, from ~₹517.00 million in Fiscal 2026, with ADT following a decline from ~₹214.00 million in Fiscal 2024 to ~₹10.00 million in Fiscal 2025. In May 2008, an RBI-SEBI committee laid the framework for exchange-traded currency derivatives and NSE was the first exchange in India to launch exchange-traded currency derivatives on 29 August 2008.

2.6.4. Other instruments

In addition to the cash and the derivatives segments, Indian capital markets have multiple other instruments which, while nascent right now, have strong growth potential. Some of these instruments include:

- Tri-party repo: In India, tri-party repos are primarily conducted in government securities, with corporate bond-backed tri-party repos also available, enabling participants to efficiently deploy collateral while a neutral third party manages valuation, substitution, and margin calls. In US, tri-party repos accommodate a broader collateral universe spanning treasuries, agency securities, and mortgage-backed securities, administered through large custodial banks. Compared to US, India's collateral eligibility remains narrower but is gradually expanding, signalling scope for further deepening of the market.
- Securities Lending & Borrowing (“SLB”): The SLB framework in India enables regulated short selling, facilitates borrowing of securities for settlement, and allows investors to earn returns on idle holdings. The SLB mechanism was formally introduced in India in CY2008. The broad framework for short selling and securities lending and borrowing scheme for all market participants was specified by SEBI in December 2007. Notably, naked short selling is expressly prohibited under SEBI's framework, ensuring all short positions are backed by actual securities borrowing through the SLB mechanism.
- ETFs: ETFs offer low-cost, index-linked exposure and trade like stocks. In India, ETF AUM (including Gold and other ETFs) has grown ~4x in five years to reach ₹11.45 trillion (US$129.64 billion) as of 30 June 2026 as per AMFI, driven by BHARAT Bond, Employees' Provident Fund Organisation (“EPFO”) allocations, and rising individual SIPs. In comparison, ETF financial assets in the US stood at US$13,552.26 billion as of 31 March 2026, indicating a significantly larger base. The difference in scale suggests that, despite this growth, the Indian market remains at an earlier stage relative to the US, reflecting significant headroom for growth.
- REITs & InvITs: REITs and InvITs are SEBI-regulated yield vehicles that pool investor capital into income-generating real estate and infrastructure assets, respectively. India's market has expanded to five listed REITs with gross AUM exceeding ~₹2.70 trillion as of 31 March 2026 as per Indian REITs Association. InvITs have also scaled up, with 28 registered InvITs (nine listed) and market capitalisation of ~₹2.92 trillion as of 31 March 2026 as per Bharat InvITs Association.

In addition to the above segments, Indian capital markets are expanding beyond conventional equities and derivatives by bringing structure and transparency to markets that have historically operated in a fragmented or bilateral manner. Recent initiatives, such as the launch of electricity futures and the listing of ESG-linked bonds, demonstrate how regulated exchange platforms can standardise products, reduce counterparty risk, and create deeper pools of liquidity:

- Electricity futures: In India, these contracts were introduced on MCX on 10 July 2025, followed by NSE on 14 July 2025. Since launch, NSE's electricity futures have shown steady traction and improving linkage with the physical power market. As per NSE Market Pulse, across the August-June 2026 contracts, cumulative traded volume stood at 35,048.00 Million Units (“MUs”), compared with 67,943.00 MUs in the spot market, implying a futures-to-spot ratio of 0.52.

- Electronic Gold Receipts (“EGRs”): SEBI introduced the Gold Exchange Framework on 10 January 2022, with BSE launching EGR trading on 24 October 2022 and NSE launching its EGR segment on 4 May 2026. By bringing gold onto regulated exchange platforms, EGRs address fragmented price discovery, purity concerns, and the absence of a standardised national spot price in India's physical gold market. Given India's position as one of the world's largest gold consumers, EGRs are expected to deepen organised participation, support the emergence of a domestic reference price, and lay the foundation for adjacent gold-linked products on exchanges over time.
- Environmental, Social, and Governance (“ESG”) debt securities: India's sustainable finance market has been progressively formalised, making it an increasingly relevant destination for FPIs with sustainability mandates. SEBI introduced Green Debt Securities in CY2017, channelling capital towards environmentally focused projects. In CY2024, the Non-Convertible Securities (“NCS”) Regulations were amended to formally recognise a broader category of ESG Debt Securities, and on 5 June 2025, SEBI introduced a comprehensive framework covering three additional instrument types.
  - a) Social Bonds finance projects delivering positive social outcomes such as affordable housing, healthcare, and education.
  - b) Sustainability Bonds combine green and social objectives.
  - c) Sustainability-Linked Bonds tie financial terms to the issuer's achievement of pre-defined sustainability performance targets rather than ring-fencing proceeds for specific projects.

The framework aligns with internationally recognised standards including the International Capital Market Association (“ICMA”) Principles, the Association of Southeast Asian Nations (“ASEAN”) Taxonomy for Sustainable Finance, and the European Union (“EU”) Green Bond Standard, whilst mandating third-party verification and standardised disclosures to address concerns around purpose-washing. On IFSC exchanges, ESG-labelled instruments have gained meaningful traction, accounting for a significant share of cumulative debt listings. These developments position India's capital markets as credible and transparent platforms for sustainable finance, offering FPIs a familiar and verifiable framework for deploying sustainability-mandated capital.

- Coal exchanges: Domestic coal is largely transacted through long term linkage arrangements and administered auctions, leaving spot price formation fragmented. The Ministry of Coal notified the Coal Exchange Rules, 2026 in June 2026, designating the Coal Controller Organisation (“CCO”) as the authority to register and supervise coal exchanges. Under this framework, MCX Coal Exchange of India Limited was incorporated on 11 June 2026 and National Coal Exchange of India Limited on 19 June 2026. Once operational, exchange traded coal would introduce standardised contracts and a transparent reference price, extending to coal the price discovery function that organised exchanges already perform across other commodities.
- Indian natural gas futures: NSE introduced Indian Natural Gas Futures in its commodity derivatives segment on 27 July 2026. The contract is cash settled with a trading unit of 250 million British thermal units (“mmBtu”), referenced to the Indian Gas Exchange (“IGX”) Gujarat (Dahej) delivery hub and settled at the monthly weighted average price of physical deliveries executed on IGX during the contract month, tying it to transacted volumes in the domestic spot market rather than to an assessed price. The other exchange-traded natural gas contracts in India are referenced to the Henry Hub benchmark, making this the first referenced to a domestic hub, allowing participants across the domestic gas value chain to hedge the price at which they transact.

Section 3: Exchanges - Evolution and Global Comparison

Exchanges worldwide have transformed from narrow equity trading venues into diversified financial infrastructure providers. This shift has been enabled by regulatory reforms that expanded asset classes, formalised clearing and settlement, and strengthened transparency, allowing exchanges to grow into multi-service platforms. Today, global peers derive a significant share of revenues from data, connectivity, indices, and post-trade services, reducing reliance on transactions. Indian exchanges, while technologically advanced and globally competitive in trading and clearing, remain concentrated in transaction and listing revenues, highlighting substantial scope for diversification.

3.1. Global exchanges have transitioned from single-function platforms to integrated financial infrastructure providers

A few decades ago, most exchanges were narrowly focused on equity trading, listings, and basic post-trade settlement. Since then, exchanges have steadily expanded their business models into a much broader set of activities including derivatives, currencies, commodities, and fixed-income. The post-trade function has been built into a standalone business through clearing and risk management services. Data and index licensing have become major revenue lines, reflecting growing demand from asset managers and passive funds.

More recently, exchanges have also developed technology solutions, connectivity infrastructure, and ancillary platforms that embed them more deeply into the financial ecosystem. This evolution has transformed exchanges from transaction-focused venues into integrated financial market infrastructure providers at the core of global capital markets.

3.2. Exchanges use varied monetisation models across asset classes and services

Exchanges earn revenue through seven key streams across asset classes and services, detailed below:

Exhibit 14: Key revenue streams for stock exchange groups globally

The Indian exchange ecosystem has deep presence in core revenue streams such as transaction charges. However, it is comparatively nascent in others, such as index licensing and advanced data monetisation when compared to other global exchanges, thus offering strong headroom for revenue expansion.

3.3. Relative maturity of these revenue streams differs between India and global markets

While India has a well-developed trading ecosystem, the contribution from revenue streams such as data feed and terminal services and index licensing & data subscription fees and data centre and connectivity charges remains limited. The table below outlines the revenue contribution of each revenue line for Indian exchanges versus global exchanges:

Exhibit 15: A major share of Indian exchanges' revenue comes from transaction charges indicating massive headroom for diversification

Clearing corporations, operating as independent Market Infrastructure Institutions (“MIIs”) under SEBI’s oversight, act as central counterparties to trades executed on exchanges, guaranteeing settlement by novating contracts and maintaining comprehensive margining and default management frameworks. Over time, India has transitioned from account-period settlement to rolling settlement cycles and, more recently, to T+1 settlement across equity markets, with optional T+0 settlement being introduced in phases to further reduce counterparty exposure and settlement risk.

The clearing ecosystem is supported by real-time risk management, Value-at-Risk (“VaR”) based margining, stress testing, settlement guarantee funds, and interoperable clearing arrangements. Regulatory reforms have strengthened capital adequacy norms, enhanced default waterfall mechanisms, and introduced recovery and resolution frameworks to safeguard systemic stability. NSE offers clearing and settlement services through its subsidiary NSE Clearing Limited (“NCL”, formerly NSCCL), which is the largest clearing corporation in India in terms of cleared value, with a market share in the cash market (86.63% in three months period ended 30 June 2026, 88.42% in Fiscal 2026, 94.24% in Fiscal 2025 and 92.69% in Fiscal 2024), equity derivatives (91.20% in three months period ended 30 June 2026, 91.04% in Fiscal 2026, 95.67% in Fiscal 2025, and 95.52% in Fiscal 2024), exchange-traded currency derivatives (74.44% in three months period ended 30 June 2026, 74.09% in Fiscal 2026, 58.31% in Fiscal 2025, and 73.73% in Fiscal 2024), and interest rate futures (84.17% in three months period ended 30 June 2026, 88.83% in Fiscal 2026, 78.77% in Fiscal 2025, and 90.14% in Fiscal 2024). NCL, incorporated in August 1995, was India's first clearing corporation and the first to provide a settlement guarantee mechanism. NCL was one of the first clearing corporations globally to transition gradually to a T+1 settlement cycle further introducing T+0 settlement cycle gradually, strengthening the settlement mechanism.

3.4. Regulatory changes have played a key role in revenue mix diversification in exchange groups globally as well as in India

Regulatory shifts have supported exchanges in playing a more central role globally

Global exchanges have evolved from equity trading venues into integrated financial market institutions, shaped by regulatory reforms that expanded tradable asset classes, mandated central clearing, and strengthened post-trade frameworks. The key shifts underpinning this evolution are outlined below.

- Market structure and transparency reforms reinforced exchanges' role as central utilities. The US Regulation National Market System ("Reg NMS", 2005) reshaped equity market structure through order protection rules and consolidated data feeds, ensuring best execution and fair pricing.
- Mandatory central clearing of OTC derivatives turned clearing into a high-margin, recurring revenue stream. Post-Global Financial Crisis ("GFC") regulations including the Dodd-Frank Act (2010) and Europe's European Market Infrastructure Regulation ("EMIR", 2012) required standardised OTC derivatives to be centrally cleared, rapidly expanding the role of clearing houses such as CME Clearing, ICE Clear, and London Clearing House ("LCH").
- Integration of trading with post-trade services enabled exchanges to capture the full transaction value chain. Euronext's ~€4.40 billion acquisition of Borsa Italiana in 2021 brought in Monte Titoli (securities settlement) and Cassa di Compensazione e Garanzia ("CC&G") (clearing), creating a vertically integrated platform across trading, clearing, and settlement.
- Stricter benchmark oversight enhanced index licensing and data revenues. LSEG's ~$27.00 billion acquisition of Refinitiv in CY2021 transformed it into one of the world's largest financial data providers, with information services now contributing over ~70.00% of group revenues. Similarly, the creation of S&P Dow Jones Indices positioned exchanges as key licensors of passive investment benchmarks, capitalising on the rise of ETFs and index funds.
- Cross-border listing liberalisation broadened income bases. SGX's acquisition of the Baltic Exchange in CY2016 diversified its portfolio into global shipping benchmarks and freight derivatives, while Markets in Financial Instruments Directive II ("MiFID II") enhanced cross-border market access across Europe.
- Formal licensing of custody for new asset classes expanded fee bases into digital assets and tokenised instruments. Börse Stuttgart Digital's 2023 Bundesanstalt für Finanzdienstleistungsaufsicht ("BaFin") licence as a regulated crypto custodian exemplified this shift.

Indian exchanges are evolving into broader market institutions as diversification redefines their positioning in the capital markets ecosystem

Building on strong trading and clearing foundations, recent reforms are broadening asset coverage, deepening fixed-income and derivatives markets, and accelerating settlement cycles. The following regulatory reforms have been instrumental in enabling exchanges to expand beyond equity trading into multi-asset markets, post-trade services, data, and custody, laying the foundation for today's diversified business models.

- SEBI Approval for Currency Derivatives Trading (2008): SEBI permitted stock exchanges to introduce currency futures beginning August 2008, later expanded to currency options, bringing FX segment into the exchange ecosystem.
- SEBI Framework for SME Exchanges (framework 2008-2010; platforms launched 2012): SEBI issued regulations enabling exchanges to launch dedicated SME platforms in 2012, allowing smaller companies to list and raise capital.
- SEBI Guidelines on Debt Trading Platforms (2013): In 2013, SEBI notified norms for exchange-based debt trading platforms, mandating electronic reporting and trading of corporate bonds. This integrated fixed-income products into the formal exchange framework.
- SEBI Framework for Commodity Derivatives Integration (2015, expanded 2017-2018): After the merger of the Forward Markets Commission with SEBI in 2015, commodity derivatives came under SEBI regulation. Exchanges subsequently launched contracts in gold, silver, crude oil, and base metals, adding commodities as a major new revenue line.
- SEBI (Index Providers) Regulations (2024): SEBI introduced a dedicated regulatory framework in 2024 for index providers, requiring registration, governance, and transparency in benchmark construction. This legitimised indices as regulated financial products and allowed exchanges (through index subsidiaries) to scale index licensing and data subscription revenues, particularly from ETFs, passive funds, and global benchmark users.
- SEBI Circular on Retail Participation in Algorithmic Trading (2025): SEBI's dedicated framework for retail algorithms executed through broker Application Programming Interface ("APIs") requires every algorithm to carry a unique exchange-issued identifier, mandates broker due diligence and empanelment of providers, and enforces tighter API access controls including secure keys, static Internet Protocol ("IP") restrictions, and pre-trade risk checks.

Algorithms crossing defined order-per-second thresholds must be registered with exchanges, with exchanges responsible for monitoring usage and enabling audits. Together, these measures ensure retail algorithmic trading grows within a supervised and investor-protective framework.

Multiple other factors have supported revenue diversification for exchanges

Shifts in market structure have been a key driver with the rise of passive investing and ETFs creating a stable base of demand for indices, benchmarks, and real-time data services. Exchanges have capitalised on this by building index subsidiaries and commercialising proprietary data feeds, turning information services into predictable, high-margin income streams. At the same time, technology transformation has opened entirely new business lines. Colocation, low-latency connectivity, and cloud-based infrastructure services now account for a meaningful share of exchange revenues, monetising the backbone of market access and positioning exchanges as providers of mission-critical digital infrastructure.

Product innovation has further accelerated this evolution. Exchanges have broadened their product suites through new derivatives contracts, ESG-linked instruments, thematic indices, and multi-asset platforms that attract diverse investors and generate incremental trading and licensing fees. This has ensured that exchanges are no longer reliant solely on transaction charges but operate as diversified financial infrastructure providers with multiple, resilient revenue streams.

These levers are beginning to reshape India's exchange landscape as well. While transaction charges remain a core revenue line, the introduction of new asset classes (currency, commodities, InvITs, REITs), the growth of index-linked investing, and the commercialisation of data and connectivity are gradually broadening the mix.

3.5. Apart from diversification, exchanges have evolved through digitisation and global integration

Two other trends have driven the exchange ecosystem globally and in India.

- Digitisation of exchange infrastructure: Digitisation has fundamentally reshaped how exchanges operate. Globally, the shift from floor-based trading to fully electronic platforms has allowed exchanges to scale up activity, reduce costs, and enable innovations such as algorithmic and high-frequency trading. Clearing and settlement functions have also been digitised, supporting shorter settlement cycles and stronger risk controls. These advances have created new revenue lines through colocation facilities, low-latency connectivity, and cloud-based infrastructure services. India has been at the forefront of this trend: NSE pioneered screen-based electronic trading in Fiscal 1995, and SEBI-led reforms have since accelerated digitisation in post-trade.
- Demutualisation and globalisation of exchanges: Demutualisation and globalisation have transformed the governance and operating models of exchanges. Globally, many exchanges that once functioned as member-owned entities have shifted to demutualised, profit-oriented corporations with independent boards and public ownership. This change has allowed institutions such as Nasdaq and Euronext to raise capital, expand across borders, and evolve into multi-functional financial infrastructure groups. India's exchanges have followed a similar trajectory, BSE demutualised in CY2005 and NSE in CY1992 (since its inception), separating ownership, management, and trading rights in line with global best practices.

These reforms strengthened governance and positioned exchanges as independent institutions capable of scaling into new businesses.

Section 4: Addressable Market for Indian Exchanges

Indian exchanges today serve a broad spectrum of asset classes, each showing strong growth momentum. Cash market is expanding with strong nominal GDP growth and increasing market capitalisation driven by more individual investor participation and available free float. Equity derivatives, led by equity index options, are expected to scale, albeit at a slower pace than in the last five years due to the recent regulatory changes to curb speculative trading. Corporate bonds are becoming a key financing channel as issuers diversify beyond banks. Following recent regulatory measures, the currency derivatives market is expected to see a tilt towards hedgers particularly exporters, importers, and corporates, reinforcing its role as a risk management instrument. Commodity derivatives are surging with wider contract coverage and options activity. Alongside these, services such as data centres, listing, index licensing, and clearing are deepening and diversifying exchange revenues.

Indian capital markets have been on a sustained growth trajectory, driven by expanding individual and institutional demand on one hand, and a deepening supply base of products, issuers, and infrastructure on the other, all reinforced by consistent policy support.

Policy measures such as the JAM trinity, simplified KYC norms, and digital broker platforms have lowered entry barriers, with SIPs and financial literacy initiatives continuing to channel household savings into securities. Algorithmic and proprietary trading has scaled alongside, strengthening liquidity and price discovery. Institutional allocations have deepened across insurers, pension funds, and mutual funds, while corporates increasingly access bond and equity markets for financing. Foreign investor flows remain supported by India's rising weight in global indices and evolving cross-border access frameworks.

On the supply side, market depth is expanding through a growing free float, a healthy primary issuance pipeline, and greater diversification across equities, debt, currencies, and commodities. The supporting infrastructure has matured significantly, marked by resilient clearing and settlement systems, interoperability across platforms, and professionalised data and licensing services that translate rising activity into durable revenue streams.

4.1. Cash market

Cash market instruments include equities, equity convertible securities, exchange-traded funds (ETFs), mutual funds, REITs, InvITs, and corporate bonds. According to SEBI, the Indian cash market recorded a turnover of ₹280.26 trillion in Fiscal 2026, compared to ₹49.77 trillion in Fiscal 2016, reflecting an approximate ~6x increase over the period. Growth in this segment is structurally anchored to four components: nominal GDP growth, expansion of market capitalisation relative to GDP, availability of free float and a growing investor base.

According to IMF WEO, Nominal GDP in India is expected to grow at 9.35% from Fiscal 2026 to Fiscal 2030P, and continued economic expansion is expected to sustain turnover growth in the medium term. India's market capitalisation-to-GDP ratio stood at 119.38% in Fiscal 2026. While this remains below that of markets such as the US (224.04% in CY2025), Canada (199.20% in CY2025), Japan (171.60% in CY2025) and Singapore (136.51% in CY2025), it is higher than several peers, including the UK (97.32% in CY2022) and China (79.54% in CY2025). Between Fiscal 2001 and Fiscal 2026, India's market capitalisation-to-GDP ratio in percentage terms increased by 4.47x. Looking ahead, strong structural trends such as rapid capital formation, increasing ADTs, rising retail investor participation, steady growth in systematic investment flows, wider adoption of digital trading platforms, and increasing financial awareness are expected to continue broadening the investor base and support further expansion of market capitalisation relative to GDP. Rapid capital formation through various fund-raising instruments such as IPOs, FPOs, and QIPs is expected to remain one of the most significant drivers of market capitalisation growth and a key theme for the Indian capital markets over the next four years.

Free float enhances the effective tradability of this expanding market capitalisation. While overall market capitalisation defines the size of the listed universe, it is the proportion of shares available for trading that directly impacts liquidity. India's free float has historically been constrained by concentrated promoter holdings and remains lower when compared to other developed economies, signifying significant headroom for expansion.

Exhibit 19: Free float in NSE-listed universe has risen slowly over time, reaching ~50.00% of market capitalisation

Note(s): 'FY' in the exhibits denotes Fiscal Year; 'FY20XX' is identical to 'Fiscal 20XX', Non-promoter holding is used as a proxy for free float, as promoter-held shares are generally associated with controlling intent and are not actively traded in the secondary market. The residual non-promoter shareholding represents the portion of shares broadly available for trading in the secondary market, making it the closest publicly available approximation of free float for NSE listed companies.

As per NSE, individual investor participation is emerging as a significant demand-side driver of this expansion with number of unique PANs registered growing from 39.89 million as of March 2021 to 129.09 million as of March 2026. As per SEBI, number of demat accounts has increased rapidly over the past five years with a CAGR of 32.43%, from 55.13 million in March 2021 to 224.51 million in March 2026, supported by wider adoption of digital trading platforms, the growing popularity of systematic investment flows, and increasing financial awareness. Mobile based trading share has increased significantly over the past decade supported by rising prominence of discount broking apps. Additionally, regulatory approval of retail algorithmic trading is further expected to uplift trading activity in the retail segment. Individual investors are expected to remain active participants in both primary and secondary markets, broadening the investor base and sustaining market capitalisation growth.

These four components collectively imply strong annual turnover growth (from GDP growth, market capitalisation expansion, available free float and retail participation). As per SEBI data, turnover in the cash market segment stood at ₹280.26 trillion in Fiscal 2026. The segment is projected to grow to ₹473-507 trillion by Fiscal 2030P, implying a CAGR of 14-16%.

4.2. Equity derivatives

According to SEBI, India's equity derivatives market has grown rapidly over the past five years, with equity futures reaching a total turnover of ₹394.67 trillion and equity options reaching a total premium turnover of ₹190.65 trillion in Fiscal 2026. Options, particularly equity index options, has been the fastest growing segment in terms of total premium turnover within equity derivatives growing at a CAGR of 47.54% over the past decade. The scale of expansion has been unprecedented, but it has also raised concerns around the extent to which speculative trading rather than risk management has contributed to volumes.

Exhibit 20: Equity derivatives turnover in India has surged substantially in the past decade

In response, SEBI introduced a set of regulatory measures in CY2024, with phased implementation through CY2025, to curb excessive speculation and safeguard individual investors. These measures included an increase in the minimum contract (lot) size for index derivatives, the restriction of weekly expiry contracts to one benchmark index per exchange, the upfront collection of option premiums from buyers, an additional extreme loss margin on short option positions on expiry day, and intraday monitoring of position limits.

These regulatory changes have led to a moderation in activity during Fiscal 2026, as participants adjust to the revised framework. Stricter position limits, higher margin requirements, and documentation norms for unhedged exposures have impacted individual and high-frequency speculative traders, which have been a significant contributor to trading volumes in prior years.

In the longer term, the equity derivatives market is supported by strong levers on both the supply and demand side. On the supply side, exchanges are broadening the product suite through new index futures and options contracts, while regulatory reforms continue to strengthen risk management and transparency. On the demand side, institutional participation is rising, and algorithmic and quantitative trading has become a further catalyst, supported by colocation infrastructure and low-latency connectivity.

The following growth trajectories are expected to emerge:

- Single stock derivatives: As more companies list and the cash market deepens, a larger pool of stocks becomes eligible to be introduced as single stock derivatives, broadening the underlying universe available in the segment. This widening of the investible universe expands the opportunity set for investors and is expected to support a growing share of volumes over time, aided by improving sector-wise breadth and sustained institutional participation.
- Equity index derivatives: Likely to remain dominant, though regulatory recalibrations may temper expansion. Equity index derivatives remain a critical hedging and arbitrage tool, particularly for institutional investors

As per SEBI data, equity futures total turnover and equity options total premium turnover stood at ₹394.67 trillion and ₹190.65 trillion, respectively, in Fiscal 2026. Based on the growth trajectories, equity futures total turnover is projected to increase to ₹715-765 trillion by Fiscal 2030P, representing a CAGR of 16-18%, while equity options total premium turnover is projected to increase to ₹269-289 trillion, representing a CAGR of 9-11%. While SEBI's recent measures and STT hikes are expected to moderate volumes in the near term, the long-term growth outlook remains supported by rising institutional demand and continued product expansion.

4.3. Other asset classes

In addition to cash market and equity derivatives, Indian exchanges operate markets for other asset classes, including exchange-traded currency derivatives, commodity derivatives, and corporate bonds. While these segments are smaller in size, they play an important role in broadening market depth and meeting diverse participant needs. Their growth is influenced by macroeconomic conditions, regulatory reforms, and structural trends such as digital adoption and rising institutional participation. The outlook for each of these segments varies by underlying drivers, but all are expected to expand meaningfully over the next four years.

4.3.1. Corporate bonds

In India, this market has gradually expanded with turnover reaching ₹21.18 trillion in Fiscal 2026, growing at a CAGR of 13.78% from Fiscal 2022 to Fiscal 2026.

Exhibit 22: There has been a significant growth in the corporate bonds turnover

As per SEBI data, corporate bond turnover stood at ₹21.18 trillion in Fiscal 2026. Looking ahead, turnover in this segment would be driven by rising institutional demand from insurers, pension funds and mutual funds, growing corporate preference for bond financing over bank credit, expansion of tri-party repo mechanisms enhancing liquidity and collateral efficiency in the secondary market, and increasing retail participation through fintech platforms and online brokerages. Based on these drivers, corporate bond turnover is projected to grow at a CAGR of 13-18% between Fiscal 2026 and Fiscal 2030P, reaching ₹35-41 trillion by Fiscal 2030P.

4.3.2 Currency and commodity derivatives

Currency futures and currency options activity has been shaped by regulatory changes that have anchored participation in genuine hedging. The RBI's requirement that exchange-traded rupee derivatives be used only for hedging purposes, supported by documentation and position limit requirements, has reinforced this structure. Demand is driven primarily by FPIs hedging equity and debt inflows and by exporters and importers managing trade-related exposures. Commodity futures and commodity options have scaled more significantly, with corporates hedging procurement and inventory risks, while financial investor participation and individual activity through digital platforms continue to expand.

Growth in currency and commodity futures and options turnover (notional for futures and premium for options) would be largely indexed on the commodity segments with commodity options growing faster driven by the relative cost advantage of options over futures, as rising execution costs on the futures side incentivise market participants to replicate directional exposures synthetically through options, supporting a gradual structural shift in activity toward the options segment.

As per SEBI data, exchange-traded currency futures and commodity futures total turnover stood at ₹175.29 trillion in Fiscal 2026, while exchange-traded currency options and commodity options total premium turnover stood at ₹16.83 trillion in Fiscal 2026. Exchange-traded currency futures and commodity futures total turnover is projected to grow at a CAGR of 15-20% between Fiscal 2026 and Fiscal 2030P, reaching ₹307-363 trillion by Fiscal 2030P. Over the same period, exchange-traded currency options and commodity options total premium turnover is projected to grow at a CAGR of 20-25%, reaching ₹35-41 trillion by Fiscal 2030P. Together, these segments are underpinned by regulatory oversight, corporate and institutional participation, and continued broadening of product offerings.

The growth in these trajectories underscores significant potential for sustained revenue expansion across trading products for NSE.

4.4. Other services

In addition to trading across asset classes, Indian exchanges provide a range of services that support the broader market ecosystem and generate diversified revenue streams. These include data centre and connectivity services, listing services, index licensing services, and clearing and settlement services. Demand for these activities is linked to the expansion of capital markets, growth in electronic and algorithmic trading, rising demand for benchmarks and analytics, and the need for robust risk management infrastructure.

4.4.1. Data centre – Rack charges and data connectivity charges

Exchanges provide colocation and connectivity services through data centres hosting trading members' servers. The number of external Full Rack Equivalents ("FREs") across NSE and BSE data centres is estimated at 2,380 as of 31 March 2026, reflecting strong demand for low-latency access and stable connectivity.

Growth in demand is expected to be driven by two key levers:

- New members leasing racks: As more domestic and international participants enter the market, leasing racks at exchange-operated data centres provides immediate low-latency connectivity without the need to build infrastructure from scratch.
- Expansion by existing members: Current users are expected to scale up rack usage to support higher volumes, more sophisticated trading strategies, and greater data processing needs across asset classes and trading desks.

At present, usage is concentrated among high-frequency and institutional traders, but as strategies become more technology-driven, a broader share of members is likely to depend on colocation. External FREs are projected to grow at a CAGR of 20-25% between 31 March 2026 and 31 March 2030P.

4.4.2. Index licensing fees

Index licensing revenues arise from fees paid by asset managers to use exchange-owned indices as the basis for investment products, including index funds and ETFs (excluding gold and silver). Growth in this stream is structurally tied to the expansion of passive investing within the mutual fund industry.

On the supply side, exchanges have broadened the suite of investable indices across market capitalisations, sectors, and themes, with licensing structures ensuring revenues scale directly as AUM expands. On the demand side, mutual fund AUM has grown at a CAGR of 18.60% from ₹31.43 trillion as of 31 March 2021 to ₹73.73 trillion as of 31 March 2026, with the share of index funds and ETF (excluding gold and silver) at 15.22% as of 31 March 2026 as per AMFI. This growth has been supported by the cost efficiency of passive strategies, regulatory mandates for retirement and institutional allocations, and growing investor preference for transparent benchmarks.

Based on these dynamics, AUM of index funds and ETFs (excluding gold and silver) is projected to reach ₹23-27 trillion as of 31 March 2030, implying a CAGR of ~20-25%, and should grow in-line with the mutual fund industry as penetration matures.

4.4.3. Listing services

Listing services represent a stable and recurring revenue stream, derived from new listings and annual fees paid by listed firms. Fee slabs are set by each exchange within SEBI's regulatory framework, typically linked to aggregate paid-up equity capital, ensuring flexibility for exchanges while maintaining transparency for issuers. Revenue growth is structurally tied to market capitalisation expansion: new listings broaden the fee-paying base while existing firms contribute to recurring revenues. A further upside lever lies in fee recalibration. Despite Indian exchanges ranking among the top two globally by number of IPO listings in Fiscal 2026, listing fees remain considerably lower relative to comparable global peers, resulting in listing income that is modest relative to the scale of market activity. As India's capital markets mature, there is a reasonable case for progressive recalibration, with listing income potentially evolving into a larger revenue stream over time. Listing services revenues are projected to grow at a 15-20% CAGR over Fiscal 2026-2030P.

4.4.4. Clearing and settlement services

Clearing corporations act as central counterparties, guaranteeing settlement and maintaining market integrity through margining, collateral management and default handling. Revenues from this stream are directly linked to market turnover. Revenue growth is driven primarily by projections in turnover in cash market, equity futures and equity options. Looking ahead, clearing and settlement revenues are projected to grow at a CAGR of 15-17% over Fiscal 2026-2030P.

4.4.5. Opportunities beyond domestic markets

The development of the IFSC at GIFT City extends the addressable market beyond India's onshore ecosystem. Operating under the IFSCA framework, exchanges at GIFT City facilitate trading and clearing across global indices, India-linked derivatives, commodity derivatives, and debt listings in foreign currencies, targeting non-resident investors. As activity scales across banking, capital markets, and fund management at the IFSC, it positions GIFT City as an incremental growth layer for exchange-led services including trading, clearing, index licensing, and market data.

Section 5: Competitive landscape

NSE has built and sustained a clear leadership position in India's capital markets, emerging as the primary platform for equities, derivatives, and other asset classes. Its leadership is reinforced by deep liquidity, advanced technology, and a fully integrated model that spans trading, clearing, settlement, and data services. This scale creates a self-reinforcing cycle, attracting more participants and further strengthening market depth. NSE ranks among the leading listed stock exchange groups globally, particularly in equity derivatives, and is recognised for its reliable infrastructure and operational resilience. Financially, it combines strong revenue growth with high profitability and lean cost structures.

For competitive benchmarking, "leading listed stock exchange groups globally" is the set defined as listed exchange operators as of March 2026, with latest disclosed annual revenues exceeding US$1.00 billion, and includes Intercontinental Exchange, Inc. ("ICE"), London Stock Exchange Group plc ("LSEG"), Nasdaq, Inc. ("Nasdaq"), Deutsche Börse AG ("Deutsche Borse"), CME Group Inc. ("CME Group"), Cboe Global Markets, Inc. ("Cboe"), Hong Kong Exchanges and Clearing Limited ("HKEX"), B3 S.A. – Brasil, Bolsa, Balcão ("B3"), Euronext N.V. ("Euronext"), Miami International Holdings, Inc. ("MIAX"), TMX Group Limited ("TMX"), Japan Exchange Group, Inc. ("JPX"), and Singapore Exchange Limited ("SGX"). These global exchange groups have been considered for the purpose of describing the competitive landscape but are not direct peers of NSE. They operate in developed and mature capital markets under different regulatory regimes and market structures. They also earn a materially larger share of their revenue from non-trading activities such as index licensing, data services and technology solutions, which makes their overall business model different from that of NSE.

Additionally, BSE Limited ("BSE") and Multi Commodity Exchange of India Limited ("MCX") have been included in the set as listed exchange operators within the Indian capital markets ecosystem alongside National Stock Exchange of India Limited ("NSE"). MCX, however, operates primarily in commodity derivatives, which differ from equity cash and equity derivatives in terms of the underlying assets traded, the categories of market participants, the price discovery mechanisms, and the associated revenue drivers. Additionally, MCX is smaller in scale and liquidity. It is therefore not a direct peer to NSE.

5.1. Market infrastructure landscape in India

Exchanges are central to the functioning of capital markets, providing a regulated environment for trading financial instruments such as equities, derivatives, debt, and commodities. They facilitate efficient capital allocation, investor participation, and price discovery while operating under the regulatory framework of the SEBI.

As of 30 June 2026, India's equity and equity derivatives markets are mainly served by three stock exchanges, namely NSE, BSE, and Metropolitan Stock Exchange of India ("MSEI"). Most of the trading activity takes place on NSE and BSE driven by their liquidity, technology, and product offerings.

In the commodity derivatives space, four exchanges are recognised at the national level by SEBI, including NSE, BSE, Multi Commodity Exchange of India Limited ("MCX"), and National Commodity & Derivatives Exchange Limited ("NCDEX"). These offer platforms for trading in a wide range of goods and raw materials. Over time, this market has grown stronger, backed by better regulation, improved risk controls, and institutional participation. This growth has helped create more transparent and efficient price discovery for commodities across the country. NCDEX, received an in-principle approval from SEBI in July 2025 to launch cash equities and equity derivatives trading.

One of the significant features of exchanges in India is their vertical integration, with services offered across the value chain including execution, clearing, settlement, and data. In contrast, exchanges in several developed markets operate with more fragmented service structures.

Globally, markets across asset classes tend to exhibit high concentration, as liquidity aggregates around the most liquid venues in a self-reinforcing manner. This structural tendency has allowed NSE to not only sustain but steadily expand its leadership across segments. Resilient technology infrastructure and deep liquidity create a self-reinforcing cycle that allows leading exchanges to consolidate and sustain their positions. Historical examples illustrate this clearly: Deutsche Terminbörse (now Eurex) overtook London International Financial Futures and Options Exchange ("LIFFE"); International Securities Exchange ("ISE") pioneered electronic options trading in the US in the 2000s; and BATS reshaped equities trading before being absorbed into Cboe, which remains dominant today. When a new leader emerges, it typically entrenches its advantage for the long term.

India reflects a similar pattern, with NSE not only sustaining but steadily expanding its leadership across segments. NSE is the largest screen-based trading platform in India with market leadership across asset classes. According to SEBI data, NSE has been the largest stock exchange in India in terms of total turnover in cash market and total turnover in equity derivatives (considering notional turnover for equity options) from Fiscal 2001 (from June 2000) to Fiscal 2026. NSE has also been the largest stock exchange in India in terms of total turnover in exchange-traded currency derivatives (considering notional turnover for currency options) from Fiscal 2009 (from August 2008) to Fiscal 2026. The leadership position has sustained through three months period ended 30 June 2026 where NSE has been the largest stock exchange in India in terms of total turnover in cash market, total turnover in equity derivatives (considering notional turnover for equity options) and total turnover in exchange-traded currency derivatives (considering notional turnover for currency options). According to the World Federation of Exchanges, NSE (including NSEIX) accounted for more than 36.99 billion equity derivatives contracts traded in Fiscal 2026 and 10.00 billion equity derivatives contracts traded in three months period ended 30 June 2026, ranking first globally by number of contracts traded. However, this leadership is primarily driven by smaller contract sizes in India relative to those in developed markets.

As per NSE, the distinction between contract volumes and value traded becomes evident when India is benchmarked against the US. Notwithstanding the increase in 2025, the Nifty 50's option contract value remains small compared to the contract value of S&P index option contracts. As of June 2026, a single lot of the S&P 500 (SPX) index option had a notional value of around US$749,936.00. Even the mini-SPX contracts, sized at one-tenth, carry a notional value of ~US$74,993.00. That makes one US SPX contract ~40 times larger than a Nifty contract in value terms, and even a mini-SPX contract close to four times larger. So, while India leads in the count of contracts, it lags significantly behind the US in terms of total value traded.

This trend has been seen in the first half of CY2026, with premium turnover in options in India being one fifth despite having ~4.5 times the contracts traded in exchange-traded options compared to the US. This structural difference means India generates significantly higher trading activity in terms of contract count, but the underlying value traded remains far smaller relative to the US.

Exhibit 28: In comparison to USA, India is far behind in terms of premium turnover for options' contracts

Note(s): Stock, Index and ETF options considered for turnover and contracts traded figures. List of exchanges under consideration set for US include AMEX (American Stock Exchange), ARCA (NYSE Arca), BATS (BATS Global Markets), BOX (Boston Options Exchange), C2 (Cboe C2 Options Exchange), Cboe (Chicago Board Options Exchange), EDGX (Cboe EDGX), EMLD (MIAX Emerald), GEM (ISE Gemini Exchange), ISE (International Securities Exchange), MCXY (MIAX Mercury), MEMX (Members Exchange), MIAX (Miami International Securities Exchange), MPRL (MIAX Pearl), NOBO (Nasdaq Options BX), NSDQ (Nasdaq Options Market), PHLX (Nasdaq PHLX), SPHR (MIAX Sapphire). While India's options market records significantly higher contract volumes, the relatively lower premium turnover compared to the US reflects lower premium per contract. This indicates that, despite high trading activity, the value generated per trade in India remains lower. However, in terms of trading activity, Indian exchanges continue to feature prominently in global rankings. In terms of number of trades in cash equities and contracts traded in derivatives, Indian exchanges are among the most active globally, underscoring the scale of trading activity across segments.

5.2.1. Products and Services offered

Except for a few derivatives-focused venues, most leading listed stock exchange groups today operate across cash equities, fixed-income, and a wide spectrum of derivatives such as equities, currencies, commodities, and interest rates, while credit derivatives remain largely traded OTC. Alongside trading, exchanges provide the full post-trade value chain, including clearing, settlement, depository and custodial services, and have extended into ancillary offerings such as market data, indices, technology solutions, collateral management, and investor education. As of today, the suite of products and services offered by NSE is broadly comparable to global peers. According to World Federation of Exchanges, compared to leading listed stock exchange groups globally, NSE was the largest multi-asset class exchange in terms of number of trades in cash equities and contracts traded in equity derivatives in Fiscal 2026 and three months period ended 30 June 2026. ### 5.2.2. Revenue growth, cost drivers and profitability metrics

NSE ranks compared to leading listed stock exchange groups globally in terms of total income, reflecting its scale, liquidity, and strong operating model. While revenue growth levels across global exchanges have remained broadly comparable, Indian exchanges have delivered the strongest momentum, reinforcing their position as one of the fastest-growing exchange groups worldwide. From Fiscal 2022 to Fiscal 2026, the total income for NSE has grown at a CAGR of 20.51% and is positioned among the top three exchanges in terms of four-year total income growth compared to leading listed stock exchange groups globally (except MIAX, where two-year total income growth has been considered) basis the latest reported annual financial disclosures.

Global exchanges exhibit diverse cost structures due to differences in scale, market design, and service portfolios. A comparison of operating costs as a percentage of revenues highlights that Indian exchanges continue to operate at the leaner end of the global cost spectrum. In Fiscal 2026, NSE's non-volume-linked expenses (as a percentage of revenue from operations) stood at 22.73%, with an adjusted operating EBITDA margin (as a percentage of revenue from operations) of 75.48% and Profit After Tax margin (as a percentage of total income) of 55.05%. For Fiscal 2026, NSE had one of the lowest non-volume-linked expenses (as a percentage of revenue from operations), the highest adjusted operating EBITDA margin (as a percentage of revenue from operations), and one of the highest Profit After Tax margins (as a percentage of total income) compared to the leading listed stock exchange groups globally, basis the latest reported annual financial disclosures.

Within the cost composition, employee expenses form a relatively smaller share for Indian exchanges compared to global counterparts such as LSE, Euronext, or ICE, where people-related costs constitute a significant portion of total expenses. Further, IT and depreciation-related costs remain tightly managed, reflecting the scalability of India's technology-led trading infrastructure. This highlights that Indian exchanges remain among the most efficient globally, leveraging high transaction volumes and robust digital platforms to deliver competitive pricing and lower operating costs.

Exhibit 33: Non-volume linked expense to revenue from operations ratio varies significantly across leading listed stock exchange groups globally ranging from approximately 18.77% to approximately 55.10% with Indian exchanges displaying comparatively lower non-volume linked expense ratios

Note(s): 1. The operating cost structures presented above may not be directly comparable across exchanges, as revenue definitions, business models, and cost classification methodologies vary significantly across peers. Revenue from operations has been considered as the denominator; however, for certain exchanges, total revenue or total income net of other income has been considered where revenue from operations is not separately disclosed. Cost line items such as employee costs, depreciation and amortisation, IT costs, and other non-volume related costs may be reported under different nomenclatures or clubbed differently across exchanges depending on their respective reporting practices. 2. NSE, BSE, MCX for year ending 31 March 2026, JPX data for year ending 31 March 2025, SGX data for year ending 30 June 2025; others are based on year ending 31 December 2025. Numbers in the chart may not add up due to rounding up of segment level percentages. 3. The "Other (non-volume linked expense)" classification comprises premises and facilities-related costs (rent, occupancy, building repairs and maintenance, operating leases, electricity and utilities, property taxes, security, and office demolition/relocation expenses); marketing, advertising and business promotion (including sponsorships, seminars, and investor education); travel and conveyance; insurance premiums; directors' and board/committee sitting fees, professional and advisory fees; communication and office overheads (telephone, postage, SMS and email charges, printing and stationery, office expenses, data entry, data feed, and financial data subscriptions); corporate social responsibility (CSR) contributions and charitable donations, including contributions to investor protection funds; operating impairments and provisions (provision for doubtful trade receivables, impairment on financial assets, and losses on disposal of property, plant & equipment/software); operating foreign exchange gains and losses and fair value movements on embedded FX contracts; licensing, membership, subscription, and product license fees; bundled taxes, insurance, and general administration charges; and residual selling, general and administrative (SG&A) and miscellaneous/sundry expenses reported by exchanges that do not disclose a granular breakup

Source(s): Annual Reports of Exchanges, Redseer research and analysis

The key levers for better non-volume linked expenses are:

- Operating in a single domestic market keeps compliance, legal, and operational overhead low versus multi-country groups.
- A unified electronic platform for trading, clearing, and surveillance spreads largely fixed technology or datacentre costs over very high volumes.
- A high share of standardised, straight-through-processed products makes each additional trade low-cost, reducing non-volume linked expense as a share of revenue as activity grows.
- India-based personnel and facilities keep like-for-like operating costs lower with only a few inputs (hardware, licences, connectivity, etc) priced at global rates.

Exchange groups globally operate as highly profitable enterprises, with adjusted operating EBITDA margins for most players greater than 50%. Indian exchanges are strongly positioned within this profitability spectrum, with NSE and BSE delivering robust earnings profiles comparable to leading international peers.

Exhibit 34: NSE has the highest adjusted operating EBITDA margin compared to leading listed stock exchange groups globally

Note(s): Adjusted Operating EBITDA margin of the exchanges presented above may not be directly comparable, as revenue streams, business models, cost classification frameworks, and accounting standards vary significantly across exchanges. Adjusted Operating EBITDA has been computed as Total Income + Finance Costs + Depreciation & Amortisation Expense – Total Operating Expenses, where Total Operating Expenses excludes exceptional, one-time, and non-recurring items (e.g., impairment charges, acquisition- and integration-related costs, restructuring charges, litigation settlements, and other regulatory fines) to reflect underlying operating performance. 1. On a Profit After Tax margin basis as well, Indian exchanges stand out on the higher end of global benchmarks. NSE ranks among the most profitable exchanges worldwide, with margins exceeding those of several established global platforms such as Nasdaq, LSEG, and Euronext, based on the latest available full-year financial disclosures. This strong profitability is underpinned by high operating leverage, technology-driven scalability, and the depth of India's equity and derivatives markets.

Exhibit 35: In Fiscal 2026, NSE had a Profit After Tax margin of 55.05%, ahead of leading listed stock exchange groups globally

A similar trend is visible when looking at Return on Average Equity (“RoAE”), where Indian exchanges again stand out relative to global peers. NSE reports an RoAE of approximately 32.98%, placing it as one of the highest compared to leading listed stock exchange groups globally. This reflects the asset-light nature of its business, where strong trading activity and scale can drive returns without requiring a proportional increase in capital.

5.2.3. Technology leadership

Technology is at the core of exchanges' operations, ensuring unmatched availability, low latency, and secure market access even during peak loads. In Fiscal 2026 and three months period ended 30 June 2026, NSE held a global market share of 51.18% and 50.22% respectively in contracts traded across the equity derivatives segment signifying its technological capability in processing large volumes of trades. On some days, NSE processes half the trades across the world underscoring its ability to clear and settle large volumes of trades efficiently, supported by robust trading and clearing technology. India's derivatives market, largely concentrated on NSE, is among the largest in the world and reflects deep participation and liquidity across product segments. This scale is backed by NEAT and NEAT Plus electronic trading platforms, which are designed to add hardware on demand, support high uptime and maintain low-latency trade execution even under heavy loads, enabling seamless processing of high trade counts without performance degradation.

An exchange outage refers to any disruption, degradation, or unavailability of an exchange's technology systems such as trading engines, order routing, market data dissemination, connectivity infrastructure, or compliance platforms that originates at the exchange and materially affects market participants' ability to trade, access data, or complete related operations. Outages may be partial, where specific functions are impaired, but core trading continues, or full, where trading activity in one or more market segments halts completely until systems are restored

Regulatory oversight of market technology in India has also evolved with the scale of trading activity. SEBI has underscored the importance of technology resilience and cybersecurity through initiatives such as the Securities Market Advanced Reforms and Technology (“SMART”) 2025 transformation programme, which highlights adoption of advanced technology to strengthen market infrastructure and protect investors. SEBI's focus includes promoting strong system availability, resilient data centres, risk controls and operational continuity as part of broader market supervision. Additionally, exchanges like NSE maintain Disaster Recovery (“DR”) and business continuity protocols, including dedicated DR sites and backup operations, to ensure uninterrupted trading and clearing in the event of system failures or external disruptions. These regulatory and operational technology measures support the integrity, reliability and scalability of India's exchange ecosystem.

In addition to scale and speed, India operates as an “identified market,” where investors are uniquely identified through PAN-based systems integrated across exchanges, clearing corporations, depositories and intermediaries. This architecture enables exchanges and regulators to trace trades to the ultimate beneficial investor level through trading members, strengthening surveillance, risk management and enforcement. In contrast, several global markets operate through omnibus account structures where investor identification may not be directly visible at the exchange level. India's ID-based market structure, combined with real-time reporting and integrated clearing systems, enhances transparency, accountability and systemic risk oversight.

Artificial Intelligence (“AI”) is becoming an integral component of India's capital market infrastructure as trading volumes, data intensity and compliance requirements increase. Exchanges and intermediaries are using AI and machine learning for real-time trade surveillance, anomaly detection, fraud monitoring, client onboarding and cybersecurity. SEBI's June 2025 consultation paper on responsible AI use formalised governance, testing and reporting standards. Early deployments have improved detection efficiency, reduced false alerts and strengthened risk monitoring across market participants.

Section 6: Regulatory Scenario in India

India's capital markets operate under a unified regulatory framework led by SEBI, which oversees investor protection, market regulation, and market development.

India's capital market regulatory architecture is anchored in two complementary legislative pillars. The Companies Act, 2013, enacted by Parliament and administered by the Ministry of Corporate Affairs, establishes the foundational corporate governance framework applicable to all companies, listed and unlisted, covering incorporation, board composition, audit standards, related-party transactions, and shareholder rights. For listed entities, this framework is further reinforced and operationalised through SEBI's regulations and circulars, which translate these broad governance principles into specific, continuously updated obligations for market participants. Together, these two pillars ensure that India's capital markets function within a robust, multi-layered governance structure.

SEBI exercises rule-making powers through gazette-notified regulations, operationalised through circulars and guidance notes. Regulatory proposals are typically introduced through public consultation papers, reviewed by advisory committees including the Primary and Secondary Market Advisory Committees, before approval by the SEBI Board.

Working groups and expert committees on derivatives, risk management, and market infrastructure further inform regulatory amendments. Stock exchanges, clearing corporations, and depositories act as first-level regulators under SEBI's oversight, responsible for trading, clearing, settlement, surveillance, and compliance enforcement. SEBI retains overarching supervisory, investigative, and enforcement authority. Unlike several emerging markets where securities oversight is fragmented, India consolidates regulation under SEBI, with exchanges playing a central role in execution.

Broadly, SEBI's responsibilities can be viewed across three goals: investor protection to safeguard interests and build trust in markets, market regulation to ensure fair and transparent functioning, and market development to promote orderly growth and innovation.

6.1. Investor protection

Protecting investors is at the core of SEBI's mandate. Over the years, SEBI has introduced a range of regulations and circulars to safeguard client assets, enforce fair conduct, and improve grievance redressal.

Key regulations protecting investor interests include:

- SEBI (Stock Brokers and Sub-Brokers) Regulations, 1992 (since repealed and replaced by the SEBI (Stock Brokers) Regulations, 2026): The 1992 regulations mandated compulsory registration and conduct standards for all brokers and sub-brokers, reducing malpractice at the point of retail entry, ensuring proper record-keeping, and formalising broker-investor relationships. By professionalising a fragmented brokerage ecosystem, the regulations brought accountability to investor access channels. These regulations have since been repealed and replaced by the SEBI (Stock Brokers) Regulations, 2026, which consolidate broker-related obligations into a single framework, permit brokers to undertake other regulated financial activities, introduce a minimum experience requirement for registration, and strengthen governance and investor-protection standards.
- SEBI (Mutual Funds) Regulations, 1996 (since repealed and replaced by the SEBI (Mutual Funds) Regulations, 2026): The 1996 regulations created a governance framework for trustees and asset management companies, including disclosure requirements, investment restrictions, and accountability standards. They safeguarded individual investors' pooled savings and laid the foundation for the rapid growth of India's mutual fund industry into a multi-trillion-rupee segment. These regulations have since been repealed and replaced by the SEBI (Mutual Funds) Regulations, 2026, which retain the core investor-protection principles of the earlier framework while restructuring the expense-ratio framework, revising sponsor and control thresholds, and introducing new fund structures for passive and sophisticated investors.
- KYC Registration Agency ("KRA") Regulations, 2011: To streamline investor onboarding and reduce fraud, SEBI created a centralised KYC repository accessible across intermediaries. This reduced duplication of verification, enhanced investor convenience, and provided regulators with better monitoring tools. The framework has since evolved with Aadhaar-based and digital KYC processes, keeping pace with technological advancements.

In addition to these regulations, SEBI has from time to time issued circulars for investor protection such as:

- SEBI Circular on Segregation and Monitoring of Client Collateral: SEBI issued circulars requiring brokers to maintain strict segregation of client funds and securities from their own proprietary assets, with real-time monitoring through exchanges and depositories. This ensures that client collateral cannot be co-mingled or misappropriated, providing a critical safeguard for retail and institutional investors.
- SEBI Circular on Pledge and Re-pledge of Securities in the Settlement Process, 2020: Earlier, client securities pledged as collateral were vulnerable to misuse by brokers. SEBI's circular routed all collateral through depositories, ensuring client assets remained traceable and ring-fenced, materially reducing systemic risk and increasing investor protection in the derivatives and margin trading ecosystem.
- SEBI Circular on Collection of Upfront Margins from Clients, 2020–2021: To curb excessive leverage in derivatives trading, SEBI mandated upfront collection of margins at multiple intraday points. This reduced the scope for oversized positions using intraday leverage, strengthened overall market stability, and aligned India with global prudential norms.
- SEBI Circular on Capital Adequacy and Net Worth Norms for Intermediaries: SEBI has periodically enhanced net worth and capital adequacy requirements for brokers, clearing members, and other intermediaries. These norms ensure financial resilience among market participants and reduce systemic risk in the event of defaults or stress events.
- SEBI Circular on Qualified Stock Brokers ("QSB") Framework, 2021: SEBI's circular identified a category of large brokers that were designated QSBs based on client base size, trading volumes, and other parameters, subjecting them to enhanced regulatory oversight, stricter compliance requirements, and more frequent reporting. This risk-based approach to broker supervision strengthens investor protection for clients of the most systemically significant intermediaries.

- SEBI Circular on Investor Protection Fund Trust (“IPFT”) and Enhanced Corpus: SEBI has directed exchanges to progressively increase the corpus of their Investor Protection Fund Trusts, strengthening the safety net available to investors in the event of broker defaults and enhancing capacity to support investor education and grievance redressal initiatives.
- Cyber Security and Cyber Resilience Framework for Market Infrastructure Institutions, 2015-2024: Given the systemic criticality of MIIs and the increasing sophistication of cyber threats, SEBI has progressively built a dedicated cyber security and cyber resilience regime for exchanges, clearing corporations and depositories. The foundational framework was prescribed in July 2015 and was successively reinforced through subsequent modifications including the requirement for a 24x7 Cyber Security Operation Centre (“C-SOC”), comprehensive cyber audits conducted at least twice per financial year, MD/CEO-level compliance attestation, and structured incident-reporting and vulnerability-disclosure protocols. In August 2024, this regime was consolidated and superseded by SEBI's Cybersecurity and Cyber Resilience Framework (“CSCRF”), which replaced the earlier entity-specific circulars with a single, standards-based framework and extended its application from MIIs to a substantially wider universe of SEBI-regulated entities. Collectively, these measures are designed to ensure that core trading, clearing and settlement infrastructure remains resilient against operational and cyber disruption.

6.2. Market regulation

SEBI regulates how companies raise capital, how trades are executed, and how settlements are completed. Exchanges play a central role in implementing these regulations by ensuring transparent listing, fair trading, and reliable clearing and settlement.

Key Acts to regulate market include:

- Securities Contracts (Regulation) Act, 1956 (“SCRA”) and Securities Contracts (Regulation) Rules, 1957 (“SCRR”): The SCRA, along with the SCRR, provided statutory recognition to stock exchanges in India at a time when markets were largely informal and fragmented. These regulations laid down criteria for recognition, disclosure, and conduct, setting the foundation for corporatisation and eventual demutualisation of exchanges. By defining exchanges as legal entities with clear obligations, the framework professionalised governance and introduced transparency into what was previously a loosely organised system.
- SEBI Act, 1992: The SEBI Act created SEBI as a statutory regulator with comprehensive powers to oversee securities markets, intermediaries, and investors. Prior to this, regulations were fragmented across multiple agencies, limiting effectiveness. The Act consolidated oversight under one body, enabling SEBI to frame regulations, conduct investigations, and enforce penalties. This centralisation was pivotal in building investor confidence and bringing Indian markets in line with global regulatory practices.

In addition, SEBI notified the following regulations:

- Securities Contracts (Stock Exchanges and Clearing Corporations) Regulations, 2012 (“SECC Regulations”), amended 2018: The SECC Regulations addressed ownership structures, capital requirements, and governance standards for MIIs, including exchanges, clearing corporations, and depositories. By imposing ownership caps and separating trading members from management, the regulations ensured independence and minimised conflicts of interest. The amendments in 2018 further tightened governance and financial requirements, strengthening MIIs as systemically important entities capable of handling surging transaction volumes.
- SEBI (Listing Obligations and Disclosure Requirements) Regulations, 2015 (“LODR Regulations”): The LODR Regulations form the backbone of India’s continuous disclosure and corporate governance framework for listed companies. They mandate timely disclosure of material events, enhance transparency in related-party transactions, strengthen board composition and independent director norms, and streamline quarterly reporting requirements, ensuring investors receive reliable, comparable, and timely information.
- SEBI (Issue of Capital and Disclosure Requirements) Regulations, 2018 (“ICDR Regulations”): The ICDR Regulations consolidated and streamlined earlier rules governing IPOs and rights issues. They set eligibility criteria for issuers, standardised pricing and disclosure requirements, and introduced safeguards to protect individual investors. The regulation enhanced transparency around fundraising and strengthened investor trust in primary markets, supporting the growth of India’s IPO pipeline in recent years.

6.3. Market development

Beyond regulation and protection, SEBI actively promotes market development by enabling new products, deepening participation, and fostering innovation. Exchanges serve as test beds for pilots and infrastructure upgrades that expand the market’s scope and reach.

Key regulations:

- SEBI (Alternative Investment Funds) Regulations, 2012 ("AIF Regulations"): The AIF Regulations introduced clear categories (I, II, III) for private funds and mandated reporting, disclosure, and registration requirements. This legitimised VC, PE, and hedge funds in India, balancing capital formation with investor protection. The regulation enabled private pools of capital to scale while maintaining transparency for regulators.
- SEBI (Investment Advisers) Regulations, 2013: To address conflicts of interest in financial advisory services, SEBI required advisers to register, disclose fees, and maintain client records. By enforcing fiduciary standards and limiting mis-selling practices, the regulation improved transparency and trust in advisory services.
- SEBI (Index Providers) Regulations, 2024: As indices became critical for ETFs and passive funds, SEBI brought index administrators under regulatory oversight, requiring licensing, governance standards, and disclosure of methodology changes, improving the transparency and reliability of benchmarks and safeguarding investors in the fast-growing passive investment segment.

Key circulars:

- SEBI Circular on Applications Supported by Blocked Amount, 2008 ("ASBA Circular"): Introduced by SEBI in 2008 and made mandatory for all public issues in 2015, ASBA fundamentally reshaped India's IPO process by allowing application funds to remain blocked in investors' bank accounts rather than being transferred to issuers or intermediaries. This eliminated refund delays, reduced operational risks, and ensured that investors earned interest on their balances until allotment. By streamlining payments and enhancing investor protection, ASBA increased trust in primary market processes and significantly broadened retail participation.
- SEBI Circular on Algorithmic Trading and Colocation Services, 2012: Recognising the growing role of technology in trading, SEBI introduced norms requiring exchanges to implement order-level risk checks, kill-switch mechanisms, and transparent allocation of colocation facilities. Updates in 2022 increased oversight of APIs and broker responsibilities. These regulations balanced innovation in algorithmic trading with fairness and risk control, ensuring no undue advantage for specific participants.
- SEBI Circular on T+1 Rolling Settlement, 2023, and T+0 Pilot, 2024: In India, the secondary cash equity market transitioned from account period settlement to rolling settlement on a T+5 basis in 2001, which was progressively shortened by SEBI to T+3 in 2002 and T+2 in 2003, and subsequently to T+1, which became fully operational across all equities in January 2023, with an optional T+0 settlement cycle introduced for eligible scrips beginning in 2024. US made the transition to T+2 settlement in 2017. Separately, for public issues, SEBI reduced the timeline for listing of shares from T+6 to T+3 working days in 2023, applicable on a voluntary basis from September 2023 and mandatory from December 2023, aligning primary market timelines with the shortened secondary market settlement cycle. These reforms have collectively positioned India at the frontier of settlement efficiency and market infrastructure innovation.
- SEBI Circular on Introduction of Closing Auction Session, 2026: SEBI issued a circular dated 16 January 2026 introducing a Closing Auction Session ("CAS") to determine closing prices in the equity cash segment, replacing the earlier method based on the volume weighted average price of trades in the final thirty minutes of trading. CAS was implemented across the recognised stock exchanges from 3 August 2026, initially for securities on which derivative contracts are available. The closing price is used as the reference for derivatives settlement, index computation and mutual fund net asset value determination. Execution at the official closing price allows index funds and ETFs to transact at their benchmark level, reducing tracking error as passive assets grow.

Today, exchanges operate as corporatised entities with structured governance, capital strength, and clear disclosure standards. The Companies Act, 2013 provides the foundational corporate-law framework, governing board composition and independent directors, audit and financial reporting, and related-party transactions, while SEBI's LODR and exchange and intermediary regulations add securities-market-specific oversight on top. Trading and settlement processes are faster, safer, and more transparent, and intermediary regulation has further ensured that investors engage with accountable and well-regulated platforms.

Looking ahead, the Securities Markets Code, 2025, introduced in the Lok Sabha in December 2025, proposes to repeal and replace the SCRA, the SEBI Act, 1992, and the Depositories Act, 1996, establishing a unified statutory framework governing securities markets, market infrastructure institutions, and intermediaries. The Code seeks to harmonise definitions and regulatory provisions across market segments, streamline supervisory and adjudicatory processes, and strengthen investor protection and enforcement architecture in line with the scale and complexity of contemporary capital markets.

Section 7: Emerging Opportunities

India's capital markets are entering a new phase of growth shaped by three emerging opportunities across indices and data analytics, setting up of international financial centre - GIFT City, and technological advancements.

As India's economy expands in scale and formalisation, sustained GDP growth is driving rising household incomes, a broadening middle class, and greater allocation of incremental savings towards formal financial instruments. Broader participation reinforces a cycle of deeper capital mobilisation, improved capital allocation, and wealth creation that supports enterprise growth and further income expansion.

Against this backdrop, India's capital markets are entering a new phase of development shaped by emerging opportunities across indices and data analytics, the evolution of international financial centres such as GIFT City, and continued advancements in trading technology.

7.1. Overview of the opportunities and their market potential

India's capital markets are opening new avenues for growth through three emerging opportunities that are reshaping their structure and functioning. These opportunities are centred on the expanding role of indices and analytics, the development of international financial centres, and the increasing use of trading technology. Each of these is creating distinct avenues for participation and efficiency while collectively contributing to the long-term trajectory of the markets.

Exhibit 38: Three key opportunities are emerging for the Indian exchanges which are expected to drive the next wave of growth

7.1.1. Market Data, Indices, and Data Analytics

Indices and data analytics are now central to how capital markets function, serving as the foundation for investment products that direct large flows of capital. Investors and asset managers use indices to design strategies, while analytics tools support portfolio construction, performance tracking, and risk control.

The clearest outcome of this shift is the rise of passive investing in India. Passive products that track indices include index funds, equity and debt ETFs, and gold and silver ETFs. As per AMFI, total mutual fund AUM grew at a CAGR of 18.60% from ₹31.43 trillion as of 31 March 2021 to ₹73.73 trillion as of 31 March 2026, reaching ₹82.22 trillion as of 30 June 2026 with other schemes AUM (including index funds, ETFs (including gold and silver), other ETFs and fund of funds investing overseas) growing faster at a CAGR of 34.42%, from ₹3.22 trillion to ₹14.12 trillion from 31 March 2021 to 31 March 2026, reaching ₹15.30 trillion as of 30 June 2026. Passive funds' (including index funds, ETFs (including gold and silver and fund of funds investing overseas in passive funds) share of industry AUM accounted for 18.74% as of 31 March 2026 and 18.15% as of 30 June 2026. Index funds were the fastest-growing segment, with AUM increasing at a CAGR of 74.19% from ₹0.19 trillion to ₹3.07 trillion from 31 March 2021 to 31 March 2026 as per AMFI, reaching ₹3.37 trillion as of 30 June 2026, supported by a surge in number of schemes from 208 as of 31 March 2024 to 360 as of 31 March 2026, reaching 371 schemes as of 30 June 2026. With momentum in both AUM growth and product proliferation, passive funds are set to constitute an increasingly larger share of the industry in the coming years.

7.1.2. International Financial Centres (“IFCs”)

IFCs enable countries to capture cross-border capital flows that might otherwise gravitate to offshore hubs. GIFT City, designated as India's first IFSC under the IFSCA Act, 2019, replicates models found in global centres such as Singapore and Dubai through globally aligned regulation, unified IFSCA supervision, competitive tax incentives, and liberalised foreign currency transaction rules.

As a result, GIFT City has evolved into a multi-asset, multi-service offshore hub for banking, capital markets, fund management, and sustainable finance. As of 31 March 2026, the IFSC had 1,213 registered entities, with banking assets crossing US$110.00 billion and cumulative banking transactions reaching US$176.08 billion in Q4 Fiscal 2026, as per IFSCA. It also reports that within capital markets, exchanges at GIFT recorded an average monthly turnover of US$112.49 billion in Q4 Fiscal 2026 and an aggregate open interest of US$14.02 billion in the derivatives segment as of 31 March 2026, supported by US$2.28 billion in cumulative debt listings, while the fund management ecosystem expanded to 217 registered entities operating 360 schemes as of 31 March 2026, mobilising cumulative commitments of US$30.09 billion. In addition, ESG-labelled debt listings reached US$616.36 million in Q4 Fiscal 2026, reflecting growing activity in sustainable finance.

These developments position GIFT City as a neutral onshore platform where issuers can raise funds in foreign currencies, global investors can access Indian instruments with fewer frictions, and domestic institutions can operate under international standards, deepening India's integration with the global financial system.

7.1.3. Disruptive Trading Platforms and Technologies

Advances in trading technology are reshaping Indian market infrastructure. Algorithmic strategies, electronic platforms, and high-frequency execution tools have increased transaction speed and precision, while improvements in clearing and settlement are reducing counterparty risk. Alongside this, developments in clearing and settlement systems are ensuring smoother post-trade processes and reducing counterparty risk. Lower costs and greater reliability have broadened participation, with digital onboarding and mobile-based trading reducing access barriers for domestic investors and improved infrastructure strengthening confidence among international participants.

Technology is also expanding the range of instruments traded efficiently, from cash equities and derivatives to fixed income and commodities, creating the foundation for larger market volumes.

Beyond domestic application, India's capital market technology ecosystem carries significant export potential. The successful deployment of scalable, low-cost trading infrastructure, real-time settlement systems, and digital onboarding frameworks has positioned India as a model for emerging and frontier markets seeking to modernise their own market structures. Indian exchanges and technology providers are increasingly well-placed to license platforms, share expertise, and partner with overseas exchanges, creating a nascent but meaningful avenue for technology-led revenue diversification.

Beyond these three core opportunities, two further avenues warrant consideration. Strategic investments in international exchanges through minority stakes, technology partnerships, or co-listing arrangements could extend Indian exchanges' global footprint. Similarly, data monetisation beyond index licensing, encompassing proprietary analytics and API-based data services, represents an emerging frontier, though the commercial infrastructure for such products is still developing domestically.

Section 8: Key Threats and Challenges in the Exchange Industry

India's stock exchanges have become systemically important institutions, having successfully scaled volumes in equities and derivatives. Yet with this growth comes heightened exposure to risks across technology, regulation, and global disruptions. The key threats and challenges are outlined below.

- Technology risks: The global financial services and capital markets landscape is undergoing rapid and transformative technological change, driven by emerging technologies such as artificial intelligence, machine learning, distributed ledger technology, cloud computing, tokenisation, etc., and at times, before a regulatory framework had been put in place. With trading fully electronic, technological robustness is critical. Software malfunctions, connectivity failures, and order-matching errors can affect market integrity at scale. Landmark episodes in global markets illustrate this vulnerability: the May 2010 'Flash Crash' in US equity and derivatives markets, the Knight Capital Group incident in August 2012 wherein the inadvertent reactivation of a deprecated order routing algorithm resulted in significant financial losses, fat-finger order entry errors that triggered sudden price dislocations in European and Asian markets, and settlement failures and order-routing latency events reported periodically across exchange groups globally. These events underscore that even mature, well-regulated market infrastructure remains prone to operational and technological stress.
- Cybersecurity risks: Exchanges face exposure to ransomware, data breaches, and denial-of-service attacks. The 2020 DDoS attack that halted the New Zealand Stock Exchange and the 2011 NASDAQ platform breach illustrate that even advanced financial infrastructures remain vulnerable to sophisticated attacks.
- Reversal of the liquidity super cycle: A decade of high liquidity has directed household savings towards financial assets. Should inflationary pressures, interest rate volatility, or macroeconomic stress materialise, there is a risk of reversion towards physical assets such as gold and real estate, historically preferred by Indian households.

- Market infrastructure resilience and capacity constraints: Faster settlement cycles compress operational timelines across trading, clearing, and depositories. India's transition to T+1 and optional T+0 settlements reduce counterparty risk but raise throughput and interoperability demands. Any capacity mismatch can create bottlenecks and settlement risk, reinforcing the need for ongoing infrastructure upgrades. Similar volume-driven interruptions have been observed in other markets when traffic exceeded infrastructure thresholds, reinforcing the need for ongoing capacity upgrades and real-time risk tooling.
- External shocks and global disruptions: Geopolitical and policy events can swiftly reshape capital flows and trading activity. The Russia-Ukraine conflict, the August 2025 US tariff changes on Indian imports, and the escalation of conflict involving Iran in early 2026 have each demonstrated India's exposure to externally driven market dislocations through commodity price volatility, currency pressure, and risk-off sentiment.
- Monetary and fiscal policy changes: RBI's cumulative 210 basis point repo rate increase between May 2022 and February 2023 compressed equity valuations, moderated margin funding, and dampened risk appetite among leveraged participants, with elevated funding costs shifting flows towards fixed income.
- Regulatory recalibrations: SEBI's May 2025 framework restricted exchanges to either Tuesday or Thursday expiry days. Following SEBI approval, NSE implemented Tuesday expiries and BSE implemented Thursday expiries for contracts expiring on or after 1 September 2025. This may influence the distribution of trading volumes between exchanges. SEBI's October 2024 derivatives framework restricted each exchange to offering weekly expiry contracts on only one benchmark index, effective 20 November 2024. These structural shifts, combined with increased STT rates on equity derivatives effective April 2026, may moderate speculative turnover and could disproportionately affect exchanges with significant exposure to derivatives activity. Additional measures included tighter position limit monitoring, refined methodologies for measuring open interest and effective exposures, enhanced intraday surveillance mechanisms, and recalibration of risk management and margin frameworks for index derivatives. While they enhance investor protection and systemic resilience, these measures have moderated speculative turnover and may continue to weigh on derivatives volumes in the near term. These measures increased margin discipline, reduced the scope for concentrated or leveraged short-term positioning, and aligned derivatives activity more closely with underlying cash market liquidity. While intended to curb excessive speculation and protect retail investors, these measures have moderated speculative turnover and contributed to a decline in trading volumes in Futures and Options and related revenue in Fiscal 2026.

Additionally, RBI's revised framework for lending to Capital Market Intermediaries, effective 1 July 2026, introduces tighter limits and collateral requirements on bank funding, including restrictions on financing proprietary securities trading. These measures could increase funding costs for market intermediaries and liquidity providers, potentially affecting market liquidity and NSE's trading volumes.

Our Journey and Scale of Operations in India

Our journey began in November 1992 with a vision to integrate stock trading across India. Over the years, we believe we have played a pivotal role in transforming the capital markets in India by democratising access and enabling efficient capital flows through a transparent, technology-driven ecosystem. This transformation is reflected in the expansion of our Unique Registered Investors base which has grown at a CAGR of 26.23% from 30.87 million as of March 31, 2020 to 132.37 million as of June 30, 2026, while the aggregate Market Capitalisation of Listed Entities<sup>4</sup> on our platform (Mainboard and EMERGE) grew at a CAGR of 25.89% during the same period. In the three months period ended June 30, 2026, and in Fiscal 2026, Total Fund

Mobilisation<sup>5</sup> of ₹6.19 trillion and ₹20.33 trillion was raised through our platform, respectively. Investors on our stock exchange span over 99% of Indian postal codes as of June 30, 2026, thereby democratising access to financial opportunities. As of June 30, 2026, we supported 261.36 million registered investor accounts, 1,328 trading members, 132.37 million Unique Registered Investors and 3,005 Listed Entities with a Market Capitalisation of Listed Entities of ₹474.08 trillion. The chart below illustrates our growth trajectory and scale of operations over the periods presented:

Establishment of Key Products and Market Institutions

We introduce new offerings to meet the evolving needs of market participants. Our product portfolio spans cash market, futures, options, mutual funds platform, commodity derivatives, exchange-traded currency derivatives, wholesale debt market and interest rate futures, among others, and we continue to expand our offerings across asset classes. For instance, we introduced electronic gold receipts on our platform as well as expanded our commodity derivatives offering to include new products such as 10-gram gold futures contracts, Dated Brent crude oil (Platts) futures, electricity futures and Indian natural gas futures. We also recently announced our collaboration with S&P Global Energy to launch derivatives on Platts benchmarks, followed by the launch of Dated Brent Crude Oil (Platts) Futures. We also entered into collaboration with Indian Gas Exchange Limited (IGX), followed by the launch of Indian natural gas Futures. As of Fiscal 2026 and three months period ended June 2026, we maintain leading market share positions in India across key asset classes, with market share of 92.99% and 93.05%, respectively, in cash market (based on total turnover), 99.79% and 99.72%, respectively, in equity futures (based on total turnover), 74.71% and 68.48%, respectively, in equity options (based on premium turnover), 99.48% and 100.00%, respectively, in exchange-traded currency futures (based on total turnover), 100.00% and 100.00% for exchange-traded currency options (based on total premium turnover), according to the Redseer Report. Further, we had a market share of 85.65% and 81.15%, respectively, in value of trades in listed and unlisted corporate bonds (executed on over-the-counter (“OTC”), request for quote (“RFQ”) and anonymous platform and settled through clearing corporations in India) in Fiscal 2026 and three months period ended June 2026, according to the Redseer Report.

We operate a vertically integrated and multi-asset class stock exchange that enables participants to trade, hedge, and manage risk across cash market, futures, options, mutual funds platform, commodity derivatives, exchange-traded currency derivatives, wholesale debt market and interest rate futures, among others, within a single platform, supported by a unified membership, technology, and risk management framework. This “one-stop platform” structure eliminates fragmentation and operational complexity, while cross-segment margin fungibility allows capital deployed in one segment to be efficiently utilised against exposures in another segment. As a result, market participants benefit from optimised capital usage, lower margin and funding requirements, improved liquidity deployment, and a more cost-efficient trading environment, leading to us being a capital-efficient and comprehensive financial ecosystem.

We have also established key market institutions to create a holistic ecosystem and serve as a one-stop platform for trading, listing and settlement. Our non-trading businesses provide complementary revenue sources and serve market participants' diverse needs, as described below:

- Clearing and settlement: We established NSE Clearing Limited (“NCL”) in August 1995 for offering clearing and settlement services in India. NCL is the largest clearing corporation in India in terms of cleared value, with a market

NCL has consistently been rated AAA by CRISIL since 2008 and, as of June 30, 2026, maintained a Core Settlement Guarantee Fund (“Core SGF”) of ₹133,619.41 million on a standalone basis out of the ₹133,923.06 million on a consolidated basis. ### Our Technology Infrastructure

We provide a robust, scalable and secure platform for market participants and investors. We continuously adapt our technology infrastructure to meet investor needs and evolving market requirements. Our platform processed an average of 12.46 billion messages daily during the period from April 1, 2024 to June 30, 2026, with 21.89 billion peak order messages processed in a single day on March 24, 2026, on which date 201.00 million trades were executed and on June 4, 2024, our platform processed a total of 293.85 million peak trades in a single day. The platform can also process ~5 million messages per second with microsecond response time for cash market, equity derivatives and exchange-traded currency derivatives. In Fiscal 2026, we enhanced our platform to provide immediate acknowledgement of receipt of order requests within nanoseconds. The installed capacity follows the applicable regulatory requirement and is designed for scalability. For additional information, see “Our Technology” on page 230.

Our combination of fault-tolerant servers (with inbuilt redundancy) and commodity servers ensures continuous, uninterrupted trading operations. Our infrastructure comprises seven data centres including Primary Data Centre (“PDC”) and member colocation data centre. The PDC is supported by a fully mirrored Disaster Recovery (“DR”) site, enabling switchover in under 45 minutes. We conduct full live operations from the DR site twice yearly, supplemented by regular mock drills. A Near Data Centre (“NDR”) located near the PDC replicates data in real time, targeting near-zero data loss. We enable a nationwide network through points of presence across more than 30 locations, including across Mumbai, New Delhi, Bangalore, Noida, Kolkata, Chennai, Ahmedabad, Pune, Hyderabad, Gandhinagar, Jaipur, Indore, Chandigarh, Bhopal and Vizag.

As a designated national Critical Information Infrastructure (“CII”) entity, we continuously monitor and identify suspicious cybersecurity activities to enable quick detection and response to potential threats, resulting in zero data breach incidents in the three months period ended June 30, 2026 and in Fiscals 2026, 2025 and 2024. Our technology is subject to several layers of IT governance. The Standing Committee On Technology (“SCOT”), a sub-committee of the Governing Board comprising Public Interest Directors and independent external experts, oversees technology strategy and execution. The Architecture Review Board (“ARB”), comprising independent external experts along with nominated SCOT members, reports to SCOT and is responsible for reviewing all technology-related architectural decisions, including new technology adoption and the technology roadmap. The Architecture Review and Coordination Committee (“ARCC”), a cross-functional team spanning application development, operations, infrastructure, cybersecurity and commercial functions, ensures compliance with ARB guidelines and provides oversight for key projects.

Integral to Indian capital formation journey

We believe we have evolved, over more than three decades, from a technology-driven trading platform into an institution integral to India's economic development and capital formation journey. Our role extends well beyond the provision of trading infrastructure: we serve as a key conduit through which companies, entrepreneurs, financial institutions and governments access the capital markets to fund growth and build productive capacity. In the three months period ended June 30, 2026 and in Fiscal 2026, we enabled the capital mobilisation of over ₹1.29 trillion and ₹4.78 trillion in equity capital and facilitated Total Fund Mobilisation of ₹6.19 trillion and ₹20.33 trillion through our platform, respectively, which we believe is evidence of our central role in India's capital formation architecture. This institutional significance is underpinned by the trust we have cultivated across multiple market cycles built through transparent price discovery, robust clearing and settlement, rigorous market supervision, and strong governance standards that together constitute a key competitive advantage. Critically, our three decades of institution-building have forged a repeatable capability: the ability to bring transparency, standardisation, efficient price discovery and regulated market infrastructure to large sectors of the economy - as demonstrated by our expansion into coal, electricity, natural gas, gold and international markets at GIFT City. This institutional capability, combined with our scalable, asset-light technology model enables new product introduction at low marginal cost, positions us to continue extending the benefits of organised, transparent markets to successive sectors of the Indian economy, which we believe reinforces our role as one of the catalysts for India's broader economic transformation.

We believe we are well positioned to benefit from the continued evolution of Indian and global capital markets, as the depth of liquidity, breadth of products, and operational scale of our platform create a highly attractive value proposition for existing and new investors while driving strong investor retention. Our sustained growth has enabled us to reinvest in innovation, reduce costs for market participants, and expand our product and data offerings. We remain committed to fostering trust, encouraging broad participation in India's capital markets, and driving the next phase of India's financial evolution.

Well positioned to benefit from India's structural growth tailwinds which drive strong network effects for NSE

India's rapid economic expansion, rising per capita incomes and accelerating financialisation of savings are converging to create a generational opportunity for capital market infrastructure. As individual and institutional participation deepens, supported by digital penetration, regulatory reforms and a maturing investor base, trading volumes, market liquidity and product demand are expected to continue to grow. Each new participant strengthens our liquidity pool, which in turn attracts further investors, issuers and intermediaries, generating powerful and self-reinforcing network effects. These dynamics, combined with our expanding product suite, index ecosystem and post-trade infrastructure, positions us to capture a growing share of India's capital markets growth over the long term. In the following paragraphs, we describe each of these tailwinds:

- Increasing individual investor participation

India's nominal gross domestic product ("GDP") has grown from US$2.61 trillion to US$3.92 trillion from Fiscal 2021 to Fiscal 2026 with a real GDP growth rate of 7.60% in Fiscal 2026 which was the highest among the Group of Twenty ("G20") economies. Gross national income per capita (current prices) has risen from ₹144,512.00 (US$1,636.05) in Fiscal 2021 to ₹240,147.00 (US$2,718.75) in Fiscal 2026, expanding the middle and upper-middle-income brackets (households earning ₹0.80 million (US$9,096.95) and beyond). (Source for this paragraph is the Redseer Report)

Systematic investment plan ("SIP") contributions in India have risen from ₹960.80 billion in Fiscal 2021 to ₹3,495.89 billion in Fiscal 2026. In three months period ended June 2026, SIP contributions amounted to ₹938.50 billion. Additionally, demat accounts across Indian depositories have grown from 55.13 million as of March 2021 to 224.51 million as of March 2026, reaching 231.55 million as of June 2026. Individual investors (including individual domestic investors, non-resident Indians ("NRIs"), sole proprietorship firms and Hindu undivided families ("HUFs")) contribute 33.40% and 33.10% of the total cash market turnover on NSE in Fiscal 2026 and three months period ended June 2026, respectively. The number of unique stock market investors in India stood at over 139 million as of March 2026 implying an investor penetration basis adult population (aged 18+) of 13.45%. (Source for this paragraph is the Redseer Report)

Our initiatives focused on ease of doing business, such as faster settlement cycles, investor grievance redressal mechanisms, and digital onboarding have resulted in easy access for retail investors. These efforts have made capital markets more accessible, transparent, and investor friendly.

- Increasing Institutional Participation

Institutional participation has grown in tandem with retail engagement, reinforcing market depth, liquidity, and resilience. For example,

- the mutual fund industry in India manages an AUM of ₹73.73 trillion and ₹82.22 trillion as of March 2026 and June 2026, respectively, and has grown at a CAGR of 18.60% since March 2021 and a CAGR of 19.55% since June 2021, with SIPs contributing ₹15.11 trillion and ₹17.70 trillion of the total industry AUM as of March 2026 and June 2026, respectively.

- SIP minimum ticket sizes of ₹500.00 per month (and ₹100.00 for select micro-SIP schemes) promote financial inclusion. The number of mutual fund schemes (including open-ended schemes, close ended schemes, interval schemes and fund of funds scheme (domestic)) has grown from 1,789 in March 2021 to 1,854 in March 2026, reaching 2,090 schemes in June 2026.
- furthermore, AUM contribution from beyond 30 cities has grown from ₹5.36 trillion in March 2021 to ₹13.89 trillion in March 2026. Moreover, AUM from B30 cities stood at ₹15.88 trillion in June 2026 implying a share in total industry AUM of 19.31%. As of March 2026 and June 2026, the Total AUM of India Passive Funds Linked to Nifty Indices was ~₹8.14 trillion and ~₹8.95 trillion in index funds and ETFs (excluding gold and silver), respectively.

In the three months period ended June 30, 2026 and in Fiscal 2026, 19 and 97 new products (7 and 55 ETFs and 12 and 42 index funds) that were linked to Nifty Indices were launched, respectively, and an increasing number of global ETFs and index funds now track Indian indices. This reflects India's rising prominence in global asset allocation. This institutional shift towards index-linked investments deepens the relevance of our indices and data services.

- Indian Capital Markets are becoming Robust and Resilient with Significant Room for Expansion

Over 30 years (June 1996 to June 2026), Nifty 50 has posted annualised returns of 10.73% in ₹ terms (7.12% in US$ terms), and Nifty 500 has posted annualised returns of 11.91% in ₹ terms (8.27% in US$ terms), outperforming major developed and emerging market indices. Over the same period, Market Capitalisation of Listed Entities on our Exchange has grown by nearly 107 times. We have been among the top three exchange groups globally in terms of number of new listings through IPO from Fiscal 2023 to Fiscal 2026 and were ranked among the top five exchange groups globally in terms of number of new listings through IPO in three months period ended June 30, 2026. India also has a matured regulatory framework governed by rollouts of new regulations and periodic revisions in the existing rules by the SEBI. India also has a vibrant entrepreneurial ecosystem in terms of number of Department for Promotion of Industry and Internal Trade recognised startups reaching more than 223,000 as of March 2026 with more than 50.00% of these startups coming from tier II and tier III cities. (Source for this paragraph is the Redseer Report)

- Other offerings

India's sovereign credit rating has improved, supported by multiple credit rating agencies upgrading India's long-term sovereign credit rating in the year 2025. India has been included in major global bond indices, with phased additions underway across emerging market debt benchmarks making debt instruments more attractive to foreign investors. Gross purchases across debt by foreign portfolio investors ("FPIs") in India rose from ₹4.13 trillion in Fiscal 2024 to ₹6.43 trillion in Fiscal 2026. (Source for this paragraph is the Redseer Report)

- Network Effects

The financialisation of savings has driven a significant increase in participants on our platform. A growing participant base leads to higher trading volumes, enhancing market efficiency and liquidity, thereby making our platform more attractive and improving trust and stickiness. Higher liquidity attracts more issuers, broadening investor choice, while a diversified product portfolio fuels deeper engagement across offerings. Growing volumes generate large datasets that enhance our ability to launch new products, and our scale allows us to operate at lower unit costs. These dynamics create a powerful network effect, reinforcing our leadership and positioning us to benefit sustainably from India's ongoing economic and capital market transformation.

Strong brand synonymous with trust, efficiency and transparency, across our trading platform as well as our clearing, settlement and market supervisory role

- Strong brand synonymous with trust

We work with Indian regulators such as SEBI and the International Financial Services Centres Authority (“IFSCA”) on various policy matters, which further strengthens investor trust and confidence in capital markets. In Fiscal 1995, we were the first stock exchange in India, among the ones still operational, to introduce a fully automated, screen-based electronic trading system through our National Exchange for Automated Trading (“NEAT”) platform, according to the Redseer Report. This innovation enabled anonymous, order-driven trading and ensured full price-time priority matching, thereby eliminating manual intervention, increasing market accessibility, and reducing information asymmetry. This technological foundation continues to underpin our operations and contributes significantly to market transparency.

- Role of a Market Supervisor and First level Regulator

Market Infrastructure Institutions (“MIIs”) being public utility institutions act as first level regulators and are entrusted with the responsibility of providing equal, unrestricted, transparent and fair access to all market participants. As an MII, our role as a first level regulator and market supervisor is pivotal in maintaining the integrity, transparency and robustness of the Indian capital markets. By implementing stringent surveillance and compliance mechanisms, we ensure that market activities are conducted in a fair and orderly manner. We monitor trading patterns and market behaviour in real-time to detect and prevent market manipulation, insider trading and other malpractices. We collaborate closely with regulators to enhance market governance and investor protection, enforcing a comprehensive framework of rules and regulations designed to uphold market discipline. Through our proactive market supervision, we contribute to the stability and resilience of the financial system, fostering investor confidence and promoting sustainable growth in capital markets.

Our role as a first level regulator is operationalised through dedicated functions spanning investor protection, market surveillance, issuer oversight and intermediary supervision.

- Our investor service cell facilitates the redressal of investor grievances against trading members and Listed Entities through SEBI’s SEBI Complaints Redress System (“SCORES”) portal and the Smart Online Dispute Resolution (“SMARTODR”) online dispute resolution mechanism, supported by 50 common investor service centres operated jointly with SEBI and BSE across India, and undertakes initiatives such as the “Know Your Broker” disclosure tab, training programmes for arbitrators and conciliators and trading member conclaves.
- Our surveillance and investigation function deploys pre-emptive surveillance measures including the additional surveillance measure, graded surveillance measure, enhanced surveillance measure, periodic call auction sessions and rumour verification, supported by a data warehouse system, the member surveillance dashboard and a case management system, to detect market abuse and protect market integrity.
- Our listing approval function facilitates listings of equity shares, convertible securities, units of REITs and InvITs and debt instruments through initial public offerings, rights issues, follow-on public offerings, preferential allotments, qualified institutional placements, employee stock option plans and schemes of arrangement among others across our Mainboard, EMERGE and the debt platform, and includes our SSE segment which enables fundraising and units of ETFs by social enterprises.

- Our listing compliance function monitors ongoing compliance by Listed Entities with the SEBI (Listing Obligations and Disclosure Requirements) Regulations, 2015, including periodic and event-based disclosures, corporate governance requirements and compliance with conditions of listing, and initiates regulatory action for non-compliance.
  - Our listing investigation function detects financial fraud, fund diversion, misstatements and governance irregularities through alerts based on financial and non-financial indicators, governance and shareholding changes, material announcements and SEBI-referred complaints, and submits detailed examination reports to SEBI on matters such as related party transactions, layering of funds, IPO fund misutilisation and transactions with foreign subsidiaries and connected entities.
  - Our membership registration and compliance function manages the end-to-end lifecycle of trading members and authorised persons, including onboarding, structural and management approvals, ongoing compliance monitoring and exit management, and operates a technology-driven supervision framework for stockbrokers covering comprehensive, focus area, limited purpose and joint inspections, offsite supervision through alerts, monitoring of qualified stockbrokers, system and cyber audits and oversight under the cybersecurity and cyber resilience framework.
  - Our enforcement function ensures adherence by trading members to SEBI and the regulations of our Exchange through standardised penalty actions and matters referred to the member committee, with monetary penalties and financial disincentives so collected being credited to the investor protection fund and not forming part of our revenue.
- Efficiency in Trading

We provide a robust, high-speed, technology-led platform across equities, debt, commodities, currencies and their derivatives, and ETFs. Our systems are designed for scale, resilience and transparency, enabling efficient transactions while ensuring regulatory compliance. We have built a reputation for efficiency by delivering low-latency, high-reliability trading infrastructure which has processed 21.89 billion peak order messages in a day on March 24, 2026, on which date 201.00 million trades were executed and on June 4, 2024, our platform processed a total of 293.85 million peak trades in a single day. We have also deployed an immediate acknowledgement feature across product categories, delivering order acknowledgement in nanoseconds. Our infrastructure comprises seven data centres which support an external network of over 200,000 trading terminals across more than 1,400 cities and towns as of June 30, 2026, enabling deep market participation and liquidity from retail and institutional investors alike.

- Trust in Clearing

Our role as a trusted counterparty is further strengthened by our Subsidiaries, NCL and NSEICC, which act as clearing corporations and ensure seamless settlement of trades. They implement advanced real-time risk management and margining systems that guarantee the integrity of trade execution, thereby fostering trust in the ecosystem. The clearing corporation framework, together with a multilateral netting mechanism, contributes to systemic stability and investor protection. For additional information on our clearing and settlement services, see “– Clearing and Settlement” on page 229.

- Transparency in Operations

Transparency is a core pillar of our operations. We disseminate real-time market data, ensure standardised and corporate disclosures, and maintain clear and non-discriminatory access for all stakeholders. We routinely disseminate comprehensive market-related information on our official website to ensure transparency and accountability. Our goal is to set global standards in transparency and resiliency, while equipping investors with education, awareness, and accessible grievance mechanisms.

- Financial Inclusion

Through our Investor Awareness Programmes (“IAPs”), we believe we have actively promoted informed and responsible investment behaviour across India and take pride in our initiatives focused on investor education and protection. We continue to strengthen our investor engagement by improving access, transparency, and convenience and conducted 17,916 investor awareness and financial literacy programmes, reaching 941,877 participants across India during Fiscal 2026 and 1,030 investor awareness and financial literacy programmes, reaching 51,767 participants across India during the three months period ended June 30, 2026. We believe this focus on investor awareness and education directly contributes to fostering informed participation and long-term trust in capital markets.

We also established the SSE in 2023, a dedicated platform that enables non-profit organisations and for-profit social enterprises to raise funds for social causes by listing on our platform, aligned with the vision of promoting transparency and accessibility in social impact investing while empowering inclusive growth. As of June 30, 2026, 16 projects were listed on this platform and have successfully raised over ₹445.66 million since inception, demonstrating our commitment to driving social impact and inclusive growth. We are also facilitating the maiden issue of outcome-based social bond led by the Government of Madhya Pradesh. This initiative aims to support marginalised youth through skill development and overseas employment opportunities, with a clear focus on measurable outcomes.

Through our various initiatives and processes, we enable seamless access to capital, price discovery and transparent trading backed by strong governance, regulatory compliance and technology, and as a result we have been designated as CII by NCIIPC.

Track record of comprehensive and innovative offerings delivered through a vertically integrated business model

- Track record of developing new products

In Fiscal 1995, NSE was the first stock exchange in India, among the ones still operational, to introduce a fully automated, screen-based electronic trading system through the NEAT platform. NCL was India's first clearing corporation to be established and the first to provide a settlement guarantee mechanism. In May 2008, an RBI-SEBI committee laid the framework for exchange-traded currency derivatives and NSE was the first stock exchange in India to launch exchange-traded currency derivatives on August 29, 2008. NSE had a market share of 71.38% and 53.52% in electricity futures (in number of lots traded) between July 14, 2025 to March 31, 2026 and April 1, 2026 to June 30, 2026, respectively. NCL was one of the first clearing corporations globally to gradually transition to a T+1 settlement cycle, further introducing a T+0 settlement cycle, strengthening the settlement mechanism. These ecosystem initiatives reflect our commitment to holistic market development and our role as a catalyst for financial inclusion and innovation in India's capital markets.

In addition, we have been designated by SEBI as the PaRRVA Data Centre for the Past Risk and Return Verification Agency (“PaRRVA”). The initiative is carried out in collaboration with Care Ratings Limited which has been recognised by SEBI as the PaRRVA. PaRRVA is designed to enhance transparency and reliability in risk and return verification processes by providing intermediaries, including investment advisers, research analysts, and algo providers, and their retail investor clients, with access to accurate and standardised data on the performance of their recommendations. Intermediaries submit their recommendations to the PaRRVA, which conducts comprehensive verification and generates risk and return metrics, computing different risk and return matrices based on transaction data sourced directly from the stock exchanges and clearing corporations, for dissemination to investors via PaRRVA.

The exhibit below provides an overview of key products offered by our platform, as of June 30, 2026:

Technology platform built for scale and resilience

- Platform

We have been designated as a CII by the NCIIPC. We have engineered an agile, robust and resilient infrastructure with continuous investments in technology upgrades and security enhancements to ensure seamless operation of our exchange platform. We have implemented a comprehensive business continuity management policy supported by a strong governance framework, detailed procedures and rigorous testing and training programmes to maintain uninterrupted operations and safeguard market integrity. Our systems operate with combination of fault-tolerant servers (with inbuilt redundancy) and commodity servers, and we maintain a 4:1 ratio for critical telecom links for persistent connectivity. Our platform's scalability is demonstrated by our ability to manage multiple asset classes and scale as per the needs of market participants, and by our capability to process transactions across instruments including equities, bonds, derivatives, ETFs, mutual funds, REITs, and InvITs with the capacity to handle billions of messages while maintaining microsecond order response times and nanosecond order acknowledgement response times for cash markets, equity derivatives and exchange-traded currency derivatives. We focus on ensuring continuous platform availability and high performance, enhancing user experience through prioritised uptime and stakeholder engagement.

Our technological capabilities encompass trading, clearing, surveillance, and investor services. NCL provides T+1 and T+0 settlement cycles along with seamless interoperability across clearing corporations, and our post-trade ecosystem integrates with multiple depositories and clearing banks, supporting real-time processing with enhanced resilience. NCL also operates a multi-tiered risk management framework that ensures real-time exposure monitoring, stringent margining and secure collateral management. We employ big data tools to support real-time surveillance and fraud detection, including social media intelligence, which we believe enables us to protect market integrity and investor interests in a fast-moving digital environment. We continuously enhance the platforms through which our trading members and listed entities interact with us, for their daily operational requirements. These enhancements are done based on regular feedback received during member and listed company meetings. We keep developing our website, launched our mobile application and introduced multilingual functionality with near real-time market data dissemination, thereby making our platform more accessible to the growing investor community.

We continue to support our ecosystem by making application programming interfaces (“APIs”) available for all our critical offerings across trading, clearing and settlement, primary markets and the systems used by trading members and listed entities for their daily operational interactions with us. APIs are made available along with a testing sandbox. This approach has helped trading members, listed entities and asset management companies streamline their operations, and has enabled vendors to provide innovative and integrated solutions and features, contributing to the growth of the overall market.

- Cybersecurity

We have implemented a comprehensive cybersecurity and risk management framework aligned with global standards, including the National Institute of Standards and Technology, the International Organisation for Standardisation, and SEBI's Cyber Security and Cyber Resilience Framework, ensuring confidentiality, integrity and availability of systems and data. We have established an enterprise-wide risk assessment and review mechanism consisting of, risk identification, assessment and categorisation, considering the impact and likelihood of risks and the controls and mitigation plans in place to reduce overall risk exposure and residual impact. As a designated national CII, we maintain 24x7 monitoring through our cyber defence centre, supported by advanced threat intelligence and anomaly detection tools. Our multi-layered defence strategy spans people, processes and technology, with robust controls including encryption, identity management, and endpoint protection. We conduct regular vulnerability assessments and penetration testing, red teaming exercises (simulated adversarial attacks to test the effectiveness of our security controls), and stress testing to proactively identify and mitigate risks. Our governance structure includes oversight by the Governing Board, risk management committee, standing committee on technology, audit committee, and information security steering committee, ensuring continuous vigilance and resilience. We also have a strong cybersecurity track record and no data breaches of our operations in the three months period ended June 30, 2026 and in Fiscals 2026, 2025, and 2024.

- Governance

Our technology is subject to several layers of IT governance. SCOT, a sub-committee of the Governing Board comprising Public Interest Directors and independent external experts, oversees technology strategy and execution. ARB, comprising independent external experts along with nominated SCOT members, reports to SCOT and is responsible for reviewing all technology-related architectural decisions, including new technology adoption and the technology roadmap. ARCC, a cross-functional team spanning application development, operations, infrastructure, cybersecurity and commercial functions, ensures compliance with ARB guidelines and provides oversight for key projects.

- People, agility and adaptability

We focus on in-house technology development and deep internal expertise. Our dedicated technology teams invest in upskilling and expanding our bench of subject matter experts, automation specialists and technology architects. This approach enables us to drive large-scale transformation projects, maintain robust business continuity and ensure that operational excellence remains directly under our control. We build and modernise our platform internally, supported by strong governance, continuous upskilling and direct oversight, enabling rapid innovation, enhanced security and reliable handling of record-high trading volumes.

Our in-house developed platforms have evolved into a modular and flexible architecture, accelerating our time-to-market for major initiatives. By deploying our existing systems with minimal modifications, we successfully launched NSEIX and commenced live trading in June 2017. We upgraded the NSEIX systems within one and a half years and in July 2022, and established NSEIX-SGX Connect at GIFT City which became fully operational in July 2023. Our teams possess the technical expertise of these platforms which is required to replicate the platforms for other similar asset classes. We adapted our cash market platform and infrastructure to roll out electronic gold receipt trading in May 2026. In December 2025, we implemented the SEBI-mandated pre-open session to determine fair pricing in equity futures and equity options within a short timeframe by reusing our proven cash market capabilities. We leveraged this same underlying technology platform for the implementation of the regulatory closing auction session on August 03, 2026, to mitigate price volatility during closing determinations in the cash market.

- Innovation

Our technology strategy prioritises leveraging advanced technology to provide a secure, scalable and robust platform for market participants. Our objective is to foster a culture of innovation and digitisation to strengthen service quality and security. We have built an advanced monitoring framework covering applications, infrastructure and security to enhance the resilience of our critical systems using industry-standard tools. We have also adopted industry-standard tools for better access control, proper operational workflows, authorisations (maker-checker), execution and automation to strengthen operational control. Our trading platform utilises a combination of fault-tolerant servers (with inbuilt redundancy) and commodity servers. We maintain synchronous data replication from our PDC to NDR site, ensuring near-zero data loss.

We have identified four key areas for generative artificial intelligence (“AI”) deployment: operational efficiency, customer support, software development and compliance. Given the private and sensitive nature of exchange data, all generative AI initiatives are conducted within our data centres without reliance on publicly hosted large language model platforms for sensitive data processing. We have multiple proofs of concept underway across these areas. Initial deployment has demonstrated success in operational efficiency through multi-lingual support for our website, with all generative AI outputs subject to human review prior to production deployment. We intend to continue developing these capabilities.

Our IT capital expenditure increased from ₹733.33 million in the three-month period ended June 30, 2025 to ₹1,211.59 million in the three-month period ended June 30, 2026, and was ₹4,366.00 million in Fiscal 2024 and ₹4,220.26 million in Fiscal 2026.

Our operating technology expenses increased from ₹3,091.49 million in the three-month period ended June 30, 2025 to ₹3,654.26 million in the three-month period ended June 30, 2026. Further, our operating technology expenses increased from ₹7,861.71 million in Fiscal 2024 to ₹13,145.75 million in Fiscal 2026.

We have received awards for our innovations. In 2025, NCL was awarded “Outstanding Innovation in Clearing Services” at the Asset Servicing Times Industry Excellence Awards. In 2024 and 2025, we were awarded “Best Infrastructure Platform in Asia” by Asia Asset Management at the Best of the Best Awards. In 2024, we received an award for innovation by Red Hat Inc. at the Red Hat APAC Innovation Awards, and our fully integrated web-based fixed income analytics platform won the 14th edition of the Aegis Graham Bell Award (“AGBA”) under the ‘Innovation in Finance’ category. See “– Awards” on page 233 for additional awards.

For additional information see “– Our Technology” on page 230.

Combination of scale, growth, profitability and sustained cash generation

Our Total income has grown to ₹187,133.70 million in Fiscal 2026 from ₹163,520.62 million in Fiscal 2024, and to ₹52,521.74 million in the three months period ended June 30, 2026 from ₹47,984.50 million in the three months period ended June 30, 2025. Further, in Fiscal 2026, we had one of the lowest non-volume-linked expenses, the highest adjusted operating EBITDA margin, and one of the highest Profit After Tax Margin compared to leading listed stock exchange groups globally, according to the Redseer Report. The breadth of our offerings, from equities and derivatives to fixed income and commodities along with our listing, clearing and other services, positions us to capture growth across diverse segments of the financial economy. Further, our marginal cost of adding new products is low due to our scale. For instance, electricity futures were introduced on our platform in July 2025 to facilitate power trading at optimised capital expenditure. Our technology infrastructure has enabled us to launch products at lower transaction charges to benefit our investors.

Our profitability is underpinned by consistent and sustained cash generation which allows us to self-fund investments, maintain a high-quality capital buffer, and support ecosystem development, as demonstrated in the table below:

Our scalable and asset-light model enables efficient reinvestment, while our cost structure and market position allow us to offer competitive pricing, reinforcing customer loyalty. This combination of scale, growth, profitability, and cash flow generation positions us well for sustainable value delivery to all our stakeholders.

Experienced and skilled management team committed to upholding strong corporate governance standards

We have a dedicated and experienced management team with significant experience in the securities industry, client service, regulatory supervision and the technology sector. Their expertise underpins our success, resilience, and long-standing market leadership. Our management team comprises individuals from diverse backgrounds and experience. Their depth of expertise enables them to interpret market movements and trends, positioning our business to capitalise on emerging opportunities and effectively manage risks, which is crucial to enhance our ability to adapt to the macroeconomic environment and drive our business forward. It also enables us to navigate new challenges and leverage opportunities for sustainable growth. Our ability to attract experienced and skilled key management personnel and senior management team members demonstrates the value proposition we offer. This ensures that we benefit from a deep understanding of their experience of diversified organisational cultures, strategic goals, objectives and market dynamics.

As an MII, we place significant emphasis on maintaining robust corporate governance standards which ensure transparency, accountability and integrity in our operations, thereby promoting trust among our stakeholders. Our senior management is guided by our Governing Board, which comprises a majority of public interest directors, in all aspects of decision-making and operations. The presence of a large public interest director base on our Governing Board is central to our governance framework, as it ensures that regulatory and public interest considerations are embedded at the highest level of oversight and are not subordinated to commercial objectives.

We also have Governing Board committees consisting of members with relevant functional experience to guide us in matters relating to their areas of expertise, including a dedicated oversight committee which is responsible for supervising our regulatory and public interest obligations, providing an additional layer of independent scrutiny over our regulatory functions. To further safeguard the independence of our regulatory activities from our commercial operations, we maintain robust information barriers between our regulatory and commercial divisions. These barriers ensure that confidential regulatory information is appropriately ring-fenced and that regulatory decision-making is insulated from commercial pressures.

We are guided by a robust framework that includes clear and regulatory-compliant organisational policies for risk management, and compliance with regulatory requirements. Our governance approach not only protects the interests of our stakeholders but also supports our strategic objectives by promoting ethical behaviour and informed decision-making, enabling us to manage our operations with a focus on delivering sustainable, long-term stakeholder value creation. Taken together, these governance mechanisms, the majority of public interest directors, the oversight committee, and our information barriers, demonstrate our commitment to managing the inherent duality of our position as both a first level regulator and a for-profit entity, ensuring that the public interest remains at the forefront of our operations.

Our Strategies

Continue to act as a catalyst for new capital formation in India across asset classes and continue to attract new issuers and investors

Since incorporation, we have built our platform on the pillars of trust, transparency, and market integrity. Over the decades, we have facilitated access to capital for issuers of all sizes and provided investors with reliable, efficient, and liquid markets to participate in India's growth story. During the three months period ended June 30, 2026 and in Fiscal 2026, we enabled the mobilisation of over ₹1.29 trillion and ₹4.78 trillion in equity capital through new listings, follow-on offerings, and other capital-raising avenues, while providing a robust secondary market, respectively. We believe that our leadership position in both listings and trading reflects the trust that issuers and investors place in our platform.

Our growth is underpinned by a self-reinforcing flywheel: as more issuers choose to list with us, the breadth and depth of our markets expand, attracting more investors who value our platform's liquidity, product diversity, and operational reliability. This, in turn, creates greater liquidity and lowers the cost of capital for issuers, further strengthening our position as the engine for capital formation. We are also expanding the reach of our platform into new asset classes such as launch of a coal exchange, electricity futures, gold futures, among others. See “ - Automate and organise large markets in India through launch of new products” on page 221.

Continuing to provide a transparent, orderly, and fair access to all market participants, fostering investor confidence and promoting sustainable growth in capital markets

We are committed to providing transparent, orderly and fair access to all market participants, which we believe is foundational to fostering lasting investor confidence and promoting sustainable growth in India's capital markets. Since inception, our platform has been designed to ensure a level playing field for all categories of participants - from large institutional investors to retail and first-time investors - through robust market surveillance frameworks, real-time risk management systems and standardised trading protocols that uphold market integrity. We believe the scale of our platform is a direct reflection of the trust market participants place in our transparent and orderly market infrastructure.

We continuously invest in enhancing the transparency of our price discovery mechanisms, strengthening our order-matching systems to ensure fairness and efficiency, and maintaining comprehensive disclosure and reporting standards that enable participants to make well-informed decisions. Our regulatory framework, underpinned by our role as a first level regulator, is designed to deter market manipulation, ensure compliance with applicable laws and regulations, and promote orderly conduct across all market segments.

We have also worked with SEBI and other MIIs on initiatives such as the “SEBI vs SCAM” campaign launched in July 2025 and jointly hosted Samvad 2026, reinforcing our commitment to protecting investors from financial fraud and promoting informed market participation. This is supported by broader digital access, such as mobile trading platform, multilingual digital platform, onboarding processes, and the launch of products such as electronic gold receipts that democratise access to new asset classes by enabling investors across the nation to trade with transparency. We believe that by maintaining high standards of governance, operational resilience and equitable access, we can continue to attract a diverse and growing base of issuers and investors, deepen liquidity across asset classes, and contribute meaningfully to the long-term, sustainable development of India's capital markets ecosystem.

Further our commitment to technology infrastructure and continuous modernisation

We believe that our technological edge is fundamental to maintaining trust, transparency, and efficiency in the Indian capital markets. We intend to use our strong in-house development capabilities and continued investment to further augment the resilience and capacity of our platform. Our systems are designed to handle peak loads seamlessly, backed by high-availability data centres and server deployments along with redundant network equipment and links, and a strong DR framework. We are committed to delivering data centre infrastructure that empowers all market participants.

Over the last two years, we have added 746 full rack equivalents (“FREs”) in a phased manner, increasing our cumulative capacity from 934 FRE racks as of Fiscal 2024 to 1,680 FRE racks as of Fiscal 2026. As of June 30, 2026, we have 1,868 member colocation FRE racks (an addition of 188 FRE racks). We intend to continue expanding our colocation capacity with an aim to add the 1,800+ FRE racks to meet growing demand, subject to market requirements and service enhancements. We have also enabled a high-speed network with points of presence across multiple locations, allowing members to connect to the exchange through third-party service providers. This strategic investment reinforces our role as a global benchmark in trading infrastructure and reflects our vision for inclusive, resilient and technology-driven capital markets.

We have also undertaken several strategic initiatives to bolster our technological capabilities across other asset classes. We advanced our digital infrastructure to streamline compliance, enhance investor access, and support the increased capital market activity in India. For example, we introduced an integrated filing platform which enabled API-based submissions for Listed Entities, simplifying governance and grievance disclosures across exchanges. We also optimised our E-IPO platform, enabling us to process 7.11 million bids in the three months period ended June 30, 2026 and 140.10 million bids during Fiscal 2026, respectively. In Fiscal 2025, we also launched a mobile application and revamped our website with faster navigation, real-time data, and multilingual support in 12 regional languages, powered by AI assisted translation models. We also implemented key SEBI-mandated regulatory reforms and high-impact initiatives, including block deal revisions, standardised futures and options expiry dates, introduction of pre-open session in futures and options, updates to SME IPO processes thereby reinforcing our commitment to compliance and operational excellence.

We are actively progressing on a comprehensive portfolio of AI and generative AI initiatives spanning regulatory technology, supervisory technology, operational efficiency, user experience, and software delivery. Key initiatives-including AI-assisted document review for offer documents, IPO media intelligence, social media monitoring, enterprise knowledge management, speech-to-text analytics, and AI-assisted software development tools-are currently in pilot, user acceptance testing (“UAT”), or phased deployment stages within a secure on-premises environment with robust governance controls and human oversight. Upon successful validation and wider adoption, these initiatives are expected to accelerate regulatory and compliance reviews, enhance surveillance and risk identification capabilities, reduce manual effort and turnaround times, and enable better decision-making through AI-assisted insights and automation-positioning us at the forefront of technology-driven capital markets transformation.

Over the years we have made sustained and proactive investments in upgrading and modernising our technology stack. Set out below are the investments we have made towards our technology infrastructure for the period/Fiscal indicated:

We focused on critical infrastructure modernisation. We also invested in strengthening our talent pool by upskilling across key technology domains. We are exploring advanced technologies such as AI-powered observability platform, which provide real-time insight into applications and infrastructure to detect anomalies early, minimise downtime, and strengthen operational resilience, and enhanced security information and event management tools to further improve operational efficiency, increase ease of compliance, and strengthen surveillance and risk management. We remain fully committed to investing in cutting-edge systems and capabilities that will support the evolving needs of India's capital markets.

Continue to drive market innovation and business diversification

We aspire to be at the forefront of capital market innovation, continuously expanding our suite of offerings to meet the evolving needs of market participants and support the growth of India's financial ecosystem. Our track record demonstrates our ability to conceptualise, develop, and operationalise solutions in close collaboration with regulators, policymakers, and stakeholders. For a timeline of our key innovations, see “– Track record of developing new products” on page 214. We intend to develop new and innovative products to drive trading volumes by attracting new investors to our Exchange and expanding the array of offerings available to existing investors. This strategic diversification not only enhances our value proposition to investors but also mitigates risks by spreading them across various asset classes.

We remain committed to driving innovation-led diversification of our business. In line with the Government of India's (“GoI”) vision to modernise India's financial and physical infrastructure, we are building a platform that brings more transparency, efficiency, and innovation to traditionally unorganised sectors. For instance, our launch of electricity futures contracts in July 2025, enabled power producers, utilities, and large consumers to hedge price risks and ensure financial stability. We have also introduced electronic gold receipts on our platform, enabling transparent, standardised and efficient trading and settlement of gold in dematerialised form. We are also working on launching new sustainability-linked products, enhancing environmental, social and governance (“ESG”)-focused offerings, expanding our index portfolio, and deepening our digital market infrastructure to enable broader investor participation. We continue to actively engage with market participants and policymakers to conceptualise next-generation solutions that can further strengthen market depth, liquidity, and transparency. In August 2026, we launched futures and options contracts on the Nifty India FPI 150 Index (Nifty FPI), tracking the top 150 stocks from the Nifty 500 that ensure accessibility and investibility for foreign investors, broadening the range of hedging and investment instruments available to global market participants. We have also expanded our index portfolio with the launch of new thematic indices, including the Nifty Sugar & Ethanol Index and Nifty Small Finance Banks & Microfinance Institutions Index in June 2026, the Nifty500 Ahimsa Index, the Nifty REITs & InvITs 90:10 Index, the Nifty Next 100 Index and the Nifty India Defence Equal Weight Index. Our thought leadership, coupled with our robust execution capabilities, positions us well to unlock new growth opportunities and contribute meaningfully to India's journey towards becoming a leading global financial hub.

Automate and organise large markets in India through launch of new products

We are strategically focused on automating and organising large, traditionally unorganised markets in India by leveraging our core competencies in building trusted, technology-driven marketplaces. Our platform's scalability and asset-light model enable us to introduce new products across asset classes at low marginal cost, thereby extending the benefits of transparent price discovery, standardised contracts and efficient settlement to sectors that have historically operated without formal exchange infrastructure. In a significant development, we received SEBI approval in April 2026 to establish a dedicated unit for a national coal trading exchange. Subsequently, National Coal Exchange of India Limited was incorporated on June 19, 2026, as a wholly owned subsidiary of our Company. This initiative is intended to create a transparent, electronic platform for the buying and selling of domestically produced coal, introducing standardised contracts, physical delivery mechanisms and future derivatives designed to improve price efficiency and establish a reliable spot benchmark. India is one of the world's largest consumers of coal, and we believe that bringing this market onto a regulated exchange platform will enhance transparency, reduce information asymmetry and promote more efficient resource allocation.

In the energy space, we launched electricity futures contracts in July 2025, enabling power producers, utilities and large consumers to hedge price risks and ensure financial stability. We have also launched Indian Natural Gas Futures contracts in July 2026, with the final settlement price based on the monthly weighted average price of actual deliveries on the IGX. We hold a strategic investment of 24.75% in IGX, an associate company that operates a gas exchange platform. We believe this will enable market-based pricing and efficient resource allocation in the energy sector. We have also recently expanded our commodity derivatives platform with new products such as 10-gram gold futures contracts and Brent crude oil. We also recently announced our collaboration with S&P Global Energy to launch derivatives on Platts benchmarks, followed by the launch of Dated Brent Crude Oil (Platts) Futures.

Ensuring continued trust among all stakeholders and fostering a culture of responsible investing and financial inclusion

Trust has been the cornerstone of our journey since inception, and we remain deeply committed to upholding the confidence of our stakeholders in every aspect of our operations, from trading and clearing to settlement and market supervision. Our role as a first level regulator, infrastructure provider, and enabler of efficient markets demands the highest levels of transparency, governance, and operational rigour. We believe that deep, vibrant capital markets must be underpinned by informed and responsible investors, and we remain committed to promoting investor education and awareness as an integral part of our strategy to build trust and widen market participation across all segments of society. We intend to continue to invest in strengthening our end-to-end market infrastructure, including our trading platform, risk management systems, and clearing and settlement frameworks, to ensure resilience, security, and compliance with the best global practices. By ensuring seamless coordination between trading and post-trade processes, and through our active role in supervising and regulating the markets, we strive to maintain the trust of investors, issuers, intermediaries, and regulators. We believe that our reputation is built in large part on our effective regulatory oversight and listing standards. We, therefore, remain committed to maintaining strong and effective regulations.

The establishment of NSDL in 1996 demonstrated our dedication to financial inclusion, as it facilitated easier and more secure access to the securities market for a broader population. Our shareholding in NSDL has reduced from 24.00% to 15.00% following its listing on August 6, 2025, in compliance with the 15.00% ownership threshold prescribed under Regulation 21 of the SEBI Depositories Regulations. We also established the SSE in 2023, a dedicated platform that enables non-profit organisations and for-profit social enterprises to raise funds for social causes by listing on our platform. It aligns with the vision of promoting transparency and accessibility in social impact investing, while empowering inclusive growth. We believe that we are a catalyst in India's financial digitalisation wave, leveraging technology to democratise market access, empower retail investors, and foster inclusive growth across the capital markets. Over the years, we have also launched multiple investor education and outreach initiatives across urban and rural India, with a special focus on first-time and retail investors. Our efforts include digital learning platform, on-ground workshops, regional language modules, and collaboration with educational institutions and industry associations. In Fiscal 2026 and the three months period ended June 30, 2026, we conducted 17,916 and 1,030 investor awareness and financial literacy programmes, reaching 941,877 and 51,767 participants across India, respectively. We intend to continue to invest in expanding these initiatives to strengthen financial literacy, promote responsible investing practices, and empower investors to make informed decisions. By prioritising financial inclusion and equitable access to markets, we aim to create a more balanced and resilient investor base that will help drive sustainable growth for India's capital markets.

Forging global partnerships and collaborations and building our presence in GIFT City's International Financial Services Centre as a global financial hub

To promote cross-border financial cooperation and help companies worldwide raise funds from global investors in a regulated, fair, efficient and transparent manner, NSEIX was established in November 2016 in India's GIFT City. We have also established partnerships with exchanges and MIIs internationally, enabling us to share best practices, drive innovation, and expand opportunities for our stakeholders. A key pillar of our international strategy is the development of our presence at India's GIFT City. Through NSEIX, our international exchange established in GIFT City's IFSC jurisdiction and operating as a recognised stock exchange under IFSCA, we are working to position India as a competitive hub for global investors seeking to participate in Indian and international markets. NSEIX provides a regulated platform for inbound and outbound investments and robust hedging. We have forged several strategic partnerships with global exchanges through GIFT City, such as Singapore Exchange, and MOUs with Cyprus Stock Exchange, Colombo Stock Exchange and Taiwan Stock Exchange reflecting our commitment to positioning GIFT City as a global financial hub and integrating Indian capital markets with international ecosystems. NSEIX is supported by NSEICC, which serves as its clearing arm, ensuring the smooth clearing and settlement of all trades executed on our Exchange. Our focus remains on building NSEIX into a global platform that offers a broad range of cross-border products while ensuring high standards of governance, efficiency, and reliability. We have introduced innovative products to attract a wider pool of international participants, such as extended trading hours aligned with global markets, and robust risk management frameworks. In Fiscal 2026, NSEIX launched Nifty 50 Index Options with Daily Expirations ("0DTE"), which made NSEIX the first stock exchange in India to offer international investors same-day expiry options on the Nifty 50 Index at GIFT IFSC, according to the Redseer Report. We also launched GIFT Nifty India FPI 150 derivatives contracts through NSEIX in December 2025, tracking the top 150 stocks from the Nifty 500 that ensure accessibility and investibility for foreign investors, broadening the range of hedging and investment instruments available to global market participants. We have announced the termination of the NSE IFSC Receipts programme (unsponsored depository receipts on U.S. stocks) effective February 1, 2027, following the introduction of the global access framework and subsequent launch of NSEIX Global Access IFSC Ltd.

Building on these initiatives, in Fiscal 2026 we launched NSEIX Global Access IFSC Limited ("NSEIXGA") through our Subsidiary, NSEIX, providing Indian resident investors, NRIs, Persons of Indian Origin ("PIOs"), Overseas Citizens of India ("OCIs"), Persons Resident Outside India ("PROI"), and IFSC-based entities to seamlessly invest in global markets through a single integrated digital account. With a strong emphasis on technology, NSEIXGA provides cost-effective investment, digital onboarding and a user-friendly mobile application, ensuring a smooth, efficient, and intuitive investment experience. For additional information, see "– NSEIX Global Access Provider" on page 230.

Enhancing data monetisation opportunities through our comprehensive market data ecosystem

We believe our market data, generated across trading, clearing and post-trade processes, is a valuable and scalable asset supporting use cases across research, trading, risk, surveillance and digital platforms. As technology-driven and systematic investing grows, and with an increase in the adoption of AI, we believe demand for high-quality real-time and historical data will continue to expand across display and non-display applications. As a result, there is deepening demand for real-time market data, live exchange announcements and enriched datasets delivered daily, particularly as market participants deploy more sophisticated trading strategies and the technology required to process large datasets becomes increasingly accessible. We intend to enhance the breadth, granularity, and timeliness of datasets, while leveraging trends to develop structured, tiered data products, including real-time feeds, historical datasets and value-added analytics. These initiatives done within the remits of current regulatory framework, can further strengthen our data ecosystem. Consequently, these initiatives could further support evolving market needs and enable data monetisation for us in compliance with applicable regulations, while complementing our broader offerings in trading, index, and analytics services.

Building a strategic offshore presence of NSE to harness global opportunities

We believe that as Indian capital markets continue to evolve and attract increasing participation from international investors, establishing a strategic offshore presence will enable us to strengthen our engagement with a diverse and geographically dispersed investor base. Global institutional investors, including sovereign wealth funds, pension funds, family offices and other institutional allocators, operate across multiple jurisdictions and time zones, and require consistent, localised engagement, coverage and market intelligence closer to their decision-making centres. By strengthening our international footprint, we intend to enhance our ability to engage proactively with such investors, support onboarding, and market access, and provide tailored solutions aligned with their investment mandates, thereby reinforcing our position as a trusted partner for global capital seeking exposure to India. This approach is also expected to complement our existing international initiatives, including our operations in GIFT City, and will further strengthen our integration with global financial markets. Proximity to global investors will enable us to expand our offerings in areas such as index and data services, including the development of customised index solutions and investment products tailored to global investor needs, including those incorporating alternative datasets such as environmental, social and governance parameters. We believe, establishing a strategic international footprint is an important enabler for us in serving global capital effectively and enhancing our international competitiveness.

We provide a listing platform for Listed Entities issuing securities in India and generate revenue from book building fees, initial listing fees, processing fees and annual listing fees paid by issuers. Of the 111 and 10 listings (Mainboard IPOs, InvITs and REITs) that chose to list on both NSE and BSE in Fiscal 2026 and three months period ended June 2026, respectively, 78 and 7 Listed Entities selected NSE as their designated stock exchange, representing a total market share of 70.27% and 70.00%, respectively, according to the Redseer Report. For larger offerings with issue sizes exceeding ₹10.00 billion, the total market share was 90.24% and 100.00% in Fiscal 2026 and three months period ended June 2026, respectively, according to the Redseer Report. Listing on our Exchange can take several forms, including IPOs, direct listings and follow-on offerings. We also enable private placement of securities on our platform. Further, we provide facilities to enable book-building for IPOs, and live subscription reporting and private placements of debt securities. Issuers on our Exchange are required to meet minimum eligibility criteria prescribed by SEBI and the stock exchanges in India for the listing of their securities and must adhere to ongoing disclosure and corporate governance requirements, including quarterly, half-yearly and annual financial reporting and the reporting of material developments. To attract issuers to our Exchange and maintain our relationship with existing issuers, we undertake ongoing outreach initiatives to specific classes of issuers, such as large market capitalisation companies and SMEs, through targeted prospecting and regular client relationship meetings.

Listed Entities on our Exchange pay one-time processing fees, book building fees and initial listing fees at the time of listing. The initial listing fee is determined based on the paid-up capital of the issuer, while book building and processing fees are determined based on the value of an issuer's proposed securities offering. In addition, Listed Entities pay an annual listing fee in an amount determined based on total paid up share, bond or debenture capital, which constitutes the majority of fees paid by Listed Entities.

- Mainboard: The Indian corporate entities that comprise our cash market issuer base include large corporates, financial institutions, government agencies, REITs and InvITs. As of June 30, 2026 and March 31, 2026, there were 2,403 and 2,387 Listed Entities with equity shares listed on the Mainboard, respectively.
- SMEs: NSE EMERGE, launched in 2012, brings together investors and emerging corporates in the country as an alternative listing platform for SMEs that have post issue paid up capital below ₹250 million at the time of listing. SMEs that list on EMERGE pay processing fees, book building fees and initial and annual listing fees, that are similar to, but less than, our fees for Mainboard listings. As of June 30, 2026 and March 31, 2026, 735 and 721 Listed Entities have been listed on EMERGE with total capital of ₹232.03 billion and ₹222.27 billion mobilised via the platform since 2012, respectively. - Social Stock Exchange: SSE was launched in 2023, a dedicated platform that enables non-profit organisations and for-profit social enterprises to raise funds for social causes by listing on our platform. Since the launch, 14 entities have been listed and have raised ₹445.66 million, with 948 donors participating, respectively. The GoI, through a notification dated May 27, 2026, amended the Companies Act, 2013 to include subscription to zero coupon zero principal instruments ("ZCZPs") on the SSE as an eligible CSR activity. This amendment enables corporates to deploy their CSR funds by subscribing to ZCZPs issued by non-profit organisations registered on our SSE, thereby expanding the avenues for funding non-profit organisations through our platform. The SSE also provides corporates with an additional avenue to deploy corporate social responsibility ("CSR") funds, with up to 10% of a company's CSR obligation permitted to be channelled through SSE-registered entities.
- Offers for sale: We provide a market for shareholders holding substantial stake in Listed Entities to sell their interests through offers for sale. We also facilitate share buyback, and exit offers to shareholders by delisting companies.

Data Centre - Rack charges

We provide colocation FRE racks, enabling trading members to position their servers close to the exchange's trading systems. This setup helps achieve faster trade execution by greatly reducing the time it takes for trade orders to travel between the member servers and the exchange. Rentals as well as incidental charges collected from members for providing those FRE racks are classified under Data Centre - Rack charges. As of June 30, 2026, our infrastructure houses 1,868 FRE racks having capacity to host more than 12,000 member servers.

We also offer 'Colocation as a Service' ("CaaS"), a managed colocation service designed to facilitate SME members who may otherwise find it difficult to avail colocation facility due to high costs, lack of in-house expertise in maintenance and troubleshooting, or other operational constraints. Under CaaS, racks in our colocation facility are allotted to empanelled vendors and algo providers, who in turn provide fully managed, end-to-end solutions enabling trading members to receive market data and place orders (algorithmic or non-algorithmic) from colocation. As of June 30, 2026 and March 31, 2026, 89 members were onboarded through our CaaS model, respectively.

Data Connectivity

Data Connectivity charges are the fees paid by market participants (such as brokers, institutional investors and high-frequency traders) to establish and maintain a physical or virtual link to connect and transact on the exchange's trading system, with charges determined based on subscription to different categories of Messages Per Second (MPS) per asset class.

Data Feed & Terminal Services

The Association of Mutual Funds in India has authorised NSE Indices to establish and maintain the official list of industry classifications for Listed Entities, which is used in disclosure requirements applicable to the Indian mutual fund industry.

Clearing and Settlement

NCL, is responsible for clearing and settlement of trades executed on Indian stock exchanges and deposit and collateral management and risk management functions. NCL provides clearing and settlement services for all the cash and derivative products listed on stock exchanges in India. Of this, clearing and settlement charges paid by other stock exchanges to NCL are included as revenue from Clearing and Settlement services, in revenue from operations of our Company. We assume the credit risk of each party to the trade, which is the risk that a clearing member defaults on its obligations in respect of the trade. For a description of our risk management framework, see “– Risk and collateral management” on page 229.

As a SEBI-approved clearing corporation, our Subsidiary, NCL offers securities lending and borrowing through an anonymous order matching platform. Liquid securities that are available for trading in our equity derivatives market and qualifying index ETFs are available for lending and borrowing. All our clearing members are eligible to participate in securities lending and borrowing, subject to the fulfilment of eligibility criteria that NCL may specify from time to time.

- Risk and collateral management

NCL has a multi-tiered risk management system, which is constantly upgraded to pre-empt market failures. Our risk containment measures include capital adequacy requirements for members, monitoring member performance and track record, stringent margin requirements, online monitoring of member positions and automatic disablement from trading when limits are breached. Our risk management committee reviews our risk management policies for consistency with the principles for financial market infrastructure issued by the committee on payments and market infrastructure and the International Organisation of Securities Commissions (“IOSCO”).

Our primary risk and collateral management tools are described below:

- Online position monitoring and margining system. Clearing members are required to meet our initial margin and extreme loss margin requirements. Our risk management system operates on a real-time, intra-day basis to establish and update margin requirements and monitor risk management functions. NCL uses a robust risk management system for the purpose of computing initial margin requirements. This system constructs scenarios of probable changes in underlying prices and volatilities in order to identify the largest loss a portfolio might reasonably be expected to suffer from one day to the next and then sets the margin requirement at a level sufficient to cover this one-day loss. Initial margin requirements for our cash market are determined using a value-at-risk methodology computed based on the assessed volatility of individual securities in members' portfolios, applying value-at-risk over margin period of risk. The methodology for computation of the value-at-risk percentage is as per the recommendations of SEBI from time to time. The system is designed to recognise specific exposures that members may assume, including deep out-of-the-money short positions, inter-month risk and inter-commodity risk. In addition, clearing members are subject to extreme loss margins, which are levied in addition to initial margins and are deducted from the liquid assets of the clearing member on an online, real-time basis. NCL also levies margins on consolidated crystallised obligations. These margining requirements are in accordance with the framework prescribed by SEBI, including SEBI circulars on margin computation methodology, peak margin norms and upfront collection of margins from clients.
- Collateral-requirements. Clearing members are required to deposit collateral towards margin requirements in the form of liquid assets sufficient to cover mark-to-market losses on outstanding settlement obligations, value-at-risk margins, extreme loss margins and any special margins we may impose on a case-by-case basis. Members may manage their collateral on a real-time basis through our web-based portal. Members are required to accept securities as margin from clients only by way of pledge/re-pledge in the depository system.

- Prudential limits. We impose prudential limits on the types of collateral that members may deposit, in addition to limits stipulated by SEBI. In particular, at least 50% of a clearing member's deposited collateral must comprise cash or cash equivalents. Collateral is valued daily, and haircuts are applied to account for potential increased exposure. We also prescribe limits on the aggregate amount of any single type of collateral that NCL may hold from all members.
- Stress Tests. We conduct daily stress tests, including liquidity stress tests and credit risk stress tests, to confirm that we maintain sufficient liquid resources to meet our settlement obligations. The stress testing norms are aligned with IOSCO and include stress testing for credit risk, liquidity stress testing, reverse stress testing and back testing for adequacy of margins. NCL also has lines of credit with commercial banks as a redundancy measure.
- Core Settlement Guarantee Fund. Our clearing entities maintain a Core SGF for each of our products, in accordance with SEBI regulations. The Core SGF is a dedicated pool of resources against which no exposure is given, and which is available to meet settlement obligations in the event of clearing member defaults. The minimum required corpus of the Core SGF is determined based on daily stress tests. In the event of a clearing member default, the default waterfall generally follows a prescribed order, starting with the monies of the defaulting member, followed by insurance (if any), clearing corporation resources, the Core SGF, additional clearing corporation resources, and, as a last resort, capped contributions from non-defaulting members and pro-rata haircuts to pay-outs. This framework is designed to ensure that we have sufficient resources to fulfil our settlement obligations while limiting the liability of non-defaulting members and ring-fencing each market segment from defaults in other segments. As of June 30, 2026 and March 31, 2026, earmarked amounts pertaining to the Core SGF included ₹43,246.94 million and ₹51,876.84 million in non-current investments in quoted government securities at amortised cost, ₹13,118.26 million and ₹8,729.39 million in current investments in quoted government securities at amortised cost, ₹10,090.17 million and ₹9,914.02 million in current investments in unquoted mutual funds at FVTPL, accrued interest of ₹46.37 million and ₹226.72 million shown under other financial assets (non-current) and ₹2,022.92 million and ₹1,975.97 million shown under other financial assets (current), ₹2,900.10 million and ₹2,453.00 million in current accounts under bank balance other than cash and cash equivalents, ₹51,529.36 million and ₹47,327.29 million in fixed deposit with remaining maturity of less than 12 months and ₹10,886.99 million and ₹8,280.24 million in fixed deposit with remaining maturity of more than 12 months under other financial assets (non-current), respectively.

Other services

- PaRRVA Data Centre for the Past Risk and Return Verification Agency

In addition, we have been designated by SEBI as the PaRRVA Data Centre. The initiative is carried out in collaboration with Care Ratings Limited which has been recognised by SEBI as the PaRRVA. PaRRVA is designed to enhance transparency and reliability in risk and return verification processes. It provides intermediaries, including investment advisers, research analysts, and algo providers, and their retail investor clients, with access to standardised data on the performance of their recommendations. The PaRRVA Data Centre computes risk and return matrices on the recommendations provided by intermediaries, based on transaction data sourced directly from the stock exchanges and clearing corporations.

- NSEIX Global Access Provider

Through our Subsidiary, NSEIX, we launched NSEIXGA in Fiscal 2026, a wholly owned subsidiary of NSEIX. NSEIXGA was the first entity in GIFT City to be granted a Global Access Provider licence under the regulatory framework of the IFSCA, according to the Redseer Report. In February 2026, NSEIXGA introduced its platform, enabling Indian resident investors, NRIs, PIOs, OCIs, PROI and IFSC-based entities to invest in global markets through a single integrated digital account. The platform offers investment options, digital onboarding and a mobile application designed for an efficient and intuitive investment experience. As of June 30, 2026, the platform facilitated investments in markets in the United States.

Our Technology

To address India's market, geographical and infrastructural requirements, we developed our core technology platforms in-house. This self-reliant approach remains fundamental to our operations. By retaining complete intellectual property rights over our mission-critical platforms, we maintain strategic flexibility to monetise our proprietary technology and protect ourselves against intellectual property violations and use restrictions. This technology foundation, built on a culture of continuous innovation and targeted investment, has enabled us to expand and scale our operations seamlessly across diverse asset classes while maintaining low latency and network reliability.

For example, we launched our National Exchange for Automated Trading ("NEAT") platform in Fiscal 1995, deploying an anonymous open electronic order book and automated real-time price-time priority-based matching. This marked a significant shift from physical trading floors to a fully transparent, screen-based trading model, enabling trading members to operate securely from their own premises across all major cities in India with real-time market access. To deliver the reliable, real-time connectivity required for NEAT, we implemented a nationwide trading network powered by Very Small Aperture Terminals ("VSAT") technology. By installing these small, two-way satellite dishes directly on trading member office rooftops, we bypassed India's terrestrial communication infrastructure, which was limited at that time. This VSAT network, communicating via Indian National Satellite System, India's geo-stationary satellite system, democratised market access. Recognising that trading members required customised solutions and branch network expansion capabilities, we introduced an API framework through the Non-NEAT Frontend. The availability of APIs fostered a fintech ecosystem for capital markets, enabling independent software vendors, established technology firms and trading members to build specialised trading solutions validated through our proprietary technology sandbox test environment. This API infrastructure enabled trading members to expand their branch networks, launch internet and mobile-based trading platforms for retail clients and implement direct market access and algorithmic trading capabilities for institutional clients and proprietary desks.

Trading Technology

As of June 30, 2026, our infrastructure comprised seven data centres with points of presence across 30+ locations supporting over 14,000 physical and virtual servers across all NSE entities including more than 8,000 servers in production and DR sites and over 6,000 servers in development, test and UAT. The infrastructure houses 2,694 FRE racks, ~60 petabytes of enterprise storage capacity and power backup exceeding 14 MW and connecting over 200,000 trading terminals across 1,400 cities and towns. Of the 2,694 FRE racks, 1,868 FRE racks are member colocation racks which have capacity to host more than 12,000 member servers, and 826 FRE racks are dedicated to our internal operations. Our platform processed an average of 12.46 billion messages daily during the period from April 1, 2024 to June 30, 2026, with 21.89 billion peak order messages processed in a single day on March 24, 2026, on which date 201.00 million trades were executed and on June 4, 2024, our platform processed a total of 293.85 million peak trades in a single day. The platform can also process ~5 million messages per second with microsecond response time for cash market, equity derivatives and exchange-traded currency derivatives. We have also enhanced the platform to provide an immediate acknowledgement of receipt of order requests within nanoseconds. Our infrastructure comprises seven data centres which support an external network of over 200,000 trading terminals across more than 1,400 cities and towns as of June 30, 2026, enabling deep market participation and liquidity from retail and institutional investors alike. Our trading platform comprises the following:

- NEAT: NEAT is a fully automated, screen-based trading system that supports anonymous order matching and provides real-time trade confirmation. NEAT facilitates trading across multiple market products, including equities and derivatives. Where members wish to customise the trading front-end in accordance with their requirements, we offer a facility enabling members to utilise their own trading front-end software to trade on our trading system through exchange-provided APIs. This allows members to integrate their proprietary order management and risk management systems directly with our trading infrastructure.
- Exchange with Market-makers for Emerging and Growth Enterprises ("EMERGE") and EMERGE- Institutional: EMERGE and EMERGE-IGP are our two dedicated listing platforms for SME securities. EMERGE is designed to provide SMEs with access to capital markets by offering a simplified listing framework tailored to the needs of growing enterprises. - Surveillance Technology: our surveillance technology is a RegTech technology<sup>8</sup>. We deploy market surveillance to monitor trading activity across our platforms in real time, to detect and deter potential market abuse, including insider trading, price manipulation, and other irregular trading patterns, thereby supporting overall market integrity.
- Colocation Data Centre Facility supports Direct Market Access (“DMA”), Algorithmic Trading: For institutional clients and other market participants, we provide support for DMA and algorithmic trading through our data centre facilities. These facilities comprise dedicated, rented rack space for servers within our exchange premises, enabling colocation services that allow participants to place their trading systems in close physical proximity to our matching engine. This colocation infrastructure is designed to reduce latency and support high-frequency and algorithm-driven trading strategies, always subject to applicable regulatory requirements and exchange-prescribed risk controls.
- NEAPS platform for Listed Entities: We operate NSE Electronic Application Processing System (“NEAPS”) which is a SupTech<sup>9</sup> platform. NEAPS enables Listed Entities to electronically submit compliance-related filings, corporate announcements, shareholding patterns, financial results, and other regulatory disclosures. NEAPS streamlines the disclosure process and supports timely dissemination of material information to the market.
- Member Portal for trading members: We offer our members a portal platform which is a SupTech platform. This portal platform streamlines a wide array of operational functions and services. The portal facilitates member requests with efficiency and reliability. By integrating key features such as user credential management, trading rights enablement, and compliance reporting, it addresses a broad spectrum of compliance and reporting requirements. Members can easily submit disclosures, audit reports, and other regulatory obligations with precision, significantly enhancing operational convenience. It provides members with the flexibility to access the portal at any time, fostering greater responsiveness. Members also benefit from important tasks such as password resets, user unlocking, and trading rights management, ensuring uninterrupted access and a seamless trading experience. Overall, the Member Portal consolidates diverse functions into a single, intuitive interface, reducing complexity and increasing efficiency. This platform exemplifies our commitment to providing exceptional service and operational excellence, with the aim of enhancing member satisfaction using technology.

Disaster Recovery and Cybersecurity

To mitigate the risk of system outages or disruptions, we ensure that our systems always have built-in redundancy and excess capacity, implement regular testing protocols and adopt continuous obsolescence planning to keep our hardware and systems updated. The PDC is based in Mumbai. We maintain a DR framework with processes and personnel training programmes. We have a DR data centre in Chennai and a supplemental NDR located near the PDC replicates data in real time, targeting near-zero data loss, which coordinate their operations with our command centre at our headquarters in Mumbai to provide redundancy protection. The PDC has a fully mirrored DR site with one-to-one correspondence to the primary site for all critical applications, enabling switchover in under 45 minutes. We operate full live operations from the DR site twice a year, supplemented by regular mock drills.

To minimise cybersecurity threats, we have implemented a security framework to prevent and detect system intrusions and have deployed internal and external security tools. Administrative access to servers is controlled through a privileged access management solution, which provides enhanced oversight of privileged account credentials and visibility into actions performed by privileged users, including administrators. Multi-factor authentication is enforced for privileged access to protect against identity theft. We have also implemented data encryption to prevent unauthorised access to the sensitive information that we store and transmit regarding our Exchange and our trading and clearing members. We rely on tools licenced from third parties for data leakage prevention and data encryption. Our security framework also includes, among other things, intrusion prevention systems, email gateways, two-tier firewalls, distributed denial of service and web application firewall technologies, and malware and virus containment systems. To further strengthen our organisational resiliency, we have established an Isolated Recovery Environment (“IRE”), a segregated air-gapped solution, highly secured recovery setup with immutable backups. This enables restoration of business-critical applications in the event of cyber incidents requiring IRE activation.

Regulatory, Surveillance and Investigation

Regulatory

We discharge regulatory functions pursuant to the Securities Contracts (Regulation) (Stock Exchanges and Clearing Corporations) Regulations, 2018 and circulars issued by SEBI from time to time. These functions include implementing rules governing our Exchange related to surveillance, member registration, listing, compliance, inspection, enforcement, arbitration and investor protection, as required under applicable securities regulations. We also implement our own rules to support our regulatory functions. Our oversight committee and operational committee oversee matters relating to member regulation,

For information on our investor protection framework, see “– Investor Protection” on page 233.

Surveillance and Investigation

We also conduct our own investigations and enforcement actions pursuant to our byelaws and rules. Our surveillance system provides real-time monitoring, automated alerts of abnormal trading activity and analysis of surveillance data. As part of our preventive surveillance operations, we monitor social media traffic and investigate and verify suspicious content. We maintain an anonymous portal and a toll-free number to receive tips regarding improper market behaviour, such as insider trading and violations of fair disclosure requirements. We also support the surveillance initiatives undertaken by the integrated surveillance department of SEBI by tracking and reporting unusual and suspicious market movements and maintaining an open information sharing policy.

Investor Protection

We maintain the Investor Protection Fund Trust (“IPFT”) to compensate investors in the event of defaults by our members. Our member committee generally makes investor compensation recommendations when deposits from the defaulting member are less than the amount of an investor’s claim. The fund is administered through a registered trust and managed by the trustees of the trust. As of June 30, 2026 and March 31, 2026, our IPFT had a total corpus of ₹29,299.99 million and ₹28,703.53 million, respectively. ### Marketing and Business Development

Our marketing strategy is designed to attract new issuers and investors to our Exchange. We aim to improve product awareness, promote Indian capital markets, build our brand image, enhance investor confidence and promote investor education through our marketing initiatives. Our marketing efforts include organising events and seminars and engaging in radio, internet and television advertising. Our business development efforts are focused on cross-selling, upselling and developing product offerings in our trading and non-trading businesses through directed outreach efforts to our existing and prospective trading members. We have also implemented initiatives targeted at specific groups of issuers and investors. Investor education and awareness programmes conducted by us to promote financial inclusion have enabled investors to participate in markets with their savings and channelise savings into productive capital by providing funds to corporates issuing securities through our platform. For additional information on our marketing initiatives, see “– Awards” on page 233.

Competition

Our listing and trading businesses face competition from traditional trading venues in and outside of India. In India, our primary competitor is BSE Limited, which is also a regulated stock exchange. Our derivatives market competes with international and domestic trading venues. Our derivatives market also competes with non-traditional trading venues, such as multilateral trading facilities and a wide range of OTC services provided by market makers, banks, brokers, electronic communications networks and other financial market participants. In our non-trading businesses, our index business competes with global index providers that maintain indices that track the Indian capital markets and domestic index providers who have entered alliances with international index providers. We compete based on brand recognition and value and bundled product offerings. For further details, see “Industry Overview – Competitive Landscape” on page 181.
